Mr. Joseph Hiscock stated to-day that he had written to many places for hickory nuts, but, up to the present, has not been able to secure any. The reason for the scarcity of the crop cannot be determined.—Kingston News.

The Furness line of steamships, running from Halifax and St. John to London, have ample cold storage facilities. These facilities have been so little used by shippers, however, that they will be removed from all the ships.

A boiler weighing 25 tons was brought to Montreal by the steamer Manchester City for the Canada Sugar Refinery. Three more boilers of a similar size will be brought out for the Canada Sugar Refinery before the close of navigation.

Kipling's "Lady of the Snows" should be revised. The sentiment of the poem doesn't seem to harmonize with ripe raspberries and blooming strawberry plants in the middle of October. We have them here in abundance.—Meaford, Ont., Mirror.

The merchants of Port Stanley, Ont., have agreed to close their respective places of business at 8 o'clock p.m., on and after November 1 next, except on Saturdays and days preceding public holidays. Funeral and marine supplies are also exempted.

Lord Strathcona has secured the consent of the British War Office for Canadian producers of canned goods, meats, fruits and evaporated vegetables in cans or tins to tender for supplying the army. Samples of Canadian products must first be sent over for qualities to be tested.

During the month of October great numbers of salmon trout and greater numbers of spawn were destroyed by fishermen taking these fish during the spawning season. The Dominion fishing regulations make November a close month, but it is claimed that with one exception, the spawning season has occurred in October for 20 years.

The Klondyke gold miner held up a nugget which he had just found. It was as big as his fist. "Isn't that a beauty?" he asked. The consensus of opinion was that the nugget was a beauty, indeed. "Yes, indeed," said one of the old hands, after the others had expressed their admiration, "that nugget is easily worth its weight in corned beef."—Harper's Bazar.

The annual statement of The Acadia Sugar Refining Co., Limited, Halifax, up to September 30 shows that after providing for the deficit of last year, which amounted to $89,436.43, and setting aside $15,000 for depreciation, there remained $44,813.24, from which a dividend, on the preferred shares, of 3 per cent. will be paid on Dec. 16, amounting to $40,880, leaving a balance of $3,933.24 to be carried forward.

RETAIL GROCERS DUPED.

The Evening Gazette, Cedar Rapids, Ia., under recent date, tells of the following fraud practised on retail grocers:

A new swindling game is being worked in the city with much success. The fellow has been working largely among the grocery stores, where he would call and ask to see their stock of "Enameline." After looking it over carefully, if the grocer carried anything of that kind, the swindler would represent himself as a special agent of the company manufacturing these goods, and would advise the grocer that the regular salesman would be along early in the following week and would take up all the boxes of "Enameline" that had become dried up or shopworn. After putting the grocer in a good humor he would then draw from his pocket a bottle of famous nickel polish.

No book agent ever had a smoother tongue, and no side-show worker ever sang a breezier story, than this fellow of his wonderful composition. With a bit of cloth and a dash of the bottle he would brighten up the metal work on the showcase until it rivaled the reflective powers of the mirror on the sliding doors. He would polish the grocer's watch-chain, and the very atmosphere itself seemed brighter and brighter for the presence of the illustrious fakir and still more illustrious fake. The Enameline company, he said, owned this compound, and would back it for all they were worth. The one sample bottle he would consent to sell at 75 cents, and the regular salesman would give the grocer a price on dozen lots when he called. The grocer bit, and long before the fellow had reached the next grocer the metal on the showcase, the watch-chain, and everything the fakir had touched with the polish was perfectly black. The "polish" was a little quicksilver.

J. L. Prescott & Co., the proprietors of "Enameline," report that this man has been working the same trick in the east, and they would be glad to get track of him, as they propose to make it warm for him.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 7, 1898.

TRADE has shown a most gratifying increase during the past week, and wholesale houses are now very busy indeed, getting out orders. There is no doubt that the improvement of trade is much greater than was anticipated in the time, and there are several factors in the improvement. In the first place, the weather has been the very best possible to redeem the damage occasioned by the extreme wet of October. High, cool winds have prevailed throughout the Province, and have dried the wheat wonderfully, and restored the color in a great measure, so that the amount of damaged grain will be very much less than was reckoned even one week ago. Threshing is being completed in a number of sections, and the yield is fully 20 per cent. higher than was anticipated, 35 and 40 bushels to the acre being a common thing. Deliveries would now be very heavy but for two reasons: The roads are still bad, and the ground is in an ideal condition for ploughing, and every farmer is ploughing just as much as possible before the snow flies. The price is not quite so satisfactory as the condition of the wheat. Foreign markets have gone down, and Manitoba and Northwest local markets have fallen even more rapidly in proportion. This is, no doubt, due to the fact that Manitoba wheat was at a premium of 3c. above Duluth in New York, but to-day reached a flat price. Another reason for lower prices is the lack of cars. I have it to-day on the authority of one of the oldest and most extensive dealers that there is but one car in the country to every ten actually needed. As a result, dealers are so afraid of not getting the grain out of the country before navigation closes that they are not willing to pay the real market value of the wheat. Price to-day, on standard rate of freight, 55c. for No. 1 hard, and 51c. for No. 2. The dealer who made the remark about the cars also stated that owing to the unexpected yield and the improved condition of the crops he considered the country fully $4,000,000 better off than it was supposed to be this time last week. It is one of the most difficult things to give information that remains correct 24 hours after it is written, changes are so rapid and extreme.

CEREALS—Market is firm. Rolled oats are scarce, and there is barely enough coming in to supply the demand. Rolled oats in 80-lb. sacks are quoted at $1.75; granulated oatmeal, $2.15; standard, $2.15; split peas, $2.25, and barley $2.30.

CURED MEATS—Sides are a little easier, but breakfast bacon and hams remain unchanged. Almost all goods on this market now are American. Lard, compound, $1.40 to $1.45; pure lard, $1.75 to $1.80.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—The apple market is firm and has advanced considerably in the past week. Stock at present on the market is very poor. Buyers of strictly choice ring stock will have to pay good figures. There is very little old stock on the market, and this, together with the uncertainty of the apple crop in Ontario, will keep the price up. Strictly choice, new evaporated are quoted at 10½c. There is a considerable quantity of second-class goods offering at 9 to 9½c. No new dried apples on the market and none expected for the next ten days. Apricots continue high, and, like all articles that go beyond a certain standard of price, are decreasing in consumption accordingly. Choice apricots are worth 15c. Prunes are very steady and seem likely to remain so. Prices run all the way from 5½c. up, according to size and grade. Peaches, plums, pears, cherries and raspberries show a normal market, there being, as yet, no demand for them.

DRIED FRUITS—Currants and raisins continue to arrive, but there seems considerable difference of opinion as to price, so that no quotation can be given this week. California muscatels are not giving satisfaction, and, if the next shipments do not show improvement in both quality and price, it is likely the bulk of the trade this season will be in Denia fruit.

FIGS—Probably the event of the week in the dried fruit market is the arrival of the first California fancy table figs. The fruit is very fine, and is meeting with much favor. The flavor is somewhat different from the Turkish fig, but judges seem to consider it an improvement. The packages are attractive—ten-pound boxes, each pound of figs wrapped in waxed paper, and tied with blue or yellow baby ribbon. There is no doubt that, if the supply is equal to the demand, the figs will find a ready sale on this market, this fruit being an important item of consumption here. The price of these figs is also in their favor, being 20c. per lb., while really choice Turkish figs are 25c.; in fact, the price of Turkish figs this season is quite prohibitive, and, as one dealer feelingly remarked, "gave you cold chills to even hear it mentioned."

COFFEE—Very little change in market. Maracaibos are gaining ground in this market, and, to some extent, taking the place of Rios. Javas and Mochas are firm for the finer qualities, more especially the Javas. Rios are still quoted from 8 to 9½c. per lb.

CANNED GOODS—Market is strong, and, from present appearance, there will soon be an advance in corn. First-class packs are quoted at from $2.20 to $2.25; cheaper factories as low as $2.10. Tomatoes are a conundrum. The price is now $2.25 for first-class packs. There are some buyers, however, who refuse to believe the pack is so short as represented by eastern houses. There is not likely, however, to be any material change for sometime as all houses here are well supplied. The supply of peas seems to be sufficient for the demand. Canned fruits show no change, and the demand, as is usual at this time of year, is very light.

FISH—Market is well supplied in all lines. Cod, pure, in 2-lb. bricks, 6¼c.; fancy cod in 5-lb. boxes, 7c.; whole cod, 5½c.; quail on toast, 6½c.; mackerel in k., $2.25; scaled herrings, per doz. 17c.; Labrador herrings are still to arrive. Haddies will be in next week and are quoted at 7½c. per lb. Owing to cool weather express shipments are dropping out. One house is receiving a carload which will immediately be placed in cold storage and supplied to retail dealers in small quantities just as required.

SUGARS—Very little change. There was a slump last week of 1-16c., and granulated is now quoted at 5½c., and yellows at 4¾c. Syrups are without change. Glucose is in much greater demand than sugar syrup.

BUTTER—Creamery, though the local supply is almost exhausted, is quoted 20c. point of shipment. Dairy, supply large, 13 to 15c., according to quality.

CHEESE—8¼ to 9¼c., according to size.

EGGS—16 to 17c.

GREEN FRUIT—No change of price quoted this week, but apples will almost immediately go higher. In apples, some of the stock reaching here is scabby and wormy and generally abominable, while, on the other hand, some of the finest apples ever shown on this market have been bought this season.

IF YOU KNEW

how carefully the growers watch the ripening of

Japan Tea

to pluck the leaf just when it is fullest of sap—and watched the process of curing it, and saw how cleanly everything is, in and round about the gardens and packing houses, you would know why Japan Tea delights the nicest of tea tastes.

This alone is not entirely responsible, but it, combined with natural advantages of the Japanese soil and climate, produce, without doubt, grade for grade, and pound for pound, the finest, healthiest, and most invigorating tea on God's green earth.

For proof of this popularity turn up Government reports which show that two-thirds of the tea consumed in America last year was grown in Japan.

GREIG'S Crown Extract of Vanilla

is made only from the finest selected Mexican Vanilla Beans—the best money can buy—no matter what they cost. No adulterant is used—nothing that will, in any way, cheapen the goods or diminish the rich, delicate flavor of the true Mexican Vanilla.

Housekeepers throughout the country are finding out how greatly superior the CROWN VANILLA is to any other brand—that's why we are kept so busy. It's time to order your winter stock. Write us about it.

CEYLON AND INDIAN TEAS.

(Machine-Made)

Q.—Why are there now so many Ceylon and India tea packets advertised in Canada ?

ANS.—Because the few who introduced these packets, four years ago, have made an immense success of their business.

Q.—Why were they able to do so ?

ANS.—Because the consumers, disgusted with the teas formerly supplied, were “on the feed” for a change.

Q.—What should the grocer do to get in the swim ?

ANS.—Stock up with those pure teas, and discard the coloured and unclean article---the manufacture of which has been, and will be again, so suggestively illustrated on this page.

THE NEW SECRETARY OF THE TRAVELERS' MUTUAL.

I FEEL undone. I undertook, a few days ago to interview Mr. Blaney H. Scott, the recently appointed secretary of the Commercial Travelers' Mutual Benefit Society, and, for the first time in my newspaper experience, I came away humiliated with the thought that it was Mr. Scott who had interviewed me and not me Mr. Scott, or, perhaps more correctly speaking, that we had been interviewing each other and that he had been doing most of the interviewing.

I ascended to his office at 51 Yonge street, Toronto, introduced myself and made known the object of my visit.

"Sit down," said Mr. Scott, politely.

I sat down and prepared to bombard, but I had reckoned without my host, for, before I had applied a question, he reached forward to a table, picked up a small card, and handed it to me with the remark :

"Do you carry any life insurance?"

"A little."

"How much?"

I told him. Then he threw one leg over the other, turned toward me, and, with the ardor of an evangelist seeking conversions, dilated upon the advantages of insuring in the Commercial Travelers' Mutual Benefit. He punctuated his arguments with vigorous fist exercise upon the palm of his left hand, and grew eloquent. I began to forget the object of my visit, and when I did think about it, I could not get a word in edgeways. And, as he reasoned of insurance and of man's duty to his family, I thought "almost thou makest me a convert—or victim," while I eventually managed to remark : "I'll think about it."

Mr. Scott is an Irishman, and a North of Ireland man at that, which accounts for his "gift o' the gab," no doubt. He is middle-aged, and one of his earlier ventures in life was as a clerk in Burns' well-known grocery store, Queen and James streets, Toronto, where he served for five years.

Mr. Blaney H. Scott.

Then an uncle came along who had a desire for travel, and who had money to gratify that desire, and he and young Scott took a leisurely tour of the United States, covering some 28,000 miles. On his return to Toronto, Mr. Scott started up in the grocery business on his own account. After about two years in business, he sold out, and traveled for T. Kinnear & Co., Toronto.

Six years ago Mr. Scott took the step which launched him into a life insurance career. As a member of the Independent Order of Foresters, the officers of the supreme council, recognizing his fitness for insurance and organization, sent him to Ireland to start the society there. Their confidence was not misplaced, for, during the year and ten months he was in that country, he organized 25 courts, and a high court as well. One of the charter members of the first court he opened was Rev. W. J. McCaughan, afterwards the pastor of St.

Andrew's church, Toronto, and now pastor of a church in Chicago. A handsomely illuminated address and a well-filled purse of sovereigns were presented to Mr. Scott on leaving Ireland for Canada.

Shortly after returning to Toronto, Mr. Scott started an insurance brokerage, which he carried on until his recent appointment as secretary of the Commercial Travelers' Mutual Benefit Society.

Mr. Scott has had what few insurance men have had, namely, practical experience in all three systems of insurance — fraternal, endowment and assessment.

What struck me most forcibly, in my conversation with Mr. Scott, was his enthusiasm for his work. And it struck me so forcibly that I have been moralizing ever since. I only wish that those who have but little enthusiasm, or no enthusiasm at all, would have a talk with him ; I am sure it would build them up in this most necessary quality, without which no one can make life a success.

ROB. MITCHELL, grocer, Guelph, Ont., has for some weeks given his customers an opportunity to test by tasting in his store the cocoa he handles.

A new grocery is to be opened in the Cunningham block, Arnprior, Ont.

C. Pratt, Vienna, Ont., has handled about 30,000 barrels of apples this season.

About 125,000 bushels of wheat have been marketed at Carberry, Man., already this fall.

The merchants of Blenheim, Ont., are agitating for a Customs officer to be placed in that town.

Henry Stockford has opened a pork and produce store in the opera house block at Guelph, Ont.

During October, 11,304 cars passed east and 10,679 west through the St. Clair tunnel at Sarnia, Ont.

John Cousins, Pendennis, Man., has imported 1,080 lb. of honey from Ontario already this season.

The Duncombe Co., millers, etc., Waterford, Ont., are improving and extending the capacity of their mills.

The Woodstock Sentinel-Review estimates the apple crop of Oxford county, Ont., at between 125,000 and 150,000 barrels.

The Woodstock, N.B., canning factory has put up this season, 750,000 tins of berries, apples, beans, peas and Indian corn.

The Thamesville, Ont., evaporating company are preparing nearly 300 bushels of apples per day. No shipments have been made yet.

S. E. de la Ronde's jam, jelly and candy factory, on Wellington street, Ottawa, was damaged by fire to the extent of $2,000 on Thursday last week.

Teacher—"Harry, if a basket of peaches costs $1, and there are 50 peaches in a basket, how much does one peach cost?"

Juvenile Pupil—"I—I don't know, ma'am. We don't never have to buy peaches at our house. My papa's baggageman on an express train.

John W. Marsh, of Aylmer, Ont., has purchased the grist mills at Rodgers' Corners, Ont., from F. D. Smith. He took possession last week.

The buildings in Tighe's evaporating works at Chatham, Ont., destroyed by fire some weeks ago, have been rebuilt, and the factory is again running at its full capacity.

H. S. Dowd, general merchant and flour mills, Quyon, Que., intends erecting an oatmeal mill in Quyon. It will have three storeys and a basement, 60 x 30 feet, and will be capable of grinding 500 bushels per day.

The Oak Lake correspondent of The Brandon Times writes: "The decorations of the windows of A. Cameron & Co.'s new store was a sight to behold on fair day. It reflected the greatest credit on the gentleman who carried it out, T. L. Johnston, a recent addition to Cameron & Co.'s staff."

A number of Toronto capitalists have formed a company, capitalized at $40,000 to carry on a chicken farm about three miles from Toronto. It is proposed to stock the farm with 15,000 laying poultry, and, besides the export of eggs, chickens will be specially raised for brooding purposes, to be sold in Canada and the United States.

Geo. Hasenflug, grocer, apple dealer, etc., Waterloo, Ont., has received a cablegram stating that at an auction of Canadian apples in Liverpool, his consignment sold for the highest figures realized. Mr. Hasenflug exported between 7,000 and 8,000 barrels of fall apples, and expects to ship about the same quantity of winter varieties.

The Montreal Star has an advertisement telling about "hand-picked oysters." The Miner man doesn't like to expose his ignorance, but we always had an idea that they shook oysters from a tree, the same as they do the festive bean and the joyous prune, and other things one has to fish out of a dish with a spoon.—Algoma Miner.

Geo. W. Goodwin, Picton, Ont., is advocating that the Canadian Government should give a bonus of 5c. per lb. to every family using 150 lb. of cheese per year. This, he claims, would create a demand in Canada sufficient to absorb our present exportation to Great Britain, and would thus double the demand for our cheese. This would cost the Government some $7,500,000, but, as the people would get it, they could be taxed in some other way, and the Dominion treasury would suffer nothing.

COLIC LINIMENT.

The following is given in The Grocery World as a remedy for colic which grocers might make up and sell:

|                          |         |
|--------------------------|---------|
| Lin. camphorae co.....   | 2½ ozs. |
| Ol. terebinth. rect..... | 2 ozs.  |
| Ol. limon.....           | 1 dr.   |
| Sapo hispan.....         | 2 drs.  |
| Lin. saponis comp.....   | 2 ozs.  |
| Ol. sajuput.....         | 1 dr    |

Mix these well. When used it is to be warmed and rubbed quickly over the surface of the colicky abdomen. Will very quickly relieve pain.

A CHOCOLATE-LAYING HEN.

Chocolate Menier has a novel idea for advertising their goods, which, at the same time, is a source of amusement and profit to anyone using it. It is an automatic hen that for 5c. lays a chocolate egg and does a considerable amount of cackling over it. This makes a good attraction for a bazaar, or might prove a good holiday advertisement for a grocer. The eggs cost 3c. each, and as the hen will lay as many as she is paid for it is a profitable investment. Anyone wishing one of these can have it with any quantity of eggs required by writing the agent, Montreal, and paying the expressage both ways. When through with it any eggs unsold may be returned with the hen.

THE regular monthly meeting of The Toronto Retail Grocers' Association was held on Monday evening in St. George's hall, Elm street. The president, W. H. Marmion, was in the chair, and a fair attendance was present.

One new member, T. Smith, corner Wellesley and Ontario streets, was admitted into membership.

The printed proof of the new constitution and by-laws was received, and adopted without amendment.

The report of the entertainment committee, appointed to look after the oyster supper, held two weeks ago, was received and adopted.

D. W. Clark then moved, seconded by J. G. Gibson, that the secretary write Mayor Shaw, urging that the association should be represented on the board of the Industrial Exhibition, for the reason that there is no exhibit of such interest to the general public as that of groceries and products connected with the grocery trade. After a short discussion the motion passed unanimously.

A. White moved, seconded by F. W. Johnson, "That this association has taken into consideration the fact that some of the wholesale houses are offering inducements to grocers' clerks to push the sale of their special brands, to the detriment of other brands, and we, therefore, as an association, strongly object to our clerks being induced to push any one class of goods to the exclusion of other lines."

This motion seemed to suit all the members present, for one after another expressed himself in sympathy with it, the gist of their remarks being that all goods should be sold on their own merits, and on their merits alone, and was carried unanimously.

T. Holmes moved, seconded by F. W. Johnson, that the secretary, Mr. Hawes, write to Mr. Burns, the secretary of the Toronto City Travelers' Association, to see if they would be willing to join with the association in holding a concert in Massey hall. After a short discussion this motion passed without dissent.

AN IMMENSE SHIPMENT

OF SIR JOHN POWER & SONS' CELEBRATED
 IRISH WHISKEY FOR LONDON, FOR SIR THOMAS LIPTON & CO., LIMITED.

Evening Telegraph, Dublin.

To day there was a remarkable procession through the city of Dublin. The biggest shipment of whiskey that ever left the country in one cargo was brought to the Customs House quay, where it was put on board a specially chartered steamer for conveyance to London. The order was placed with Power's Distillery, Thomas street, by Sir Thomas Lipton & Co., Limited, who are entering the whiskey trade. The consignment left the distillery in 150 floats and vans of Messrs. Power & Sons, and the route lay through Victoria quay, Wood quay, Merchants' quay, Parliament street, Dame street, Westmoreland street and O'Connell bridge, to the Customs House quay. The procession was watched by a number of people at different points on the route. On the barrels was a large poster, with the inscription: "Irish Whiskey for Liptons, London." The work of loading the whiskey on the steamer was begun immediately and occupied the rest of the day. The procession was remarkable for the fine turnout of Messrs. Power's horses and vehicles, and the immense number of whiskey casks, the largest previously seen together in the streets of the city, was the subject of much wonder to the passers-by and crowds of onlookers.

They appreciate a good thing in the metropolis.

A REPRESENTATIVE of THE CANADIAN GROCER had a pleasant chat with Mr. Lister, of the R. A. Lister Co., England, manufacturers and dealers in dairy supplies.

Mr. Lister was just back from a trip to Manitoba and Northwest Territories, and spoke encouragingly of the dairying industry there, more especially of the Territories, where he found greater progress than in Manitoba. This was owing to the action of the Northwest Legislature in establishing creameries at the principal points, under the management of Prof. Robertson. He said he found that, owing to the scattered population, farmers were using hand separators and delivering their cream twice a week, instead of delivering their milk daily, thus making a great saving in time. Very little of western butter is being sent east, the Coast towns consuming all surplus stock, but the output there is increasing rapidly, and soon there will be a large quantity for export.

Speaking of the dairy industry in general, he said the outlook was good, but Canada ought to export far more butter than at present, but "you are waking up, and I am glad to notice a large yearly increase in your exports. Your cheese business is an example of what can be done, and what can be done in cheese can and ought to be done in butter."

Lister & Co. are large manufacturers of dairy machinery of all kinds, being proprietors of the "Alexandra" cream separators, cream and milk coolers, and cream pasteurizers. The last-named machines, which are just beginning to be used in Canada, destroy all diseased germs in the milk, adding greatly to the keeping qualities of the butter. Only two firms so far are using these machines, but in Sweden they are almost universally used.

Mr. Lister will make a trip through Western Ontario, and will then sail for home. It is his intention to make yearly trips to Canada.

PORK IN EDMONTON.

The pork industry has become an important branch of agriculture in this district. During the past summer 15 cars of live hogs were shipped to Kootenay. Each car contained on an average 125 hogs, worth about $1,500. Up to date C. Gallagher has slaughtered 200 hogs this fall. The shipments of the summer and the slaughter of this fall represents a part of last year's grain crop. None of the hogs fed on this season's grain have yet come in. Forty hogs sold by Jas. Tough weighed 10,212 lb., an average of 255 1/4 lb. each. G. Lacerte sold nine which weighed 4,400 lb., an average of 490 lb. J. Gainey sold four which averaged 358 lb., and another four which averaged 487.—Bulletin, Edmonton.

BEYOND ALL HOPE.

"Just sit down in that chair," said the oculist to the patient, whose reputation for financial procrastination and repudiation was well-known to him. "I will test your eyes." Then he held a printed schedule of his prices with a "No trust" line at the bottom in front of his eyes, and asked: "Can you read that?"

"I am afraid," replied the patient, reaching for his hat, "that my case is beyond the reach of human skill."—Chicago Post.

A FORTUNE IN GOOD MANNERS.

THE Duke of Marlborough "wrote English badly and spelled it worse," yet he swayed the destinies of empires. The charm of his manner was irresistible and influenced all Europe. His fascinating smile and winning speech disarmed the fiercest hatred and made friends of the bitterest enemies.

A gentleman took his daughter of sixteen to Richmond to witness the trial of his bitter personal enemy, Aaron Burr, whom he regarded as an arch-traitor. But she was so fascinated by Burr's charming manner that she sat with his friends. Her father took her from the court-room, and locked her up, but she was so overcome by the fine manner of the accused that she believed in his innocence, and prayed for his acquittal. "To this day," she said, fifty years afterward, "I feel the magic of his wonderful deportment."

"The art of pleasing," says Hazlitt, "consists in being pleased. To be amiable is to be satisfied with one's self and others."

A guest for two weeks at the house of Arthur M. Cavanaugh, M.P., who was without arms or legs, was very desirous of knowing how he fed himself; but the conversation and manner of the host were so charming that the visitor forgot to satisfy his curiosity.

"When Dickens entered a room," said one who knew him well, "it was like the sudden kindling of a big fire, by which everyone was warmed."

It is said that when Goethe entered a restaurant people would lay down their knives and forks to admire him.

Philip of Macedon, after hearing the report of Demosthene's famous oration, said: "Had I been there, he would have persuaded me to take up arms against myself."

The masses could not break away from the rythmical cadences of Wendell Phillips; they would listen spellbound for hours, even when they hated him and his cause. His inimitable manner, a kind of indefinable mesmerism, riveted their attention, and his brilliant, dazzling oratory was absolutely irresistible.

Henry Clay was so graceful and impressive in his manner that a Pennsylvania tavernkeeper tried to induce him to get out of the stage coach in which they were riding, and make a speech to himself and his wife.

"I don't think much of Choate's spread-eagle talk," said a simple-minded member of a jury that had given five successive verdicts to the great advocate; "but I call him a very lucky lawyer, for there was not one of those five cases that came before us where he wasn't on the right side." His manner as well as his logic was irresistible.

When Edward Everett took a professor's chair at Harvard, after five years of study in Europe, he was almost worshiped by the students. His manner seemed touched by that exquisite grace seldom found except in women of rare culture. His great popularity lay in a magical atmosphere which everyone felt, but no one could describe, and never left him.

After Stephen A. Douglas had been abused in the Senate, he rose and said: "What no gentleman should say no gentleman need answer."—Pushing to the Front.

RETURNING GOODS.

"Money back if not suited" is becoming a quite common clause in up-to-date dealers' ads., but it is obvious that, with the increasing competition in the grocery trade, no dealer can afford to antagonize popular sentiment by refusing to take back goods when a customer is dissatisfied, says Merchants' Review. Nay, it ought to be an understood thing, in every well-conducted store, that the patron is to be satisfied before a sale can be considered closed.

All the printed matter in the store should contain the offer, and it should be lived up to in the spirit as well as the letter, not grudgingly, as though the customer were taking an undue advantage, but so cheerfully that patrons will be convinced that the dealer seeks the welfare of the public and has sufficient confidence in his goods to put every promise to the proof.

If the dealer's assistants are instructed to always observe the rule, there will be little difficulty in enforcing it, but it will not do to make fish of one customer and flesh of another, as the saying is. They must be all treated alike, the occasional buyer having the same option of returning goods as the "star" patron, whose bills run away up every week.

A TRAVELER MARRIES.

Fred. T. Smye, traveler for Balfour & Co., Hamilton, has joined the noble army of benedicts. He was married to Miss Maud G. Linfoot, on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 12, in the Church of the Ascension, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. W. H. Wade. The bride was supported by her sister, Miss Bella, and Chas. C. Smye looked after the interests of the groom. The wedding was a quiet one, only the relatives and immediate friends being present, but, on arriving at the T.H. & B. station, the happy couple were surprised to find a large crowd of enthusiastic friends gathered to see them off, and when the C.P.R. train pulled out for Montreal it carried, in addition to the bride and groom, a large consignment of old boots and rice.

AN IMPORTANT CASE.

AN enquete is proceeding at present in Montreal in the case of Wm. Hunter, charged with defrauding the West Lorne Canning and Evaporating Co. J. W. Blair represented the plaintiff, and J. A. Ewing the accused. The writ of information in the case alleges that the defendant bought from the plaintiff company a certain stock of canned goods, which he sold shortly afterwards at prices much below their market value.

Mr. Z. Hebert, of the firm of Hudon, Hebert & Cie., was the first witness called. He stated that his firm had been doing some business with the West Lorne Company, which always gave entire satisfaction. As for the prices at which Mr. Hunter was charged with selling the goods, he thought some of them were ridiculous; but he would not dare to characterize the defendant's action, as all depended on the circumstances. If the goods were rubbish, perhaps Mr. Hunter was justified in selling them so low; but if they were in good order, and no understanding has taken place between the company and the defendant, witness thought the transaction was blamable. At the time of the sale in question, the markets for those goods was very well settled.

Geo. E. Forbes, of Forbes Bros., was the next to give evidence. He had bought some of these goods from Mr. Hunter, being under the impression that the latter was representing The West Lorne Canning and Evaporating Co.

Alex. Orsali, Wm. Middleton, J. E. Quintal, and Stewart J. Carter corroborated the above statements.

SLOW SELLERS.

A most thoughtful and instructive article on the subject of how to get rid of unsalable goods appears in a contemporary, but a local dealer solves the problem in three words—"Don't buy 'em." He is right—don't buy goods that will not sell and you will be all right.

Is it so difficult? Not at all. Of course, we are speaking of considerable quantities, as every grocer is liable to have a sample dozen left on his hands as a slow-selling novelty.

Shrewd dealers do not buy quantities of goods that they know nothing of, taking the salesman's word for their selling powers, and the inference is, when a store gets choked with slow-sellers, that the owner is incompetent.

Don't buy novelties in extensive quantities. Better sacrifice the discounts and take a broken package.—Merchants' Review.

AMONG TORONTO RETAILERS.

*Buying Country

I have frequently made mention of the fact that a large proportion of the retail grocers whom an outsider would designate as successful, seem to be well equipped for their business. The equipment specially referred to is the capacity to judge the wants of the public, and the selling qualities of the numerous articles they are asked to handle. Before any grocer can consider himself fully equipped, he must have learned to value country produce at its true worth. Even this, however, does not seem to be sufficient in Toronto. Here one must know how to get the choice produce, if he is to have it. I had an interesting talk, a few days ago, with A. White, grocer and provision dealer, College street. Mr. White has a business which is one of the largest of its kind west of Yonge street. While standing in front of his store, my attention was directed to the display of country produce, butter, eggs, apples, poultry, etc. I asked how it was that he was so fortunate in having such a choice stock of these goods. He slowly examined the goods I referred to, then turning to me he replied: "There is not much use counting on fortune to get us nice eggs and butter: We have to be on the look-out for them. I have made arrangements with a number of farmers, whose goods I can depend on, by which they bring me all their produce. I give them the highest price possible. This has proved highly satisfactory. Then, in the morning, early enough to catch the first farmers coming to market, I go out to Dundas street and, by personal examination, I can always secure an abundance of the very best produce coming into the city. I do not get back to the shop till after 10 o'clock, but the time spent buying in this way results so satisfactorily that I have followed this system of getting these goods for years." There may be a suggestion in this for some dealers, who frequently have to inform their customers that they have not any eggs, butter or poultry, as the case may be, that they "would like to recommend." At all events, it proves that Mr. White deserves the success which has attended his business.

On Monday morning this week I met a city traveler well-known as a baseball enthusiast, and asked, as is my wont, for "the latest news." With an air of mystery, he told me that on condition that I would not give away his identity he would tell me a "secret the trade are bound to learn some day." I made the requisite promise. Then he gravely informed me that two prominent College street grocers and one from Arthur street had returned from a two weeks' hunting trip without killing a deer. As two at least of the grocers mentioned are noted for their prowess in the deer hunt, he says they are endeavoring to "hush the matter up," but "truth will out." Of course, such a secret as this is too good a "scoop" to let pass, but I would remark that if the reputations of these three grocers as marksmen is depreciating, one of them still wears with pride the laurels of victory won on more than one occasion on the baseball field at the expense of the travelers. Every dog has his day.

VISIT FROM A LONDON SOAP MAN.

Mr. F. S. Cleaver, proprietor of The F. S. Cleaver Soap Works, London, England, paid a flying visit to Montreal last week. He is on his annual trip to America, and it was his intention to have spent several days in Montreal, but, owing to the heavy storms the past week, the steamer was delayed two days, and he had to leave the same day to keep an appointment in New York. He expressed himself as well pleased with his business in Canada, and was sorry that his arrangements were such that he could not spend more time in the commercial metropolis. His American business has increased to such an extent that he has established a branch factory in New York, whilst for Canadian trade they carry a large stock in Montreal. Mr. Chas. Gyde, of 22 St. Francois Xavier street, is the Canadian agent,

CLERKS AND MANUFACTURERS CONNIVING.

AS will be noticed by a report, printed elsewhere, at the last meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association, a resolution was adopted unanimously denouncing the practice of certain manufacturers in offering clerks in retail stores inducements to push their goods in preference to those of other manufacturers.

It will be remembered that this matter was first brought to the attention of the trade by a communication which appeared in THE CANADIAN GROCER a couple of weeks ago.

The manufacturers who employ this method cannot be blamed. It is business.

But what is business for the manufacturers is not business for the clerks.

No clerk has any right to enter into an agreement with any manufacturer whereby the latter's goods shall be pushed in preference to those of a competitor.

If it is the duty of anyone to enter into such an agreement, it is the merchant and not his employee.

The goods may be the best on the market, or may yield a better profit. And, again, they may not. Who, then, is to decide that, if it is not the merchant?

Clerks who arrogate to themselves duties in this particular which belong to their employer are not acting honestly. If they have the consent of their employer, that alters the case entirely. But until they have they should eschew all collusions with manufacturers, particularly in regard to such matters as are herein specified.

STRONG CANNED CORN.

The feeling in regard to canned corn is gathering strength, if the fact that the wholesale houses are gradually marking their figures up is any criterion.

One house in Toronto has fixed its price at $1 per dozen. Others are moving up to 95c. At the time of writing there is still some to be had at 85 to 90c., but wholesalers who quote the minimum figures intimate that they intend following the example of their confreres.

More inquiries are heard this week, although they chiefly come from Manitoba and other outside points. An effort to get a round lot from wholesalers brought out the fact that none of them were willing to accept less than 90c. per dozen.

There are a few lots being offered by canners at 85c. per dozen delivered.

The price of canned corn appears to be getting dangerously near the point where it may be expected to interfere with consumption.

PEPPER AGAIN ADVANCES.

Pepper is again tending upwards. Within the last week black pepper has advanced  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{3}{8}$ c. per lb. in London and New York.

Supplies coming forward have been light for some time, and New York has been holding off until lately, but, finding that stocks cannot be replaced at old prices, buyers there are accepting the inevitable.

Exports from Singapore and Penang during the past 10 months were only 8,765 tons. During the same period in 1897 they were 10,929 tons; 1896, 12,414 tons; 1895, 15,107 tons; 1894, 16,913 tons; 1893, 17,014 tons; 1892, 18,799 tons.

This is a decrease of nearly 20 per cent. compared with the same 10 months of 1897, and of over 53 per cent. as compared with 1892.

BANANAS AMID SCARLET FEVER.

A TORONTO physician, who has been attending an Italian fruit dealer's child for scarlet fever tells a tale that, for precautionary purposes, should be repeated far and wide.

Scarlet fever is a most infectious disease, but notwithstanding this, suspended to the ceiling of the sick child's room were clusters of bananas, while scattered around the room were half-opened boxes of fruit. Then, the mother alternately waited upon the sick child and customers.

This is certainly a case which demands the most rigorous action on the part of the health department of the "Queen City."

Every man has a right to earn a livelihood in any and whatsoever way he chooses, as long as he transgresses no law in so doing, but it is by no means safe for people to patronize these Italian fruit dealers and pedlars who have become so numerous everywhere. Their homes, which are the abodes of filth, are also the warehouses for their fruit, which over night, in many instances, is stored under beds and suspended from the ceilings of sleeping apartments.

It may not be either possible or just to put these people out of business, but it is possible, and justice demands it, that a system of inspection so rigorous be inaugurated, that a repetition of the case cited shall be less possible.

A BOARD OF TRADE'S INNOVATION.

The Orillia Board of Trade has decided to procure sign-boards to be placed at prominent places on days of meeting, inviting those who are interested in schemes for the welfare of the town to attend.

This is a little thing, but it might be a good thing. The boards of trade in this country have practically become organizations whose members meet in secret and gravely discuss matters which are seldom of public interest. At any rate, that is what is to be gathered from the very little that these organizations do for the benefit of either the town or city in which they are located or for the country in general.

Boards of do-nothing rather than boards of trade, would be more suitable names for some of them, for the word "trade" is practically a synonym for action.

It is hoped the innovation of the Orillia Board of Trade will bear much fruit.

UNENTERPRISING CANNED GOODS MEN.

CANADA has conditions which make her the ideal country for developing the canned goods industry.

Nature has been most liberal in her bestowal of fruits and vegetables in regard to quality, quantity and variety. Canada is a goodly country in this respect.

The legislators of the land, too, have been careful that they should not be considered less liberal than Nature. They have been most liberal.

They have given the packers a good 40 per cent. protection on canned fruits and 65 to 75 per cent. on canned vegetables.

Here we see what we do not always see, the legislators of the country cooperating with Nature in an effort to produce certain commercial results.

But these causes have not produced the effects which one would naturally have expected.

There are plenty of canning factories in the country for the home market. In fact, there are too many. And every new one that starts up makes most of those already in the field feel alarmed, as though an enemy of terrible proportions was advancing.

Most of the factories however, are in anything but a thriving condition. The packers formed associations, fixed prices, and sold through a selling committee, but still the conditions were no better. Some have pleaded that the tariff should be higher, but the fact that they have the home market to themselves makes it clear that the trouble does not lie in that direction.

Then, as to the export trade in canned goods, that, compared with the possibilities of the country, is insignificant indeed. The exports of canned vegetables are less than they were seven years ago, and, while in fruits there has been a decided increase, yet the quantity is small in view of the possibilities. The following table shows the exports of canned vegetables and canned fruits respectively from 1890 to 1897:

|                     | CannedVegetables. | CannedFruits. |
|---------------------|-----------------------|-------------------|
| 1890 .....          | $13,515              | $ 8,925          |
| 1891 .....          | 13,586                | 30,772            |
| 1892 .....          | 1,273                 | 62,140            |
| 1893 .....          | 27,950                | 47,057            |
| 1894 .....          | 13,727                | 22,369            |
| 1895 .....          | 13,862                | 109,122           |
| 1896 .....          | 2,707                 | 86,755            |
| 1897 .....          | 9,647                 | 141,934           |
| Total, 8 years..... | $96,267              | $509,074         |

Here is only a little over $600,000 of canned goods, fruits and vegetables all told, in eight years.

Nature has been beneficent, the Government has been liberal. What then is the cause of the unsatisfactory condition of the canned goods industry in Canada? Obviously the fault can be with no one other than the packers themselves.

They meet together in their association, but they cannot trust one another. If one turns his hand over the others follow. If one gets out a particularly attractive label others imitate him.

Nine-tenths of them are trying to row in one boat, each fearing that if he gets into a boat for himself that the others will out-row him. And as each is waiting to see someone else take the initiative, the industry drifts. It is not forged ahead.

Quite a little has been done during the past few years in the exportation of gallon apples, but the men to whom the chief credit is due are not the packers. They are the middlemen, who have exploited the European market and sent the goods forward, largely under their own labels.

Ask a packer to-day and he will tell you that the field is already crowded. And so it is—with packers like unto a majority of those who are in the business to-day. But it is by no means overcrowded with packers who can initiate and not imitate; who can lead, and not follow; who can push for business, and not wait to be pushed.

In a word, what is wanted is men who know their business, men who have enterprise, men who will push their goods before the public and keep them there, men whose brands shall become household words.

These men will not only build up their own trade, but they will help build up the canned goods trade of Canada, which is possible of such development.

MR. GIBSON'S ELEVATION.

While it is to be regretted that so many Canadians have crossed the border and taken up their residence in the United States, it is gratifying to know that so many of them have made their marks in their adopted country.

Many Canadians will remember the portly figure of Mr. F. James Gibson, formerly of Bryant, Gibson & Co., of Toronto, manufacturers of "John Bull" pickles and sauces. A few years ago he went to New York, where he eventually established a reputation as an advertisement writer and critic. And now the New York papers to hand report his appointment to the management of the large dry goods house of Journeay & Burnham, Brooklyn, and speak of him in the highest terms.

JAPAN TEA IN CANADA.

The exports of Japan tea to Canada up to Oct. 18 show a marked increase compared with the corresponding period a year ago.

The total shipments from Yokohama were 5,382,201 lb. and from Kobe 3,626,885 lb., a total of 9,009,086 lb., an increase of 1,552,644 lb., compared with the same period last last year, when the quantity was 7,456,442 lb.

The exports of Japan tea to Canada for the whole of last season were 8,913,654 lb.

The chief cause of this increase is doubtless the United States specific duty of 10c. per lb.

Have a mind of your own if you would have a business of your own.

CURRENTS CABLED HIGHER.

Late cables to Montreal brokers from Patras, state that the currant market is 6d. higher on all grades, and that demand is quite active. The asking prices now are 14s. 6d. for Provincials, 14s. 9d. for Filia-tras, and 15s. 9d. for Patras.

Trying to earn a reputation on poor quality goods is like trying to earn a reputation for morality by evil practices.

EXPORTS OF CEYLON TEA.

The exports of tea from Colombo, Ceylon, to September 22 show an increase of over 3,000,000 lb., compared with the same period in 1897. The figures in detail are as follows:

|                     |            |            |
|---------------------|------------|------------|
| United Kingdom .... | 70,909,101 | 72,561,369 |
| Germany .....       | 249,474    | 189,503    |
| Russia .....        | 1,654,865  | 324,612    |
| Australia .....     | 10,709,888 | 9,205,561  |
| America .....       | 1,801,059  | 564,652    |
| Other ports.....    | 2,369,332  | 1,572,600  |
|                     | 87,693,719 | 84,418,297 |

Pickle makers in Canada who are not prepared to follow these methods had better get out of business, and the sooner the better, for the unsatisfactory nature of the pickle industry in this country is due to the unsatisfactory and unbusinesslike methods employed in attempting to propagate it, and not to the unkindliness of Nature.

A GOOD ARTICLE IS SURE to bring profitable results to the dealer in it.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Nov. 17, 1898.

GROCERIES.

NO particularly new features have developed in the wholesale grocery trade during the past week. Business is, on the whole, good. The position of the canned goods market remains strong, with corn tending upward. Coffees are quiet and steady. Tea is one of the most active lines in the wholesaler's list. A good deal of attention is being given to foreign dried fruits, especially in view of the fact that the Bellona's cargo is now being taken into the warehouses. Black pepper, tapioca and sago are all firmer in the outside markets. Sugars are firm and in good demand. In syrups, the views of buyers and sellers are apart. New season's filberts are on the local market this week.

CANNED GOODS.

The feature of the canned goods market is the development of higher prices in canned corn. One house has advanced its price to $1 per dozen; others are quoting 90c. and $1, and, although at the time of writing there are one or two houses quoting from 85c. up, yet each house is gradually marking its figures up. The lowest price being asked by packers is 85c., as far as can be ascertained. An inquiry has been received this week from Winnipeg for a mixed carload of canned vegetables, but it does not appear to have led to any business. Canned tomatoes remain in much the same position as a week ago, wholesalers' quotations being from 85 to 90c. There are a few offerings by the packers at from 80 to 85c. Canned salmon is firm and unchanged at quotations.

COFFEES.

Although the cable advices have indicated a rather weaker feeling in Europe, the price of Brazilian coffee has remained steady on this side of the Atlantic, on account of the light deliveries at Rio and Santos. Locally, the market is quiet and featureless.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

The Canadian refiners are offering a few bright syrups, but their views are so much above those of buyers that no transactions appear to have taken place. Wholesalers are doing a fair business in syrups. In molasses, a fair trade is being done. The cheaper grades of molasses have sold at lower prices in New Orleans, during the week, but the price of open kettle goods is firm.

SUGARS.

The condition of the market is most satisfactory. Beet sugar advanced on Monday in London, and cane rules firm, while in New York granulated sugar was advanced  $\frac{1}{8}$ c. per lb. by both the Trust and the independent refineries. The price in Canada is unchanged, \$4.58 Toronto still being the quotation. The demand is good.

NUTS.

There is not much doing in nuts yet. The first shipment of new season's filberts arrived this week. The cost price is about  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. dearer than a year ago.

TEAS.

There is a good inquiry for Japan teas for importation at about 16c. per lb., but there are very few of this description to be had. Teas can be obtained at 15 to 17c., and low-grades at from 12c. up, but these are not wanted. Exports of Japan tea to

See pages 31 and 32 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John,
and Winnipeg prices current.

Canada were 9,009,086 lb. up to October 18, compared with 7,456,442 lb. the same date last year. Stocks of low-grade teas in Japan are still large. On the medium and finer grades the market is firm.

The London market keeps decidedly strong in Ceylon teas, although a tea circular under date of London, November 4, stated that while competition was good for all teas up to 10d. per lb., the better grades showed a decided weakness, a reduction of 1d. per lb. being frequently chronicled. In regard to Indian teas, the circular said the market easily absorbed the supplies at very firm rates, any tendency being towards a hardening in price. The deliveries of Indian tea in London during the past five months were nearly 7,000,000 lb. over the corresponding period of 1897, but, in spite of this, stocks at the beginning of the present month were below those of October 31, 1897. The low price of Indian teas appears to have caused a remarkable increase in their consumption.

SPICES.

Black pepper is  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{3}{8}$ c. per lb. higher in London and New York, than a week ago, while exports from Singapore and Penang during the first 10 months of the year were only 8,765 tons against 10,979 the same period last year.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

Patna rice is advised 20c. per cwt. dearer. There has been a little business done for import during the past week in this description of rice. The wholesale trade is quiet in rice. Tapioca is 1s. per cwt. dearer. While some business for importation has been done during the week at slightly below the full advance, subsequent attempts to do so on the same basis were not successful, proving that the market is firm at the higher figures.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS — Wholesalers report trade good in currants, and the market is well supplied, the Bellona's cargo now coming forward. A little business has also been done for import. Advices from Greece say there is not a great deal of fruit left for import.

VALENCIA RAISINS — There is a large quantity of fruit going out, and the volume of business, so far this season, is larger than usual, but prices are unsatisfactory, wholesalers commonly selling from  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{3}{8}$ c. below the actual cost.

MALAGA RAISINS — Shipments came forward this week ex Bellona, and the market is now well supplied. There has not been much business done yet. We quote: London layers, $1.80; black baskets, $2.20; blue baskets, $3.10.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS — The market is firm, and it is said that the stock of prime raisins remaining on the Coast only amounts to about 650 cars.

PRUNES — The situation is without change. A moderate business is being done.

FIGS — The market is quiet, and wholesalers are still selling below what it would cost them to lay down Eleme figs at to-day's prices. We quote: 17 to 18c. for 1-crown, to 25 to 28c. for 7-crown Eleme figs; tapnets, 4 to 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb., and naturals at 7 to 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.

CANDIED PEELS — Not a great deal doing yet. The ruling quotations are: Lemon, 10 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 13c.; orange, 11 to 14c.; citron, 16 to 19c.

GREEN FRUITS.

This week has witnessed substantial reductions in the price of oranges, lemons and cranberries. Jamaica oranges are 50c. per bbl. cheaper, and are in excellent demand. There has also been a healthy demand for lemons, which have been so scarce that all shipments have been well cleaned up. There is now a better supply on the market, and, as a result of the reduction of $1 per chest for Malagas and 50c. per box for Messinas, a large movement is expected. There is little doing in bananas. These continue unchanged in price. There has been a large inquiry from Canada and United States points for winter apples, but the movement has not equaled the expectation of holders, who are placing their stock in cold storage. The movement of cranberries has been strong, but the receipt of large quantities from Nova Scotia has resulted in a reduction of 50c. per bbl. Spanish onions have also declined 5 to 10c. Malaga grapes, sweet potatoes and late varieties of pears are in good demand, and are unaltered in price.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Receipts of fresh gathered are small, and a healthy demand keeps prices firm. An advance of  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. is noted. We quote: Fresh gathered at  $18\frac{1}{2}$  to  $19\frac{1}{2}$ c., though 20c. is frequently asked. Held fresh and cold stored stock are in moderate demand at about  $14\frac{1}{2}$  to  $15\frac{1}{2}$ c. Lined are moving briskly at the same figure. From 14 to  $15\frac{1}{2}$ c. is paid at outside points for cases.

POTATOES—The market is quiet. From 50 to 55c. is paid for car lots, and 60 to 65c. for small lots on the market.

POULTRY—Receipts are large. Chickens are in good demand at a reduction of 10c. in price, as the demand is sufficient to absorb the large quantity offering. Wild ducks continue to arrive freely, and are unchanged in price. They range in value from 20 to 25c. for teals and widgeons, to 60 to 75c. for black ducks and mallards.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—The market for dried apples is in an abnormal condition just now, as buyers from New York and Philadelphia, who have contracts to fill, have by their anxiety to buy caused an advance of  $\frac{1}{2}$ c., bringing the price from  $4\frac{1}{2}$  to 5c. per lb. for No. 1 stock. Common stock is quoted at  $3\frac{1}{2}$  to 4c. A decline from these prices is probable soon after the outside buyers stop purchasing. This condition of affairs in regard to dried apples has naturally affected the evaporated apple market, and at present the feeling is firm at  $7\frac{1}{2}$  to  $7\frac{3}{4}$ c. f.o.b. at country points for car lots. The jobbing price is steady at 8 to  $8\frac{1}{2}$ c.

BEANS—Hand-picked are in good demand at $1.10. Common stock is easy at 80 to 90c.

VEGETABLES—A good, healthy demand is noted for all stock. Vegetable marrows are done. Turnips, beets, carrots, and parsnips are now quoted by the bag. Squashes are \$1 per doz. dearer. We quote as follows: Cauliflower, 75 to \$1 per doz.; celery, 50 to 75c. per doz.; lettuce, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; radishes, winter, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz; 50 to 75c.; parsley, 10 to  $12\frac{1}{2}$ c. per doz. bunches; turnips, 30 to 40c. per bag; beets, 60c. per bag; parsnips, 50 to 60c. per bag; carrots, 50 to 75c. per bag; onions, Danvers, \$1 to \$1.10 per bag; butter squash, \$2 to \$2.50; pumpkins, 65c. to 75c.; Hubbard squash, \$2.50 to \$3; red cabbage, 40 to 50c.; egg plant, 50 to 90c. per basket.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Owing to the large receipts, the feeling re dairy butter is weak, with  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. declines noted for all kinds. Creamery is easy. We quote at outside points: Dairy tubs,  $12\frac{1}{2}$ c.; prints,  $12\frac{1}{2}$  to  $13\frac{1}{2}$ c.; large rolls,  $12\frac{1}{2}$ c.; creamery prints, 17 to  $17\frac{1}{2}$ c.; tubs and boxes,  $16\frac{3}{4}$  to  $17\frac{1}{2}$ c.

CHEESE—The market is firm. The feeling is growing that the conditions warrant an advance. We quote: 8 to  $8\frac{3}{4}$ c. for early makes, and 9 to  $9\frac{1}{2}$ c. for late makes.

PROVISIONS.

Receipts of dressed hogs up to date have been large compared with former years, but there has not yet been from the receipts any striking evidence of the large increase in the number of hogs grown this year, as was anticipated. The large houses here did not, however, expect the increase to be striking until toward the middle of December. It is expected that from that time packing-houses will be taxed to cut up all hogs offering. Long clear bacon, rolls and shoulder hams are  $\frac{1}{4}$ c. cheaper. Stocks of lard are well cleared up, and a good demand has resulted in an advance of  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. Barrel pork is easy, with a decline of 50c. noted for short cut and clear shoulder mess.

FISH.

Ciscoes and haddies are considerably weaker. The former have declined 25c. per 100 and haddies 1c. per lb. Otherwise there is no change. We quote as follows: Fresh salmon trout,  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c.; fresh whitefish,  $7\frac{1}{2}$ c.; steak trout, 7c. lb.; fresh perch,  $3\frac{1}{4}$ c. per lb.; fresh herring,  $3\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; Labrador herring, \$5.25 per bbl. and \$3 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 55c. per bundle of five; split herring, \$5 per bbl. and \$2.75 to \$3 per half-bbl.; cod, in 1-lb. blocks,  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; boneless fish,  $3\frac{3}{4}$  to 4c. per lb.; quail-on-toast,  $5\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; Gem of the Sea, 5c. per lb. fresh-water herring, 60c. per basket; ciscoes, \$1.25; haddies, 8c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 6c. per lb.; oysters, \$1.25 to \$1.35 per gallon.

alsike and red clover this week. The feeling regarding alsike is easy, as foreign buyers seem to have their wants supplied. Jobbers are, consequently, judging samples, offering more closely, and, though last week's figures, $2.75 to $4.25, still hold good, samples slightly off grade are not so freely accepted. The red clover market conditions are unchanged at $3 to $3.75 for last year's, and $3.50 to $4.25 for this year's crop. About $4.50 is sometimes paid for extra choice samples of this year's growth.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS

GRAIN—The wheat market is firm, but no change is noted, prices continuing at 69 to 70c., on cars outside, for both red and white. The street market has been quiet, owing to bad roads. Prices are firm. We quote: Wheat, white, 74½ to 75c.; red, 74c.; goose, 72c.; peas, 69c.; oats, 32c.; barley, 51c.; rye, 49c. No. 1 hard Manitoba is firm at an advance of 1c., now being quoted at 81 to 82c., Toronto freights.

FLOUR—An all-round decline of 10c. has ensued. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4.20; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.90; Ontario patents, $4 to $4.10; straight roller, $3.25 to $3.35, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Prices are unchanged. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.70 in bags and $3.70 to $3.90 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.75; pot barley, $3.75.

SALT.

No change is noted. Trade is brisk. We quote: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 54c.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—No change in price. The market is weak. We quote: No. 1, 8½c.; No. 2, 7½c.; No. 3, 6½c.; cured, 9c.

JUST IN

50 20-lb. boxes

California Fancy Cluster Table Rasins.
Beauties—compare favorably with the best Malagas.

150 cases Phoenix 2½-lb. Genuine Singapore Pineapple.

This beautiful fruit is put up whole, and in such a manner as to retain its natural flavor.

150 boxes, 28-lb. each, Bevan Bull brand Shelled Almonds.
These need no recommendation.

50 cases Armour Baked Beans in Tomato Sauce.

When you say Armour's goods, you mean "nothing finer"—try them.

TO ARRIVE IN A FEW DAYS:

250 25-lb. boxes Dufour Imperial Plums, 100's to the lb.

Nice stock. First quotations still rule, though prices have advanced in France.

500 50-lb. Ostrich brand Bosnia Prunes.

Large juicy fruit, always attractive, and a good seller.

1,700 boxes were lost in the "Westmeath," this has stiffened the market, but we would never think of taking advantage of it.

500 boxes Finest Evaporated Sour Apples,

From one of the best houses in the west. We may have been rather early in buying, but, to all appearances, we will not regret it, nor will our customers.

150 10-lb. boxes California Figs

50 boxes of 10 1-lb. packages each, California Figs.

This is a trial order and they ought to go fast. There is no reason why California should not raise the finest walnuts. They never do things by halves in that country.

100 cases 1-lb. Barataria Oysters.
100 cases 2-lb. Barataria Oysters.

We have some of these in stock, but we have to keep well supplied on account of the large demand for this well known brand.

100 cases 2-lb. Log Cabin Baked Beans, flat tins.
50 cases 3-lb. Log Cabin Baked Beans, tall tins.

Nicely put up, and great favorites everywhere.

25 cases Brown Bros. 1-lb. Choice Clams.

These may not have little necks, but you can guarantee that they will make a nice chowder.

TO ARRIVE IN DECEMBER

DIRECT FROM SINGAPORE :

400 bags Medium Pearl Tapioca.
50 bags (Fine) Seed Tapioca.

SHEEPSKINS—Shearlings and lambskins continue firm at 75 to 80c.

WOOL—The market is dull. No change in prices, which are steady at 15c. for fleece, and 10c. for unwashed.

MARKET NOTES.

Eggs are  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per doz. dearer.

Cranberries have declined 50c. per bbl.

All grades of flour have declined 10c. per bbl.

Dried and evaporated apples have both advanced  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.

R. B. Noble has been appointed agent in Toronto for The Brantford Soap Works.

Copy for advertisements, etc., will, next week, need to be in this office one day earlier than usual, on account of Thursday being a public holiday.

Long clear bacon, rolls and shoulder hams have declined  $\frac{1}{4}$ c. Short cut and clear shoulder mess pork is 50c. cheaper. Lard has advanced  $\frac{1}{4}$ c. in pails.

W. M. Fielding has been appointed manager of the Toronto branch of The F. F. Dalley Co., Limited, Hamilton, and the office and sample-room have been removed from 60 Front street east to 48 on the same street.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Nov. 17, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THERE has been a good volume of business in groceries in a distributing way, but the movement from first to second hands has been nil, which, of course, imparts dullness to the general situation. The truth of the matter is that jobbers are not bothering themselves much regarding supplies, but are busy in filling orders from their customers, and, apparently, have enough to get along with at present. The more active lines have been, tea, sugar, dried fruits and canned vegetables, in all of which a good trade from second to third hands is in progress. Values, as a rule, are steady; in fact, in several important particulars, point higher, as will be noted in the appended market reports.

SUGAR.

The sugar market has ruled firm here during the past week, and the demand from retailers is quite keen at present, a good distributing trade being in progress. All grades of refined sugar advanced  $\frac{1}{8}$ c. in New York on Monday, and this has, to a certain extent, stiffened the tone of refiners here. The raw article is very firm abroad also, beet in London being  $\frac{3}{4}$ d. higher than it was last week, with an increased demand at 9s. 9 $\frac{1}{4}$ d. for November, and 9s. 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. for November delivery. Cane is cabled firm also, with little offering, and prices are unchanged, Java, 12s 3d., and fair refining at 10s. 9d. In New York, raw is strong and held higher at 3 13-16 to 3 $\frac{3}{8}$ c. for fair refining; 4 $\frac{3}{8}$ c. for centrifugal 96 test, and 3 9-16 to 3 $\frac{3}{8}$ c. for molasses sugar. Prices at the refinery here are firm as last quoted.

SYRUPS.

There is a fair demand for syrups, stocks of which continue light, while values are steady.

MOLASSES.

The firm feeling noted in Barbadoes molasses last week is intensified, if anything, and holders are asking a good deal more money for round lots this week than they did. Jobbers have not made any quotable change yet, but if the cost from first hands continues to appreciate they will, of necessity, be compelled to mark up their range in proportion for single puncheon lots. Demand also is becoming brisker and as it increases many jobbers are experiencing difficulty in filling orders, and, for single puncheons, 32c. is asked with 1c. less for car lots.

DRIED FRUIT.

The jobbing inquiry for Valencia raisins is quite seasonable, but little is doing in a large way, the only transaction in this connection lately being the placing of 1,000 boxes selected, ex Bellona, at 5c. In a jobbing way, prices are steadily held, as last quoted.

California raisins are scarce on spot, and jobbers who have any consider them very good property, and are asking more money for them this week as a result of the state of affairs on the Coast.

Sultana raisins continue firm, as last quoted.

California prunes move quite freely at quotations, and there has been a fair trade in European sorts also.

There has been very little doing in currants, and prices are unchanged. Cables from Patras, however, are 6d. higher than they were.

Dates and figs are firmly held, and the demand is of a good seasonable character.

NUTS.

The strength in shelled walnuts has been well maintained, and other sorts also are firm, as a rule.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been a good demand for corn, peas and tomatoes from retailers, and prices on all three rule steady. The same can be said of several lines of canned fruits, but, in a large way, the market is as dull as the proverbial ditchwater, no business of this sort being noted from first to second hands. Prices, generally, are steady here.

TEA.

The demand for tea from retailers has been quite brisk, but the fact has not had any influence in creating any demand between first and second hands, buyers and sellers being apart as to value. With light stocks, however, business in this respect ought to brighten up. Low grade black teas are quite scarce, also Pingsueys, running from 13 to 14c. Cheap third crop Japans are offering at 12 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 14c., but so far no transactions have taken place in them. The range named for these is, of course, from first hands in a large way.

COFFEE.

Coffee remains steady, with a fair volume of trade passing, chiefly in Maracaibo, which has changed hands in 25 and 50 bale lots at 9 to 10c., also Santos and Rios at 7 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 10c.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been little change in the green fruit market during the past week. Lemons are in fair demand for the season, and oranges are arriving in much better condition, values on both being steady, and some good-sized sales of Jamaica stock are noted. Demand for Canadian pears in barrels is very slack, but prices are unchanged. Malaga grapes have advanced quite sharply on the week. Cranberries and Spanish onions rule steady.

APPLES.

There is a good demand for apples at $2.75 to $3 for car lots of No. 1, and $2 to $2.50 for No. 2. Jobbing lots are 50c. per barrel higher. A lot of the stock arriving shows very poor quality.

FISH.

The favorable change in the weather has tended to increase the demand for all lines of fish to some extent, consequently, the market, on the whole, during the past week, has been more active with a larger volume of business doing. There has been no important change in prices to note in any line. The market for green cod and mackerel is very firm, on account of the limited supplies, and prices are firmly held at the recent advance. We quote jobbing prices as follows: No. 1 Labrador herrings, \$4.75 to \$5 per bbl.; No. 1 N.S. do., \$4.25 to \$4.50; N.B. in half-bbls., \$2.25; No. 3 mackerel, \$15; No. 1 green cod, \$4.50 to \$5; No. 2, \$3.50; B.C. salmon, \$13 per bbl. and \$7 per  $\frac{1}{2}$ -bbl.

There continues to be a steady demand for prepared fish, and as stocks of such are still small the feeling is firm at unchanged prices. We quote: Pure boneless codfish, 5 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 6c. per lb.; dressed or skinless codfish, 4 $\frac{1}{4}$ c.; soft cured, 3 $\frac{3}{4}$ c.; dried, \$4 per 112 lb.; boneless fish, 3 to 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

The demand for fresh fish has been good, and as supplies have been just about equal to the requirements prices have ruled steady. We quote: Haddock, 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.;

Manitoba dore and whitefish,  $6\frac{1}{2}$  c.; pike,  $5\frac{1}{2}$  c., and B.C. salmon,  $13\frac{1}{2}$  c. per lb.

The offerings of smoked fish are large, for which the demand is only fair, and prices have an easy tendency. We quote: Haddies, 6 to 7c.; kippered herrings, $1.35 to $1.50 per box; smoked herrings, 10 to 12c., and Yarmouth and bay bloaters, 90c. to $1.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The demand from local buyers was fair, and the tone of the market is firm. We quote: Strictly new laid,  $21\frac{1}{2}$  to 22c.; No. 1 candled, 15 to 16c.; No. 2 do., 12 to 13c.; Montreal limed, 14 to  $14\frac{1}{2}$  c., and culls, 9c. per dozen.

POULTRY—A fairly active trade was done in poultry, considering the unfavorable weather, and prices rule about steady. We quote: Turkeys,  $8\frac{1}{2}$  to  $9\frac{1}{2}$  c.; chickens,  $6\frac{1}{2}$  to  $7\frac{1}{2}$  c.; ducks, 7 to  $7\frac{1}{2}$  c., and geese,  $5\frac{1}{2}$  to  $6\frac{1}{2}$  c. per lb.

GAME—There continues to be a good demand for partridge, and all offerings meet with a ready sale at 55 to 65c. for firsts, and 40 to 50c. for seconds per brace.

BEANS—Trade in beans is chiefly of a small jobbing character, and prices rule steady. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 a bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

HONEY—In honey, business is very quiet. Prices are nominally unchanged. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 7 to  $7\frac{1}{2}$  c.; dark,  $5\frac{1}{2}$  to  $6\frac{1}{2}$  c.; white extracted, 6 to  $6\frac{1}{2}$  c.; and dark, 4 to 5c.

MAPLE PRODUCT—The demand for maple product is nil at present. We quote as follows: Syrup, in wood, 4 to  $4\frac{1}{2}$  c. per lb.; in tins, 45 to 55c., according to size. Sugar, 6 to  $6\frac{1}{4}$  c. per lb.

POTATOES—The demand for choice potatoes is good, and such stock is becoming somewhat scarce, consequently prices rule firm, with sales of car lots at 50c., and common to fair at 40 to 45c. per bag.

DRIED APPLES—Rules steady, as quoted in our prices current.

PROVISIONS.

The local provision market was quiet again to-day, the demand being chiefly for small lots to fill actual wants, at steady prices. We quote as follows: Canadian pork, in barrels, \$16 to \$16.50; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at  $8\frac{1}{4}$  to  $8\frac{1}{2}$  c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to  $5\frac{1}{2}$  c. per lb. Hams,  $10\frac{1}{2}$  c. to 13c.; and bacon, 10 to 13c. per lb.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese continues steady, and the balance of the make in the country is being steadily absorbed at full figures. Most of the factories are closing down also. Values here were firmly held. We quote: Finest Ontario fall cheese,  $9\frac{1}{2}$  to  $9\frac{3}{4}$  c.; finest eastern fall cheese,  $8\frac{3}{4}$  to 9c.; finest French fall cheese,  $8\frac{3}{4}$  c.; Liverpool cable, 42s. to 44s.

Butter rules dull and heavy, on the whole, but this does not alter the fact that there are some buyers willing to pay extreme prices, for we hear of over  $18\frac{1}{2}$  c. being paid for creameries in the Townships. This, however, is an exceptional case, and no fair criterion of the ruling price. We quote: Extra finest creamery, boxes,  $17\frac{1}{2}$  to 18c.; extra finest creamery, tubs,  $17\frac{1}{2}$  to  $17\frac{3}{4}$  c.; ordinary finest creamery, boxes,  $17\frac{1}{2}$  to  $17\frac{1}{4}$  c.; ordinary finest creamery, tubs, 17c.; western dairy, tubs,  $14\frac{1}{4}$  to  $14\frac{1}{2}$  c.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

A feature of the grain market was the excitement in oats, prices advancing 1c. per bushel for stock, on spot, which was due to the fact that a vessel was about to sail, and the shipper, or shippers who had the freight engaged were caught short, and were obliged to pay the above advance noted in order to obtain the quantity required for immediate delivery, and sales were made at 32c. afloat, for future delivery. Peas were quiet, and about steady at  $68\frac{1}{2}$  to 69c. afloat. Buckwheat is firm and wanted at 51 to  $51\frac{1}{2}$  c. afloat.

There was no special feature in the flour market. The demand continues good, from local and country buyers, and a fairly active trade is doing at firm prices. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $4.00 to $4.25; straight rollers, $3.70 to $3.80; in bags, $1.75 to $1.85; Manitoba patents, $4.50 to $4.60; strong bakers', best, $4.15 to $4.25.

There is a steady demand for meal, and the market is moderately active and firm, rolled oats selling at $3.60 per barrel, and at $1 75 per bag.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Cables to importers here from Patras quote currants 6d. higher for future shipment.

Holders are asking an advance of  $\frac{1}{2}$  c. per gallon this week for round lots of Barbadoes molasses.

Raw beet sugar in London is  $\frac{3}{4}$  d. higher, both for present and future delivery, and refined is  $\frac{1}{8}$  c. per lb. higher at New York.

There have been offerings of third crop low-grade Japan teas here within the past eight days, but no transactions of importance have yet resulted.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 15, 1898.

FOR wholesale grocers the past week has been a busy one and satisfactory, though many dealers complain that others do not take advantage of the advance in prices in many lines. Trading stamps are having considerable attention in the local press. The general feeling is against them. In markets there has been rather less change than for some time, though nearly all lines are firm. Evaporated apples have quite surprised the trade. Spices are tending higher, particularly pepper and cassia.

OIL—Oil is still the busy line. As the season advances buyers are anxious to get their contracts completed. The bringing of the price of American oil to within 1c. of Canadian has not effected its sale as much as expected, the Canadian having a large sale. In cod oil the season is about over. It has been quite a successful one, there being larger shipments received than last year and better prices obtained.

SALT—Stocks of Liverpool coarse are getting light, but they are equal to present demand, and prices show no change. Trade is quiet, waiting the arrival of the direct Liverpool steamers, which will bring fresh supplies. They are due within a week. In English factory-filled, there is still quite a large sale. There is no doubt the demand has been effected by some dealers in order to undersell competitors bringing a second grade here. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1 per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—The market is firmly held, though it is said that some holders are inclined to take less price than the market warrants. Salmon are held higher. There are more cohoes in the market than usual, and, in many cases, they show nice profits. The fortunate ones are those who carried over sockeye fish from last season. The higher prices affect sales. Other lines of canned fish, such as sardines, haddies, bloaters and herring, are finding increased sale, and the outlook is for higher prices. New oysters are offered and prices are low.

GREEN FRUIT—Somewhat contrary to expectation apples are lower. There does not seem to be a very active demand. Nice Bishop pippins are now offered, and are quite low. Firmer figures are looked for in winter apples. The best Nova Scotia stock is exported, but a few nice lots come here. Oranges are rather easier. There is but a fair sale. The quality is not particularly tempting. Lemons are firm, but the sale is largely in small quantities. A few bananas are still imported. Cranberries are higher. The stock of native berries is light. The quality this year was good. Canadian grapes are about over. The big demand has passed. They, however, affect the sale of Malagas, which, as yet, have light movement. Quality offered is good. Sweet potatoes are dull at easy prices.

DRIED FRUIT—Dealers have been disappointed by the delay in arrivals of both California and Valencia raisins. The former have been again slightly advanced by the association, and this advance will affect the Canadian market. Quality of fruit arriving is satisfactory and is largely 3-crown. Some California prunes, for direct shipment, have been sold. In currants, there is a large sale. Cleaned, both bulk and packages, were received from New York, but the larger quantity is cleaned here. Prices are firm. Figs are high and firmly held. Peels have free sale at even figures. Dates and prunes are quiet. Dried apples are in light supply. There is but little local sale. Evaporated are higher, and western packers not anxious to sell. Supplies are short and there is a large export demand. In onions, there is a fair stock; prices in local market are lower than market warrants, because some stock is inclined to be soft.

SUGAR—The market is a firm one. Refineries are not pushing sales. In foreign sugars, arrivals are just enough for competition. Prices show no change. Granulated has chief sale.

MOLASSES—The market is firm, but the largest demand has been supplied. Prices, however, tend rather higher, as stocks are light, but there are continued small arrivals which somewhat offset this. Porto Rico is the chief grade offered. There is some nice quality here. Some syrup is held and values are higher. There is but a quiet demand.

PRODUCE—Eggs are again higher, and quality is more satisfactory. There is a good sale. In butter the large supply of poor makes the trade unsatisfactory, and keeps values low. For best grade there is a better sale at rather improved prices. In cheese the demand is light, and prices are low. It is difficult to sell except September cheese.

FISH—Prices firm and tending higher. We advance dry cod. Receipts are light. The same is true of pollock, and with better sale prices are higher. Dealers are still unable to fill orders in pickled herring. There are both Canso and Shelburne to hand, but quality is only fair. These latter want to be caught early, but at that season the fishermen are busy catching lobsters. With Grand Manan herring, the later caught the better. Boneless fish have a very large sale. The market is a firm one. We quote: Large cod, $3.45 to $3.55; medium, $3.40 to $3.50; pollock, $1.50 to $1.55; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.75 to $1.80 ½-bbl.; Canso, pickled, $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 5c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.; finnan haddies, 4 to 4½c.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c.; spring shad, $3.75 to $4 ½-bbl.; fall do., $4.75 to $5; ½-bbl.; alewives, $3 per bbl.; kippered herring, $1; bloaters, 60c.; Shelburne, $3.75.

PROVISIONS—Barreled pork tends easier. While American mess is somewhat scarce, local packed is coming to hand more freely. Beef is firmer. There is limited sale. In smoked meats business is quiet. Lard has good sale at rather firmer figures.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Flour is rather easier, but there is no change. Except in a retail way demand is somewhat quiet. Manitobas are moving more freely. Buyers complain very much in the delay in getting shipments forward. Oatmeal is firm and prices rather higher; many mills are sold ahead. Oats high. Cornmeal shows large sale at the low figures. Feed is again scarce. Beans have a better demand, but buyers follow the advance very

ST. JOHN NOTES.

John Sealy shipped this week 1,027 bbls. Gaspereaux (alewives) to New York.

A car of oysters were shipped to Winnipeg by Fraser & Jardine, of Richibucto, this week.

Ten thousand bushels of turnips were shipped from St. Andrews during the past week to Boston.

Bowman & Angevine, the local agents, are finding a steadily increasing sale for chocolat Menier.

It is an ill wind blows no one good. The cyclone at Barbadoes has created quite a little demand for lumber here.

The citizens of St. Stephen are much interested in the prospect of nickel mines being developed near their city.

The Furness line steamer St. John City, took 14,081 bbls. apples from Halifax to London on her last trip.

Harold Likely, with Jardine & Co. for some years, has followed Alex. Jardine west, leaving for Bear Gulch, Montana, this week.

Prices in Carleton county, for produce, are as follows: Recleaned oats, 23c.; hay, loose, $3 to $4; meal, yellow buckwheat, 80c.; butter, 15c.; eggs, 12c.; beans, $1.10; pork, 4½ to 5c., and easy; potatoes, 50c.

Every effort is being made to get everything in readiness for the winter export business about to begin. The large new elevator is about completed. Many extra tracks have been laid, and there will be quicker despatch than ever. Already quite a quantity of freight is in the yard.

SHIPMENTS OF CURRANTS.

C. Ceroni writes from Patras, under date of October 17, as follows: "The chief feature for the last five or six weeks has been the continued firmness of prices on this side, and the activity of shipments, whereas neither of these facts was justified by the position of currants in the various markets of consumption. Though spot prices have considerably advanced, the difference nearly disappears in sterling quotations, owing to a proportionate rise of the exchange.

"The market is now quieter, there being no steamers loading in our port, but prices are still firm, and, though this is not intended to express a decided opinion, the figures are likely to be maintained for some time. Shipments up to date amount as follows, compared with same date last year:

FORTUNE IN A SNAP-SHOT.

One of the most prominent society girls of Chicago is responsible for a soap advertisement which has made millions smile.

MY MAMA USED I WISH WOOL SOAP MINE HAD

Three years ago she took a snap-shot of two babies whose mother belonged to Denver, and who was visiting in the "Windy City."

The photograph appealed to an advertiser, who made its production famous by having printed beneath the presentments the following well-known lines, which he used as a trade mark:

"My mama used wool soap."

"I wish mine had."

The tots had been caught by the camera in semi-nudity. One had on a long, and the other a very short, undershirt.

What lends interest to the incident is the fact that these children, whose pictures are serving to enrich a soap manufacturer, are grandchildren of one of America's most famous poets.

The children are now seven years old, and live with their mother in Denver. The fond parent, while she will not permit the disclosure of their identity, is proud of the fact that one of the famous sculptors of the United States has so much admired the photograph of her young daughters that a reproduction of their now famous contraposition will be reproduced in marble and placed on exhibition at the Paris exposition in 1900.—N.Y. Press.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND NOTES.

This is a very busy season, as the Island is chiefly dependant on agricultural products, and this is the season of shipping.

The steamer Winnipeg, last week, took to Liverpool from Charlottetown 1,000 sheep, 100 cattle, 5,000 boxes cheese, 1,500 packages butter, 800 cases lobsters, etc. There is also considerable stuff going forward from Summerside, S. H. Jones forwarding a car of geese to Boston; also very large shipments of lambs. Two square-rigged vessels are loading oats for Europe, and one for the West Indies, and a number of smaller vessels for nearby markets. Prices are: Oats, 20 to 30c., potatoes, 25c.; eggs, 12c. Large shipments of the last-named are being made. Pork, 4 to 4¼c. A shipment went forward to Boston in one day of nine cars of lambs via Point du Chene. Besides the above shipments, the steamer Horton is expected to load oats at Charlottetown, taking 110,000 bushels.

No Mixing

"Gold Dust" Corn Meal is made from pure yellow corn—there is no mixed or white corn in it. Neither is there any finely ground bran thrown in to cheapen the cost of milling it. It is Kiln-Dried to arrest heating and to prevent decay. It never goes "sour." It is finely granulated, and the grains are evenly cut. It is thoroughly cleansed—we are very careful about that. And you will note at once how free it is from bran.

You can judge yourself if you will send for samples. We sell "from manufacturer to retailer direct."

It Isn't Fair

LONG time, credit accounts sooner or later lead up to bad debts. Don't for the moment think that the manufacturer who sells on six months' credit overlooks the opportunities he has to make good his losses from the men who pay their bills promptly. There must be either a lowering of quality or an increase in the price to you.

We believe we have reduced our "bad debts" to the minimum by adhering strictly to our terms of 30 days only. "It isn't fair" to you to give better terms to one more than to another—neither is it fair to ourselves, because bad debts would surely accumulate if we did. Of course, quality has to suffer when bad debts are contracted—you expect it, but not with

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 14, 1898.

THE general state of trade has improved since last week, and wholesale houses are busy. The near approach of the close of navigation is causing goods to be rushed forward, and some merchants are experiencing considerable anxiety as to whether there will be time to deliver all the more perishable stock ordered to be shipped in this way. The weather has again become so mild that it is difficult to predict just how soon or how late the lakes may close.

When the heavy fall of snow came Monday last it was generally considered that winter had set in. But to-day the snow has almost disappeared, and the weather has been fine and very mild.

WHEAT—The fall of snow has retarded threshing operations somewhat, but improved the roads for a few days, and deliveries have been heavy. It is estimated that, along the various lines of the C.P.R. on Friday, fully 181,750 bushels were delivered to elevators. Price on standard rate of freight 53c.

EVAPORATED AND DRIED FRUITS—Apples have stiffened considerably during the week, and fancy stock is now quoted at 11c. The cheaper qualities on the market are selling in the vicinity of 10c. Dried apples are offering, but the price is such that few sales will be made, 7c. being asked for first-class stock. Other lines of these goods remain unchanged from last week.

CURRENTS—Are a little firmer. Provincials in barrels, 5½ to 5¾c.; provincials in half-cases, 5¾c.; Vostizza in half-cases are worth 7 to 7½c.; fancy cleaned in 1-lb. packages, 7½c.; raisins, seeded, in 1-lb. packages, 10c.

CANNED GOODS—The situation is firm and without change, with the exception of corn, which continues scarce, and will likely advance to a still higher figure. Prices ruling are: Corn, $2.20 to $2.25; tomatoes, $2.25; peas, $1.80 to $1.85. Canned fruits are not worth quoting at this season, movement being so light. Canned meats are without change. In canned turkey, chicken, and duck, old stocks are about exhausted; new supply not expected until about the end of December.

FISH—The carload of haddies reported to arrive this week, on reaching Winnipeg were rejected by the consignees, owing to the fact that the car was heated and the fish were slimy. As express shipments had, in many cases, been cancelled, haddies may be short on the market for a little time. Other lines remain at last week's figures: Pure cod, in bricks, 6½c.; fancy cod, in boxes, 7c.; whole cod, 5½c.; quail on toast, 6½c.; scaled herring, per box, 17c.; mackerel, in kits, $2.25. The trade in these goods is very brisk.

CURED MEATS—American market is easier and in consequence, hams and breakfast bacon are quoted at 11c., being a drop of ½c., other lines have not changed since August. Pigs for the packing-houses continue scarce. In fact, practically no Manitoba stock has yet been received.

CEREALS—Have been stationary as to price, though trade is brisk. Rolled oats, in 80's, $1.75; granulated oatmeal, $2.15; standard, $2.15; split peas, $2.25, and barley, $2.30.

RICE—New Japan will be on the market in six weeks and will be quoted at 5½ to 5¾ for No. 2; B. rice is worth 4¼; No. 1 China (new crop) 6c.

GREEN FRUIT—Trade is active. The anticipated advance in apples has not taken place, and they are still selling from $3.50 to $4, according to condition and variety; oranges, $4.50 to $5; lemons, $7.50; Malaga grapes, $8 per keg; California Tokay, $2.75; Cape Cod cranberries, very fine sample, $8.50 per bbl.; sweet potatoes, $5; Ontario chestnuts, 15c. per lb.; shelled walnuts, 25c. per lb.

BUTTER—Creamery has all been bought, with the exception of a few odd lots, and prices for the future will be jobbers' prices to retailers. Dairy butter continues fairly plentiful, and is worth 15 to 16c., Winnipeg. The sample is good.

CHEESE—All factories are bought out. Jobbers are selling retailers at 9½ to 10c., according to size and quality of cheese.

EGGS—Strictly fresh eggs, of which there is a limited supply, not being enough for local demand, we quote 19 to 20c.; pickled eggs, 16 to 17c.

A STITCH IN TIME SAVES NINE.

How many "files" and "rasps" are thrown away every week because they get partly clogged up and are looked upon as useless, by a good many workmen, for further service. Some send them away to be recut or sharpened, but they are never as good, after this process, as a new article. There is a fine steel wire brush made especially for this purpose, and has been very much in demand, although only recently placed on the market. It will clean out the metal and filings from files and make them cut as good as new, besides getting double service from the one tool. This is claimed to be one of the handiest articles in the brush line for plumbers, machinists, tinsmiths, metal spinners, founders and similar trades. Painters have also taken to them, as they do better work than coarse or other grades of sandpaper, and practically never wear out. Further information in regard to this brush will be given by Boeckh Bros. & Company, brush manufacturers, Toronto.

NOVA SCOTIA SHORE FISHERIES.

The Nova Scotia shore fisheries this season are, according to The Halifax Herald, by long odds the worst for years. This is true on the western coast and on the east, except in parts of Cape Breton, and it is true both of herring and cod. Bait has been scarce and the destructive dogfish plentiful.

Notwithstanding this, receipts just now at this port are fair, but this is probably because the fish are being hurried in to market. The close of the season, at the end of next month, will certainly show a heavy shortage. Cod are bringing, as The Herald has previously stated, $1 per quintal more than a year ago. Hard selected, salted shore cod, ex vessel, is bringing $3.75 per quintal. Though the herring fishery, both in fat and poor, is a failure, being not half an average, the prices are about the same this year as last—$3 to $3.25. The bank catch, it is estimated, will be 13,000 quintals less than last season's.

The Porto Rico market has been very good recently. Zwicker, of Lunenburg, is said to have done better in shipments there since the war than for the past seven years. It is not very probable these high prices will continue.

The Magdalen Islands mackerel catch is the best for two years, but in Nova Scotia little has been done. No. 1 mackerel, ex vessel, are worth $18, and spring 3's, $9.25.

GRIMBLE & CO., Limited., LONDON, N.W. ENG.THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU . . . .

Reads every paper in Canada and clips therefrom all articles of a business or personal nature of interest to subscribers in this department.

Politicians can obtain from it everything the papers say about themselves on any subject in which they are interested. Business men learn of new openings for trade, pointers to sell goods, addresses of people likely to become buyers, tenders wanted, stocks for sale or wanted, reports of new industries or stores, etc.

TERMS—$5 per hundred clippings; $40 per thousand, payable in advance; but a yearly contract will be found the most satisfactory.

We have also lists of firms in every branch of trade in the Dominion, the professions, club members, society, etc., and we are prepared to address and mail circulars or letters to these at any time.

WINNERS USE

COLEMAN'S SALT.

Here are a Few Pointers

for Cheese and Butter-makers, gathered from the Prize List at the Toronto Industrial Exhibition:

- (1) ALL the First prizes in Creamery Butter were awarded to those who used Coleman's Refined Butter Salt.
- (2) There were FIVE First prizes for Factory Cheese ; the users of Coleman's Cheese Salt scored Four.
- (3) Butter salted with Coleman's Fine Butter Salt won 10 prizes out of the total of 18 in the Creamery classes.
- (4) Cheese salted with Coleman's Cheese Salt won 22 prizes out of 28 in the Factory Cheese classes.
- (5) The other prize winners used other brands of Canadian Salt ; no imported salt appears to have been used in any case.

WE EXTEND CONGRATULATIONS to the prize winners, and commend the above facts to the attention of Cheese and Butter-makers, and the trade in general.

Every dealer should carry a stock of Coleman's Dairy Salt. We assort carloads to suit purchasers. Samples and prices mailed on application.

One of these is

A Celebrated Japan Tea Garden.

JAPAN TEA

There is no more trouble to persuade a customer to try this delightful beverage, than to sample any other good thing. After that your trouble is over.

They have the rich, smooth flavor, and all that delicate, indescribable tea quality which delights and holds. One trial means another, and that means conviction and a customer.

The best advertisement Japan Tea has is the consumer, for it never fails to give satisfaction.

The above cabinet is sent to purchasers of GRAND MOGUL Tea in case lots. Every tidy grocer can easily see the many advantages it possesses. It opens in the back. Grocers wanting exclusive sale in towns or villages where Grand Mogul is not sold should write us at once.

THANKSGIVIN' 'POSSUM.

BY RILEY M. FLETCHER.

"Yassah, 'possum sut'ny am, mo' aw less, th' bes' allroun' cose food foh Thanks-givin' at ye kin povid. They's tukky en chick'n, ov cose, en ain' none of em ovly hahd to co'ch, excusin' wen yo 'bliged to tek daylight; then yo boun' foh to hab trouble. But git yo tukky, yo chick'n, yo ham, yo anythin' handy, en ef ye don' hab no 'possum—give ma wud, sah, y' ain' gwine enjoy yosef so good. Oh, my Lawd! seem lak I could smell 'm roasin' this ve'y minute.

"'Possum sho am th' quares' animil I mos' evah see: so quiet en easy en plesan'. Jes' seem lak he don' nevah wanten fight, en ef he do he ain' gwine staht hit. He jes' ez shameful ez a right small little babe, hidin' en grinnin' fum hin' 'is han'.

"Hit come Septembah mos'ly foh ye hunt 'im; too sneky mo aw less enduhn th' summah, but thet jes natch'ly wen yo gwine fin' yo watah-mel'ns done been tampahd wid. Ole 'possum go ram'lin roun' thoo th' patch, sawt o' laffin t' issef, lak hit waz t'day—en t'morrer wen ye strolls out wid yo knife en a tase in yo mouf y' ain' nevah gwine know tell ye cut um, thet th' mel'n done ben scoop clean holler wid Mistah 'Possum' hin' laig.

"'Possum mos' gen'ly sleeps thoo th' day, excusin' mebbe an owah aw two foh dawken wen they mought tek a notion ter go fishin'. But y' ain' gwine fin' em moonshiny nights less hit mought be some rale young 'possums don' know no bettah. Some folk say 'possum fraid owls cotch em in th' moonshine, en some folks says they does n't nevah ram'le then kaze they fraid he'y own shadder.

"But mo aw less, foh propah right 'possum huntin', th' mos' bes' kin ov a night is a rale black un. Ye staht out right aftah suppah wid yo dawgs en some long little lighterd tawches en eithah some kin' ov a sack eithah not—don' mek no diffunce, jes so ye got a rale good pole wid a split end on't. Yo dawgs, they kites' head of ye, en tain' no time tell ye hyuh 'm bahkin' en ye fin' a 'possum up th' tree same wi'ch th' dawgs is bayin'.

"Dawgs is jes natch'ly mo aw less got th' 'possum smell, but ef they don', some folks tecks 'possem gall en rubs hit to they dawg's nose, en some folks they swinges 'possum feet en gives hit to 'm. Ef they don' hun' 'possum wen ye done thet, hit's jes natch'ly kaze they ain' no 'possum roun'—I tell'n ye Gawd's truth. But 'possum dawg don' love t' eat 'possum. No sah, mo aw less he won' tech em nohow 'thout ye hole im en force hit down 'is thoat. En wen they bays a 'possum y' ain' gwine have no trouble wid th' dawg. He jes cotch ole 'possum back th' neck en shek 'im in 'is teef tell ye grab 'im yosef en eithah pop 'm in a sack or cotches his tail in th' stick I done tole ye 'bout. Ole 'possum he tek en wrop 'is tail roun' en roun' so tight mo aw less tell 't do seem lak y' ain' nevah gwine hit loose.

"Some folks traps 'possums, but eithah way, always, mos' gen'ly they's hahd ter kill. Hit's the' mos' propah way ter lay'm 'crost a rail en brek 'is neck. Now, lak hit wuz t'day en Thanksgiving wuz t'morrer, ye take yo 'possum en brek 'is neck; ye gashes 'im lak a chick'n en hangs 'im up tell to'morrer. T'morrer ye swinges 'im ovah th' fiah. Some folks stchews 'possum, but I don' lak em that-a-way. Hit makes em tase kin o' flashy; ain' got no flavah. No sah, hit' propah right lak mos' folks does mo aw less, to roas' 'im wid sweet-'tatahs. Fust ye done got t' pahboil 'm—

OO! Hoo! Seem lak th' smell in ma nose right now—yessah, pahboils 'im wid vingah en watah. Wen 'e's right smaht tendah ye tak 'im out 'n throws 'im in th' oven en bastes 'im wid vingah en black peppah. Umph! Humph! Shet th' do' wen that's about! No sah, th' ain' nothin' got such a pow'ful good stenk, en—en yes-sah, ef ye don min' hit'll git 'crost a ten akah piece. Hit's th' insult ov 'sperience at 'ts mo aw less bes' wid 'possum en sweet-'tatahs to have em kin' o' special-lak ter yo ownselfes. They ain' so pow'ful lawge that ye kin ax ev'y niggah in th' kentry will 'e have some. Well, sah, that 'possum's a layin' in th' roasin' pan wid a sweet-'tatah in 'is mouf en othas soht o' continyen on roun' in th' gravy—Sutny, sah, ye done peel em all-ways, mos' natch'ly, foh ye cook em wid 'possum. Ye bastes 'm tell he brown, but I give ye ma wud foh 't, y' ain' gwine keep yosef fum tasin' 'im wen 'e's roas'in' to save yo soul. Ye would'en git no good satisfacshun leas ye could stick yo fawk inteh jes th' leas little piece o' cracklin' hyuh, and dip up wid a mite o' gravy nex' time—no sah, tain' natch'ly.

"Of cose, wen ye got hit roas' propah ye tek 't out 'n set hit on top ov th' stove to keep wahm. Tain' bes' to wait too long foh yo dish yo 'possum kaze ye boun to keep a tasin it. Well, sah, ye put yo tukky, aw yo chickin pie aw yo ham en cawnbraid, en all th' res' ov yo cose food on th' table mo aw less. Ye got yo knick-knacks all ready; yo cake en yo jelly en yo sweet-'tata custahd en ten yo 'possum git toted in. My Lawd! Ye hep yosef to roas' ham aw jes a propah mite o' chick'n pie, en ye 'low yo gwine enjoy hit splendid. Ye mought en agin moughtn't. Hit don' mos'ly mek no diffunce; anythin' boun to tase flashy side o' 'possum. Umph! Humph! Sweet-'tatahs is jes natch'ly malicious mo aw less by theysevs, but wen yo got sweet-'tatahs en 'possum—yo jes natch'ly boun' to eat tell ye huht yosef inside. Tell ye Gawd's truth, sah, wen ye got 'possum en sweet-'tatahs ye so happy tain' lak nothin' else excusin' wen ye done got 'ligion fust time.'—What to Eat.

PORK-PACKING IN BROCKVILLE.

A PORK-PACKING establishment in Brockville would be as beneficial to the farmers of Leeds and Grenville as it would be to the merchants of the town of Brockville, for it would create a home market for all the hogs they could raise and would enable them to use to the best advantage the waste products of the cheese and butter factories. There is no section of Canada where hogs can be raised more profitably than in the united counties, for it is acknowledged that the best pork is that which comes from hogs fed on peas and the refuse from cheese and butter factories. The section which can manufacture cheese that commands the highest price in the British market is sure to make a success of manufacturing bacon. We have the right kind of farmers in the country tributary to Brockville. All that is required is capital to establish a pork-factory and the right man to run it—a pushing man who thoroughly understands his business.—Times, Brockville.

SALMON FISHING ON THE FRASER.

The accompanying illustration, which appeared in The Canadian Shoe and Leather

Journal, shows a salmon fishing scene at the mouth of the Fraser river, British Columbia. As a rule enormous sums of money are paid out at the close of the fishing season to the Indians and others engaged in the fishing, but this year, in spite of the high price paid for the fish, the sum total paid out for this purpose was much smaller than usual, on account of the failure of this season's salmon run.

Salmon Fishing at the Mouth of the Fraser.

STORY ABOUT JAY GOULD.

A farmer had a herd of cattle, and Jay Gould went to look at it. In the midst of the bantering, a woman appeared, who had a little talk with the farmer. Gould caught a word now and then: "Now don't, husband, I beg of you not to; if you have any regard for me, don't. I shall die if you do." "What's the matter with that woman?" said Gould. "Oh, nothing—my wife has a favorite cow; she is called 'Old Pailful,' and the woman is afraid I'm going to sell her." The woman hung round, and, of course, Gould demanded that "Old Pailful" should be brought out. She was a picture, and the young trader said that the cow must go with the lot if he made the purchase. The cows were driven home, and the father sent Jay out to see what kind of a milker "Old Pailful" was. He had scarcely seated himself, before the cow threw him, pail and stool, sky-high; she tore around the pasture, leaped the fence, and started for home. Ever after, Gould never bought anything that a woman wanted to keep for herself.—Stamford (N. Y.) Mirror.

The Greig Manufacturing Co. are offering inducements to buyers of Bryant & May's vestas.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have received a shipment of Malaga raisins, boxes and ¼-boxes.

Malaga raisins of the very best quality are offered by Laporte, Martin & Cie., Montreal.

Balfour & Co. report the arrival of second shipments of blue fruit. They have a very complete assortment of these goods.

Hubbard's celebrated Scotch rusks are in stock with the Canadian agents, Greig Manufacturing Co., Montreal.

Valencia raisins, of 1897 crop, are very scarce. Laporte, Martin & Cie. are offering a nice lot at an easy price.

A large stock of white beans and mat figs is being offered by Lucas, Steele & Bristol. Their prices are very low.

"Victoria" brand Valencia raisins are the choicest quality we have seen for a long time," say Laporte, Martin & Cie.

Rutherford, Marshall & Co., made large shipments of butter to Victoria, B.C., and to Glasgow and London, the other day.

Forbes Bros. are landing a large shipment of Moir, Wilson & Co.'s pickled herring in kegs, as well as herring in tomato sauce.

The Greig Manufacturing Co. report this season's sale of "Crown" flavoring extracts as the largest they have ever had.

Several new lots of Indian and Ceylon teas, in chests and halves, from 17 to 19c., are being offered by Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol's celebrated XXX sugar is again in evidence this season; the firm also offer "Pure Gold" icings in ½-lb. packets, lemon, orange, chocolate, pink, etc.

Griffin & Skelly's 3-crown and 4-crown California loose muscatels have been recently received by The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

A cheap grade, although said to be of fine quality, Valencia raisins, "Rosendo" brand, can be obtained from Laporte, Martin & Cie.

C. E. Colson & Son report another twenty-case lot of "Slade's" butter-scotch in stock. They have another lot of fifty cases which will be here later.

George Foster & Sons report that they have a consignment of new dates, first shipment due in about ten days, on which they will quote close prices.

An excellent combination can-opener and cork-drawer, combining strength with simplicity, is meeting with ready sale with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

"Haycastle" and "Paradise" currants, which are packed exclusively for W. H. Gillard & Co., are meeting with a large sale, and many repeat orders are coming in.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, are in receipt of an importation of "Shell," "La Vierge," "Grapes" and mottled castile soaps, direct from Marseilles.

Recent importations of teas by The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, include three lines of new season's Moyune Young Hysons, three of Ceylon pekoe, and one each of Indian pekoe and new season's Moyune gun-George Foster & Sons have just landed a direct importation of Ceylon tea, which they can offer at 17c. Fine cup and flavor; extra value at this price. Samples on application.

The Davidson & Hay, Limited, received, this week, Malaga fruit, Tarragona almonds, etc., ex s.s. Bellona.

A quantity of G. & S. raisins arrived last week for various buyers. A. P. Tippet & Co. say they have never had so many nor shipped so many G. & S. raisins as during the current season.

Griffin & Skelly's muscatels and seeded raisins, in 1-lb. cartons, are in stock with The Davidson & Hay, Limited.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are offering for sale No. 1 trout and whitefish from lake ports, and No. 1 Nova Scotia split and Labrador herrings from store. They state the fish are exceptionally fine this season.

Herd & Co., Montreal, announce that their stock of Menier's chocolate pastiles and croquets are getting low, and, as they will have no more until spring, anyone requiring these goods for holiday trade will need to order early. Their croquets are now wrapped in tinfoil which adds greatly to their keeping qualities.

"GUNN'S" BRAND EGGS.

All eggs henceforth exported to Great Britain by D. Gunn, Bros. & Co., Toronto, will travel in cases upon which a unique registered trade mark is printed. A St. Andrew's cross is formed of two guns. This, with the words "'Gunn's' Brand Eggs," form a trade mark likely to be well remembered. Besides this trade mark, all goods are, of course, stamped as "Produce of Canada." When fresh eggs are exported, the trade mark, etc., is printed in black; when pickled stock is sent, the printing is in red.

FIRMS COMMENCING BUSINESS.

Henri Fuland is commencing business as grist miller in St. Croix, Que.

Henry Binder is starting business as general merchant, Fork River, Man.

Geo. W. Smith has opened out as flour dealer at Barrington Passage, N.S.

Wm. Brodie is starting up as general merchant in Dalhousie Station, Que.

Campbell & O'Connor have commenced business as grocers in Ridgetown, Ont.

H. T. Scholey has commenced business as general merchant in Centreville, N.S.

Chas. W. Thompson has commenced business as confectioner, etc., at Niagara Falls, Ont.

Yeates & Thomas, of Brantford, have opened out as confectioners in Guelph. Their store will be known as "The Candy Kitchen."

GEMS OF FINE ART.

Tutti Frutti Gum and gems of fine art seem to be a happy combination. The Adams & Sons Co. have received an importation of gems from the French masterpieces, which they are giving out as premiums to the retailer who handles their chewing gums. These fine little pictures are handsomely framed, and promise to be in big demand.

GROCERY SAVINGS.

While a great number of our grocers take a great deal of trouble to have their stores look neat and attractive, on their counters will be an old-fashioned scale, or, more strictly speaking, a guessing machine, which is a detriment to any business. At a trifling expense a Wilson money-weight scale could be purchased, and, instead of the clerk counting or trying to count the amount of the purchase, the scale would do it and also tell the weight at the same time.

TWO OF A KIND.

Mr. J. D. Brack, representing Todhunter, Mitchell & Co., Toronto, and Mr. E. R. Lewis, representing Telfer Bros., Collingwood, were in Toronto last week, having just returned from a trip to Manitoba and the Pacific coast.

It is usual when these two "Knights of the Grip" make a trip over their territory, that carloads of merchandise follow in their wake, and THE CANADIAN GROCER learned that their recent trip was a successful one.

Speaking about the prosperity of the metropolis of the west, they stated that building operations in Winnipeg have been brisk, a number of handsome and substantial buildings, including the McIntyre block, having been erected this season.

"READY LUNCH BEEF."

The "Ready Lunch Beef" which W. Clark, Montreal, recently put upon the market, is taking well, and every wholesaler now has it in stock. The label on the tin is a handsome one. Indeed, it is one of the handsomest on the market. In addition to the quality of the contents, the handsome label, there is the further attraction of a beautiful hanger which accompanies each case of the "Ready Lunch Beef."

DISPROPORTIONATE SALE OF CANADIAN CATSUP.

ONE of the striking things to be noticed at the tables of hotels and restaurants in Canada is the marked preponderance of United States made catsups and the dearth of the Canadian-made product. This ought not to be.

The tomatoes produced in Canada are of excellent quality. There are probably none better. And some excellent catsups are made in the country.

Why, then, is it that the foreign article is present in such force? It cannot be because of the duty, for every bottle brought into the country labors under a disability of 35 per cent.

The home-made article thus has first-class raw material to work upon; the finished product is, in many instances, of excellent quality, and there is an ample protection of 35 per cent. And still the foreign manufacturer has the lion's share of the Canadian trade.

There is only one explanation for this condition of affairs, and that is that the Canadian catsup manufacturers do not push their goods as they ought.

The catsup manufacturers in the United States neither slumber nor sleep. Day in and day out, year in and year out, they keep their catsups before the public. In the trade papers, in the daily papers, in the street cars, or almost wherever the public eye is likely to rest, is to be found something to remind one of this or that brand of catsup.

In Canada—well, we are sometimes reminded that there is a home-made catsup on the market.

As we have already said, Canada has good catsup. But the public need to be told so, and not only told so, but made believe so.

It takes gravitation to move the world and advertising to move catsup.

INCREASE THE SALE OF CHEESE.

AS NOTED in last week's issue of this paper, a Picton, Ont., man is out with a proposition for the Dominion Government to allow a bonus of 5c. a pound for every 150 pounds of cheese consumed by one family during the year.

Canada is a great cheese producing country, but it is not a great cheese consuming country. On the contrary, Canadians eat but comparatively little cheese, and any scheme to induce them to amend their ways in this respect is worthy of consideration.

But the bonusing system does not appeal to us as being practicable. How is a record to be kept of the half pounds and the pounds of cheese bought and consumed by the various families throughout Canada? It is impossible.

Whether, however, the scheme would be practical or not, it would have but little utility until the grocers and general merchants throughout the country became interested in the matter.

The only way to increase the sale and consumption of cheese is for the grocers and all merchants handling it to more vigorously push its sale.

Let merchants make window displays of cheese more frequently; keep cheese always in evidence in their stores, and draw the attention of their customers to the commodity. Each merchant would soon find his sales of cheese increasing, which, of course, would in turn mean the increase in the aggregate consumption of the country.

There is a good profit in cheese, and it would pay merchants to become more aggressive in pushing its sale.

BRIGHT STORES MAKE BRIGHT TOWNS.

Every merchant ought to devote some of his energies to the upbuilding of his town, as well as to the making of his business.

Just as the store is the reflection of the merchant, so the town is the reflection of the merchants who are in it.

If they are lethargic, their town will be; if they have no ambition, neither will their town; if they are behind the times, so will their town be.

Merchants should make their stores bright, should carry good stocks, should advertise, not only that customers may be brought to their stores, but in order that the town may have attractions for people in the surrounding country.

Bright stores make bright towns, and bright towns tend to keep people from going to the departmental stores in the big cities.

Keep your stores bright; advertise.

Even the turkey has cause for thanksgiving this year. There is lots of proven-der for him as well as the axe.

AN ENTERPRISING TOWN.

The population of Springfield, Ont., is only about 600. The business men of that town, however, make up for what the town lacks in numbers by energy and enterprise.

Both sides of Main street are built up continuously, for a whole block, by business houses, including a bakery, hardware and tinware shops, general stores, groceries, drug stores, a printing office, furniture stores, butcher shops, jewelry shops, a private bank, crockery stores, harness shops. These, with the post office and the telegraph and telephone offices, make quite a businesslike street.

An interesting fact in connection with Springfield's business is that, though there are almost twice as many business houses in the town now as a year ago, not only is the volume of business done by each increased, but trade is almost entirely conducted on a cash basis.

IS THE UNITED STATES INCONSISTENT?

THE decision of the United States to apply their navigation laws to Porto Rico and Hawaii is naturally not being received with complacency by the Canadian and British people.

Before President McKinley saw fit to apply these laws to the newly acquired territory, a Canadian, a British, or a vessel of any other nationality, could carry merchandise from Porto Rico, Hawaii, or any other foreign country, to any port in the United States, or vice versa.

Now, this carrying trade is reserved only to vessels carrying the United States flag.

Canada's interests are practically confined to the shipping laws as far as they apply to Porto Rico. The extent to which Canadian vessels have shared in the shipping trade between Porto Rico and other Spanish West India ports and the United States we have no means at the moment of ascertaining. But we are told that the Canadian Commissioners at Washington feel that a blow has been struck at a Canadian industry.

Of course, the United States has a perfect right to apply their navigation laws to their newly acquired possessions. No one would be foolish enough to deny that. But it scarcely seems the proper thing for them to do nevertheless.

When Great Britain declared for the open-door policy in China, Uncle Sam approvingly patted Britannia on the back and confessed that she had his sympathy.

And, then, when John Bull rolled up his sleeves and told the European powers to stand off and allow Uncle Sam and the Spanish Don to fight it out, the people of the United States threw up their hats, sang "God Save the Queen," and intertwined the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack.

But this did not cost dollars. To allow British vessels to carry merchandise from ports in the United States to ports in the latter's colonial possessions would.

The shipping industry of the United States is not a thriving one. It has been spoon-fed and pampered, but still it is a poor, delicate infant. And now it is to be fed with a little more of the same kind of food that has been its regular diet for some years.

As far as the Customs tariff which has been formulated for Porto Rico is concerned, it will probably be found to be more favorable to Canadian and British products than was the tariff under the regime of Spain. At least, that seems to be the opinion.

Then, as the tariff favors United States products instead of, as before, Spanish products, it is also probable that some advantage may accrue to Canada, seeing that the products of the Dominion and of the United States are analogous in many respects.

At present, the United States does not enjoy a large share of the trade of the newly-conquered territories.

The total foreign trade of the Philippines is $30,806,250, but only 16.7 per cent. is with the United States; the total foreign trade of Cuba is $160,562,200, out of which the United States shares 29.6 per cent., while, of Porto Rico's $30,784,550, only 10.8 per cent. falls to the United States.

It is but natural the United States should desire to secure a larger share of the trade of these places, particularly now that they are under the Stars and Stripes, and they probably think that, by applying the exclusive navigation laws, they will secure the desideratum, but it would be a little more consistent if they would practise in regard to their own colonies what they held to be sound doctrine in regard to China. They would thus, at least, be saved from being charged with inconsistency, to say nothing of ingratitude, and from having their colonial policy likened unto that of France and Russia. Sauce for the goose should be sauce for the gander.

Of course, Cuba and the Philippine Islands are not yet a part of the United States, and the tariff and navigation laws which are to apply to them have yet to be announced.

MOLASSES 2c. HIGHER.

Another rise of 2c. per gallon was established on Monday of the present week in Barbadoes molasses, when 600 puncheons, the first large sale in weeks, changed hands at 30 to 31c., and it is understood that no supplies can now be had for less money than the outside figure. The jobbing range was still quoted at 32c. in single puncheons, but it is expected, as a result of this increased cost from first hand, that jobbers will shortly ask more money, and 35c. molasses is predicted as a possibility of the very near future.

SUGAR ACTIVE AND STRONG.

THERE has been no further change in the price of refined sugar in Montreal, but one fact has been demonstrated beyond a doubt, and that is that recent low prices quoted on imported stock were absolutely absurd, for, with best refining raw sugar selling at 4c., and 96 test centrifugal at 4½c., it seems difficult to believe that refined in any quantity could be laid down in Montreal at the price quoted. As a matter of fact, only a few small lots were placed at the figures named, and they have exerted no influence whatever on the price of the domestic article. Within the past few days, also, the Montreal refiners have been heavy purchasers of raw stock, one commission man closing out a round lot of $60,000 worth since Monday last.

In London, beet, owing to the heavy demand from Europe and Africa, has ruled firm at 1s. 3d., an advance of over 5d. on a week ago, and cane, in the same time, has advanced 3d. in London, and rules firm at the rise.

In fact, the stock of new sugar is generally admitted to be low, and it is confidently predicted that still higher prices may be looked for on refined sugar, very possibly before the present week closes.

The only Turkey that cannot give thanks this season is Turkey-in-Asia. The powers have robbed it of one of its chicks.

INDIAN TEAS ADVANCING.

The market for Indian teas is in excellent condition. According to advices received by C. H. Anderson from Calcutta, prices in the primary market are advancing for all grades. The quality of the leaf is, however, slightly deteriorating, while the cup quality is improving, as is usually the case at this season.

The Indian Tea Association has published a revised estimate of the crop for this season. The result arrived at is that the production will be about 4,000,000 lb. short of the original estimate.

IRRITATING TEA REGULATIONS.

TEA importers in British Columbia have a grievance. A sample of all tea invoiced at 10c. per pound or under, according to a communication read before the Vancouver Board of Trade at a recent meeting, has to be sent to Ottawa for inspection.

This necessitates a wait of, at least, two weeks before the tea can be released by the Customs authority.

It is certainly a ridiculous state of affairs, but it is only a degree worse than the experience of tea importers in every city in Canada. In Toronto, importers have to wait a week or ten days before their teas can be inspected and released.

When, in June last, representative tea men, at his own solicitation, met Hon. W. Paterson, Minister of Customs, it was suggested that, as a temporary arrangement until the new inspection law came into operation, that Japan teas 12c. and over, China blacks 9c. and over, China greens 10c. and over, and Indian and Ceylon teas 10c. and over should be allowed to pass entry, and that those under the stipulated prices should be submitted to Ottawa for inspection.

It was not, however, intended that teas should come all the way from the Coast, nearly three thousand miles away. Indeed, THE CANADIAN GROCER is assured, by those who were parties to the suggestion, that it was specifically pointed out to the Minister that it would be manifestly unfair to compel importers in British Columbia to send samples to Ottawa, and that some provision should be made whereby this would be obviated. But no provision appears to have been made.

According to the discussion which took place before the Vancouver Board of Trade, importers in that city have confidence in the ability of the local appraiser, "though he might," as the communication said, "have to call some of the trade to his aid for a short time."

Another particular in which the Customs Department has run counter to the intention and wish of the tea experts who were called on to advise the Minister, is in regard to what should constitute the price of the tea for inspection.

They declare that when they stipulated a

Japan tea at 12c., a China black at 9c., and so on, that they meant the laid-down cost in Canada, not the cost in the market of production. The Department, on the other hand, chooses to take the cost price in the market of production, in spite of the protests, in spite of the representations, of the importers.

A letter received in Toronto this week from the Customs Department states that the standards which are to go into operation in January next are now being prepared, and that the tea importers at the chief ports of entry will be asked to send representatives to Ottawa, on November 29, to confer with the Department before they are finally adopted. It is to be hoped, then, that the rough places will be made smooth.

Hon. Mr. Paterson has repeatedly stated his desire to comply with the wishes of the importers in regard to the tea inspection regulations, and THE CANADIAN GROCER has yet to be convinced that such is not his desire, but, either through a misunderstanding or something else, the regulations are to-day anything but compatible with the wishes of the tea importers in Vancouver or anywhere else in Canada, as far as we can learn.

STRONG CHEESE MARKET.

The position of the cheese market is a healthy one, and, with the tendency of prices upward for really first-class September and October cheese, jobbers in Toronto are, this week, getting as high as 9½c., and are paying 9 to 9¼c. We know of 200 boxes which changed hands at 9½c.

One well-known cheese jobber states that he has not made a sale of best quality cheese at less than 9¼c. for about ten days. There are summer makes of cheese on the market which are selling as low as 8¾c. in a jobbing way. There has been quite a lot of summer cheese held in cold storage, but the September and October makes have been picked up quickly, and it is now hard to get them. The British market, of course, does not want summer cheese.

A notable feature of the cheese market is the exceptionally good quality, this season, of cheese made the latter part of September and the first half of October. The cause of this is attributed to the fact that, while the weather was cool, there was no frost, and, consequently, the grass was in a condition unusually favorable for the feeding of cattle.

YOUNG HYSONS DEARER.

STRENGTH continues to be the feature of the market for Young Hyson teas.

An advice received in Toronto this week, by C. H. Anderson, states that the market in China for country teas has been very firm during the week, owing to the demand on New York account. Prices for good medium to fine chops have advanced 1 to 1½ taels during the past fortnight, and some holders are unwilling sellers even at current rates.

The deficiency in the supply of Young Hyson tea is now estimated at 30,000 half-chests, and, in Pingsuey teas, at 55,000 half-chests, making a total deficiency of 85,000 half-chests, or about 5,000,000 lb. This condition of affairs ought to have a marked influence upon the Canadian and United States markets, and especially upon the latter.

The exports to the United States of Young Hyson teas this season do not promise to exceed 12,000,000 to 12,500,000 lb., against 15,300,000 lb. last season. There is every indication that prices on the Canadian market will be stiff for Young Hyson teas, with short supplies in the near future.

NEW PERSIAN DATES.

The steamer Afghanistan, direct from Bussorah with a cargo of new Persian dates, arrived in New York on November 21. There are a few cars billed to Canadian points, and the fruit will arrive on this market this week, about the same time that the earliest shipments could be made from London, should the Persian steamers arrive also in London on due dates; but, as London houses usually sell with the option of shipping ex any steamer that sails from Bussorah with the first tide (there are only two tides in the month at Bussorah when steamers can cross the bar), it is quite likely that London shipments will not be made until the end of November, and will, therefore, probably not arrive on this market until the end of December.

The extremely high price of figs this year, and their almost entire absence from the market, coupled with the lateness of the London shipments of dates, gives a special interest in the arrival of the earliest shipments, ex Afghanistan, particularly as the price, this year, for such early shipment will admit of the goods going to the counter at 10c. per lb. The price amongst the trade is 6½ to 7½c., and orders are coming in freely.

GROCERIES.

THE wholesale grocery trade is not, perhaps, as active as a week ago, but there is a fair business being done, nevertheless. Although the packers are making no change, the wholesalers are this week quoting tomatoes a little lower, at 80 to 85c. In other kinds of canned goods there is no change whatever. Coffees are firm, but there is not a great deal doing. Sytups and molasses are in fair demand. Sugars are decidedly strong, but the demand is not as good as it was. In nuts, the feature is the strength of Valencia shelled almonds, which are cabled  $1\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. dearer. Teas are meeting with a fair demand. All foreign dried fruits are going out in fair quantities.

CANNED GOODS.

Wholesalers are quoting lower prices this week on tomatoes. The ruling price is now 80 to 85c., which is 5c. below the figures of a week ago. Wholesalers' figures, however, are not altered, and the cause of the drop in the wholesale price is a desire to lighten stocks at a quiet season. It is worthy of note in this particular that a packer, who has oversold, has this week been a buyer from a wholesale house. Canned corn is firm at 90c. to $1, and peas are steady at 75 to 85c. Further inquiries have been received this week for tomatoes, peas, corn and beans on Manitoba account. Beans are in fairly good request at 75c. Canned salmon is firm and quiet. A few hundred cases of canned salmon, held by speculators, are offering at $1.50, with $1.45 bid. Gallon apples are meeting with a fair request at $2.

COFFEES.

A few transactions for import have taken place during the past week, and the market rules firm. Prices have advanced over  $\frac{1}{4}$ c. per lb. in the primary market during the past ten days or two weeks.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There are no dark syrups on the market. There is a fairly good demand. Quite a nice business is being done in syrups, both for importation and on retail account.

SUGARS.

The market is decidedly firm. There has been no further change in Canada, but, in New York, refined sugars advanced 1-16c. per lb. on Monday. The United States refiners are reported to be heavy buyers of beet-root sugar in Europe, which has served to extenuate what was previously considered a strong position, resulting in frequent advances. Beet sugar, at the time of writing, is quoted at 10s. 3d. f.o.b. Hamburg, which is an advance of 6d. per cwt. on the figures ruling 10 days ago. Stocks in the United States are abnormally light for this time of the year, and meltings are constantly in excess of receipts, last week showing a difference of 13,000 tons. There is every indication that the markets in Canada will further advance. Standard granulated is quoted at $4.68 Toronto.

NUTS.

A cable advice from Malaga quotes an advance equivalent to  $1\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. in the price of Valencia shelled almonds. Prices are now about  $2\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. above the figures ruling at the opening of the market. Another cable notes an advance of 1s in both mar-

and Winnipeg prices current.*

bot and Bordeaux walnuts. Valencia shelled almonds are now quoted at from 29 to 30c. per lb. by local wholesale houses.

SPICES.

The pepper market rules stronger, and cable advices quote nutmegs a shade stronger at 21c. for 110's.

TEAS.

Ceylon tea continues to sell well on spot, but desirable kinds are scarce. One or two agents report a little better business for importation, but this does not appear to be the rule. A London, Eng., letter under date of November 1, stated that a strong demand prevailed for Pekoe Souchongs and Pekoes with ordinary fair liquor, both for home trade and for export, prices being occasionally forced up  $\frac{1}{4}$ d. per lb. Pekoe Souchongs at 13 to 14c. are scarce on spot. So are Pekoes at  $15\frac{1}{2}$  to 17c. Orange Pekoes and broken orange Pekoes, at 22 to 28c., are exceedingly scarce. The only spot teas of which there appears to be any stock are Pekoes.

The market for Indian teas is also in good condition, advices from Calcutta reporting prices advancing, with low grades being held very firm, and, in some cases, at higher prices. China green teas are still strong, on account of the demand on New York account.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—There is no particular change to note in the currant market. There have been a few transactions during the week on import account, at steady prices. Locally, a good many currants are still being shipped out to the retail trade. Local quotations are without change.

VALENCIA RAISINS—There has been no business for import during the week, as far as can be ascertained, but there is a little more disposition on the part of wholesalers to buy spot goods. Trade with the retailers is still fairly brisk, with quotations ruling as before.

MALAGA RAISINS—The wholesale houses have now their supply of Malaga raisins in stock. Importations this season appear to be smaller than usual, and the opinion is general that by the end of the season there will be a shortage. We quote: London layers, $2 to $2.20; black baskets, $2.20 to $2.30; connoisseur clusters, $2.30 to $2.40; blue baskets, $2.50; choice clusters, $3.25; Dehesa clusters, $3.50; Royal Buckingham, $3.60 to $3.75; Royal clusters, $4.25 to $4.50; finest elite, non plus ultra, $6 to $6.25.

CALIFORNIA DRIED FRUITS—The price of both apricots and peaches is higher in the primary market. A few orders are being placed for importation by the wholesale fruit dealers, but the wholesale grocers are practically neglecting these goods this year.

PRUNES—A little business is being done in Bosnia prunes for importation. Prices are a trifle lower than they were, but they are now fairly steady. In French prunes and plums prices are higher. Some business is being done in California prunes for importation. Wholesalers report trade good in prunes.

FIGS—There is not much doing. We quote: 1-crown, 17 to 18c.; 7-crown, 25 to 28c.; tapnets, 4 to  $4\frac{1}{2}$ c.; naturals, in bags, 8 to  $8\frac{1}{2}$ c.; do, in boxes, 12c. per lb.

CANDIED PEELS—Business is just moderate. We quote: Lemon,  $10\frac{1}{2}$  to 13c.; orange, 11 to 14c.; citron, 16 to 19c.

DATES—Wholesalers are booking orders for Halloween dates to arrive at  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The receipt of new Messinas, and the reduction of $3 to $4 per chest in the price of Malagas, has largely stimulated the demand for this fruit. The movement of oranges also shows considerable improvement. Jamaicas are offered abundantly at

ST. STEPHEN, N.B.

$1 less than a week ago. Cranberries are 50c. to $1 cheaper and are in active demand. Sweet potatoes are about done, and are moving quietly at unchanged figures. There is a good city jobbing demand for apples, which are held firmly at unchanged prices. Late pears continue to move actively, the local demand being especially brisk. Stocks at present, in the city, are larger than are usually held at this time of the year. The price is steady at $2.50 to $4. The large range noted is due to a wide difference in qualities. Malaga grapes are moving quietly at unaltered figures.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The demand throughout is excellent. Receipts of, fresh-gathered barely satisfy wants, and 20c. is commonly paid. Strictly new-laid bring frequently as high as 22 and 23c. Held fresh and cold stored move quietly at 14 to 15½c. Limed move actively at the same figure. Cases bring from 14½ to 16c. at outside points.

POTATOES—Situation unchanged. From 50 to 55c. is paid for car lots, and 60 to 65c. for small lots on the market.

POULTRY—Owing to large receipts of geese and turkeys, a large proportion of which are undesirable stock, the feeling is weak, and prices for all but the choicest birds have declined 1c. Receipts of ducks and chickens are fairly large, sufficient for the demand. Wild ducks continue to arrive freely, and are unchanged in price. They range in value from 20 to 25c. for teals and widgeons, to 60 to 75c. for black ducks and mallards.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—Though the demand for dried apples noted this week is not as brisk as it was last week, it is sufficient to keep prices steady at 4½ to 5c. per lb. for No. 1 stock and 3½ to 4c. for ordinary stock. The jobbing price is steady at 5½ to 6c. Evaporated apples are also in good demand, and a firm feeling is manifested at 7½ to 7¾c. f.o.b. at country points for car lots. The jobbing price is steady at 8 to 8½c.

BEANS—There is a good demand for hand-picked at $1 to $1.10. Common stock is weak, with a decline of 10c. noted. The figures now quoted are 70 to 80c.

VEGETABLES—A good, all-round demand is noted. Cabbage has advanced 10c. No other changes are noted. We quote as follows: Cauliflower, 75 to $1 per doz.; celery, 50 to 75c. per doz.; lettuce, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; radishes, winter, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz; 60 to 85c.; parsley, 10 to 12½c. per doz. bunches; turnips, 30 to 40c. per bag; beets, 60c. per bag; parsnips, 50 to 60c. per bag; carrots, 50 to 75c. per bag; onions, Danvers, $1 to $1.10 per bag; butter squash, $2 to $2.50; pumpkins, 65c. to 75c.; Hubbard squash, $2.50 to $3; red cabbage, 40 to 50c.; egg plant, 50 to 90c. per basket.

PROVISIONS.

Receipts of dressed hogs have been so large that the feeling is slightly easier, though prices have not declined. There is a large local and provincial demand for all smoked meats, which continue firm in value. Long clear is ¼c. cheaper. Stocks of lard are well cleaned up, causing a decidedly firm feeling.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Receipts of dairy continue large, forcing a decline of 1c. Creamery is easy at unchanged figures. We quote at outside points: Dairy tubs, 11½c.; prints, 11½ to 12½c.; large rolls, 11½c.; creamery prints, 17 to 17½c.; tubs and boxes, 16¾ to 17½c.

CHEESE—The market is firm. Late makes are about ¼c. dearer. We quote: 8 to 8¾c. for early makes, and 9 to 9¾c. for late makes.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—The wheat market is steady at 70c. on cars outside for both red and white. There is little activity on the street market on account of bad roads. Practically no rye or oats are offering. We quote: Wheat, white, 74½ to 75c.; red, 74 to 75c.; goose, 71c.; peas, 69c.; oats, 32c.; barley, 50 to 51c.; rye, 49c. No. 1 hard Manitoba is steady at 81 to 82c., Toronto freights.

FLOUR—Prices are steady and unchanged. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4.20; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.90; Ontario patents, $4 to $4.10; straight roller, $3.25 to $3.35, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—No change is noted this week, but an advance is anticipated in

FISH.

Ciscoes and haddies have again declined. Quite a large proportion of the former arriving on the market are mixed with "blue backs," and some are selling as low as 60c. per 100. Haddies have declined 1c. Labrador herring have advanced 50c. per bbl. We quote as follows: Fresh salmon trout, 6½c.; fresh whitefish, 7½c.; steak trout, 7c. lb.; fresh perch, 3½c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.75 per bbl. and $3.25 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 55c. per bundle of five; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 to $3 per half-bbl.; cod, in 1-lb. blocks, 6½c. per lb.; boneless fish, 5¾ to 4c. per lb.; quail-on-toast, 5½c. per lb.; Gem of the Sea, 5c. per lb. fresh-water herring, 60c. per basket; ciscoes, 60c. to $1.25; haddies, 7c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 6c. per lb.; oysters, $1.25 to $1.35 per gallon.

SEEDS.

The conditions affecting the price of alsike just now are unique. As a rule, farmers commence in November to market their alsike. Owing to favorable conditions this year, however, it is estimated that fully 75 per cent. of the total production has been marketed. The result is, that the large amounts being exported have tended to weaken the market on the other side of the water, and now sellers are often compelled to reduce prices to make sales. Jobbing-houses here are writing to their shipping-agents throughout the country advising them to restrain shipments as much as possible till New Year's. Only a small proportion of the red clover offering is suitable for export. Much of it is last year's crop, and is lustreless, and, in many cases, mixed with other seed. The demand is such that none but the extra choice to fancy is wanted just now. Medium and low grades are expected to be worth more in a couple of months than at present. Alsike is steady at $2.50 to $4.50. Red clover is quoted at $3 to $3.75 for last year's and $3.50 to $4.50 for this year's crop. The last-mentioned figure is only paid for the finest samples.

SALT.

Trade is brisk. Prices are unchanged. We quote: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 54c.

MARKET NOTES.

Dairy butter has declined 1c.

Long clear bacon has declined  $\frac{1}{4}$ c.

Late make cheese has advanced  $\frac{1}{4}$ c.

Cranberries have declined 50c. to $1.

Marbot and Bordeaux walnuts are cabled 1s. dearer.

Canned tomatoes are quoted 5c. lower, at 80 to 85c. per doz.

A decline of 1c. per lb. is noted for poor grades of geese and turkeys.

An advance equivalent to  $1\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. is cabled in Valencia shelled almonds.

Perkins, Ince & Co. are in receipt of a large shipment of Young Hyson teas.

Jamaica oranges are $1 cheaper. Messina lemons have declined 50c. per box; Malagas $3 to $4 per chest.

The employes of A. F. MacLaren & Co. are working till 11 o'clock every night on "Imperial" cheese, and then are unable to keep up with orders. The firm report that there is a demand better than for a number of years for such imported cheese as English Stiltons and Roquefort and Gorgonzola.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Nov. 23, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market has exhibited a fair degree of activity during the week and not a few interesting features.

Prominent in this respect has been the pronounced strength in the two great staples, sugar and Barbadoes molasses, both of which point higher, round lots of the latter having sold at an advance of 2c., and before the week is out a rise in the former is confidently predicted. Dried fruits rule fairly steady, despite offers of low-grade off-stalk Valencia raisins, and the same can be said of all other lines, the general demand being quite active. Canned corn is held firmer this week, and there is a fair inquiry for other canned goods.

SUGAR.

The advance in the sugar market noted last week has led to a largely increased demand here, owing to an impression that prices may go still higher in the near future, so that buyers have been trying to secure as liberal supplies as possible before this takes place. In fact, another rise before the present week is out will not surprise anyone. Raw has steadily advanced abroad, beet being cabled over 5d. higher in London than it was a week ago at 10s. 3d., while cane is firm and 3d. higher, at 12s. 6d. for Java and 11s. for fair refining. In New York, raw is strong, and holders demand higher prices, fair refining being quoted at 4c., and centrifugal, 96 test,  $4\frac{1}{2}$ c. Naturally, with such prices as these ruling, recent low offers of New York and other sugars on this market have become absurd.

SYRUPS.

Trade in syrups has not been heavy, but prices are steadily held under very light supplies.

MOLASSES.

It is needless to repeat that the market for Barbadoes molasses is in an exceptionally strong position. Buyers show more and more anxiety about placing orders as time passes, but they find holders in no mood to consider any idea of concessions. In fact, the latter are disposed to ask more money as the season advances, and did so on Tuesday, demanding a rise of 2c. per gallon before they would consent to talk business, and sales of round lots have changed hands at 31c., against 29c. ten days ago.

DRIED FRUIT.

Some culling in Valencia raisins is reported for forward delivery, but the fact has not affected spot prices for really prime fruit, and it is doubtful if they will, for, so far, the low-priced offers have not led to any great volume of business. It is understood that offers of as low as  $3\frac{3}{4}$ c. have been made on common off-stalk fruit, but the majority contend that 4c. is the extreme inside figure at which anything worth buying can be had. Selected raisins are very scarce and so are layers.

California raisins continue firm with no further change to note. A few carloads are expected this week and are offering to arrive at  $7\frac{1}{2}$  to  $8\frac{1}{2}$ c. in a jobbing way for 3 and 4-crown fruit.

Some choice lots of Malaga raisins have been received this week, which certainly show remarkable quality and are meeting a brisk demand.

The currant market continues quiet but firm, late advices from Patras confirming previous reports of strength at that market.

There has been no alteration in prunes, dates, or figs, which remain as last reported, values, generally, ruling firm.

NUTS.

Demand for nuts has been of a quiet kind up to the present, but more inquiry is reported this week by jobbers. Values all round are steady.

CANNED GOODS.

The possibility of higher prices for corn imparted more activity to the demand for the staple, but, while some are asking more money, orders have been filled this week at 90c., but it is doubtful if they would be repeated, and we now quote at 95c. to $1. Other canned vegetables have not shown any change, and demand has been fairly active, both for tomatoes and also for canned salmon.

TEA.

Tea has ruled fairly active in a jobbing sense, but with no new features. Demand has been mostly for Japan goods that job for 17 to 19c., while some third crop Japans have been moved at 13c. There has been little doing in Ceylons, and the same can be said of green tea.

COFFEE.

The coffee market continues steady, the chief movement of the week in bag coffee in the bean being in Maracaibo at 10c., several 25 and 50-bag lots changing hands. Rio and Santos have been offered at 8c., but we have not heard of any business at the price, and as high as 10 to  $10\frac{1}{2}$ c. is asked for better grades.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been little change in the green fruit market, business being fairly active. Lemons ruled quiet at unchanged prices, while oranges are arriving in first-class quality and meeting a ready sale, especially Jamaica fruit. Pears have been almost motionless, but prices are steady. Malaga grapes are in active request, and values are firm at $6 to $7.50 per keg. Cranberries are in good demand, and the same can be said of Spanish onions.

APPLES.

There has been a good demand for apples, No. 1 moving in large lots at $2.75 to $3.25, while under grades sell down to $1.90 to $2.25. Of course, small lots necessitate an advance on these quotations.

FISH.

Cold weather has led to a good inquiry for all descriptions of fish and values generally are steady. We quote jobbing prices as follows: No. 1 Labrador herrings, $4.75 to $5 per bbl.; No. 1 N.S. do., $4.25 to $4.50; N.B. in half-bbls., $2.25; No. 3 mackerel, $15; No. 1 green cod, $4.50 to $5; No. 2, $3.50; B.C. salmon, $13 per bbl. and $7 per ½-bbl.

Prepared and smoked fish are steadily held. We quote: Pure boneless codfish, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; dressed or skinless codfish, 4¼c.; soft cured, 3¼c.; dried, $4 per 112 lb.; boneless fish, 3 to 3½c. Haddies, 6 to 7c.; kippered herrings, $1.35 to $1.50 per box; smoked herrings, 10 to 12c., and Yarmouth and bay bloaters, 90c. to $1.

Fresh fish have met a good demand. We quote: Haddock, 3½c.; Manitoba dore and whitefish, 6½c.; pike, 5½c., and B.C. salmon, 13½c. per lb.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was a fair demand for eggs, and the market is firm. Receipts of strictly new laid were small, and prices for such have an upward tendency.

BEANS—The demand for beans was principally in small lots, and the market, on the whole, was quiet and steady. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 a bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

POTATOES—A fair trade was done in potatoes, and the market was steady at 50c. per bag for choice stock, and at 40 to 45c. for common to fair in car lots.

DRIED APPLES—Continue firm and unchanged.

PROVISIONS.

Trade in provisions was chiefly of a small jobbing character, and the market was quiet, without any change in prices to note.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

There was no new feature in the local grain market. The demand for export account is about over, and, in consequence, the tone of the market is easy, and prices have a downward tendency. A few car lots of oats on spot changed hands at 31c. store. Peas were quoted at 68c.; rye, at 56c., and buckwheat, at 50 to 50½c. store. In Manitoba wheat, some business was done, and sales of 15,000 bushels of No. 1 hard were made at 71½c. spot, and, for delivery during the balance of the month, it was offered at 71c. afloat Fort William. Ontario red wheat, west, was selling to millers at 70c. per bushel.

The flour market was fairly active and steady. The demand from local and country buyers is still good, and the volume of business is large for the season. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $4.00 to $4.25; straight rollers, $3.70 to $3.80; in bags, $1.75 to $1.85; Manitoba patents, $4.50 to $4.60; strong bakers', best, $4.15 to $4.25.

There continues to be a scarcity of bran and shorts, and prices are firmly held. We quote: Manitoba bran, $14; shorts, $16, and moullie, $17 per ton, including bags.

The demand for rolled oats in small lots is fair, and the market is moderately active and steady at $3.60 per bbl., and at $1.75 per bag.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese remains steady with demand quiet. Holders here consider that fall cheese is fully worth the money that they are asking for it, and they are not urging sales, firmly believing that British buyers will have to advance their bids. We quote: Finest Ontario fall cheese, 9¼ to 9½c.; finest eastern fall cheese, 8½ to 9c.; finest French fall cheese, 8½c.; Liverpool cable, 43s. 6d. to 44s. 6d.

Butter was rather steadier this week, a new feature being demand from Vancouver and British Columbia, several inquiries for car lots being noted from that centre since Friday last, for which they are bidding 18c. and 18½c. was refused. We quote: Extra finest creamery, boxes, 18 to 18¼c.; extra finest creamery, tubs, 17¾ to 17¾c.; ordinary finest creamery, boxes, 17¼c.; ordinary finest creamery, tubs, 17c.; western dairy, tubs, 14¼ to 14½c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Round lots of Barbadoes molasses have sold at 2c. advance.

Sugars are held firm, with the possibility of an advance before the week is out.

Demand for both creamery and dairy butter from the Pacific Coast has been a feature of the week.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 22, 1898.

WHOLESALE grocers continue very busy. The coming of the holiday season and the close of navigation being near, continue to make things active. There is much complaint on the part of merchants because of the delay in getting freight from the west, and the winter port business is largely blamed, though it was bad before there was much movement in this way. The west side is a very busy place. The first steamers have arrived, and are larger boats than have been here in former seasons. Coal has arrived during the past week very freely, particularly by schooner, and that is a busy line. Hard coal is selling from $4.50 to $5.25. Tea is being received by our dealers in large shipments both via Suez and via C.P.R. Cheap China is largely giving way to Ceylons and Indians, particularly blends. The larger quantities of the latter are blended here and add much to the labor connected with this business.

SALT—A schooner load of Liverpool coarse salt landed this week from Boston. The demand is light. There are ample stocks held of both coarse and factory filled, and regular shipments will begin the last of the month, coming by the weekly steamer from Liverpool. There is a fair sale for Canadian grades. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1 per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—While prices are high, values are still low, as compared with the figures these goods could be replaced for, but fair supplies are held, and the desire to sell is greater than that for profit. In salmon, particularly, is this true. In vegetables, packers have little to offer, and, in corn and tomatoes, practically nothing. Canned meats have fair sale at even prices, but the season is late. Mincemeat has a larger demand each year. The small cartoon is particularly a favorite, and the concentrated, in small pails, is rapidly coming into favor. These grades are preferred to the wet. Oysters have a better demand, and grated pineapple is a seller.

DRIED FRUIT—There is a good sale, the seeded raisins, in packages, are popular, and all raisins are moving freely. Both Valencias and Californias are still being received, and Malagas are shortly expected. Further shipments of figs are to hand. Prices are rather higher, but are well below present import prices. Currants are active at even figures. In evaporated apples there has been considerable interest, owing to the advance west, and the fact that at any price they seem scarce. Dealers are, however, not inclined to buy at present figures, hoping for lower values later. Dried are quiet; there are but few here; it is yet early for new ones. Onions are getting quite well cleaned up, particularly in grocers' hands, and prices are higher.

SUGARS—Canadian prices are firmer, but foreign sugars seem hardly as firm. Trade is quite active, and the latter grade is working into consumption, though, as yet, imports have not been very large or general among the merchants.

MOLASSES—There is no excitement, though values are very firm, and rather higher prices are expected. Barbadoes is in very light supply, and in all grades market will be well cleaned up before new arrives. A small direct cargo of Porto Rico, the last of the season, is due. Some good values have been received via Boston. In syrups there is a fair sale at rather higher figures.

PRODUCE—Eggs continue to be scarce and price is again marked up. Hennerly eggs are in particular demand at big figures, retailing as high as 30 to 35c. Held eggs are not largely used here. Butter, while showing good sale for best stock, is still handicapped by the quantity of poor offered. Cheese in local market, while firmer, is still low.

FISH—This has been an active line, the difficulty being to get stocks of dry cod. Pollock are higher, and pickled herring are still behind in supply. We quote: Large cod, $3.40 to $3.50; medium, $3.35 to $3.40; pollock, $1.45 to $1.50; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.85 to $1.90 ½-bbl.; Canso, pickled, $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 5c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.; finnan haddies, 4 to 4½c.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c.; spring shad, $3.75 to $4 ½-bbl.; fall do., $4.75 to $5; ½-bbl.; alewives, $3 per bbl.; kippered herring, $1; bloaters, 60c.; Shelburne, $3.75 per bbl.; Grand Manan herring, $3.40 to $3.50 per bbl.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.—If flour shows any change, it tends easier, though local market shows no change. Fair sales reported. Feed is very difficult to get. The large sale of cornmeal continues at low figures. Oatmeal rather firmer, as are oats. In beans, there is some interest, but for some time sales have been light. Beans are being sold here below western prices. Barley is higher than for years, and firmly held. Split and blue peas both tend higher. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.80 to $5; best Ontario, $4 to $4.25; medium, $3.75 to $3.95; oatmeal, $3.75 to $3.85; cornmeal, $2; middlings, $1.8 to $1.9; bran, $1.6 to $1.7; oats, 35 to 40c.; hand-picked beans, $1.10 to $1.20; prime, 95 to $1; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas,

ST. JOHN NOTES.

S. H. Jones, P.E. Island, has, this fall, shipped 10,191 lambs and sheep and 4,200 geese.

The new sardine factory at Letang, N.B., established by J. Sutton Clark, is now running.

The pack of sardines, both in eastern Maine and Charlotte county, N.B., has been very large this season.

Plaster is now being shipped from Albert county, N.B., to New York by steamer, in place of sailer, as for many years past.

I. C. Bowman, the local agent for Rice's salt, reports the sale of a car. This is the first to come here. With this sample lot to hand, a good future trade is expected.

Quite large shipments of herring have been forwarded by Parker, Eakins & Co., Yarmouth, via St. John, for the west as far as Chicago, the C.P.R. quoting low rates. Some 14 cars have so far been shipped.

Quite large shipments of "Fossil" flour are going forward from Castlereagh Lake, N.S. They have an output of about 10 tons per day. It is used in the manufacture of rubber, dynamite, asbestos, and the better grades in the arts and sciences.

T. J. Dillon, of Charlottetown, P.E.I., has shipped 18,181 boxes of Island cheese to England this season, and 9,864 from New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, valued at over $160,000, and has still some 8,000 boxes on hand.

FINE SAMPLES OF RAISINS.

Some remarkably handsome sample packages of Malaga table raisins were shown this week by S. H. Ewing & Co., Montreal. The fruit was not only attractively packed, but delicious both to the eye and palate, the clusters being remarkably large and the raisins luscious. In fact, taken altogether, the sample constituted an unusually fine lot of fruit goods that reflected credit on their packer, F. de PaLuque, the brands being "Extra Imperial" clusters, "Extra Royal" clusters and "Extra Dessert" clusters.

Laporte, Martin & Cie. are advertising a list of fine specialties for the holidays.

The new creamery at Carleton Place has been completed, and butter-making has commenced.

Laporte, Martin & Cie., who have secured the agency for Canada of the natural tonic wine "St. Lehon," report considerable demand for this new tonic.

DOMESTIC CIGARS AS GROCERS' SPECIALTIES.

KIPLING'S retort, "That woman is only a woman, but a cigar is a smoke," whilst not very complimentary to the fair sex, contains more than a grain of truth. There are cigars, and cigars, imported cigars, domestic cigars, and half-breed cigars, but it is only of domestic cigars this article will treat. We can dispense with the imported article in a few words. In fact, they are fast becoming a luxury. And why should they not? Why can't a man make as good a cigar in Montreal or London as in New York or Boston? The leaf is the same. The only difference is the place of making; and smokers are more and more realizing this, and, as they realize it, they are giving home-made goods the preference.

But domestic cigars, like domestic servants, need proving before praising. Recommendations are, alike, useless in both cases. Nevertheless, a good domestic, in both senses, is a jewel in any household.

The domestic cigar trade is now firmly established as one of our staple industries. There are in the Dominion about 170 cigar factories, scattered from Halifax to Vancouver. Montreal is the largest centre, but London, Ont., is a good second, and nearly every town of importance has its local factory, which, in many instances, enjoys national reputation. The total quantity of leaf used was 2,000,000 pounds, on which the duty paid was $416,000. The quantity of cigars manufactured last year was 108,000,000, of which 61,000,000 were sold, producing an increase of $30,000 in duty.

Why has the cigar trade been monopolized by saloons, barber shops, and cigar stores? That it is so must be admitted, and at the same time it is to be regretted that the grocery trade has lost this profitable specialty. There is a good profit for the retailer, and a well dressed case of cigars is an attraction in any store. Besides, why should a man buy his plug at the grocer's and run across the street to his barber's for a good cigar? If the grocer can sell good tobacco, why not cigars? If it pays to sell tobaccos, why not cigars?

From the manufacturer's point of view, the grocery trade is one for which it is well worth catering. Grocers, as a rule, buy on short time and pay promptly. They do not buy in as large quantities as some dealers, but generally buy every month and pay within 30 days. Is it not better to sell a small bill often and get paid for it, than do as some firms do, force their goods on unwilling or indifferent customers and get paid as they see fit, and, in many cases, not at all. Long credits and poor advertising have had a great deal to do with bringing the cigar trade to its present position.

Why should not cigars be advertised the same as any other goods? What connection is there between a cigar and a painted beauty in tights displaying a neat ankle? There is a connection, or someone is doing a lot of blundering. The almost universal "ad." for a cigar at the present time suggests the above. Whatever the cause, it is time there was a change. Good, clean, business advertising should be applied to the cigar trade, as in all other businesses, and the manufacturer who first recognizes this, and follows it up persistently, will find it greatly to his profit. And why not advertise it in connection with groceries? Let him show the grocer that it is to his interests to keep a good line of cigars, and he will keep them. But the manufacturer has to cultivate this trade. It will grow with cultivation; without, it will die.

Many manufacturers will line the inside of a barber shop or cigar store with mirrors, with a glass or brass sign for the front. Then a show-case is added. All this to get him to handle a certain brand of cigars, and, in many cases, said shop does not exist more than six or twelve months.

Why not do the same for good live grocer? Fix him up with a nice show-case or two, and do a little advertising specially for his benefit. Then he will sell your goods and pay you, and it will not cost you as much as plate mirrors, etc., and your returns will be prompt and sure.

Many grocers do not pay as much attention to specialties as they should. Their time is too much taken up with necessities, whilst frivolous luxuries are left for the departmental store or bookstore, all to the grocer's loss.

Grocers, as a rule, do more work in proportion to their profits than any other class of business men, and most of it is their own fault. More attention to the profit on different lines of goods would soon convince them that it is not always the bulkiest that is the most profitable article.

"Our 'Richard' brand has been a favorite, and the demand increases constantly," say Laporte, Martin & Cie.

"Couvert" is the brand of champagne Laporte, Martin & Cie. are agents for. It has been awarded a diploma of honor at this year's Exhibition in Toronto.

The assets of Pierre Maltais, general merchant, Murray Bay, Que., are advertised for sale on November 30.

The executors' sale of the stock of Pigot & Bryan, wholesale and retail crockery merchants, London, Ont., is advertised.

CHANGES.

The stock belonging to the late James Hart, grocer, Picton, Ont., has been sold to George Hart.

John Stibbs, baker and confectioner, Bradford, Ont., has sold his bakery business to John Cottrell.

George Hirschfield, pork dealer, Halifax, N.S., has registered consent for his wife, Sophia Hirschfield, to do business in her own name.

M. Caroline Lelievre, wife of L. J. Prosper Massicotte, has registered as proprietress of P. Massicotte & Co., grocers, Montreal.

FIRES.

John Gibb, grocer and flour and feed dealer, Elora, Ont., has been burned out.

DEATHS.

George Trench, East Toronto, is dead.

Edwin Morrish, grocer, Galt, Ont., is dead.

Ferdinand Morrisette, general merchant, St. George, Que., is dead.

NEW PORK-PACKING FACTORY.

Operations have been commenced in the new pork-packing factory, erected this summer for the Park-Blackwell Co., of Toronto, Limited.

These new works, which are situated at the foot of Bathurst street, Toronto, are thoroughly modern in all respects. The main building contains three storeys and a basement, and is 100 feet long by 50 feet wide. The annex, or slaughter-house, is 80 feet long by 50 feet wide. The power-house is 35 feet square.

In the basement are three cellars, the largest of which is 100 x 32 feet, and the wash and soap-rooms, where the meats are prepared for smoking.

On the ground floor are the offices, the shipping-rooms for local and export trade, the packing, storage and chill-rooms, and the smoke-houses. By an ingenious arrangement, invented by Messrs. Davidson and Blackwell, the meat can be placed in these smoke-houses without the men entering, as is generally necessary.

Part of the second floor is used for preparing sausage and cooked meats, and for cooling and storing lard. The balance is used for storage purposes.

The top flat is used for cutting the hogs into the various cuts for home and foreign trade. Here are all the most modern appliances of the pork-packer. Large chill and drying-rooms are also fitted up on this flat.

The slaughter house is connected with the main building by a bridge from this flat.

The hogs are lifted from the ground by a specially fitted elevator, from which they go on a gallery on the outside of the building leading to the sticking pen, where they are hoisted to the bar by an automatic hoist. After they are stuck they are passed on to the scraping machine. They come out of this machine clean shaven, and are passed on to the singer. It is here the test is made. Hogs too fat or too lean for export are not singed—they are passed along to be cut up. The hogs suitable for export are singed before being passed on for cutting.

In the centre of this floor of the slaughter house are two cylindrical machines used for washing fats and other hog products before conversion into lard. On the floor below is the plant for the rendering and filtering of lard. On the ground floor of the annex are the beef slaughter-house appliances, press-room for tankage and preparation of fertilizers.

The stock yards, which are 300 feet by 60 feet, are constructed with a view to the comfort of the animals. A switch of the C.P.R. capable of holding a whole train enters it.

The cost of these works has been in the neighborhood of $70,000. When fully taxed their capacity will be in the neighborhood of 5,000 hogs and 400 cattle per week.

TRADE CHAT.

MR. HENRY CARGILL has let the contract for the building of a large elevator at Cargill Village, Ont., and when it is up and finished, Mr. Keeling intends to begin purchasing grain. Mr. Keeling expects that everything will be ready for business in the course of a month. —Walkerton Telescope.

The Port Lambton, Ont., evaporator has closed.

The Hillsburg, Ont., creamery will likely be kept in operation all winter.

The building improvements in Tilbury, Ont., this year have amounted to $25,000.

The new elevator at Goderich, Ont., is completed, and grain is being received into it.

W. H. Tighe, Chatham, Ont., intends building another brick factory at his evaporating works.

The rice crop in Japan this year is estimated to show an increase of 25 per cent. over an ordinary yield; the increase in the money value is estimated at 100,000,000 yen.

Another record has been broken in Gueph, Ont. Geo. Calton, of that place, recently ate  $1\frac{1}{2}$  lb. of biscuits in  $1\frac{1}{2}$  minutes. As this record is authenticated by timers, etc., it must stand.

The freight space on the various lines running between British Columbia and Japanese ports has been booked ahead to next June. This looks as if trade between Canada and Japan is growing healthy.

A shipment of 900 tons of salted salmon from the Fraser river was recently sent to Japan. Another 600 tons is to follow. This is the first shipment of the kind sent to Japan, and, if results are satisfactory, the trade will likely grow.

The mackerel catch off Canso, N.S., has been a failure so far this year owing to the lateness of the season. Grave fears are entertained that the mackerel have passed Canso altogether this year.

E. J. Kuntz, buttermaker, Formosa, Ont., has closed down his factory for the season. He made 75,200 lb. during the season, and intends to make extensions sufficient to double his capacity next year.

The Pleasant View Creamery, near Owen Sound, has shut down for the year. The returns for the season's operations are about the same as last year's. Toronto provided the best market for the output.

The merchants of Hartland, N.B., have all agreed upon closing at 8 o'clock every night except Saturday. This will continue in force until spring, with the exception of two weeks previous to Christmas.

Skimming stations have been started at Simonds and Richmond Corner, N.B., to supply the Woodstock creamery. These, with another station which may be commenced at Debec, N.B., will materially increase the output of butter from Woodstock.

Huron County, Ont., claims the record for large potatoes and carrots. The Walter's Falls correspondent of The Markdale Standard states that one potato grown by a gardener in that place weighed 3 lb. 10 oz., six weighed 14 lb. 10 oz., and 36 weighed 62 lb., or 2 lb. more than a bushel. Another gardener produced a carrot which measured 6 feet from top of foliage to the tip of its root.

THE SIZE OF A HOGSHEAD.

A CORRESPONDENT of The St. John, N.B., Telegraph writes that paper as follows:

"During the first session of the present administration of our Federal Government, the ratepayers and fishermen of Grand Manan and adjoining islands sent to Ottawa a largely signed petition praying that Parliament do hereby pass an amendment defining the capacity of a hogshead of fresh fish, but as yet no action has been taken on this matter.

"Now sir, under existing conditions, a great deal of dissatisfaction prevails among them. The following are the meanings of hogshead taken from the dictionary, viz:

"1. Hogshead—A measure of capacity containing 63 wine gallons or about  $52\frac{1}{2}$  imperial gallons. The old ale hogshead contained 54 ale gallons or nearly 55 imperial gallons. 'McCulloch.'

"2. In America this name is often given to a butt, a cask containing from 110 to 120 wine gallons, as a hogshead of spirits or molasses.

"3. A large cask of indefinite contents.

"As it is now, sir, fresh fish are sold by the hogshead, but nobody can vouch for a standard quantity. As I have already explained, there is a wine gallon and an ale gallon. Why not have a fish gallon, and the number of these it will take to comprise a hogshead?

"It is suggested by many parties concerned in the sale and catching of fish that 100 imperial gallons would suffice as a standard for this want.

"Large numbers of the electors of the county of Charlotte, N.B., are now anxiously waiting for the Government to move in this matter."

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU . . . .

Reads every paper in Canada and clips therefrom all articles of a business or personal nature of interest to subscribers in this department.

Politicians can obtain from it everything the papers say about themselves on any subject in which they are interested. Business men learn of new openings for trade, pointers to sell goods, addresses of people likely to become buyers, tenders wanted, stocks for sale or wanted, reports of new industries or stores, etc.

TERMS—$5 per hundred clippings; $40 per thousand, payable in advance; but a yearly contract will be found the most satisfactory.

We have also lists of firms in every branch of trade in the Dominion, the professions, club members, society, etc., and we are prepared to address and mail circulars or letters to these at any time.

as you pour it from the pot into the cup. Its precious liquid seems to thrill with strength, and the dainty fragrance which it spreads about the table is only a fore-taste of the rich, pungent, thoroughly satisfying relish which you imbibe with each refreshing sip.

To really appreciate these teas you must follow carefully the official recipe.

How to Make Japan Tea. (OFFICIAL RECIPE)

Use a small, dry, and thoroughly clean porcelain or porcelain-lined teapot. Put in one teaspoonful of tea-leaves for each cup desired. Pour on required quantity of freshly boiled water, and let stand from two to three minutes with closed lid. Never boil the leaves. Tea-leaves should be kept in tight can or jar, free from moisture.

THE CANADIAN GROCER

VOL. XII.

TORONTO AND MONTREAL, DECEMBER 2, 1898.

NO. 48

MY FIRST EXPERIENCE AS A GROCERY CLERK.

I WAS 13 years old, strong, healthy and willing, so my father concluded it was about time I was earning my own living. Acting upon the impulse of the moment, he took me to "the store," and, presenting me to the proprietor, said:

"C.I., can you do anything with this boy?"

C.I. said he guessed he could.

"All right," said my father, "do the best you can."

Thus was I indentured in my first situation as a grocery clerk, where I stayed for seven years, and only leaving it to go into business for myself.

WAGES.

Readers will notice by the above that there was nothing said about wages. That was left to the conscience of my employer, and for a long time it was not very elastic, but, after three months' fair trial, I was engaged for another year at $75 per year and board.

"BUCKING" WOOD.

As to my duties, they were numerous and various. First, I had to "buck" enough wood each day to run one big stove and six small ones. This was done in early morning, generally about daylight, if not before. Then, the store had to be swept and drawers filled, after which the lamps had to be cleaned. Then, about 8 o'clock, came breakfast, after which I had the horse to feed and look after and bring over to the store.

BEING BROKEN IN.

Then came the regular day's work behind the counter, and, as I was the junior, I had to be broken in by all my seniors. I soon, however, attached myself to the head clerk, and, as I was tough and not too particular what I did, as long as it was work, we got along fine, and I soon got hints from him that landed me ahead of other competitors. One thing I was always particular about was never to wait to be told to do a thing, but to be always on the lookout with eyes and ears, and forestall their commands. This is a hint that cannot be too firmly impressed on young clerks. Many a jolly hour's loaf I got by my reputation for work. Nevertheless, I always did my work.

CHANGES THEN AND NOW.

The changes in the grocery business since 1880 are something enormous. Nothing shows the rapid advance Canada has made in material prosperity than a look over a grocer's shelf in 1880 and 1898. Then we sold raw West India sugar at 12c. per lb., and, on rare occasions, we would sell two pounds granulated at 16c. per lb. This was when "company" was expected at some of our customers' houses. As for canned goods, we did not bother with them—they were looked upon as being poisonous.

In confectionery, we kept mints, mixtures and sticks, and generally got about 40c. per lb., or 2 oz. for 5c. was the usual sale. The Christmas trade was all done on Christmas day and eve, and a busy time we had of it.

BUSINESS METHODS.

Our principal receipts were butter, eggs, pork, beef and buckwheat, the latter of which we stored for the farmers till spring, when it was sold back again to them on credit, at a slight advance, to be paid for in the fall by other buckwheat the produce of spring sales. There was no such a thing as prepared foods; no fancy biscuits; sodas and sweets, in barrels, were staples, and on "fair days" many a barrel was shovelled over the counter to feed the hungry crowd. Cheese was all imported. Our soap was mostly 5-lb. bars, and small sale at that, the farmers preferring washing soda. Teas were all Chinas, and no packages were then thought of.

HOURS OF LABOR.

Our hours of work were from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m., after which we had to have our little amusements. And, as two of us always slept over the store, we generally managed to make things lively, and many a bottle of Scotch was quietly punished.

DRIVING CATTLE TO MARKET.

Our greatest sport was driving cattle to the railway, nine miles away. About once a week, from Sept 1 to January 1, we had a drove of fifty or more head of cattle, most of which had never seen each other until the night previous. We usually left about 5 o'clock in the morning with three drovers and a driver. It was a hard run for the first five miles, after which any cattle that tried to get away from us were about tired out and only too glad to proceed quietly. At 9 o'clock we were supposed to have gone nine miles and loaded all on the train, when we jumped into a sled and drove back home as quickly as possible, so as not to lose too much time. We generally got back about 11 o'clock, when we reported any accidents or losses, and quietly took our places behind the counter until closing time, when we perhaps chased them all over again over a bottle of Scotch.

TEACHING OTHERS.

Thus were my early years spent until I arrived at the age of discretion, when I took upon myself the management of a business of my own, and at once began to pour upon others the valuable lessons I had been taught. Some profited by it and are to-day prosperous merchants. Others knew it before I did, and could not be taught and were not. I prospered, and, disdaining my lowly surroundings, struck out for something bigger. Some say I got it, others say I did not. I know I got rid of a lot of worry and work when I gave up running a country general store on credit.

DEFENSE OF CANADIAN PICKLES.

EDITOR CANADIAN GROCER,—In your last two issues you published articles, which, you must pardon us for saying, were something less than fair to Canadian manufacturers of pickles. The impression left upon the minds of the readers of your articles could only be, that in Canada only low-grade pickles are made, and that these are put up "in poisonous acetic acid distilled from wood," while everything that is not unattractive, unwholesome, or poisonous is imported from Great Britain or the United States. Your charge is so general that it includes in its sweeping condemnation every pickle manufacturer in the Dominion, and so we feel that we are not asking too much when we request a little of your space to reply. We shall speak, of course, only for ourselves. You may have knowledge which justifies the "poisonous acetic acid" charge against some manufacturer, but we object to the charge being made so general that it practically includes us.

What you say as to the failure of the Canadian manufacturers to fully supply the entire home market may be true, but, even so, it does not follow that it is the fault of the home manufacturers. Instead of hastily adopting the "poisonous acetic acid," slovenly methods, and want of enterprise theory, as you do, would it not be more in accordance with the facts to say that the prejudice in favor of imported foreign made goods, with which all Canadian manufacturers have had to contend, has been especially injurious to manufacturers in our line, and may we be permitted to say, in this connection, that articles, such as those from your pen, to which we are referring, are not exactly calculated to help remove this prejudice.

You speak of the putting up of "low-priced and low-grade pickles," and say their "mania" for doing this is the cause of the failure of the manufacturers to develop the industry in Canada. You then proceed: "They evidently imagine that by putting up coarse vegetables with wood acetic acid and in unattractive bottles they can compete with the pickles which are imported from Great Britain and the United States." Again you say: "Bad may compete with bad, but such trash as we see on this market of home product, can never compete with the first-class article." What impression is this to leave upon the minds of your readers, except that the Canadian pickles are always trashy and bad, while the imported article is always the opposite?

We have been in the business of pickle manufacturing for quite a number of years now, and we do not think the terms "trash" or "bad" can with justice be applied to any goods turned out of our factory. As for "poisonous acetic acid distilled from wood" we do not use it. If any representative of your journal will call at our factory we shall take pleasure in showing him everything about it and allow him to examine and test everything we use in the manufacture of pickles.

Concerning low-priced pickles. We make them, of course, because the market demands them. They take the place, to a great extent, of goods formerly put up in pails and tubs, and sold, retail, by the quart, etc. But these goods are not cheap because of the materials being either unwholesome or bad. A somewhat coarser grade of vegetables is used in them to be sure, but they are just as wholesome, clean and carefully prepared as the finer and more costly goods, while, as to their appearance and the attractiveness of the packages, we believe they will compare favorably with the imported article of which you are so enamored. So as to avoid even the appearance of deception, and so that our customers will know exactly what they are buying, we have adopted distinctive brands for our higher and lower-priced goods, calling the first "Sterling" and the other "Canada." When we first commenced business we made the cheaper grade of goods almost exclusively, for the very good reason that there was but little demand for any other. Gradually, however, as the demand for higher-grade goods increased, we met it and fostered it till now our output of the higher grade is as much greater in proportion to the lower as it was formerly less.

You say, "any manufacture of pickles will only become a staple on the market after it has earned a reputation, and it necessarily follows that if it is ever to earn a reputation it must be of good quality." This is undoubtedly and indisputably true. Perhaps you will pardon us if we say that, since our goods have become a staple on the market, it follows that they must have earned a reputation, that they must, therefore, be of good quality, and consequently they cannot be made by "putting up coarse vegetables with wood acetic acid in unattractive bottles."

We take what perhaps you will admit is a pardonable pride in having built up the business we have in face of great difficulties. We have sought to win a market for our goods solely upon their merits—their quality and purity—and you must pardon us if we feel somewhat warmly when a charge is made in an influential and respectable journal—in terms so general that it embraces us—that the goods put up by Canadian manufacturers are something other than honorably and honestly made.

SHORTAGE OF FISH CATCH.

The shortage of the fish catch is evident from a remark that a leading merchant in the business made to The Herald recently. His warehouse is full with an immense stock; yet, he said he did not expect to have enough to fill orders, implying that stocks elsewhere are light. Fishermen are receiving more than $1 per quintal higher prices than they were a year ago.—Herald, Halifax.

A FAKE COMMISSION HOUSE.

ABOUT eight weeks ago the warehouse at 88 Front street east, Toronto, was rented by strangers, with the firm name of Campbell, Davidson & Co. They were quite progressive, and evidently determined to build up a name as well as a business.

Printed quotations were issued at stated periods and scattered broadcast throughout the Province.

Unlike other commission houses, the market value of produce was of no account to Campbell, Davidson & Co. They established their own prices.

While their competitors would only pay the market price for butter, eggs, poultry and other farm and dairy produce, a cent or two per lb. extra, this liberal and philanthropic firm was more than willing to pay. And, of course, the firm was able to carry out what it agreed to do, for, among its references was not there the Canadian Bank of Commerce?

With a firm so liberal in the price it was willing to pay for produce, and with a reference so good as that of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, it was not surprising that it got goods, and goods in abundance too.

Davidson was the only member of the firm in evidence. But to-day he is not in evidence. And he has not been so for a week or ten days. Neither is the money which was to pay for the goods country merchants had consigned or sold to him.

Mr. Davidson has absconded and taken the money with him, and the sheriff has seized the few chattels which were to be found around the warehouse.

What the liabilities are will probably be never definitely known. They are estimated to be about $25,000. Quite a nice little sum for an eight weeks' old firm.

In order to take advantage of the golden opportunity, a great many merchants in the country sent their produce to Campbell, Davidson & Co., instead of to old and tried firms to whom they had formerly sent it. This week, a good many are writing to their old commission firms, telling their tale of woe, and in some instances asking them to try and rescue something from the ruins for them. But if any one of them gets enough to pay for his postage stamps lucky will he be.

Campbell, Davidson & Co. planned to rob the country merchants, and they succeeded admirably. Some write that they are out between four and five hundred dollars, and one man states that his losses will put him out of business. Another, in referring to his losses, describes himself as a fool.

While THE CANADIAN GROCER regrets exceedingly the fact that so many country merchants have been victimized, yet, it realizes that they have largely themselves to blame in the matter. If there should, peradventure, be a new firm in business which was not acquainted with the names of the houses in Toronto and elsewhere, the desired information could have been found in the columns of THE CANADIAN GROCER, where are the advertisements of leading and reliable commission houses. Furthermore, should any of the readers of this paper want to know the standing of any commission house that may be trying to procure produce from them, the publishers will, on receipt of an inquiry, make an effort to secure the desired information.

THEY BUY NOVA SCOTIA CODFISH.

In a report to his State Department, United States Consul Hanna at San Juan calls attention to the very large fish trade of Nova Scotia and other British North American colonies with Porto Rico. He says that codfish is the principal food article imported into that island and that Nova Scotia dealers in codfish consider Porto Rico their best market. In many cases the dealers of Nova Scotia visit Porto Rico to buy molasses, and pay for it in codfish. The consul says there is no reason why New England dealers in cod should not supply the Porto Rican market in the future.

LOBSTER PACKERS.

"The French lobster packers on the treaty shore," says The St. John (Nfld.) Herald, "have done an enormous business during the past season. At St. John's Island, one Frenchman has packed and shipped 2,500 cases. Newfoundlanders who have been fishing off the treaty shore have done very poorly. This is easily accounted for. The Frenchmen recognize no restrictions, and can fish at every season, while the Newfoundlanders have to close down their factories during the close season. The language of the treaty of Utrecht does not give the Frenchmen the right to build factories or pack lobsters on the treaty shore, but they do it, just the same, and, having no rules or regulations to fear, they work in all seasons."

EXTENDING THEIR BUSINESS.

The American Tobacco Co. of Canada has bought out the business of L. Larue, Jr., and, henceforth, the business will be run under the name of L. Larue, Jr., as a branch of The American Tobacco Co. of Canada, and all brands of Canadian goods, previously made by L. Larue, Jr., will be continued. The business will be very much enlarged and extended.

BUTTER ADVANCES SHARPLY.

A SUDDEN jump of  $\frac{3}{4}$  c. per lb. in the price of creamery butter is an unusual circumstance at this period of the year, but this week values show that rise, in Montreal, over the figure ruling last week. Export inquiry for finest creamery, and the difficulty in obtaining it, is responsible for the advance. Buyers at first tried to secure 50-lb. boxes, bidding 18 $\frac{1}{2}$  then 18 $\frac{3}{4}$  and finally 19c. At the latter figure, some moderate quantities of stock were turned over; and then it became difficult to procure boxes and buyers turned their attention to tubs.

Inquiry soon elicited the fact that finest quality was equally scarce in this sort of package, and at this writing it is extremely doubtful if any buyers could fill their wants under 19 $\frac{1}{4}$ , and, possibly, 19 $\frac{1}{2}$  c., although these prices have not yet been established as the basis of actual sales, except in the case of five and ten package lots to the local jobbing trade, in which case slightly higher prices have been realized. But, while finest goods are scarce, and the market excited in regard to them, there is a considerable quantity of butter knocking about the market in Montreal that would not fetch within  $\frac{3}{4}$  to 1c. of the prices quoted above.

It is choice butter that is scarce, and buyers, when they concede the top prices, are rigidly particular regarding quality.

On the whole, however, the butter situation this fall appears to be a fairly sound one, and medium to choice butter is good property; in fact, all well-kept goods promise, if the market continues as it is at present, to net holders a reasonably good margin. Another factor that has helped to stiffen prices, when coupled with the improved demand from Great Britain, has been the inquiry for car lots of both creamery and dairy from Vancouver and the Pacific Coast. Most of these inquiries were difficult to fill, inasmuch as they asked for 30-lb. tubs, a size of package that is not common nowadays, owing to the fact that the British demand is for 50-lb. boxes or 70-lb. tubs.

Receipts, so far, of winter-made creamery have not been heavy, and what has come forward showed first-class quality; in fact, was taken by the exporters at the top price of the market.

Clerks who would build up themselves should be zealous to build up the business of their employer.

THE CANNED TOMATO SITUATION.

The easier feeling in canned tomatoes noted last week is still in evidence, although there has been no further quotable change.

There have been transactions in round lots at 77 $\frac{1}{2}$  and 80c. per dozen, and more are offering at the latter figure. The ruling price to retailers is 80 to 85c., although for certain brands 90c. is quoted.

While the market has taken an easier turn, everyone seems to be of the opinion that it is only of a temporary character, and was induced merely by a desire to make sales during a quiet season.

This view THE CANADIAN GROCER believes to be not far astray. From now out until the New Year begins the present figures may be expected to rule. After that what changes do take place are likely to be rather toward a higher than a lower range.

EXPORTS OF BRITISH GROWN TEAS

TEA exports from Calcutta during the first nine months of the year show a satisfactory increase on the whole, although a slight decrease in the quantity shipped to Australia and New Zealand is to be noted.

The total quantity exported to all countries outside the United Kingdom was 10,685,152 lb., against 9,067,537 lb. in 1897, 8,367,107 in 1896, 6,943,536 in 1895, and 6,241,467 in 1894.

The exports to the United Kingdom during the nine months were 80,622,110 lb., against 80,020,341 lb. in 1897, 77,749,911 lb. in 1896, 72,617,543 lb. in 1895, and 71,124,647 lb. in 1894.

From a glance at the above figures it will be seen that the percentage of increase of the exports to the United Kingdom has been not nearly as great as to all countries outside the United Kingdom. The increase during the five years was 13.35 per cent. to the former and over 71 per cent. to the latter.

The following table gives the exports for the nine month periods of 1898, 1897 and 1894:

|                                | 1898.     | 1897.     | 1894.     |
|--------------------------------|-----------|-----------|-----------|
| Australia and New Zealand..... | 3,691,538 | 3,838,259 | 3,681,876 |
| America .....                  | 1,496,966 | 1,302,124 | 223,263   |
| Other Places.....              | 5,496,648 | 3,927,154 | 2,336,328 |

|----------------------------------|------------|------------|------------|
| Total outside the United Kingdom | 10,685,152 | 9,067,537  | 6,241,467  |
| United Kingdom.                  | 80,622,110 | 80,020,341 | 71,124,647 |
| Total lb.....                    | 91,307,262 | 89,087,878 | 77,366,114 |

Although the figures relating to the exports of Ceylon tea were published in a previous issue, yet it will not be out of place to briefly refer to them again. Up to September 22 they were 87,693,719 lb. to all countries, against 84,418,297 for the same period in 1897. America bought 1,801,059 lb. against 564,652 lb.; Australia, 10,709,888 lb. against 9,205,561 lb.; Russia, 1,654,865 lb. against 324,612 lb.; Germany, 249,474 lb. against 189,503 lb. United Kingdom, 70,909,101 lb. against 72,561,369 lb.; other countries, 2,369,719 lb. against 1,572,600 lb. It will be noticed that the exports to the United Kingdom are the only ones which exhibit a decline.

Taking both Indian and Ceylon teas we learn that the aggregate exports for what is practically the first nine months of the year, were 179,000,981 lb. against 173,506,175 lb. the same period last year.

THE CANADIAN PICKLE QUESTION.

ELSEWHERE in this issue we print a communication from T. A. Lytle & Co., in which disapproval is expressed at articles which recently appeared in THE CANADIAN GROCER in regard to Canadian-made pickles.

We exceedingly regret that Lytle & Co. conceived the articles in question to have been "something less than fair to Canadian manufacturers of pickles." Our sole and only object was to stir the pickle manufacturers in this country up to a sense of their duties and privileges. We did not then consider we were less than fair; nor do we now.

Again, Lytle & Co. contend that the impression left upon the minds of the readers of the articles in THE CANADIAN GROCER "could only be that in Canada only low-grade pickles are made, and that these are put up in poisonous acetic acid distilled from wood." Again, unwarranted conclusions were drawn from the article.

It was not stated there were none but this class of pickles put up in this country. It was, in effect, stated that there were some good pickles manufactured here, but that they were the exception, not the rule. This, Mr. Lytle himself would not deny. We remember a conversation we had with him some time since, in which he bitterly complained of the competition his firm was experiencing from the poisonous wood acetic acid pickles. And this class of pickle is still on the market.

There is, undoubtedly, as Lytle & Co. say in their letter, prejudice in favor of imported foreign-made goods. And we regret that it is so. But the domestic pickle manufacturers are not without blame in this matter. By, as a rule, putting up low-grade pickles, they have rather fed than starved this prejudice. And then, look at the lack of enterprise that has, in many instances, characterized those who put up a really good pickle. Many of them seem to think that they have only to put a pickle on the market, and that it will, like a worm, bore its way to public attention.

As far as the impression that the articles which have appeared in THE CANADIAN GROCER will leave on its readers, in regard to Canadian pickles, that is something this paper cannot help.

Certain unsatisfactory conditions exist in the pickle industry in Canada. These conditions THE CANADIAN GROCER felt to be its duty to expose, not with a view to aggravating but remedying them.

Evils appertaining to an industry are no more cured by a journal covering them, either under the mantle of silence or of untruthful flattery, any more than are social or political evils cured by the same methods.

Whitewash may hide dirt, but it will not remove it, and the dirt will only be hid as long as the whitewash lasts.

We quite believe the statement of Lytle & Co., that they do not use acetic acid distilled from wood in the manufacture of their pickles, and we know from experience that the pickles they put up under the brand "Sterling" are all that anyone can reasonably desire. But they acknowledge that they commenced business with the cheaper grade of goods.

It will thus be seen that they started out with the same old belief as nearly all other pickle manufacturers in Canada, namely, that low-grade goods were stepping-stones to success. Unlike the great run of their confreres, however, they saw the error of their way, for they gradually devoted their energies more upon the higher grade goods, until, to-day, as they say in their letter, "the output of the higher grade is as much greater in proportion to the lower as it was formerly less."

The sentence just quoted from Lytle & Co.'s letter justifies all that THE CANADIAN GROCER said in the two articles in question.

Low-grade goods are poor things upon which to essay to climb to success, especially in the pickle business. And Canada will never have a pickle industry worthy of the name until manufacturers as a rule, and not an exception, realize it.

JAPAN TEAS IN CANADA.

The recent advices from Japan report the shortage in the crop for the season at about 28,000 piculs, and that teas now in Japan, in the natives' hands, are of a very low grade and attract but few buyers.

The market for such teas as this country requires is fully $1 a picul higher than it was a month ago, and goods ranging from 16 to 19c., or 20c., are likely to prove good value in the future, as they are likely to be scarce.

Some little time ago, there was an impression that shipments to Canada had been larger this year than last, but this is not the case, and the mistake is accounted for in the following way: Large shippers billed quantities of tea to Canada, which, when they had reached the Coast, were diverted to the United States. This caused the error in the figures, which have been rather misleading to those who read reports from Japan itself.

SULTANA RAISINS FOR MONTREAL

A little business is being done in Toronto in Sultana raisins, but the volume is not large, on account of the high prices which obtain. Stocks, however, are merely nominal, and they have, this week, been further reduced by sales to Montreal wholesale houses.

The markets abroad are higher than they were a month or two ago.

A CAUSE OF NON-SUCCESS.

IT is not because of lack of opportunity, but because of lack of the qualities of ambition and energy that there are so many men—both young and old—in the world who are "neither fish, flesh, or good red herring"; in other words, so many men in business, behind counters, and in the professions, who do not amount to much.

A man who is without ambition and energy merely drifts with the tide. And the farther he drifts the farther does he get from the sources from which success springs.

A man who has no ambition can no more forge ahead than can an engine without steam. Ambition is the steam of human progress.

Have ambition. Have an aim in life, and a high aim. Utilize the golden and spare moments in fitting yourself for the goal. Read good books. And think, as well as read. Then, when the opportunities come you will be prepared to grasp them.

Success is no more the offspring of indolence than is a sparrow the offspring of an eagle.

CANADA'S TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM.

THE termination of the rate war between the Canadian Pacific and the Grand Trunk railways, and the going into operation of the rates which obtained before the war began, naturally revives interest in the relation of the railways to the country, and vice versa.

The monetary aids granted to Canadian railways by governments and municipalities up to June 30, 1897, aggregated $207,137,265. This is exclusive of the 39,725,130 acres of land with which the railways have been subsidized. Taking money and land together this would represent at least a sum of $250,000,000, or equal to a donation of $5 per head of every man, woman and child in the country. Taking it another way, an average of over $15,100 has been given for every mile of the 16,500 miles of railway in operation. In our calculation we have only allowed about $1 per acre for the land granted, which is obviously an under estimate particularly when it is remembered that the C.P.R. is holding at $10 per acre the land it received in grants.

Notwithstanding the liberality of the country in cash and lands, to say nothing of the value of the franchises and privileges they carry with them, the 16,550 miles of railway operating in the Dominion are as bands of steel, binding the country in a grasp which has positively become painful. And, the trouble is, we have to grin and bear it without hope of much relief.

Had the legislators, in the years gone by, been foreseeing enough to see the conditions as they are to-day, or been able to anticipate the overmastering power the railways have developed, it is inconceivable that they would have so neglected to provide measures for the safeguarding of the interests of the commercial and of the agricultural interests and of the people generally as they did.

They, doubtless, as a rule, did their best, but their best was little better than nothing. At any rate, it has not prevented the country being practically at the mercy of the two big corporations which control the railway systems of the Dominion.

The manufacturing and commercial classes are suffering from high freight rates and discriminating freight rates, which, in many instances, make nugatory the protection which comes from the Customs tariff, while our export trade, in many respects, is carried on under difficulties induced by the same causes.

The farmers are in much the same condition as the business men. Were it not for the railway conditions obtaining in the Northwest, that part of the Dominion, wherein are the choicest of the wheat lands upon this continent, would not be as sparsely settled as it is to-day. It is true that the conditions have been somewhat alleviated by the reduction in the rates on grain which was obtained from the C.P.R. as a provision of the Crow's Nest Pass agreement. But, there is still a great deal of soreness up there, notwithstanding.

Wherein lies the solution of the transportation problem it is difficult, with positiveness, to say. What might be done in some respects is apparently made impossible by extraordinary privileges which the railway owners, more cunning and subtle than the legislators, worked into the webs of their franchises.

And, thus, what have become known as vested rights, as far as the railways are concerned, have become what may be termed vested wrongs, as far as the people of this country are concerned.

But, whatever there may be in the lap of futurity, the first essential in the direction of railway reform is an increase in the number of men in Parliament who are without railway passes in their pockets, and are, in consequence, less susceptible to railway influence.

The next thing is to get a railway commission, composed of the very best men that can be procured. Then, and not till then, can we hope for anything practical to be done in the way of solving the railway problem.

The call is to the business men of the country to lend their assistance in solving the transportation problem, and making the railway corporations the servants, and not what they are now, the masters of the people.

Do not be afraid to launch an idea because it is new. There may be millions in it.

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

Natural advantages have no utility until they are utilized.

An unscrupulous person, like a quicksand, cannot be trusted.

Always try to be the leader and not the follower in the paper chase of business.

A poor clerk behind the counter is about as undesirable as poor goods upon the shelves.

A clean record and a clean store are two things which no merchant can afford to be without.

Time is more precious than money, and he who wastes it is more foolish than the spendthrift.

If you cannot attend to your advertising, you cannot expect people to pay attention to your store.

Worry will not remove furrows from the business, but it will create them on the merchant's brow.

Climbing metaphorical mountains may not be pleasant, but it gives strength of character, if not strength of muscle.

He who seeks diligently and honestly for position or money may not find all he sought for, but he will find a good percentage of it.

Notwithstanding the untold millions of the Klondyke, there is nothing in the long run which will pay as well as common-sense, energetic and continuous effort.

LARGE RAISIN SALE.

A large quantity of Valencia raisins, which arrived by the last direct steamer to Montreal, were put up at auction Wednesday, of this week, and, considering the fact that the fruit was put up without reserve, realized very good prices indeed.

The lots comprised 5,365 boxes off-stalk, which realized  $3\frac{1}{4}$ c.; 120 do.,  $3\frac{3}{8}$ c.; 271 fine off-stalk,  $3\frac{1}{2}$ c. and 551 packages of layers, 4 to  $4\frac{1}{8}$ c.

These prices are, of course, away below the jobbing range, but it is not considered likely that the latter will be materially affected as a result of the sale.

THE BRAGGART.

The gem of fine art, which is illustrated in the advertisement of the Adams & Sons Co. this week, is entitled "The Braggart." It is one of six handsome pictures given with an assortment of Tutti Frutti and other brands of gum. An illustrated circular, showing the entire set, is being sent out at present, and is well worth sending for.

FOR PICKLING SURPLUS STUFF.

The following, from The National Provisioner, is a simple and practical recipe for pickling for tongues, rounds of beef, etc.: 45 lb. salt, 5 lb saltpetre, 5 lb. pure cane sugar, 5 lb. Douglas' antiseptic, made up to 20 gallons of water, boiled and skimmed until clear. It is sometimes desirable to add a flavoring to both tongues and rounds of beef, and this may be done by adding to the 20 gallons ½ lb. juniper berries and ½ lb. coriander seed. These two are simply placed in a muslin bag and allowed to float about in the pickle. Pump the tongues with the pickle right down the centre from behind, then immerse them, keeping them down with sparring and some weights, so that none of the tongues will appear floating on the surface. The same treatment should be given to rounds of beef, only they should be pumped all over. The curing of both tongues and beef should be conducted in a cool place, and in a place which is entirely dark, artificial light only being used when necessary. To those who can afford it, the most perfect cure is obtained by chilling the tongues and beef down to 38° F. before proceeding to cure them at all. The object of this is to make perfectly certain that the whole of the animal heat has been eliminated.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Dec. 1, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THERE was a slight lull in the wholesale grocery trade a few days ago, but business is again brightening up, and, during the next couple of weeks, a large turnover may be expected on account of the Christmas holiday trade. The canned goods market is naturally quiet, although there is quite a demand for such lines as pumpkin and beans. The retail trade appears to be well supplied with currants and Valencia raisins, and with the latter particularly. Malaga raisins, nuts and prunes are beginning to move out nicely. Sugars are quiet, but firm. Coffees are firm, but quiet. The wholesale houses are doing a good trade in teas, and prices in the primary market rule firm. Pepper shows a further appreciation in the outside markets. The wholesale grocery trade during the past week has been fairly good. Compared with the same month a year ago, it was much more satisfactory.

CANNED GOODS.

One of the chief features of the canned goods trade is the demand that is being experienced for such lines as pumpkins and beans. As a result, a more than usually large quantity of these is being shipped out by the wholesale houses. Other lines of canned goods are receiving little or no attention. An easy feeling is still to be noted in canned tomatoes. There have been some transactions in round lots at 77½ to 80c., and wholesalers' figures to retailers rule at 80 to 85c., although as high as 90c. is quoted for some brands. The lower prices do not, however, appear to have shaken confidence in the future of the market. Corn is firm, the wholesale price still ruling at from 90c. to $1 per dozen, according to brand. There are one or two round lots being offered at 85c.

COFFEES.

A decidedly stronger tone has developed in regard to Rio coffee, on account of the lightness of the deliveries of this description. Santos descriptions are also firmer in the outside markets, prices having advanced ¾c. per lb. within a week or ten days. On the local market very little business is being done.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Wholesalers are experiencing a fair demand for syrups, but there is a scarcity of the dark and medium grades. There has been an odd transaction or two for import, but the high duty precludes much being done in this respect. A fair import trade is being done in molasses at firm prices. The N. Y. Journal of Commerce, of Tuesday, stated that within the last fortnight 3,000 hogsheads of foreign molasses in bond had been sold in New York and Boston for shipment to Canada. According to recent advices, the quantity of cane juice being received in New Orleans was exceptionally small.

SUGARS.

The sugar market has ruled strong, although the opening of the week showed a slightly easier feeling in beet sugar in Europe, Monday's cables noting a decline of ¾d. per cwt., with the market dull. Cane, however, was firm at unchanged prices. Refiners in New York are reported to be willing to purchase 96 degree centrifugals at 4½c. per lb., but there were no sellers at that figure. The sugar business in New York is dull, and concessions of and Winnipeg prices current.

1-16c. per lb. are being made in the soft descriptions. In Canada, the sugar trade is also dull, but prices are being firmly maintained, standard granulated still being quoted at $4.68, Toronto, and $4.50, Montreal.

NUTS.

A good trade is being done in nuts. New season's Grenoble walnuts are expected to be in the warehouses of the wholesale trade before this issue is in the hands of our readers. Prices are more than 25 per cent. above those of last year. Shipments of Brazil nuts have also been received this week, and they show exceptionally fine quality. They are quoted at from 12½ to 14c. per lb.

SPICES.

Pepper continues to be the most interesting feature in the spice market, prices having further appreciated. Ginger is being offered sparingly, and spices, generally, are steady.

TEAS.

While the wholesale trade is doing a good business in teas, the local representatives of shipping-houses are not recording as many transactions as they would like. Spot teas of Ceylon growth are still selling well on account of their price, which continues to be materially below the range ruling on the London, Eng., market. Prices are still firm on the latter market. Advices from Colombo state that supplies are coming forward slowly. A few transactions have taken place during the week in medium-grade Japan teas, but the volume of business is light. China green teas continue to come forward, and, while the crop is light, this market is likely to be well supplied this season.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—Business is fairly good in currants, and prices are being more firmly held on spot. In New York, prices are also being firmly held, but the demand there is light.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Such large quantities of Valencia raisins have been sold that the demand is now small indeed, and prices are so low that wholesalers are not inclined to push the sale of the standard brands.

MALAGA RAISINS—Are beginning to go out nicely. As stocks on the street are held to be in shorter supply than usual, it is the general opinion that supplies will be exhausted before the close of the holiday trade.

SULTANA RAISINS—Business has been fairly active on the spot, although not of great volume, in consequence of the high price. Some sales have been made on Montreal account.

PRUNES—Shipments of "Sphinx" brand of prunes are to hand this week: also French prunes. A good many of the latter have sold to arrive at 4¼c. per lb. for 110's. In "Sphinx" prunes U's are quoted at 5½c. for boxes and 5½c. per lb. for half boxes.

CANDIED PEELS—Business is fair. We quote: Lemon, 10½ to 13c.; orange, 11 to 14c.; citron, 16 to 19c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The demand for oranges and lemons is steadily improving. Considerable arrivals of new Valencia oranges are expected this week. Dealers quote in advance from $4.75 to $5 for ordinary 420's; $6 to $6.50 for large 420's and 414's. It is possible, however, that they will sell somewhat below these figures by next week. There is a scarcity of bananas, but as the demand is small the feeling re prices is steady and unchanged. The movement of cranberries is light, retailers throughout the country being pretty well stocked. It is thought, however, that the consumption will prove large, and a Christmas trade is expected. Late pears are still offering in considerable quantities, but the demand is moderate. There is a good local and export demand for apples, and prices continue well maintained. There is little doing in sweet potatoes. Native grapes are done. Malagas are moving quietly, though the Christmas trade has not yet opened up.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The demand is excellent. Fresh-gathered are worth 20c. Some small lots of strictly fresh laid have brought as high as 23c. Held fresh and cold stored move steadily at 14 to 15 ½c. Lined are in good demand at 14 to 14 ½c. Cases bring 14 ½ to 16c. at outside points.

POTATOES—The market is steady and unchanged, at 50 to 55c. for car lots, and 60 to 65c. for small lots on the market.

POULTRY—The range in value in all kinds of poultry coming on the market is very large. For instance, some chickens arriving do well to sell for 20c., while others are taken quickly at 55c., and, in a few cases, 60c. From 25 to 40c. is the regular quotation. Ducks, too, sell all the way from 25 to 65c., though 20 to 60c. is the usual figure. Geese and turkeys are firmer in price, an advance of 1c. being noted. A few wild ducks still sell at from 20 to 25c. for teals and widgeons, to 60 to 75c. for black ducks and mallards.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—Each succeeding week brings a strengthening tone to the dried apple market. Buyers from the United States were over here for some weeks and bought up large quantities, causing the market to advance fully 1c. The demand from European centres is now so good that a further advance of ¼ to ½c. is now noted, bringing the price at outside points to 5 to 5 ¼c. The jobbing price is steady at 5 ½ to 6c. The European demand for evaporated stock has sent this class of goods also up a point or two, and now it is difficult to buy large quantities at less than 8 ¼ to 8 ½c. The jobbing price is steady at 8 ½ to 9c.

BEANS—The demand for hand-picked is active at $1 to $1.10. Common stock is moving less quickly at 70 to 80c.

VEGETABLES—Pumpkins have advanced 40 to 75c.; Danvers onions have gone up 15c.; beets are 10 to 20c. cheaper. We quote: Cauliflower, 75 to $1 per doz.; celery, 50 to 75c. per doz.; lettuce, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; radishes, winter, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz; 60 to 85c.; parsley, 10 to 12 ½c. per doz. bunches; turnips, 30 to 40c. per bag; beets, 40 to 50c. per bag; parsnips, 50 to 60c. per bag; carrots, 50 to 75c. per bag; onions, Danvers, $1 to $1.25 per bag; butter squash, $2 to $2.50; pumpkins, $1 to $1.50; Hubbard squash, $2.50 to $3; red cabbage, 40 to 50c.; egg plant, 50 to 90c. per basket.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The dairy market is easy. Prices are unchanged. The export demand for creamery is so brisk and steady that some dealers report difficulty in keeping sufficient stocks to meet local demands. A decidedly firm tone is naturally the result, and advances of ½c. for both prints and boxes are noted. We quote at outside points: Dairy tubs, 11 ½c.; prints, 11 ½ to 12 ½c.; large rolls, 11 ½c.; creamery prints, 17 ½ to 18c.; tubs and boxes, 17 to 17 ½c.

CHEESE—An advance of ¼ to ½c. for both early and late makes is noted. The feeling is firm. We quote 9c. for early makes and 9 ¼ to 10c. for late makes.

PROVISIONS.

Dressed hogs continue to arrive in large quantities, and the feeling regarding prices is decidedly easy, though no change is noted. The demand for all meats continues large. Prices throughout are unchanged.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—The market is 3c. easier, 67c. on cars outside now being quoted for both red and white. The only grains arriving on the street market in any quantity are goose wheat, barley and oats. We quote: Wheat, white, 70 to 71c.; red, 70c.; goose, 68 ½; peas, 65 to 67c.; oats, 30 to 31c.; barley, 49 to 51c.; rye, 50c. No. 1 hard Manitoba has declined 2c., and is now steady at 79 to 80c., Toronto freights.

FLOUR—An all round decline of 10c. is noted. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4.10; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.80; Ontario patents, $3.90 to $4; straight roller, $3.15 to $3.25. Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—No change is noted. We quote as follows: Standard oatmeal and

FISH.

Haddies are down another cent this week. Otherwise, prices are steady and unchanged. Split herring are 25c. cheaper. We quote as follows: Fresh salmon trout, 6½c.; fresh whitefish, 7½c.; steak trout, 7c. lb.; fresh perch, 3½c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.75 per bbl. and $3 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 55c. per bundle of five; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 per half-bbl.; cod, in 1-lb. blocks, 6½c. per lb.; boneless fish, 3¾ to 4c. per lb.; quail-on toast, 5½c. per lb.; Gem of the Sea, 5c. per lb. fresh-water herring, 60c. per basket; ciscoes, 60c. to $1.25; haddies, 5½ to 7c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 6c. per lb.; oysters, $1.25 to $1.35 per gallon.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES — No change in price. Market weak. We quote: No. 1, 8½c.; No. 2, 7½c.; No. 3, 6½c.; cured, 9c.

CALFSKINS — We quote nominally: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS — Shearlings and lambskins have advanced 5c., and are now firm at 80c.

WOOL — The market is dull at 15c. for fleece and 10c. for unwashed.

SEEDS.

The demand for particularly fancy grades of both alsike and red clover seed is well maintained. Medium and low grades are not sought for at all. Alsike is quoted at "Jubilee" matches have been advanced 25c. per case, being now quoted at $2.75.

Dried apples are  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. dearer, and evaporated show an advance of  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.

Boeckh Bros. & Company report a large trade in wood skewers from  $1\frac{1}{2}$  to 6 inches long, also a good demand for woodenware.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Dec. 1, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE week has developed a fair degree of activity in seasonable goods, more especially in dried fruits, and, while values as a rule are steady, in some lines of nuts positive scarcity exists at present, many jobbers having found that their stocks were not equal to requirements. Sugar has continued steady, and the same can be said of molasses. Canned vegetables are well inquired for, with prices maintained, and there has been a fair movement in medium Japan teas, in which buyers have had to meet sellers in order to procure supplies.

SUGAR.

There has been no change up to this writing for refined sugar in this market, but it rules very firm, and an advance is likely at any moment. Demand is fairly active also, and from reports it is pretty clear that stocks in second and third hands are not heavy, which conduces to the firm feeling. The refiners report a good movement of car lots of granulated and bright yellows at quotations. Dark yellows are less asked for. Cables from London lately have been firm on cane, but weak on beet, the latter being quoted 3d. lower early this week at 10s. 3d. for present month. Delivery for next month is steady at 10s. 3d. Little cane has been offered in London, Java being quoted at 12s. 6d., and fair refining at 11s. Raw continues strong at New York, with prices firmly held at 4c. for fair refining, and  $4\frac{1}{2}$ c. for centrifugal 96 test.

SYRUPS.

There is a fair inquiry for syrups, with prices steadily held, as supplies are light.

MOLASSES.

The advance noted in Barbadoes molasses last week has been firmly maintained, several round lots changing hands at 31c., and now it is understood that outside of one or two lots there is no molasses at all in first hands. The jobbing demand is quite active, and 32 to  $32\frac{1}{2}$ c. is being asked for single puncheons.

DRIED FRUIT.

There has been little change in the dried fruit market as regards values, but stocks here have been pretty well diminished in jobbers' hands, especially of high-grade off-stalk and layers. A round lot of off-stalk, fine off-stalk and layers, ex Bellona, is to be auctioned this week, but it is not anticipated that it will have any effect on spot values.

California raisins are steady, with prices firmly held.

Malaga table raisins in the higher grades are scarce here and prices are stiff, and the same can be said of sultanas.

Supplies of high-grade currants in jobbers' hands here are almost exhausted, and the stock of the lower qualities is not a heavy one. A direct steamer left Patras for New York on the 21st. This vessel has some fruit on board for Montreal and other Canadian buyers. Prices of all kinds of currants, while unchanged, are firm.

Prunes are steady, and the same can be said of figs and dates.

NUTS.

Inquiry for nuts has been more active during this week and the fact has been developed that many leading lines are in extremely light supply. Shelled Tarragona almonds, which have sold as high as 27c., are one example, and shelled walnuts, with a free demand at 23 to 24c., another. Unshelled almonds in bags are scarce also at 12c., and Sicily filberts, while easier in New York, are very firmly held here. There are no large pecans offering here at all, and medium are stiff at 10 to 11c. Peanuts advanced  $\frac{1}{4}$ c. this week and are firm at the rise,  $6\frac{1}{2}$  to  $9\frac{1}{2}$  for roasted. The first arrivals of new Grenoble walnuts are expected next week and are selling to move at  $12\frac{1}{2}$ c. The crop of these is small, but quality is said to be excellent. New marbots are due here the week after next and are selling for forward delivery at 11c.

CANNED GOODS.

Canned corn rules steady to firm, with a good inquiry, and tomatoes and other canned goods are steady. There is nothing special to report, either in canned fish or fruit.

TEA.

The market has ruled quiet, but very firm, for Japan teas, and, to secure good qualities, buyers have, in every case, to pay what holders ask. Business in 100-package lots of medium is noted at 16 to  $16\frac{1}{2}$ c. Gunpowders have sold at 10c., and black teas at the same money.

COFFEE.

Coffee rules quiet, but steady, round lots of Maracaibo selling at  $9\frac{1}{2}$  to  $10\frac{1}{2}$ c.; in fact, it is the only stock moving at present. Rios and Santos are quoted at 9 to 10c. for lots of 50 bags, as to quality.

GREEN FRUIT.

There is a good active trade in green fruits, and values, with the exception of lemons, are steady. Lemons are easier, in line with New York, at $2.50 per box. Oranges are in good demand and supplies are light, and values on Jamaicas are stiff at $5.50 to $6.50 per bbl., and $3.50 to $4.50 per box, as to grade. California pears are offered at $2.50 per box, and Canadian at $2 to $4.50 per bbl. Malaga grapes vary widely in quality, and range from $5 to $7.50. Receipts of cranberries have been light, and values are firm at $7 to $10 per bbl. Spanish onions show no change, moving from 85 to 90c. per crate.

APPLES.

Apples remain unchanged, stocks being light, while prices are firm at $2.75 to $3.25 for No. 1, and $1.90 to $2.25 for No. 2.

FISH.

Cold weather and the snow have benefited the fish market and prices are held. We quote jobbing prices as follows: No. 1 Labrador herrings, \$4.75 to \$5 per bbl.; No. 1 N.S. do., \$4.25 to \$4.50; N.B. in half-bbls., \$2.25; No. 3 mackerel, \$15; No. 1 green cod, \$4.50 to \$5; No. 2, \$3.50; B.C. salmon, \$13 per bbl. and \$7 per  $\frac{1}{2}$ -bbl.

Prepared and smoked fish are unchanged as follows: Pure boneless codfish,  $5\frac{1}{2}$  to 6c. per lb.; dressed or skinless codfish,  $4\frac{1}{4}$ c.; soft cured,  $3\frac{3}{4}$ c.; dried, \$4 per 112 lb.; boneless fish, 3 to  $3\frac{1}{2}$ c. Haddies, 6 to 7c.; kippered herrings, \$1.35 to \$1.50 per box; smoked herrings, 10 to 12c., and Yarmouth and bay bloaters, 90c. to \$1.

Receipts of fresh fish have not been

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was a fair demand for eggs, and the market is moderately active: Strictly new laid, 23 to 24c.; No. 1 candled, 16c.; No. 2 do., 12 to  $13\frac{1}{2}$ c.; Montreal limed, 14 to  $14\frac{1}{2}$ c.; western limed, 13 to  $13\frac{1}{2}$ c., and culls, 9c. per doz. Receipts were 146 cases.

POULTRY—There was a good demand for all lines of poultry to-day, and, as supplies were not excessive, prices were maintained. Turkeys sold at  $8\frac{1}{2}$  to 9c., chickens at  $6\frac{1}{2}$  to 8c., ducks at 7 to 8c., and geese at  $5\frac{1}{2}$  to  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.

GAME—The receipts of partridge were fair, which met with a ready sale at 55 to 60c. for firsts and at 35 to 40c. for seconds per brace.

BEANS—The demand for beans was only for small lots, and the market is quiet. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

HONEY—The market for honey was dull and featureless. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 7 to  $7\frac{1}{2}$ c.; dark,  $5\frac{1}{2}$  to  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c.; white extracted, 6 to  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c., and dark, 4 to 5c.

POTATOES—A fair trade was done in potatoes, and prices rule steady at 50 to 52c. for choice stock, and at 40 to 45c. for common to fair in car lots.

DRIED APPLES—Firm and unchanged.

PROVISIONS.

There was no important feature in the local provision market. The demand is quiet, as usual, at this season, and prices show no change. We quote as follows: Canadian pork, in barrels, \$15.50 to \$16; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at  $7\frac{1}{2}$  to  $7\frac{3}{4}$ c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to  $5\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; Hams, 10 to 12c. and bacon, 10 to 12c. per lb.

DRESSED HOGS.

The receipts of dressed hogs were fair, for which the demand in a jobbing way is good, and sales were made at prices ranging from $5.25 to $5.75 per 100 lb., as to grade.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

GRAIN—A fair trade continues to be done in coarse grains, for export account, by local shippers at points west of Toronto, and sales of oats were reported at 27c.; peas at 61c.; buckwheat at 42 to 43c., and red wheat at 70c. In Manitoba wheat, a small business was done at  $69\frac{1}{2}$  to 70c. for No. 1 hard afloat Fort William.

FLOUR—The demand for flour was somewhat quieter to-day, owing to the fact that buyers have filled their wants for the present. The tone is steady, and prices show no change. We quote as follows: Winter wheat patents, $4.00 to $4.25; straight rollers, $3.70 to $3.80; in bags, $1.75 to $1.85; Manitoba patents, $4.50 to $4.60; strong bakers', best, $4.15 to $4.25.

FEED—The feed market was also quieter, but prices are still firm. We quote: Manitoba bran, $14; shorts, $16, and moullie, $17 per ton, including bags.

MEAL—There was nothing new in the meal market. The demand is fair for rolled oats, and prices are unchanged at $3.60 per bbl., and at $1.75 per bag.

HAY—The demand for baled hay is

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese was very quiet and is likely to continue so while British buyers will only take what they absolutely want, and while holders here are in a very independent mood. No finest fall make is obtainable under 9¼c.

There has been more demand for finest creamery butter within the past few days, and, as a result of it, better prices have been realized, good sized quantities being turned over at 19c., and to-day holders are bid the same price in several other cases. This is an advance of ½ to ¾c., and some of the more conservative, while they admit the possibility of better prices, consider that this jump is too sharp.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Peanuts are up ¼c. per pound, and stocks are only moderate here.

There has been no further change in refined sugars here, but values are strong.

Jobbers are completely out of stock in large pecan nuts, and medium sizes also are light.

First arrivals of new Grenoble walnuts are expected next week, and marbots the week following.

Finest creamery butter is ½ to ¾c. per pound higher than it was last week, and has an advancing tendency.

Supplies both of shelled almonds and walnuts are very scarce on this market, and more money is asked for them.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 30, 1898.

BUSINESS is still active. The close of the river caused very heavy shipments both ways, produce and stock coming down and merchandise going up. Then, the regular traffic to Prince Edward Island is about over for the winter. Very heavy shipments have been going both ways, but particularly from the Island, oats and cheese being the chief exports. Cheese has this season been a very heavy line, larger than ever before, and the industry is growing. In pork products, the shipments this year have been chiefly to England. Great attention has been given to bacon. In general markets, there is a continued firmness, but in chemicals the feeling is easy. The lower winter freights are largely accountable for this.

OIL—This, as may be expected, is one line in which dealers are very busy, shippers making every effort to get the demand for burning oil filled, the difficulty being to get the supply. Prices are as quoted for some time. In cod oil, business is dull, and little improvement expected before spring. Paint oils firm, turpentine showing a steady advance for months.

SALT—In English salt, the first of the regular shipments by the winter direct steamers from Liverpool, is to hand. Each weekly boat will now bring forward shipments as they are required, the larger shipments coming rather later in the season. The first lot for St. John was about 1,200 bags. About the same quantity was landed for St. Stephen, and some was shipped west. Prices are easy, orders being shipped direct from ship's side. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 40 to 45c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1 per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—St. John, from year to year, is giving more attention to canned fish. These are canned nearby, largely in Charlotte County, N.B., and Digby County, N.S., and being chiefly sardines in oil, mustard, spiced and tomato sauce; finnan haddies; kippered herring and herring in other styles. The kippered have become particularly popular. They are packed in oblong tins after the English style. While these are the lines* having the largest sale, clams, clam chowder and scollops are having increased attention from year to year. The output in the above this season has been quite large, and is on the increase. Demand is chiefly from the west, and has now been largely supplied, still, owing to short stocks, prices are higher and firmly held. In vegetables, the output of New Brunswick factories has been larger than usual this season, and, while the business is still small, results are quite satisfactory. Some shipments have been made west at, owing to quality, rather better than market prices. All lines of canned goods are firmly held, particularly salmon. Oysters and pineapple are active lines, though a limited business.

GREEN FRUIT—Apples have the first place and firmer prices are looked for. Quality is good. St. John dealers are not large shippers of apples, chiefly supplying local demand. Oranges have more attention. Jamaicas still holding the market, some nice quality are offered. In grapes, Malagas are taking the place of Canadian and Californian, though some of the former are still offered. Cranberries higher and trade chiefly confined to the Cape Cod berry. A few bananas still offered. Lemons are a fair business.

DRIED FRUIT—Raisins have chief attention. Full lines are now to hand, the first winter port steamer bringing the Malaga fruit. Dealers very busy filling orders. Prices show little change. Competition keeping figures low. Quality of all lines to hand this year satisfactory. In seeded stock, while the choice have a large sale, the best retail trade willingly pay the extra price to get the fancy stock. Cleaned currants active. The trade, which has been chiefly for packages, is extending to bulk goods. Stock not large. Evaporated apples are higher and light supply, dealers find they delayed buying too long. Best stock hard to get, and second grade very firmly held; in fact, held at full figures. In citron, while the English is the chief line offered, considerable American is seen. Onions higher and stocks light, and higher prices looked for. All lines of nuts high, particularly walnuts. Figs high and firm, stock light.

SUGAR—Sale is quite an active one. Values are higher, and feeling is very firm. Quite a quantity of foreign yellows have arrived by steamer, some for the local market and some on western account.

MOLASSES—Barbadoes is higher and the stock is the smallest for years. The market abroad is firm and getting well cleaned up. Though small quantities of Porto Rico continue to drop in, a small direct cargo, delayed for some weeks in getting here, found a ready sale at good figures. Syrup has a fair sale; market firm.

PRODUCE—Eggs continue to advance. Quality offered is good, and there are fair receipts. Demand is for fresh stock. In butter, a leading dealer said to THE GROCER that it is dangerous to quote best quality, as it is so difficult to get. Creamery finds a better demand, but not a large sale. In cheese, while the feeling is firm, local sales are not large, and prices continue easy.

FISH—This is a very firm line. Dried cod have held high right through the fall, and pollock, owing to light supply, have shown a steady advance. Pickled herring are still scarce and high. Quoddy herring, which are choice, are the best grade offered; supply limited. Smoked are still low. Alewives have been all sold; while a fair price was obtained this season, it was but a fair one. Bloaters, kippered herring, and haddies are all scarce. In boneless fish, the large demand is about over for this season. The market is a firm one. We quote: Large cod, $3.40 to $3.50; medium, $3.35 to $3.40; pollock, $1.45 to $1.50; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.85 to $1.90 ½-bbl.; Canso, pickled, $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 5c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.; finnan haddies, 4 to 4½c.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c.; spring shad, $3.75 to $4 ½-bbl.; fall do., $4.75 to $5; ½-bbl.; alewives, $3 per bbl.; kippered herring, $1; bloaters, 60c.; Shelburne, $3.75 per bbl.; Grand Manan herring, $3.40 to $3.50 per bbl.; quoddy, $3.50 ½ bbl.

PRODUCE—There is a steady sale for barrelled pork and beef at about even prices. In pork, some American mess has been used this fall owing to price being below that of local cured; very little being offered from P.E. Island. Smoked meats dull. In lard, there is a good sale at rather higher figures.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.—Trade is rather lighter in flour, while prices show little change. Oatmeal is firm, with shipments coming forward slowly owing to mills being oversold. Oats higher, with a good many local grown to hand. Beans have a good steady sale; local prices about the same as western, but tending higher. There is considerable inquiry for yellow eyes at about 40 to 50c. Cornmeal has a large sale, but price is kept low. Feed is higher, and very scarce. Barley, split and blue peas have a limited sale at higher figures. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.80 to $5; best Ontario, $4 to $4.25; medium, $3.75 to $3.95; oatmeal, $3.75 to $3.85; cornmeal, $2; middlings, $18 to $19; bran, $16 to $17; oats, 35 to 40c.; hand-picked beans, $1.10 to $1.20; prime, 95 to $1; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.60 to $3.75; hay, $7 to $8; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¾ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

John Sealy, who is the largest shipper of eastern packed fish, reports bloaters 50c. per case higher. All lines are a light stock, with values firm.

Bank of New Brunswick stock reached its highest point this last week, selling at auction for 300½, being an advance of 30 per cent. in three months, which, on the entire stock of 5,000 shares, would mean $150,000.

The first winter-port steamer to leave St. John was the Vancouver. She took 56,000 bushels grain, 25 cars meat, 25 cars flour, 5 cars hay, 30 cars apples, 4 cars oatmeal, besides sundries.

St. John has an ice famine. This seems to be the result of the ice put down last year melting more quickly than usual. Halifax, Yarmouth and other maritime cities are in the same position.

Shipments of apples from Halifax have been very large this season, amounting, so far, to upwards of 100,000 barrels, 80,000 going to London and 20,000 to Liverpool. This is well above last year. Besides this, a large quantity of Nova Scotia fruit has gone forward via Boston, shipments forwarded in this way being as large as 10,000 barrels in one week. St. John is now getting this latter business.

One of the chief industries on Prince Edward Island is the oyster trade. Its value and rapidly-increasing extent are but yet little known. Queens Co. is the chief seat of the fisheries and Charlottetown the point of export. First shipments were made about 1888. Each year since it has shown increased activity. The product for this county for the past year is estimated at 8,000 to 9,000 barrels, valued at about $20,000. Upward of 8,000 barrels were exported, chiefly to Montreal and Quebec. Shipments, with fair success, have been made to England. North River, another producing point, and where some of the best stock is found, adds largely to the foregoing figures, though this year the output was light. Besides these there are other sections producing large quantities. L. Fanton, Michael Trainor and G. E. Henderson are among the larger shippers.

A FORTUNE IN GOOD MANNERS.

A NEW York lady had just taken her seat on a train bound for Philadelphia, when a somewhat stout man, sitting just ahead of her, lighted a cigar. She coughed and moved uneasily, but the hints had no effect; so she said, tartly: "You probably are a foreigner, and do not know that there is a smoking-car attached to the train. Smoking is not permitted here." The man made no reply, but threw his cigar from the window. What was her astonishment when the conductor told her a moment later, that she had entered the private car of General Grant. She withdrew in confusion; but the same fine courtesy which led him to give up his cigar was shown again as he spared her the mortification of even a questioning glance, still less of a look of amusement, although she watched his dumb, immovable figure with apprehension until she reached the door.

Julian Ralph, after telegraphing an account of President Arthur's fishing trip to the Thousand Islands, returned to his hotel at two o'clock in the morning, to find all the doors locked. With two friends who had accompanied him, he battered at a side door to wake the servants, but what was his chagrin when the door was opened by the President of the United States! "Why, that's all right," said Mr. Arthur when Mr. Ralph asked his pardon. "You wouldn't have got in till morning if I hadn't come. No one is up in the house but me. I could have sent my colored boy, but he had fallen asleep, and I hated to wake him."

The Prince of Wales, the first gentleman in Europe, invited an eminent man to dine with him. When coffee was served, what was the consternation of the others to find that the guest drank from his saucer. An open titter of amusement went round the table. The Prince lifted his eyes, and, quickly noticing the cause of the untimely amusement, gravely emptied his cup into his saucer, and drank after the manner of his guest. Silent and abashed, the other members of the princely household took the rebuke and did the same.

Queen Victoria sent for Carlyle, who was a Scotch peasant, offering him the title of nobleman, which he declined, feeling that he had always been a nobleman in his own right. He understood so little of the manners at court that, when presented to the Queen, after speaking to her a few minutes, being tired, he said, "Let us sit down, madam"; whereat the courtiers were ready to faint. But the Queen was great enough, and gave a gesture that seated all her puppets in a moment. The Queen's courteous suspension of the rules of etiquette, and what it may have cost her, can be better understood from what an acquaintance of Carlyle said of him when he saw him for the first time: "His presence, in some unaccountable manner, rasped the nerves. I expected to meet a rare being, and I left him feeling as if I had drunk sour wine, or had had an attack of seasickness."—Pushing to the Front.

STORY-TELLING WRAPPING PAPER.

An English paper has the following: "This is a novel idea adopted by a country grocer to increase business. Instead of buying old newspapers to wrap around his goods, he decided to have some stories printed, and now makes use of these as wrappers. He advertised his new idea locally, and it is remarkable to note how it 'took.' His customers ask for whatever story they fancy, and their purchase is wrapped in it. In a book kept for that purpose he jots down against the customer's name the story taken, and so avoids giving the same story to a customer twice. It may be, he says, a little more trouble and expense than the old method, but his customers are delighted with the innovation, and, as it is profitable in the end, he intends to stick to it."

A GRAPE DISPLAY.

THIS is the season for grapes and nearly all grocers sell them, says a writer in Grocery World. How would a window display of grapes strike you? I don't mean simply a window full of baskets. You can make a better display than that.

The display that I have in mind is to have grape juice used in connection with it. You can make the display without it, if you like, but it seems a good move to advertise the grapes and the grape product through one display.

Don't conclude at the start, before I've really begun, that the display is going to be too elaborate for you. It isn't anything of the kind.

Go to your nearest board yard and get a lot of thin slats. Say, several feet long by one-quarter or even one-eighth inch thick and an inch or so wide. They won't cost much. Before using these, drape your window in dark leaf green.

Then build a little arbor of the slats right in the window. This isn't hard. The lattice effect is the one you want to get, so the slats need to be tacked about two inches apart. Then paint them green.

When you have the arbor built and painted, take as many grape leaves as you can get, and tie them to the arbor, so as to produce as near a grape arbor effect as possible. This will make a very pretty effect indeed, if you use a little taste in arranging it. Then get several bunches of grapes and tie them here and there all over the arbor, so they will show from the window.

The front of the arbor, by which I mean the side next the glass, is to be open about three-quarters of its distance. That is, instead of the full side, there will be a narrow strip of the lattice work across the top. Inside the arbor, visible through the open space in the front, place a neat pile of grape baskets, those whose tops are visible having the covers removed. You can cover the baskets with white paper if you like.

If you want to include grape juice in the display, place a row of bottles as a little fence all around the foot of the arbor, except in the back, where they won't show. If your stock isn't large, place the bottles several inches apart. Then, if you have enough, make a border of grape juice bottles also around the pile of baskets in the arbor.

I can hardly give you the suggestion for a sign, because I don't know the varieties of grapes you will use. The sign, however, needs to be brief, and give the varieties with the prices. If you use grape juice use a small sign for this, giving the price also. These signs should be placed on the inside of the window, right against the glass, fairly high up.

STOCKS OF CHEESE IN CANADA.

There has been a lot of discussion regarding the stock of cheese in Canada at present, some contending that it is less than last year and others that it is as great. Estimates obtained from fairly reliable authorities place the stock this year about as follows, with comparisons with last year:

|                          | 1898.Boxes. | 1897.Boxes. |

AN INTERESTING EXPERIMENT.

An exchange says that an egg can be bottled by a simple method. If a good, sound egg is placed in strong vinegar, and allowed to remain about 12 hours, it will become soft and elastic. In this state it can be belted into a bottle. Then it should be covered with water, in which a little soda has been dissolved. In a few hours, the egg will be restored to its original shape and appearance, when the water may be poured out and the bottle dried.

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

December 1, 1898.

This list is corrected every Thursday, and the quotations herein given are for the cities of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, London, St. John, N.B., Halifax, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria. The prices are solicited for publication, and are of such quantities and qualities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices. All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 28, 1898.

THE snow reported last week has not improved the roads very much, as it was followed by a high wind that blew it off the trails. The consequence is that there is neither good sleighing nor good wheeling, and this is making deliveries of wheat smaller than they should be. There is also the tendency to hold for higher prices. Cars are scarcer than ever, and it is safe to say that members of the grain exchange do not sleep at nights for thinking of their wheat bought at high figures and not yet at Fort William, nor likely to be. There are probably enough cars in the country to move the crop, if there was more motive power, but engines seem very scarce. At some points, cars have been standing loaded for a month, and are not moved yet. Then, the cold weather of the past week has affected the run power of the engines in use, so that, altogether, grainmen are having none too rosy a time in getting out the crop.

Navigation will probably close on December 5, but all rail prices will be inaugurated all over the country next week. This will mean 47c. for No. 1 hard, on a standard rate of freight. It looks very much as if farmers would have reason to repent holding, as there is no prospect of higher figures, and very many will be compelled to sell in December, as they must meet their obligations before the close of the year. All later reports confirm those already sent, that the damage is very much smaller than anticipated.

Trade continues fair, but collections are still somewhat slow, owing to the late movement of wheat. Hogs, live and dressed, are now arriving in considerable quantities from local points.

CEREALS—Rolled oats are held at last week's figures, but as there will be a considerable supply of Manitoba manufactured on the market before the end of the week, there will be a drop of from 10 to 15c. per sack. This decline is not expected to last, as the supply of oats suitable for rolling is not too plentiful in Manitoba this year. Peas and barley remain at last week's advance, and are quoted at $1.40 per sack.

EVAPORATED FRUITS — Apricots and apples, both evaporated and dried, continue high and firm, though evaporated apples are perhaps a very trifle easier than last week, and first-class stock may be bought for 10½c. Dried are 7 to 7½c., and the demand at these figures is light.

RAISINS AND CURRANTS—No change of price in this market, but each week shows an increased demand for these fruits in the 1-lb. packages of seeded raisins and cleaned currants. The housewife has not been slow to avail herself of the opportunity of getting rid of one of the most disagreeable and tiresome tasks of the kitchen. Fancy table raisins are in this week, but price is not yet quoted.

CANNED GOODS—There is still a tendency to advance. The price of corn, and the fact that in corn, tomatoes, peas, and beans, the stocks are nearly all out of first hands is keeping up to the price. Corn, $2.25; peas, $1.90; beans, $1.90; tomatoes, $2.25 to $2.30, according to the brand. Canned raspberries have advanced and are hard to obtain. They are quoted on this market at $3.25. Other canned fruits are without change and very light in movement.

FISH—Freight shipment of finnan haddies was received this week and prices are going down. The stock is in fine condition this time.

CURED MEATS—Market continues easier. This is due to increased supply of hogs locally, and the drop in prices to the south. Smoked hams and backs, 11c.; breakfast bellies, 11½c., shoulders, 8½c.; spiced rolls, 10c.; dry salt long clear, 8½c., short clear, 8c.; backs, 9c.; shoulder, 8½c.

GREEN FRUIT—A very fine line of Mexican oranges are now on this market quoted at $5. This price will be lowered during the coming week, when the first shipment in bond from Mexico will arrive. Lemons are still $7, but a drop is looked for shortly. Tokay grapes are quite out of market now. Celery has advanced to 50c. per doz. Apples remain at $3.50 to $4. Market is well supplied with all lines of staple fruits. Retail store are also showing a good supply of fresh lettuce, cucumbers and cress.

BUTTER—Market dull and nothing new to report with the exception of a slight decline in dairy butter, country holders having unloaded their stock to a great extent last week.

CHEESE—Is firm, but slow, at 9½c. for large and 10c. for small.

EGGS — Small lots of fresh continue to arrive, but in such small quantities that they are not sufficient for city trade. Packed eggs are 17 to 18c., and pickled, 16 to 17c.

"TIPPING" SALESMEN.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER,—Pleased to note some action has been taken re the matter of manufacturers "tipping" salesmen in stores. Of late years a very reprehensible habit has crept in of wholesale houses advertising goods in stock in your valuable paper, but, when the buyer sends for same, "they have not arrived." In many cases the grocer has had an order elsewhere, but cancelled it thinking his house was behind the age. This sort of thing should be frowned down.

KICKER.

CLEANING STORE WINDOWS.

IN a climate like we have in the Pacific Northwest during the winter months merchants are much annoyed by streaked windows, and as this annual trouble is about to fall upon the retailer, and most of them experienced in window dressing know the trouble and annoyance evolved by the ubiquitous smeary deposit left by the humidity of the fall season, amalgamated with the refuse deposit of gas in the store and street.

While many think that more or less success rests with the practice of using water in which whiting or lime has been mixed, sponging off with alcohol, or polishing with paper, the only ones to hitherto obtain absolute relief have been those few who have adopted the suggestion of Tobacco of running along the base of the window glass a quarter inch strip of tin, which, penetrating the window base, terminated in a funnel over a tiny gas jet or kerosene lamp, the hot, dry air from which was distributed through the perforations along the inner surface of the window glass.

Science, however, has come to the aid of the window dresser, and Prof. Wilbur L. Schovil, of the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy, states that the proper way to clean windows is to use a pail full of water in which half an ounce of concentrated ammonia has been stirred, the window to be thoroughly washed in this solution, then, without drying, polish the entire surface with the contents of another pail full of water in which two ounces of muriatic acid has been stirred, finally polishing with clean, dry cloths. He states the reason for this: Window glass, is, to a certain extent, soluble, and that the streakedness is caused by the liberation (by the first application of water) of alkali contained in the glass, and this being liberated, loosens the silica or flint, and thus produces the streaks. He decries the use of alkali solution alone, but believes it must be used where there is much dirt. It should be remembered that where the window glass is framed in metal considerable care should be taken not to allow the acid solution to penetrate beneath it. Coming from such a high authority, these hints should be worth the attention of the up-to-date window dressing section of the trade, who desire, above all things, bright polished windows, and who realize the undoubted fact that one such gleaming piece of glass shines like a diamond on black velvet, when situate on a thoroughfare in which the great bulk of the other store windows are neglected, streaky, dirty, semi-opaque.—Portland Tradesman.

Heppner & Hintzi, general merchants, Plum Coulee, Man., are reported discontinuing business.

AMONG TORONTO RETAILERS.

The Price of Bread.

Bread is retailing in Toronto at 10c. per large loaf. At this figure, when the present price of flour is considered, it is apparent, that either the baker or the grocer is making a larger margin of profit than usual. I learned of one case the other day where the bakers, in their anxiety to keep and increase their sales, have commenced that merry game called "cutting." The retailer who mentioned the fact to me has obtained a reduction from the usual figures on all bread he has purchased for some time. He has not, though, thrown away the profit thus derived by cutting below his neighbors' price. He has continued to sell his bread at the usual rate, and, in so doing, has simply added to his capital the additional margin of profit the cutting of the bakers has given him. The fact that the bakers are so anxious to do business that they will cut prices to sell, may reasonably be considered as evidence that they are making a more than satisfactory profit. If this is the case, the grocers who are not receiving any benefit from such a state of affairs should make a big bid for some reduction at least.

Retailers' Economics.

There is a grocer in Toronto who has been so long known to the trade, and so "looked up to" by the "young bloods," that he has earned the sobriquet of "Daddy G." I, of course, long ago, came to the conclusion that one boasting of this parental appellation would be able to give me some good pointers on business principles. A conversation I enjoyed with him recently justified this belief. The talk started from the remarks made in these columns a few weeks ago about private labels on canned goods. "Why," said he, "It stands to reason that it is a good idea to have a private label on such goods. We all know how many grocers are fond of cutting below their neighbors' prices. No rival can hurt the sales of a man who sells his goods under a private label, for the simple reason that people will not believe him when he says they are of the same make and quality. These fellows who are always trying to sell cheaper than their neighbors don't know what's good for them. If they did, they would try to cultivate a name for carrying first-class goods rather than for selling cheaply. It is just the same with the grocer as it is with the manufacturer. It is no wonder the Canadian picklemakers have no name for quality, because they have always been trying to see who could make the cheapest stuff. And it's no wonder that the grocer who sells cheap has not a name for quality. About selling goods is not the only thing, either, that a good many dealers have to learn something. A large part of them want to get a few pointers on keeping their stores clean. They keep boxes, parts of boxes, baskets empty, baskets full of half-spoiled fruit, and possibly a few turkeys or geese on the empty boxes scattered around the floor. Some of them look more like a pigpen than a store, and it's no wonder that they never get a certain class of customers to come into their places. With most of these, the cause is just that they are naturally careless; with others the cause is they are too busy to fix up themselves, and think they cannot afford to keep enough help to look after it. This is nearly as poor economy as that of the man who is too poor to light up his store well. A clean and well-lighted store is the best advertisement a man can have, and he is a poor businessman who does not know it."

THE RAMBLER.

ARE YOU INTERESTED?

Before another week has passed by, decoration for "Christmas trade" will be in full swing, and every storekeeper is looking about for the best and latest ideas on displaying goods. Boeckh Bros. & Company are showing some excellent photos along this line, exhibiting the merits and advantages gained by using their adjustable show and display table. They are not only useful at all times, but are ornamental. As every storekeeper offers some special attraction during holiday season, one or more of these display tables will be found useful.

DEATH OF ALBERT S. SMITH.

Those who had the pleasure of an acquaintance with Albert S. Smith, retail grocer, Queen street and Lee avenue, Toronto, will regret to hear of his death, which took place a few days ago, after an operation had been performed at the Toronto General Hospital. Deceased was a genial and popular man, a good grocer, and he had a large number of friends. His remains were interred on Wednesday.

A DRIED APPLE KING.

Geo. E. King, general merchant, Wingham, a few days ago sold, in one lot, $3,000 worth of dried apples, for which he received 5 1/2 c. per lb., delivered. Some of Mr. King's friends think he has qualified for the dried apple kingship of that part of the country.

TRADE CHAT.

SHIPMENTS of butter from Montreal to Great Britain amount to over 260,000 packages, as compared with 225,000 packages during the same time last year, showing an increase of 35,000 packages. During the same time this year only 52,000 packages were sent from New York, as compared with 174,000 packages last year, showing a decrease of 122,000 packages.

The Windsor brewery has been sold to Lorne Saeur for $1,200.

The J. D. Moore Co., Limited, St. Mary's, Ont., shipped 60,000 dozen eggs to Great Britain last week.

At the Moose Jaw, N.W.T., creamery, 37,999 lb. of butter were manufactured. The price received averaged about 20c. per lb.

Last Friday a local exporter of cheese and butter received four demands from England, by cable, for 2,000 boxes of butter. He couldn't procure 100.—Times, Brockville.

Good Advertising

For Wide Awake Retailers

By F. James Gibson.

Our "Good Advertising" department is to help our subscribers to do better advertising. The gentleman whom we have selected as its conductor is well known as one of the foremost advertising specialists of the day. Any of our readers who desire the benefit of Mr. Gibson's criticisms on advertisements or advertising methods, or his advice on any advertising subject, can have it or both entirely free of charge by writing to him in care of this journal.

If correspondents so desire, fictitious names or initials may be used for publication. But all requests should be accompanied by the subscriber's name,

HINTS FOR CHRISTMAS TRADE.

"WHERE can I secure my holiday supplies?" This is the question of the day. Christmas and Christmas thoughts fill the air. The spirit of commercialism is tinged with the spirit of gift giving. Hence the natural query, "Where and what shall I buy?" The result of all this is that the dealer in merchandise has, during the coming season, the greatest opportunity of the year to sell goods. The dealer who does the best merchandising and the best advertising is the one who gets the business. And the advertising is not the lesser of the two. There are a great many ways of doing holiday advertising. First of all, the store itself and the merchandise should take on a holiday aspect. That is to say, that goods suitable to the season should be pushed to the front. The show windows are of great value at a time like this. If you have a large corner window, fit it up with a Canadian winter coasting scene, showing brownies coasting, playing in the snow, etc. An ingenious carpenter can make the mountain of light timbers. White cotton batting can usually be used to give the effect of snow. A "Santa Claus window" is a time honored but still excellent idea. Old Santa, with his long beard, offering presents, just taken from the Christmas tree, to the crowd of youngsters on the opposite side of the window glass, never fails to create an effect. A "doll window," fitted up exclusively with dolls and miniature furniture, is another good idea. "What the boys want" could be shown by a window full of skates, sleds, jack-knives, books, clothing, etc. "What the girls want" might be illustrated by a window full of gloves, laces, handkerchiefs and many knick-knacks dear to the feminine heart. Another good idea would be a window full of presents suitable for men, with a card in the window drawing attention to the fact that the goods are adapted as gifts to men. Another window could be filled with goods suitable for women.

Now, as to interior decorations. Of course, the counters must be filled with tempting displays of Christmas goods, as already stated. But, in addition to these conventional exhibits, there should be larger, bolder and more original displays within the store. For instance: "A Handkerchief House" is a suggestion worth carrying out. Make a miniature house, say 10 feet high and 15 feet long. Have this made of slender timbers, which should be completely covered with handkerchiefs. Get up a guessing contest on the number of handkerchiefs in the house. An "Uncle Tom's Cabin" could be made in the same way, and completely covered with dolls, with Aunt Dinah selling dolls out of one of the windows. Aunt Dinah could be impersonated by a saleswoman brave enough to blacken up and wear an old woman's cap. To the hyper critical eyes of some this may not seem legitimate storekeeping. But you need not let that worry you if it brings the grist to your mill. One point—and make a note of it—have the newspaper advertising, the windows and the interior displays, as well as the general trend of storekeeping work in absolute harmony.

About three weeks before Christmas it would be well to come out with a half-column or a double half-column advertisement announcing the fact that your holiday stock was ready for inspection. A double half-column is preferable to a smaller space. Follow this initial advertisement with clear cut systematic advertising. Each day, or each week, if you depend on weekly papers only, should see a new advertisement from you. If you are so unfortunate as to be located in the village where no paper is published, the next best thing is to issue a circular in newspaper size, which should be printed on both sides and liberally supplied with cuts. These cuts can be secured now-a-days at a very small cost. Single column cuts will cost about 25c.; double column cuts from 50 to 75c. Cuts about three columns wide will cost about $1. These cuts are usually supplied by advertising syndicates, and are sold usually to only one dealer in a town. The Attractive Advertising Co., 184 World Building, New York, is one of the most reliable of these syndicates. In many instances printers in small villages and even in towns of some pretensions are not capable of properly printing these circulars. In that event, it would be wise to have the printing done in some large town or city. I am not in favor of booklets or small circulars. I believe the money spent in them could be spent to better advantage in newspaper advertising or in the large circulars I have just referred to. Reading notices in the local papers should be looked after. They only cost their preparation, and, as they arrest many eyes, they may be safely termed economical advertising.

* * *

I notice some very good clothing advertising in recent Toronto papers. The "Tiger" brand clothing people have been doing some really fine work, and so has the "Fit-reform Wardrobe" as well as the Oak Hall clothiers. I take pleasure in reproducing two recent advertisements from the two latter concerns:

Irish Frieze Ulsters.

Genuine Irish, mark you!

Made by Hill, of Lucan, and warranted to keep their rich furzy colour till worn out.

Large comfort collar, honest tweed lining, silk back and sleeves.

Made with the fashionable double stitched seams, and equal in every respect to $25.00 custom made, or your money back.

Fit-reform price..... $15.00

Winter suit of Irish tweed, with that iron wear and robust appearance which have made this material a favorite with men of calibre and sober sense.

Made to order at your tailor's leisure, these would cost you $22.00 to $25.00.

Ready to wear in "Fit-reform"..... $15.00

Good honest tweeds from Canadian mills, sold candidly for what they are—the best goods for the price which can be purchased, $12.00 and $10.00 per suit.

Your money back if dissatisfied.

Ladies and Gentlemen, We Offer You

Ties of great beauty, attractive shapes and latest styles for Ladies.

Ties in new makes, colors, qualities and kinds for Gentlemen. And Ties both useful, stylish and ornamental for Youths and Maidens.

Attention is also directed to our new Shirt Waists, Wrappers and Parasols, every article of which is as it should be, and a certain and positive bargain as well.

W. F. LATIMER.

The foregoing is an advertisement which has some good points about it, but which is lacking in one great essential in good advertising. It does not tell the price at which these ties of great beauty, attractive shapes, latest styles, new makes, both useful and stylish, as well as ornamental, may be bought. This ad. of Mr. Latimer's appeared in a recent issue of a Gananoque, Ont., paper. What this advertisement lacks is seriousness and earnestness. I don't believe that it sold many ties.

A SHARP TRICK THAT FAILED.

"Some time ago," says an insurance man quoted in The Philadelphia Record, "a man asked me to accompany him home, as he had some things there to be insured. When we arrived at his house he showed me a hundred boxes of cigars, which he wanted insured. There were 100 cigars in each box, making 10,000 in all, and were valued at 10c. each, so I insured the lot for $1,000. A few days ago the man came to me and asked for the insurance money. 'You've had no fire at your house,' I replied. 'No, but I've smoked them,' says he, 'and according to the paper, I am entitled to the money, as it reads distinctly that if goods are consumed by fire, money is paid on application.' As far as technicalities were concerned he was all right, but I knocked him cold about a minute later by saying in a very stern manner: 'All right, sir; you'll get the money; but, according to your own confession, I will proceed at once to make a charge against you for incendiarism.' 'Well, I'll be hanged!' was all he said, and the room shook violently after he banged the door!"

MEAT CURING SALT.

For this purpose we make a special quality of salt that is largely used by prominent Canadian packing-houses. Some of these firms are very particular---they have a large export business in choice bacon for the critical English market---yet they find our meat salt equal to the highest grades of imported salt at twice the price. We are anxious to ship a trial carload to any pork-packer who has not yet tried it.

COARSE SALT.

Our stocks of this at present are unusually good ---clean and dry, and ready for immediate shipment.

COLEMAN'S DAIRY SALT.

The favorite brand with successful butter and cheesemakers. Every dealer should have a supply.

CHRISTMAS WINDOW DISPLAYS.

WHILE a few grocers have begun to make displays of Christmas goods in their windows, a good many have not. As the demand is setting in for these goods, it is evident that it is time attention was being given to the window displays.

When people begin to buy dried fruits for the holiday season they naturally begin to look for displays of the same in the grocery stores.

There is probably no grocer in the country who does not make some semblance of a display of goods in his store during the Christmas holiday season. But it is evident, from some of the displays which are to be seen every year, that it is often done in a perfunctory way.

A window, to be well dressed, demands thought and time. Many years ago, merchants in the principal cities and towns would spend two or three nights arranging a display of Christmas goods, and there is no knowing how much time had been spent before that in thinking out details.

Before the work of displaying a window is begun, it would be well to get the clerks interested in the matter. Tell them the window is to be dressed, and ask them for suggestions. The results are certain to be beneficial.

As to ideas for window dressing, about the best that can be done is to make suggestions.

SUGGESTIONS FOR A STAR OF FRUITS.

The formation of a five-pointed star by means of fruits would prove attractive. Nuts, oranges, or some other light or bright colored goods could be utilized in making the outlines, while raisins, currants, and other suitable seasonable lines should be used in filling in the body of the star. A large piece of candied peel, with the rind upward, would do, would make a suitable centre piece. The groundwork between the points of the star should be filled in with goods suitable in color. Candies would, perhaps, be as suitable as anything. A figure of Santa Claus, or nicely arranged packages of goods, might serve as a background. On either side of the star might be placed a small figure of Santa Claus or a turned out half-barrel of currants, or, in fact anything that will give effect. A few attractive packages of confectionery might also with advantage be worked into the display. The star, in order to obtain the best effect, should be placed at a slight angle, with the fall towards the window pane.

A SIMPLE DISPLAY.

Another attractive, yet simple and easily arranged, display can be secured by dividing the floor of the window, by means of carton boxes of raisins, into squares, circles, triangles or any suitable shape the imagination may conceive, and filling in the body of these with currants, raisins, prunes, nuts, candies, oranges, etc. A background of Valencia or Malaga raisin boxes with glass fronts would be quite appropriate.

CONFECTIONERY AND NOVELTIES.

If there are two windows in the store, one might be utilized for the display of novelties of either an appetizing or of an amusing nature. But do not put anything in the window which is merely of an amusing nature and is not designed to sell goods.

A WINDOW FOR THE CHILDREN.

A window which would immensely please the children would be one in which "brownies" were utilized in storming a miniature fortress, or a building of any description, which might be constructed from seasonable goods, in packages or otherwise. It would not require much ingenuity to construct suitable designs.

MIRRORS IN THE WINDOWS.

Mirrors can be made of much value in grocery window displays. With true mirrors a small window can be made to look quite large, and the display shown in any window is much enhanced by their use. I saw a window in a grocery store recently in which mirrors were used to much advantage. The window space was not more than six feet wide and four feet deep. From either side of the front mirrors ran to the centre of the back of the space. This created a double reflection, which magnified the goods shown in the space enclosed five times. In this space the finer Christmas fruits, clusters of Malaga and California raisins, lemon, orange, and citron peels, shelled almonds and walnuts, pulverized and lump sugar, etc., were arranged to represent the space between the spokes of a wheel. The spokes were represented by a narrow wooden rod. The hub, which was at the junction of the two mirrors, was made of an excellent imitation of part of a plum pudding, which closely fitted in the juncture. The effect was excellent. That part of the window not enclosed by mirrors was covered up to the level of the latter. On the platform thus constructed, entire boxes of the common varieties of grapes, and boxes filled with currants, granulated and yellow sugars, were shown. Immediately above the mirrors a row of flavoring extracts in small bottles completed the display.

The whole effect was striking. It was simple, too. But, for simplicity, it did not compare with a display I saw yesterday.

This window was a corner one, about five feet square. At the inside corner, a large, indurated fibreware tub was filled with granulated sugar. At either side of this, three similar tubs were filled with raisins, currants, and light yellow sugar. From these tubs to the centre of the window fibreware pails were filled with candied peel. The space between the pails and the window was covered with layer grapes, in boxes. Along the border of the boxes nearest the pails the flavoring extracts were placed. Price tags were stuck in all the tubs and pails. One card alone was in evidence, yet it was enough. It read: "We are going to do a big Christmas trade this year. We have barrels full of supplies, as well as tubs and pails—and our prices are right."

A BALLOON DISPLAY.

Two readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER in Clinton, Ont., had a keen rivalry last year to have the more attractive window. The result was, that both had displays that would be creditable to any retailer.

One built a balloon skeleton of thin slips of ash, such as barrel hoops are made of. This he covered with wine-colored cloth. From the top of the balloon thirty long strings of fruits, such as dates, figs, etc., formed an attractive network about its body. These strings were gathered together at the bottom in a circle. From this, fifteen shorter strings held up a basket, in which was placed a choice collection of Christmas candies, etc. The balloon was suspended so that the basket was about two feet from the floor of the window. The balloon bore the inscription: "Klondyke, or bust."

On the floor a Klondyke scene was depicted. There is a gradual slope from the back to the front of the window. Down this slope a stream made of salts and sour beer wended its way from the back left-hand corner to the front right-hand corner. The country through which this stream ran was rich in Christmas fruits. Miniature men (small dolls) were busy shoveling, washing the gold nuggets, which were so abundant in such a rich country.

A FERRIS WHEEL.

The other display was possessed of a feature which none of the exhibits noted so far boasted—animation. It was a real, moving Ferris wheel. A good-sized wheel was built. From it, a large number of cars, containing fruits, candies, nuts, etc., were hung. The floor of the window was prettily filled up with Christmas dainties.

This floor, the gaily decorated wheel and the constantly moving cars (which were propelled by a small electric motor in the cellar, below the window), made such a bright, lively picture that it is no wonder that it attracted a great deal of attention.

A GRANDMOTHER FIGURE.

One of the best hits I have seen was gotten up for Hallowe'en by a Toronto grocer this year. A figure was dressed up in a bright-colored wrapper, with apron, etc. A flesh-colored mask, or false face, was excellently poised on the figure. A house cap, such as grandmothers are supposed to wear, made the finest picture of a good-natured old lady I ever saw. A figure like this could be gotten up and used in many ways. The best, I think, would be to have her sitting behind a table, filling a stocking with candies, nuts, etc., making a plum pudding, or engaged in any work suggestive of the Christmas season. In case such a display is shown, it would be a good idea to have a pantry or cupboard in view, in which were shown a good stock of Christmas supplies.

A TEA MAN'S TOUR.

Mr. George Mann, manager of the Montreal branch of the "Salada" tea, has just returned from a business trip to the Maritime Provinces and American branches in connection with their business, visiting, by the way, St. John, Halifax, Boston, New York, Pittsburg, Cleveland, Buffalo, and other North American points, in all of which his company has branches. "Business," said he, "was better than any previous trip. The reports of the reception of Ceylon teas in general, and 'Salada' in particular, are most encouraging, and, while it will take considerable time and money to convert the people to the use of these teas as a daily beverage, in preference to coffees, which are now so largely used, especially in the United States, we feel the conversion will surely take place. The Maritime Provinces are showing up well. Our sales are three times the quantity of last year. It is our intention to place another man in this territory to more thoroughly cover it."

Buying Tea or Coffee without testing it is like ordering a suit of clothes by mail. May fit others—it won't fit you. Paying for goods before you strike the right line is costly.

TORONTOCHAT ABOUT ST. JOHN'S WINTER PORT.

MR. W. S. FISHER, of the wholesale hardware firm of Emerson & Fisher, St. John, N.B., was in Toronto this week, en route home from a visit to some of the manufacturing centres in the United States.

When Mr. Fisher was in Western Canada a year ago it was for the purpose of promoting the interests of St. John as a winter port. This year his object is business in connection with his own firm. But that does not prevent him singing, whenever the opportunity affords, the praises of the New Brunswick winter port. Consequently, I only required to press the button, or, rather, ask a question, and he talked about his favorite theme with his accustomed earnestness.

"We have," he said, "constructed two more steamship berths since last winter, and next year, when the winter port season opens, we shall have two more ready to accommodate steamers over 500 feet long, and we can also give them all the water they want under their keel. Our elevator accommodation has been very much increased too, the C.P.R. having erected an elevator with a capacity of 750,000 bushels.

This, with the one we already have, gives us an elevator capacity of 1,000,000 bushels."

"What is the outlook for the winter port trade?" I asked.

"Well, the outlook is good," replied Mr. Fisher, "but we cannot yet, with certainty, of course, tell what the actual results will be until the season closes."

"What steamship service will you have running in and out of the port?"

"Let me see. There will be a direct weekly Liverpool service, a fortnightly Glasgow service, a fortnightly London service, a fortnightly Dublin and Belfast service, and a Manchester service. I am not sure whether the Manchester service is every ten days or every fortnight. I think it is a ten-day service. As you know, the Government subsidy goes this year to the Allan and Dominion Lines, and this company will give us a splendid service. The boats of this line last winter ran to Portland. Now, of course, they make St. John their terminus. The Beaver Line tried hard to get the subsidy again, but having failed its boats will not call at St. John this winter."

The St. John Board of Trade is at present preparing a book dealing with the winter port. It will be illustrated and have five maps. The work promises to be a most interesting one. OMAR.

CEYLON TEA EXPORTS.

A letter from Colombo, Ceylon, under date of Nov. 1, says:

This year has been an exceptional one; for six months we had a very low market, during which time planters began to realize that with the high exchange ruling, something must be done to improve prices, and if possible make estates pay their way. The result has been more careful, or finer plucking, and, aided by an exceptional drought, many estates are, in consequence, short of their estimates, while making better teas. This, and an increased demand for Russia, Australia and America, has made the market very firm, and the quality being generally very good, has all helped to keep the market very strong. Russia alone has taken nearly four times as much as she took up to this time last year, and America more than three times as much. The following figures may be of interest:

A DRY SOAP MAN.

MR. J. HUMPHREY PARKER, representing R. S. Hudson, Liverpool, the manufacturer of Hudson's dry (powder) soap, arrived in Toronto a week ago for the purpose of introducing his firm's goods. Mr. Parker reached Canada about seven weeks ago, and has established his headquarters at 34 Chaboillez square, Montreal. Mr. Parker will be in Toronto three or four weeks, and is superintending the sampling of all dwellings with his soap, and visiting the retail and wholesale trade.

Hudson's soap is a dry powder, and half a century has passed since it was placed on the market. In Great Britain it has an enormous sale, and a good business is being done in South Africa and Australasia. Mr. Parker has only recently returned from South Africa.

"Why has not your firm prospected the Canadian market before?" I asked.

"Well, in view of the tariff, it was hardly worth our while to try and do anything."

"I suppose then," I ventured, "you have been induced by the preferential tariff to introduce your goods now?"

"We have," and he added with enthusiasm, "our soap is bound to take here. It may take time, but people who try it will always use it."

The soap is not only adapted for laundry purposes, but it is particularly good for washing the hands of persons whose employment causes them to soil their hands. It can also be used in the bath, as it does not injure the flesh. As a cleaner of silverware, knives, etc., it is well recommended.

To give some idea of the extent of R. S. Hudson's works at Liverpool, it may be mentioned that 1,000 persons are employed therein.

FOUR MONTHS OF GROCERY IMPORTS.

THE imports of groceries into Canada during the first four months of the fiscal year ending October 31, 1898, are, on the whole, of a satisfactory character.

The total imports of certain enumerated lines, dutiable and free, were valued at $6,377,985 compared with $6,075,067 last year, an increase of 4.50 per cent. This is a larger increase than during the first three months, when the gain was 3.70 per cent.

The following table gives the imports of dutiable goods :

The only lines which show decreases for the three months' period are "fruit and nuts, dried," and "butter and cheese."

As far as dried fruits are concerned, it must be remembered that the importation of Eleme figs is almost nil compared with other years. Then nuts have been a couple of weeks later than usual in coming forward. Molasses and syrups, on the other hand, show an increase for the four months, whereas for the three months they showed a decrease.

For the month of October, compared with the same month last year, the increase in the importation of molasses and syrups was $24,845, a gain of nearly 81 per cent.

A fairly good trade has been done in molasses this fall, while the absence of Canadian medium and dark syrups has led to the importation of several lots of the United States made commodity, in spite of the 10½c. per gallon duty.

The importation of foreign pickles, it will be noticed, continues to increase, the value being nearly 33 per cent. in excess of the corresponding first four months of 1897.

The importation of free goods was as follows :

IMPORTS OF FREE GOODS.

| | 4 Months,
1898. | 4 Months,
1897. |
|---------------------------------------|--------------------|--------------------|

| Tea..... | 1,304,930 | 1,280,303 |
| | $2,039,686 | $2,810,277 |

The importation of green coffee into Canada continues to decrease. For the four months, the decline is no less than $715,267, or over 84 per cent. This is remarkable. The large stocks laid in last year, and the fact that the condition of the market for some months has induced importers to exercise more than usual caution, is probably the explanation.

One of the features of the free goods is the increase in the importation of tea. At the end of the first three months of the fiscal year, the importation was $111,683 less than for the corresponding period of 1897, but now, at the end of the four months, an increase of $24,627 is to be noted.

While it is to be noted that the importation of free goods is still below that of 1897, practically owing to the smaller quantity of coffee brought in, the difference is not as great as during the three month period, being $770,591 against $909,581.

PRICE-TICKETS ON GOODS.

A GREAT deal of the effectiveness of a display of goods is lost by the neglect to place a price-ticket on the goods displayed.

Such phrases as "The Newest," "The Best," "The Latest," have little effect upon passers-by, but, if the price accompanies these phrases, there is something to arrest the attention.

People will not go home or to the homes of their friends and talk about the phrases with which this and that merchant labels his goods, but they will talk about the prices he has upon his tickets.

Then, there is frequently an article in the window or near the door which catches the eye of a passer-by. It strikes him as something he would like to buy for himself, his wife, or his children. But he is, perhaps, in a hurry, or hesitates about stepping into the store to ask the price of the article. Probably he will never become a buyer, but had the price been there he probably would have purchased.

Merchants would do well to place themselves once-and-a-while in the position of their customers. They would then probably see defects that they now do not.

Many merchants are probably deterred from placing a price-ticket on their goods from the fear that their competitors will take advantage of them.

No one can make progress without making a footprint in the sand. And, supposing someone else does come along and step into it, what of it? Is it not an evidence that you are leading and others following?

But why should a merchant care for his competitors? It is only for the trade of the consuming public that he should care.

Put price-tickets on your goods, no matter what your competitors may do.

WASHBOARDS ARE DEARER.

An advance in prices has been decided upon by the manufacturers of washboards.

The advance is all the way from a little over 3 per cent. to over 13 per cent. ..e

Scarcity of material and the activity of demand are the causes to which the ½c. per 13 to 14c. is ascribed. the retailer.

THE TEA INSPECTION REGULATIONS.

AT the conference of representative tea importers with the Minister of Customs in Ottawa last week, a number of suggestions were prepared and submitted for the latter's consideration.

In regard to the inspection of tea, it was suggested that samples of all teas imported into Canada at a lower laid down cost than the following shall be sent to Ottawa for examination by the infusion test: China black teas, 9c.; China green teas, 11c.; Ceylon and Indian teas, 10c.; Japan teas, 12c.

In case of a dispute arising between an importer and the Government inspector, it was recommended that three samples should be selected and submitted to three disinterested experts, whose decision shall be final.

The laid down cost of the tea is to include all such incidental charges as freight and insurance. For some months past, in spite of the protests of importers, the Customs Department has persisted, for inspection purposes, in maintaining that the cost of the tea was the first cost minus the incidental charges. As these incidental charges run up to 2¼c. per lb. in some instances, it is obvious that higher priced teas had to be sent to Ottawa for inspection than the trade designed when the interim regulations were suggested and put into operation early last summer.

When the proposed new regulations for governing the inspection of tea were being discussed some months ago, the question arose as to what attitude should be taken in regard to teas which had passed the British Customs authorities as fit for home consumption. It was contended that what had been declared fit for consumption in Great Britain ought not to be denied admittance to the Canadian market. The experts who were in Ottawa last week had this phase of the matter in mind, for in their recommendations was a proviso that all teas imported from London, accompanied by a certificate showing the same to have passed the British Customs as fit for home consumption, should be allowed entry into Canada without further inspection, teas not accompanied by these certificates to be United States, it was provided that a certificate showing them to have passed the standards there, should permit them to pass the Canadian Customs without further examination.

Another suggestion made by the experts was that the figures limiting the price of teas to be allowed entry without sending samples to Ottawa for examination should be made to conform with the market value of the tea. For example: This year a Japan tea costing 12c. is, say, 2c. higher than last year. Next year it may again be back to its old position, and the idea of the experts is to make the regulations elastic enough to conform to these conditions.

The majority of the experts present were opposed to tea standards, and, while nothing definite is known, it is expected that the Department will adopt such regulations as the experts suggested and drop the idea of standards.

Figures were adduced at the conference showing that out of 230,000,000 lb. of tea which went into consumption in Great Britain in 1897, only a little over 640 parcels were examined, and that out of these only eight parcels were rejected. It was pointed out that a London trade journal, suspecting that the Government inspectors were not doing their duty, procured samples of low-grade teas from the retail merchants and had them tested, but in no instance was an unwholesome or adulterated tea discovered.

The experts present to advise the Minister of Customs were: T. H. MacPherson, M.P., representing Hamilton, Brantford and London; Mr. P. S. Doyle, representing Montreal; Mr. James Ince, representing Toronto and Winnipeg; Mr. T. C. Bates, representing Ottawa; Mr. Theo. Estabrooks, representing St. John, N.B.; Col. Curran, representing Halifax.

The new tea inspection regulations, whatever they are, will go into operation March 1, next, so the trade will not have to wait a great while before knowing what the final intention of the Government is.

Christmas is not here yet, but it is time to put a Christmas smile on your face, if you have not already done so.

WALNUTS IN MONTREAL.

RECEIPTS of new Grenoble walnuts were expected by Montreal jobbers this week, but later advices indicate that the goods are not so near at hand as many expected, and the circumstance has emphasized the fact that all kinds of nuts are strong; in fact, one leading firm of jobbers in Montreal have made some handsome profits out of these goods during the past few weeks.

Perceiving that arrivals of new Grenoble walnuts were bound to be late, owing to crop conditions, they bought in Europe a considerable line of 1897 crop that had been carried in store. They have been distributing these Grenoble walnuts—which are not this year's crop, as some would make it out—to the jobbing trade, both in Montreal and the west, and, according to all accounts, making a nice profit on the turnover. Despite this activity, however, between wholesalers, it is asserted that retailers, as a rule, refuse to recognize the situation, and persist in believing that they will obtain better bargains by holding off.

As matters look at present, it does seem likely that they will, for it is not only Grenobles that are scarce. Leading Montreal jobbers admitted this week that they were practically out of Tarragona almonds, and that their fast-diminishing stocks of shelled almonds and shelled walnuts had compelled them to advance prices on both 1 to 2c. per lb., which makes a rise, in the past month, of from 3 to 5c.

It will be recognized, therefore, that retailers who have held back their orders for these goods have not profited by so doing. It is also asserted that the shipments of new Grenoble walnuts now on the way will hardly be in time for the early holiday demand.

VALENCIA SHELLED ALMONDS DEARER.

A cable received in Toronto on Tuesday noted a further advance of 1½c. per lb. in the price of Valencia shelled almonds.

This means an advance of 3c. per lb. within the past few weeks.

The new season's goods came upon a bare market this year, and, from present indications, it is probable history will repeat itself eleven or twelve months hence.

THE PREJUDICE AGAINST CANADIAN PICKLES.

IN their letter, which appeared in last week's issue of THE CANADIAN GROCER, Lytle & Co. stated that "it would be more in accordance with the facts" if this paper had said "that the prejudice in favor of imported foreign-made goods" had been "specially injurious" to Canadian pickle manufacturers.

There are, doubtless, some who would be prejudiced against Canadian pickles, no matter how excellent their quality may be. But we decline to believe that this prejudice is "especially injurious" to pickle manufacturers in Canada.

What is "especially injurious" to manufacturers in Canada is the quality of the goods they put up.

The pickles made by the manufacturers in Canada are rarely anything else than injurious to this country.

If the pickles turned out from the Canadian factories are as a rule poor and rarely good how in the world can people be expected to be anything else but prejudiced against them?

People will no more pin their faith to poor pickles than will a saint put his trust in his Satanic Majesty. People will only put their trust in men or things just as far as they have found them trustworthy.

It is unpleasant to say so, but it is nevertheless true, imported pickles, are, as a rule, of good quality. And this is the reason that imported pickles are to be found, to the exclusion of Canadian pickles, in the stores of so many wholesale and retail grocers, and on the tables of so many hotels and restaurants.

Turn out a first-class pickle, place it before the public, and it will eventually be appreciated.

Canadians are just as quick as any other people to appreciate a first-class article, as well as ready to detect a poor one. We had a recent illustration of that.

We were talking over the pickle question with one of the largest and most experienced grocers in Toronto, when the latter denied that Canadians would not purchase a home-made article if it was equal in quality to that of the imported. Pointing to a shelf on which were five different makes of marmalade in bottles, four of which were imported, the fifth being of Canadian make, he declared that although the latter was 2c. per lb. dearer, customers gave it the preference. Indeed, he declared they would not take the imported kinds.

So the plea that the non-success of Canadian pickles is due to prejudice in favor of the imported article must fall to the ground.

PORK-PACKING IN CANADA.

THE development of the Canadian pork-packing industry has already been so marked that merchants realize how direct the benefit of this development is to them.

The fact that Canada's exportation of bacon, hams, and lard has grown from $870,313 in 1890, to $5,860,584 in 1897, thus bringing $5,000,000 more into the country than seven years ago, is sufficient of itself to demand consideration.

The active demand on the British market for the superior class of hog products sent over from this country has been even more significant and hopeful.

Mention has been made in these columns of the establishment of new factories, or the enlargement of old works, at Toronto, Hamilton, Bowmanville, Palmerston, Brockville and other points in Ontario. One of the new factories has a capacity for 5,000 hogs per week. From this, an impression may be had of the progress that has been made already this year.

There is no sign, either, that this development has ended. For some time there has been in process of organization a company in St. Thomas, Ont., with a capital of $100,000, to operate pork-packing works in that city. Late reports state that it is likely this movement will come to a successful issue.

The Province of Ontario exported, in 1897, $4,514,634, out of the total Canadian exportation of $5,860,584, and the establishment of the many new works in that Province leads to the belief that the returns of 1898 will show Ontario to have produced even a greater proportion of the total than was the case last year.

What this industry means to Ontario merchants may be understood when it is realized that frequently $10,000 is paid, on the market of a town of about three thousand population, to farmers for their hogs, alone, in two weeks.

Why throughout Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, there should not be pork-packing factories similar in size and capacity to the Ontario ones, is a question to which no satisfactory answer has yet been given.

It is not likely such an answer will be necessary in a few years, either. Prince Edward Island has one factory which is of much benefit to that Province. The agitation which was started at Middleton, N.S., last spring, has at last begun to show signs of reaching a satisfactory termination. The stock asked for has been nearly all subscribed, and contracts have been let for extensive drainage work in order to commence building in the spring. This factory will likely consume the production in Western Nova Scotia. If this factory proves the success it is expected to, it is reasonable to look for a similar institution at Truro, New Glasgow, or some other centre in Eastern Nova Scotia. Although the agitation for a factory at St. John, N.B., fell through from lack of support, it does not follow that New Brunswick lacks the capacity to raise bacon hogs. When the business men of that Province realize what this industry might mean to them, they will not be lacking in the energy or capital necessary to the establishment of a factory.

Progress in this industry has been made recently in Quebec. The Montreal houses have extended operations. Now, a report comes to hand of the organization of a company to engage in this work at North Hatley, near Sherbrooke, Que. This company has erected a brick structure, 30 x 40 ft., containing two storeys and a basement, and has commenced operations.

While the farmers of Manitoba, British Columbia, and the Northwest Territories are not likely to give for some time the attention to hog raising that their brothers in the east have done, the industry there is progressing, with the result that Winnipeg and Vancouver packing-houses have had to largely increase their capacities.

GRENOBLE WALNUTS IN TORONTO.

Importers in Toronto have at last received their Grenoble walnuts. The shipments were due last week, but it was not until Tuesday last that the first arrived, while it was Wednesday before the nuts were in the warehouses.

Grenobles are costing importers 2½c. per lb. more than they did last year; 13 to 14c. per lb. is the idea as to price to the retailer.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Dec. 8, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE stormy weather at the beginning of the week caused a slight lull in trade, but business during the past week has been good, and, in order to keep up with the orders, the shippers of at least some of the warehouses have been compelled to work at night. Most of the attention has naturally been given to foreign dried fruits. Currants have been in active demand, but, in Valencia raisins, business has not relatively been so brisk, retail merchants, as a rule, being well supplied in this line. Nuts are in fairly good demand. The first shipment of Grenoble walnuts reached Toronto on Tuesday. Valencia shelled almonds have advanced another $1\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. A little canned salmon is being offered f.o.b. the Coast, but, in general, there is very little being done at present in canned goods. Wholesalers are experiencing a good demand for Ceylons and China greens, but other lines are not much wanted. A fairly good trade is being done in rice.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been practically no change in the canned goods situation since a week ago. Naturally, they are not receiving much attention at this time of the year. There have been some offerings of sockeye salmon at \$4.75, and of cohoes at \$4.25, both f.o.b. the coast. There does not, however, appear to be any buyers at the moment. Since our last report there have been further transactions in canned tomatoes at $77\frac{1}{2}$ c. per dozen. The price to the retail trade is still 80 to 85 c.

COFFEES.

The Rio coffee market is quiet, but prices are steady, the deliveries in Brazil continuing light. The next crop of Rio coffee is estimated at 3,000,000 bags. Locally, the market is quiet and featureless.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Syrups are still scarce and in demand. The demand at the moment is principally for bright syrups, and wholesalers report a nice trade in corn syrup at $2\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. in barrels, $2\frac{3}{8}$ c. in half-barrels and $5\frac{3}{4}$ c. in kegs. A moderate trade is being done in molasses.

SUGARS.

The sugar market is fairly steady. Last week centrifugal raws declined 1-16 c. per lb., and Willett & Gray's Statistical of Dec. 1, said: "The preceding week appears to have culminated the rise in the raw sugar market, and the present week has simply maintained the strength of the market at full quotations on only moderate transactions." Stocks, last week, according to the same authority, were, however, the lowest since March, 1894. In New York the refiners are still cutting prices on soft sugars. The cables, early in the week, quoted beet sugar partially $\frac{3}{4}$ d. lower, and cane steady and unchanged. A fair business is being experienced in Canada by both the refineries and the wholesalers, and prices are steady and unchanged.

NUTS.

A cable received on Monday noted another advance of equal to $1\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. in the price of Valencia shelled almonds, making a total advance of 3 c. per lb. within a few weeks. New season's Grenoble walnuts did not reach this market last week after all. They are here now, however,

See pages 27 and 28 for

and Winnipeg prices current.

having arrived on Tuesday; 13 to 14 c. appears to be the idea as to price. Bordeaux walnuts are here, and are quoted at 10 c. per lb. A good trade is being done in nuts.

SPICES.

A seasonable trade is being done. The cables note a steady and unchanged market.

RICE.

Shipments of imported Patna and imported Japan rice have arrived, and, as it was bought at lower prices than were previously ruling, wholesalers have been experiencing a good demand for it, at $4\frac{3}{4}$ to 5 c. for the former and $5\frac{1}{2}$ to 6 c. for the latter.

TEAS.

Teas, naturally, do not receive much attention at this time of the year, but quite a nice business is being done by the wholesalers this week in cheap Ceylon teas, and wholesalers in turn are picking quite a few of these teas which are held on spot. China green teas are also meeting with a fair demand, the grades wanted being fine and medium. A few fair parcels of China black teas have changed hands during the week.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—A few inquiries for importation, but we hear of no transactions. Whole-salers are experiencing an active demand for currants, principally those which have been cleaned. The trade in cleaned currants is assuming large proportions. One cleaner alone in Toronto claims this week to be turning out ten tons per day. Prices rule much as before.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Retailers are pretty well supplied, and the demand is consequently not active, while prices are still low.

MALAGA RAISINS—Although importations were rather on the light side this season, at least some of the wholesale houses are not missing an opportunity to make a sale. "We do not want to carry any over, you know," is, in effect, what they say. A fair business is being done at quotations.

FIGS—There is very little doing. Tapnets are being firmly held at $4\frac{1}{2}$ c.

PRUNES—Bosnia prunes are cabled 1 s. per cwt. dearer for all sizes. Not much new business is being done for import, as a good many Bosnia prunes are coming forward. A good business has been done lately in California prunes for importation. The first shipment of The Griffin & Skelley Co.'s Oregon prunes are just to hand. The fruit is showing good quality. Bosnia "Sphinx" prunes are quoted as follows: B, 7 c. per lb.; C, $6\frac{1}{2}$ c.; D, 6 c.; U, $5\frac{1}{2}$ c.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS—There is a good demand for the seedless raisins at from $10\frac{1}{2}$ to 11 c. in carton boxes. "Sphinx" U's are quoted at $5\frac{1}{2}$ c. in boxes and $5\frac{3}{4}$ c. for half-boxes.

CANDIED PEELS—Business is fair. We quote: Lemon, $10\frac{1}{2}$ to 13 c.; orange, 11 to 14 c.; citron, 16 to 19 c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The demand for oranges is excellent, and, as there is now an abundant supply of Jamaicas, Valencias and Mexicans, a good movement is reported. Valencias have declined 25 c. to $1, as was anticipated last week. Lemons, on the other hand, are quiet. A decline of 25 c. per box is noted for Messinas. The few Malagas now in stock are quoted 50 c. to $1 cheaper than a week ago. The best qualities of apples, which are mostly in storage, are 50 c. dearer than last week. Some stock is offered, however, which is worth little, if anything, more than $1. Sweet potato stock is diminishing, and an advance of 25 c. per bbl. is noted. The demand is moderate. The market for Canadian pears is practically over. What few are still held are quoted at about 75 c. per basket for finest varieties. The movement of cranberries is light. Dealers generally stock well for Thanksgiving, and have not yet begun to send repeat orders in any quantity. When Christmas trade opens, a large business is expected. Prices are firm. Bananas are quiet, with prices steady.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The demand continues excellent. Boiling stock is firm at 20 to 21c. Small lots of strictly fresh bring as high as 23c. on the market. Held stock is steady at 15 to 16c. Cases bring all the way from 14½ to 16c.

POTATOES—The market is steady and unchanged, at 50 to 55c. for car lots, and 60 to 65c. for small lots on the market.

POULTRY—The moderate weather during the past week has affected the demand somewhat, and prices received have been generally closer to the bottom prices than the top figures. With the advent of colder weather, a brisk trade is anticipated, and prices are likely to stiffen considerably. A good deal of the stock arriving has been of inferior quality, exporters' culls, in fact. As larger quantities than usual are being exported this winter, it is held in some quarters that prices are bound to go up considerably. At the time of writing, however, both geese and turkeys are ½c. cheaper than last quotations. A few wild ducks are still offering at 20 to 25c. for teals and widgeons, and 60 to 75c. for black ducks and mallards.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—The market for both dried and evaporated stock is steady and unchanged. The demand is not quite so brisk, and there is a feeling noticeable that a decline may ensue. No. 1 dried is firm at 5 to 5¼c. at outside points. Jobbers quote 5½ to 6c. Evaporated is steady at 8¼ to 8½c. outside, and 8½ to 9c. in a jobbing way.

BEANS—The demand for hand-picked is active, with prices firm at $1 to $1.10. Common stock is steady at 70 to 80c.

VEGETABLES—Beets are 10c. dearer. Onions are up 25c. The market is otherwise unchanged, a good demand being reported. We quote as follows: Cauliflower, 75 to $1 per doz. celery, 50 to 75c. per doz.; lettuce, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; radishes, winter, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz; 60 to 85c.; parsley, 10 to 12½c. per doz. bunches; turnips, 30 to 40c. per bag; beets, 50 to 60c. per bag; parsnips, 50 to 60c. per bag; carrots, 50 to 75c. per bag; onions, Danvers, $1.25 to $1.50 per bag; butter squash, $2 to $2.50; pumpkins, $1 to $1.50; Hubbard squash, $2.50 to $3; red cabbage, 40 to 50c.; egg plant, 50 to 90c. per basket.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The demand for dairy is still weak, with prices unchanged. Creamery is in such demand for export that an advance of 1c. has followed the ½c. rise noted last week. A firm feeling is now manifested. We quote at outside points: Dairy tubs, 11½c.; prints, 11½ to 12½c.; large rolls, 11½c.; creamery prints, 18½ to 19½c.; tubs and boxes, 18 to 18½c.

CHEESE—The feeling is firm. Prices are ¼ to ½c. higher. Demand is good. The London cable on Tuesday was 48s., an advance of 3s. from the preceding ten days. The price of early makes ranges all the way from 9 to 9¾c., the latter figure for choice goods only, of course. Late makes are worth from 9½ to 10c., according to quality.

PROVISIONS.

Receipts of dressed hogs have been unprecedentedly large. Prices have declined about 10c. The local demand for meats is not as brisk as is looked for at this season, and many reductions are noted. Long clear shoulder hams and lard are down ¼c. Breakfast bacon, hams and backs are ½c. cheaper. Heavy mess and short cut barrel pork have declined 50c.

FISH.

Prices throughout are unchanged. The demand generally is active. We quote as follows: Fresh salmon trout, 6½c.; fresh whitefish, 7½c.; steak trout, 7c. lb.; fresh perch, 3½c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.75 per bbl. and $3 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 55c. per bundle of five; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 per half-bbl.; cod, in 1-lb. blocks, 6½c. per lb.; boneless fish, 5¾ to 4c. per lb.; quail-on-toast, 5½c. per lb.; Gem of the Sea, 5c. per lb. fresh-water herring, 60c. per basket; ciscoes, 60c. to $1.25; haddies, 5½ to 7c. per lb.;

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—The wheat market is steady at 67c on cars outside. There are no changes to note on the street market, except a decline of $\frac{1}{2}$ c. on goose and red wheats. We quote: Wheat, white, 70 to 71c.; red, 69 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; goose, 68c.; peas, 65 to 67c.; oats, 30 to 31c.; barley, 49 to 51c.; rye, 50c. No. 1 hard Manitoba is unchanged at 79 to 80c., Toronto freights.

FLOUR—Manitoba patents have advanced 5c., strong bakers', 10c. Ontario grades are unchanged. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4.15; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.90; Ontario patents, $3.90 to $4; straight roller, $3.15 to $3.25, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—No change is noted. We quote as follows: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.70 in bags and $3.70 to $3.90 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.75; pot barley, $3.75.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES — No change in price. Market easy. We quote: No. 1, 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; No. 2, 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; No. 3, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; cured, 9c.

CALFSKINS—We quote nominally: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS — Shearlings and lambskins are firm at 80c.

WOOL—The market is dull at 15c. for fleece and 10c. for unwashed.

MARKET NOTES.

Geese and turkeys are $\frac{1}{2}$ c. cheaper.

Creamery butter is 1c. dearer; cheese is up $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

Bosnia prunes are cabled 1s. per cwt. dearer.

Grenoble and Bordeaux walnuts have arrived.

All provisions are $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ c. cheaper. Dressed hogs are down 10c. in value.

Valencia shelled almonds have advanced another $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. in the primary market.

Tuesday's cables quoted cheese at 48s., which is an advance of 3s. from ten days before.

Valencia oranges are from 25c. to $1. cheaper. Mexicans are on the market at $3 to $3.25. Messina lemons are 25c. cheaper; Malagas are down 50c. to $1. Best qualities of apples are 50c. dearer. Sweet potatoes are 25c. dearer.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Dec. 8, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THERE is a good sorting movement in all seasonable lines of groceries, particularly dried fruits and nuts. Valencia raisins rule firm, despite sales of round lines, and nuts of all sorts are strong, with a rising tendency, as will be noted elsewhere. Sugar is firmly held and an advance is predicted, and buyers, who want to supply themselves with Japan teas, find that they have to meet sellers' views in every instance. Altogether there is not a single weak line in the grocery market at the moment.

SUGAR.

The sugar market, while quiet, rules very firm at the recent advance, and a further rise would not surprise anyone in the trade, as the demand in raw market by sugar refiners is quite keen, and, as a result of heavy operations on their account, the tone of the raw article is stiff. Car lots of granulated have sold here at $4.50, with the usual discounts, while the lowest grade of yellows are not obtainable under $3.75.

SYRUPS.

There is a fair demand for syrups, and stocks are still light, as the refineries have been working very moderately on these goods. Values are firmly held, both for bright and dark grades.

MOLASSES.

Inquiry for Barbadoes molasses continues active, and there have been several speculative transactions in a large way which have served to enhance holders' views still further. In fact, 31c. has been refused this week for round lots, and, though jobbers have not as yet altered their range, it is considered probable that they will do so very shortly. In fact, elsewhere jobbers are asking more money, as 33c. has been quoted at Quebec, which is equal to 35c. here.

DRIED FRUIT.

The large public sale of Valencia raisins, referred to last week, has not affected jobbing prices at all, and demand is quite brisk in a sorting way. There have been further transactions in a large way since the sale, another line of 7,000 packages off-stalk selling to a speculator here at $3\frac{1}{4}$ c. Late cables from Denia state that there is no desirable fruit now left, and that what remains is under grade. Cables from London also report prices firm for all sound stock.

California raisins are in very light supply here, and, for what is offering, firm prices are asked.

Malaga table raisins are moving quite freely in a sorting way, and prices are steadily held.

Sultanas are steady also, with a fair inquiry.

There has been no change in currants, and, as stocks are light here, values are firm, especially on high-grade goods.

Prunes are in fair request, for both California and European sorts, and values rule strong. The same can be said of figs, while the few new dates that, so far, have been received have been quickly absorbed.

NUTS.

The firm tendency noted in nuts last week continues, and, as will be noted in our prices current, values are advanced on shelled almonds, Tarragona almonds, and shelled walnuts, while other sorts are very firmly held, and demand is picking up.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been nothing special to report in canned goods, a steady inquiry being experienced for canned vegetables and fruit, while values generally are steady all round.

SPICES.

These are meeting a fair inquiry, and prices are steady, especially on pepper.

TEA.

The market is quiet, but firm, for Japan teas, and buyers who try to fill wants find out that they have to pay the price to secure good qualities. Medium Japans have moved in a quiet way at 16 to 16 $\frac{1}{2}$ c., while gun-powders and blacks have changed hands, in straight lots, at 10 to 11c., as to grade.

COFFEE.

Continues quiet, but steady, a few odd lots of Maracaibo at 10 to 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. being the only business.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been an active demand for oranges, and large Valencias are firm at $5, while ordinary sell at $4. Jamaica oranges, under increased receipts, are rather lower than last week. Messina lemons are steady as quoted, while bananas, cranberries and Canadian pears are unchanged. The same can be said of Malaga grapes in kegs, and Spanish onions.

APPLES.

The apple market continues steady, with a fair movement.

FISH.

Pickled fish meet a fair inquiry and values are unchanged. We quote jobbing prices as follows: No. 1 Labrador herrings, \$4.75 to \$5 per bbl.; No. 1 N.S. do., \$4.25 to \$4.50; N.B. in half-bbls., \$2.25; No. 3 mackerel, \$15; No. 1 green cod, \$4.50 to \$5; No. 2, \$3.50; B.C. salmon, \$13 per bbl. and \$7 per $\frac{1}{2}$ -bbl.

Prepared fish are quiet. We quote as follows: Pure boneless codfish, 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 6c. per lb.; dressed or skinless codfish, 4 $\frac{1}{4}$ c.; soft cured, 3 $\frac{3}{4}$ c.; dried, \$4 per 112 lb.; boneless fish, 3 to 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. Haddies, 6 to 7c.; kippered herrings, \$1.35 to \$1.50 per box; smoked herrings, 10 to 12c., and Yarmouth and bay bloaters, 90c. to \$1.

Receipts of fresh fish have been fair and prices are steady. We quote as follows: Haddock, 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; Manitoba whitefish and dore, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; pike, 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ c., and B.C. salmon, 13 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was a good demand for eggs, to-day in a small way, and a fairly active trade was done at firm prices. We quote: No. 1 candled, 16c.; No. 2 do., 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 13 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; Montreal limed, 14 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 15c.; western limed, 13 to 13 $\frac{1}{2}$ c., and culls, 9c. per doz. Receipts were 18 cases.

POULTRY—A more active trade was done in poultry, there being a better demand for most lines. Supplies were ample, and buyers had no difficulty in filling their wants at about steady prices. Turkeys sold at 8 to 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ c., chickens at 7 to 8c., fowls at 5 to 6c., geese at 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 6c., and ducks at 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.

GAME—There was a good demand for partridge, and all the offerings met with a ready sale at 55 to 60c. for firsts and at 45c. for seconds per brace.

BEANS—The demand for beans is chiefly for small lots to fill actual wants. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel; prime, 85 to 90c.

HONEY—There was no improvement in the demand for honey, and the market is dull. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 7 to 7½c.; dark, 5½ to 6½c.; white extracted, 6 to 6½c., and dark, 4 to 5c.

POTATOES—A fair business was done in potatoes. The demand is chiefly for choice stock and prices are unchanged at 50 to 52c. per bag, while fair to common are selling at 40 to 45c., in car lots.

DRIED APPLES—As last reported.

PROVISIONS.

Trade in provisions on spot is quiet, and the market in consequence is inactive, and without any special feature of note. The tone is steady, and prices are unchanged. We quote: Canadian pork, in barrels, $15.50 to $16; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 7½ to 7¾c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to 5½c. per lb.; Hams, 10 to 12c. and bacon, 10 to 12c. per lb.

DRESSED HOGS.

Although the weather was soft, yet it was more wintry like, and this gave buyers some encouragement, but, as supplies were ample to fill all requirements, values show no change, sales in a jobbing way being at $5.25 to $5.75 per 100 lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

GRAIN—The grain market was exceedingly quiet, buyers showing no disposition to operate. The feeling, however, was steady, and prices show no change. At points west of Toronto peas were quoted at 63c.; oats at 27½ to 28c. and rye at 50½c.

FLOUR—There was a good demand for Manitoba grades of flour and a more active business was done than of late, one agent alone reporting sales aggregating 2,800 sacks on local and country account. The feeling is about steady and values show no material change. We quote as follows: Winter wheat patents, $4.00 to $4.25; straight rollers, $3.70 to $3.80; in bags, $1.75 to $1.85; Manitoba patents, $4.50 to $4.60; strong bakers', best, $4.15 to $4.25.

FEED—The demand for feed keeps up, and the market is fairly active and firm. We quote: Manitoba bran, $14; shorts, $16, and moullie, $17 per ton, including bags.

MEAL—A fair trade continues to be done in meal, and prices for rolled oats rule steady at $3.60 per bbl., and at $1.75 per bag.

HAY—There was no change in the situation of the hay market. The demand is limited, as is usual at this season, but, as supplies are not excessive, prices rule about steady. We quote: No. 1, $6.50 to $7.50; No. 2, extra, $5 to $6; No. 2, clover mixture, $4.50 to $5, and clover, $4.

BUTTER.

The butter market continues to advance, and high bids are reported from the Eastern Townships section of Quebec this week, 20¼c. being freely bid at the factory. Here, the top price so far made has been 20½c. for fall creamery, either in boxes or tubs, but holders, at this writing, are not free sellers at the price. Dairy stock is quiet at 14 to 14½c.

CHEESE.

Everything points to higher values in cheese, and holders are quietly sitting on their stocks, waiting for the rise that they believe is sure to come. Some small lots of eastern fall sold, the other day, at 9½c., and western at 9¾c., but a buyer could not go out into the market and fill a large order at these prices.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Refined sugars are firmly held, in sympathy with the raw article.

Tarragona almonds are difficult to obtain here, and holders ask an advance.

Butter and cheese continue to point higher, with sellers very independent.

Importers who expected to receive supplies of new Grenoble walnuts this week have been disappointed.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Dec. 6, 1898.

THE weather during the last part of November was unfavorable, and the effect was much felt in business, the roads being particularly bad. The big storm was much felt, and though there was little damage in the city, many of our citizens lost quite heavily, owing to the large shipping interest centred here, and that much of it is in small vessels doing a coasting business. Our city, in common with almost every part of these Maritime Provinces, mourns for many who were lost in what is credited with being the worst storm for years. Business is still quite active, though the wholesale dealer finds the big end is done, and that, for the balance of the year, he must be content with odds and ends. The retail stores begin to put on holiday dress and none are more inviting than the grocery stores. Of one thing we are proud, and that is of our retail grocery stores. At this season they are at their best.

OIL—In burning oil dealers have their orders about filled, contracts being better cleaned up than usual at this season. The Canadian product holds its advanced position. Lubricating oil moves but in a small way. In cod oil receipts are light, but stocks are ample; in fact, sale is slow and values rather lower.

SALT—Some 1,200 sacks of Liverpool coarse salt are to hand this week by the regular weekly steamer. Demand at this time is too light to encourage large importations. In fine salt, little is doing, but the chief demand is for Canadian grades and for dairy purposes. Some American salt, or at least American packed salt, continues to come into this market for table use. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 40 to 45c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1 per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—While there is a good, steady demand, there is little of particular interest to report. Our market is somewhat limited, and will only consume so much. Values are very firmly held. Cannery have little to offer, and such prices as they name are about the same as local dealers are asking. Quite good stocks are held. Baked beans, in particular, are in large supply, and, compared with other lines, the plain baked beans are low. Quite a stock of gallon apples is held here, and should be good stock. They are but fairly popular. More attention is being given to local packed sardines, and, while sale is limited, with improved stock increased sales are looked for. Kipper herring is in light supply, and holds the advance of last week. Oysters are quoted higher.

GREEN FRUIT—Sale keeps active, and with the arrival of Valencia oranges there is increased activity. Large quantities are being used in this market; as yet quality is but fair. Apples are not in large receipt, and prices rule firmer, particularly for winter fruit, and higher figures are expected. There are still cheap grades to be had. The Nova Scotia crop was a good one, but quantities exported are larger than usual. Lemons have a steady sale at even figures. While Jamaica oranges are offered, the Valencias have the demand. Malaga grapes are of good quality, and show no change in price. Cranberries are rather higher, Cape Cods supplying the market.

DRIED FRUIT—This is still the active line. Currants, particularly, have a large sale, and, as many wholesale grocers clean and pack their own, it seems a great deal of work, the more so when almost the whole demand, at least in the city, is for cleaned.

COFFEES ♦ SPICES

We have just received new importations of Java, Mocha, Maracaibo, Ceylon, Costa Rica, Rio and Santos Coffees. Will be pleased to send samples and quotations, Green or Roasted. Our Roasted Coffees are more in favor than ever, as they are straight and honest goods, imported direct from the land of growth and production. Now is the time for PICKLING SPICE—one of our many strong points.

S. H. EWING & SONS,

COFFEE AND SPICE
IMPORTERS AND MANUFACTURERS,

MONTREAL

California raisins move freely. There continue to be repeat orders for seeded; prices are firmer. Valencias, chiefly layers, have a large sale at easy figures. There is quite a range in prices. Sale of Malaga fruit grows from year to year. The small boxes are popular. In raisins, demand is growing along the line of best grades. In peels, demand is chiefly for citron. Prices are rather higher. As yet, the sale of the cut in small packages is light. New Bosnia prunes are to hand, and give satisfaction, finding a ready sale. French prunes daily expected. The Californian, however, seems the favorite, and will have the chief sale later. Figs are high, with light stock. Evaporated apples are in light supply; prices firm and higher. While some nice stock is offered, western packers complain that it is difficult to get good fruit. Dried from Nova Scotia are arriving in small quantities; prices much higher than last year. There is a light local demand, but fair prices are offering by western buyers. Onions are higher; stocks not large, and in few hands, arrivals at the end of the season from the west being small owing to lack of stock. The demand is large from other points. Nuts sell freely at full figures.

SUGARS—Values are higher and sales are quite active. Foreign competition continues, aided by the lower winter freight rates from Liverpool. The American competition, which was expected, has not materialized.

MOLASSES—There is a fair sale, but the big business is over. Stock, however, is very light, particularly Barbadoes. Prices, all round, are higher, and a further advance is expected. There have been some arrivals of Porto Rico from Boston. Shippers there report stocks getting well cleaned up. They have advanced their figures. Small shipments of syrup continue to be received. Quality is good and prices tending higher.

PRODUCE—Eggs are more freely received, but prices, particularly for fresh stock, are well maintained, though influenced somewhat by the held eggs being offered. In butter, prices show little change, and to bring top figures quality must be A1, and this is hard to find. There is a good sale for creamery prints, and tubs have better inquiry. Cheese is lower in our local market than anywhere else. Factories have about all sold their output, largely for export.

FISH—Prices are well maintained. Receipts in all lines are light. In dry cod, full figures are asked, but it is doubtful if there is a further advance, for Bank fish would come in if prices should go higher. They are not as good as our regular supply.

Pollock continue scarce and high. In pickled herring, western demand has been large this year. Many Yarmouth fish have been shipped via St. John. Quoddy herring, of which supply is light, continue to be the best grade offered. Some Canso and Shelburne are here, but they move slowly; quality not equal to price. Boneless are in lighter demand, but hold their figure. Fresh fish have been scarce. This has affected the finnan haddie trade, it being difficult to get haddock to cure. In kippered herring, a fair business is reported. In bloaters, we quote a range in prices, owing to some smaller fish than usual being offered. We quote: Large cod, $3.40 to $3.50; medium, $3.35 to $3.40; pollock, $1.75 to $1.90; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.85 to $1.90 ½-bbl.; Canso, pickled, $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 5c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.; finnan haddies, 4 to 4½c.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c.; spring shad, $3.75 to $4 ½-bbl.; fall do., $4.75 to $5; ½-bbl.; alewives, $3 per bbl.; kippered herring, $1; bloaters, 40 to 60c.; Shelburne, $3.75 per bbl.; Grand Manan herring, $3.40 to $3.50 per bbl.; quoddy, $3.50 ½ bbl.

PROVISIONS—In local-packed mess pork, prices are lower, owing to competition from American points, though western packers do not offer new-packed very freely. Clear is held firm. There is very little of this grade. Local-packed beef has but a fair sale; prices are rather higher. Lard, which has a good sale, is more firmly held. Stocks in packers' hands seem light.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Flour shows no change during the week. There is a good steady sale. Oatmeal is firm, with but fair stock. Oats are quite high. In cornmeal, the sale is large; the low figures continue. Hay is dull, being down to about one-half of what is a fair price. Many farmers are buying stock rather than accept the present price for hay. Feed is higher and scarce. Beans are firm, but dealers are slow to advance offers. In this, as in other similar lines, we are looking for lower values later. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.80 to $5; best Ontario, $4 to $4.25; medium, $3.75 to $3.95; oatmeal, $3.75 to $3.85; cornmeal, $2; middlings, $1.9 to $2.0; bran, $1.7 to $1.8; oats, 35 to 40c.; hand-picked beans, $1.10 to $1.20; prime, 95 to $1; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.60 to $3.75; hay, $7 to $8; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¾ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Bowman & Angevine, grocers, have added Gillard's new pickle to their line of specialties, becoming wholesale agents for New Brunswick.

An immense quantity of poultry is being forwarded by the Beaver Line steamer Tongario to Liverpool from the west, including 40 cars of 15 tons each.

Winter port business is active. Large quantities of American goods, such as flour, grain, etc., are being forwarded, and passenger business is good. Local dealers ship quite freely, particularly in produce, but brass fittings are largely shipped, and there was one shipment to Glasgow of 300 dozen hatchets this week.

A large number of local importers and other prominent citizens were entertained at luncheon on the Allan Line steamer Parisian, on the occasion of her first trip here.

THE GROCER regrets to report the illness of W. H. Hatheway, one of our popular brokers. Mr. Hatheway's many friends trust to see him out soon making his regular calls.

J. J. Bostwick, late of C. M. Bostwick & Co., has bought the business of Geo. L. Slipp, North Wharf, and will at this stand carry on a wholesale flour and grocery business.

Theo. H. Estabrooks, who represented St. John on the special committee considering the plan of inspection to be applied to tea importations, has returned home well pleased with the result of the committee's efforts.

Exports of produce from Prince Edward Island continue large. Among the departures this week was the steamer Horton, from Charlottetown to England, with 110,000 bushels of oats, and the schooner Edna, from Sunnyside for Demerara, with 2,100 sacks of oats, 1,000 bbls. potatoes, 10 cases of butter, 15 cheese, 5 cases lobsters, 30 horses, 3 cows, 4 bulls, 70 sheep, 30 pigs, 275 turkeys, 275 geese, 250 ducks, 100 hens, etc.

The oyster trade at Tatamagouche Bay seems to be growing. There are between 25 and 30 men engaged in the work, and they receive $2 per barrel on an average. Mr. Stainer, of Halifax, is shipping the oysters to Ottawa and other parts. He expects to ship 500 barrels this fall.

"Four carloads of 'Hercules' currants have been received for the Christmas trade, recleaned and packed by our special machinery," write T. B. Escott & Co. "Sphinx" prunes are just passed into stock."

Recent arrivals of canned goods with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, include apples, gallons and 3's; asparagus tips, fancy wax beans, Noble's XXX lobsters, flat ½'s; French petits pois, Barataria shrimps, Burnhams's clam chowder, 3's, and domestic kippered chicken.

An active demand is reported for "Aurora" Ceylon tea, which is packed by W. H. Gillard & Co. for the Canadian trade. In addition to the quality of the tea, the attractiveness and well-known healthfulness of the package make it a ready seller, and repeat orders are coming in every day.

HOLDERS OF CHEESE MERRY.

HOLDERS of fine fall cheese are in a satisfied mood at the moment, for every indication points to a handsome profit on the goods now carried in Canada.

The export price in Montreal has been gradually but surely stiffening, until it has reached 9½c. for finest Ontario fall makes. This is an appreciation of over 1c. in less than a month, and even at the rise holders are in no hurry to realize, as they confidently expect to see 10c. cheese after the turn of the year, and possibly more.

The steady advance in the Liverpool cable is an indication that they are not far out, as it has advanced over 2s. the cwt. since October.

The great bull card that owners of cheese have up their sleeve at the moment is the fact that stocks are light, while everything goes to show that the consumptive demand in England, encouraged by the low prices that have ruled during the fall, is of ample volume. The stocks declared at Liverpool on Dec. 1 make this clear, being only a paltry 69,000, or about one week's consumption, against a stock at the same period last year of 150,000 boxes.

Compared with Nov. 1, of this year, there has been a decrease of 20,000 boxes at Liverpool, which bears out the above assumption of a steady consumption. Advances from London also are strong.

Figures compiled from the British Board of Trade returns, will be read with interest at this juncture. The total imports of all kinds of cheese into the United Kingdom, since May 1, have amounted to 1,469,000 cwt., as compared with 1,670,000 cwt. for the corresponding time last year, showing a shortage of 201,000 cwt., or 12½ percent. Of this quantity London has taken the lion's share, having imported 609,000 cwt., as against 629,000 cwt., showing a shortage of 20,000 cwt.; Liverpool has taken 400,000 cwt., as against 406,000 cwt.; and Bristol 206,000 cwt., against 308,000 cwt., showing a shortage of about 50 per cent. Of the total quantity imported, Canada has sent 1,072,000 cwt., as against 1,129,000 cwt.; the United States 188,000 cwt.; as against 311,000 cwt.; and New Zealand 9,000 cwt., as against 29,000 cwt. It will thus be seen that there are shortages all along the line as regards imports, added to which fact it must be remembered that the English make is short owing to the severe drought during the past summer. Stocks of Canadian at the railway depots in London, are said to be heavy, but those who should know declare that they are 50,000 to 60,000 boxes less than a year ago; in Liverpool and Bristol they are lighter; and it is urged that the trade hold less owing to the tenacious way in which they have adhered to their determination to buy only from hand to mouth all during the season.

The number of cheese short shipped from Canada and the United States together from May 1 to date, as compared with last season, is about 500,000 boxes added to all this being the fact that the stock held for ultimate shipment in Canada is much less than a year ago.

BARGAINS IN CROCKERY.

At this time of the year there is generally an opportunity to secure some bargains in crockery. This year is no exception, as Gowans, Kent & Co. are clearing out the "tail ends" from their travelers' samples, giving all visiting their warehouse now an opportunity to do some profitable buying.

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

December 8, 1898.

This list is corrected every Thursday, and the quotations herein given are for the cities of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, London, St. John, N.B., Halifax, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria. The prices are solicited for publication, and are of such quantities and qualities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices. All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

P.E.I. OYSTER INDUSTRY.

THE modest little oyster, not long ago almost unknown as a product of Queen's county, is now forcing itself into a position of prominence in our list of exports. Ten years ago the yearly shipments from Charlottetown would amount from 50 to 100 barrels of a value not exceeding $200, while in the last three years the annual product of the oyster beds in this county alone will be little, if any, short of 10,000 barrels and distributing wealth to the extent of $15,000 to $20,000 amongst our fishermen. Of this product about 12 to 15 per cent. is used for home consumption, the remaining large proportion finding a destiny in the leading markets of Canada, Newfoundland, St. Pierre, and some even to England, the United States, Bermuda and the West Indies. There is

NO PROBABILITY OF ANY INCREASE in the output for at least some time to come, but with prompt and proper action on the part of the Government, aided and encouraged by our fishermen and exporters, the oyster industry is capable of almost indefinite enlargement. On the part of the fishermen the crudest methods prevail. The stock is in many instances brought to market in packages having only a resemblance to a barrel, with heads hewn out of old fence rails and the interior nice enough sometimes on the top, but filled to the bottom with shells, dirt, seaweed, small oysters, mussels, etc., and the barrel rarely ever filled. These methods may deceive for the time being, but the ultimate result is

RUINATION TO THE TRADE and reputation of the place. A good oyster is always in demand, and the few fishermen who realize this fact are finding the most remuneration. The oyster fisheries in this locality are certainly proving their right to a greater share of attention from our Government. The peculiar characteristics of our oyster beds will not submit to any general rule with a generally satisfactory result. Almost every location requires to be placed under separate regulations and the strictest local supervision. In a general sense, the idea of a closed season is open to serious objection.

A FULLY MATURED OYSTER should be allowed to be taken at any time of the spawning season. To close a bed for the protection of the small oysters, allowing the large ones to go to decay, is not advisable. The seed germs from a handful of oysters number up into millions, so that surrounding conditions for cultivation purposes are of greater importance than the presence of larger quantities of present stock. The taking of oysters under the legal size should be effectively prohibited. All such should be carefully returned to the beds. Oysters less than three inches long are scarcely marketable, and must be sold at a very low price. Leave them to grow for a single year, and they almost double in size as well as in value, and the result is two barrels, WORTH, SAY, $2.50 PER BARREL —$5—instead of one barrel of poor stock, a drug on the market at $1.25 the year previous. Two of our most valuable qualities are the North river and Pownal Bay oysters.

Keen demand has resulted in extensive fishing from these localities, especially from Pownal bay. To give these grounds a chance to recuperate they should be closed until Nov. 1 of each year, for a few years. This would reduce the output somewhat, but as the oysters would then come to market at a high price, the financial return to the fishermen would be probably as large as by selling earlier in the season at about half price. Following up the natural restocking of the grounds, the open season here might be gradually extended back, say to the middle of October. In Vernon river a directly opposite condition prevails. There a miserable, ungainly, almost until all the ugly clusters are taken out and the young undeveloped stock spread evenly over the river bed. After this process it could be brought under the general regulations with regard to size and season. The same rule will apply to every fishing ground where these antediluvian clusters exist. The preservation of our fishing grounds in this way affects also an improvement in the quality of the product. A first-class article does not often need to

WORTHLESS OYSTER is found. For a year, at least, fishing should be encouraged at almost all seasons,

and, with direct steamers to England, we have the vision before us of unlimited demand for good stock, well put up, especially in those seasons when our Canadian markets become overstocked. — Patriot, Charlottetown, P.E.I.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Thomas A. Weldon, manager of the Toronto branch of the E. B. Eddy Co., Limited, who has been ill with typhoid fever for two months, is convalescing, and will probably be at business in a week or two.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 5, 1898.

THE weather continues cold, clear and bright, with good sleighing. Wheat deliveries have been heavy during the past week. There is no special feature to note with regard to trade generally, which is now good, both wholesale and retail. Retailers have their Christmas groceries all in stock, and, judging from the choice lines shown, there is likely to be an exceptionally good trade.

The Ogilvie Milling Co.'s new oatmeal mill will open for business next week. They claim for it the most complete set of machinery for this purpose in Canada.

Among the events of the past week is the letting of the contract for the erection of an evaporating factory. The company is an English one, with large capital, it is said, and, though they will evaporate vegetables, they will make a special feature of the evaporation of eggs. It is considered that there is a specially fine opening for this business, as eggs are very cheap in the summer and more than correspondingly dear in the winter.

POULTRY—This commodity is scarce, particularly chickens. Few have been offered for some days, and quotations are as high as 10c. per lb. The supply of turkeys, ducks and geese are nearly all coming from Ontario, Manitoba offerings being very small indeed. Turkeys, 13c.; geese, 11c.; and ducks 10 to 11c.

CURED MEATS—There has been practically no change in this market, though the feeling continues easier, as there has been a further slight drop in the American market, from which a large part of our supply is at present coming.

HOGS—Both live and dressed hogs are coming a little more plentifully from local points. Prices are 6c. for dressed and 5c. for live hogs.

CANNED GOODS—All lines are firm in this market, and, as the winter rate of freight is now in force, there will be a corresponding increase in the price. Still, as most of the jobbers have in their supplies, it will be some little time before this advance really takes effect. Corn is quoted at $2.20 to $2.25 for choice brands, and tomatoes, $2.25 to $2.30.

CEREALS—Rolled oats, supply has barely covered demand for some time. But, with the opening of the new mill, a better state of things is looked for. Rolled oats are now quoted at $1.70 to $1.75 for 80's. Peas and barley remain without change.

FISH—With the advent of decidedly cold weather there has been an increased demand for fish. The first shipment of frozen herrings will arrive about Wednesday. Large stocks of haddies are on hand, and are quoted at 7 to 7½c. The quality is very fine.

DRIED FRUITS—The market here is bare of dates, and new stocks are not expected to arrive for at least 10 days. Cooking figs are now on the market, but the price is so high that it will greatly lessen consumption. Fancy table figs are simply beyond the pocket of the ordinary consumer. Sultana raisins are scarce and high in price, being quoted at 11½ to 15c., according to variety and quality. Valencia raisins, Denia fruit, are in fair demand, and, so far, shipments have turned out very satisfactorily. The demand for seeded raisins is very markedly on the increase.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—Apricots continue very high, too high in proportion to other fruits. Very fancy stock is worth 16c. Evaporated apples are again slightly advanced, and fancy ring stock is worth 10½ to 11c. Dried apples are scarce, market being almost entirely bare. Two carloads are expected next week, but the price will be a long one—7½c.

BUTTER—The product is moving very slowly. Dairy butter is easier, and a carload was purchased in the country within the last few days at 14 to 15c. Creamery butter is selling at 22 to 23c. Cheese is without change at 9½ to 10.

EGGS—Fresh gathered, 18 to 20c. per doz.; cold storage and pickled eggs 16 to 17c.

GREEN FRUIT—Apples have advanced from $3.50 to $4, and the tendency of the market is towards a still further advance. Lemons have made a big drop and are now quoted at $4.50 to $4.75 for a good quality of Messinas. Oranges are plentiful, Mexicans $4.50 to $5.00, Navels $5 to $5.50. At present it looks as if cranberries would be scarce for Christmas turkey. The trade has been large, and dealers are finding some difficulty in renewing stock; price $8 per barrel. Pears are temporarily out of market, but further shipments are expected. Malaga grapes are firm at $8 per barrel. Celery is 40c. per doz. Good dry onions $2.50 per cwt. Spanish onions $2 per crate and a poor sample.

* A despatch from Wolfville, N.S., states that the merchants in that place and in the neighboring village, Berwick, are to have a Merchants' day soon, and the merchants of each town are subscribing liberally to a fund for that purpose.

A Kingston despatch states: "Business men are growing wrathful over the trading stamp and coupon schemes, and will likely discuss the situation. The merchants do not think business is benefited by the innovation, as too many are in the scheme."

THE OLD-TIME CURED HOG.

This is the old Southern country style of curing the meat of the hog killed on the cotton plantations. The following method obtained, and now obtains, largely in South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, and other Southern States. It is still good advice to the rural pig owner, small provision packer, and others:

"When the hogs are killed, hang in the smokehouse over night to cool, leaving the door open if possible. Next day, have them cut up and rub hams, middlings and shoulders with saltpetre, two teaspoonfuls to each piece; then salt well and pack away two weeks to take the salt. At the end of this time begin smoking with oak chips. When this has continued six weeks or two months it can be stopped. In March have a large pot filled with water and keep it boiling and scald your hams in it for five minutes, or even longer. As each ham is drawn from the pot lay it on a clean plank in the sunniest place to be found. When all have been treated thus, begin with the first and put them in bags cut out to fit a ham. Have the bags made of good cloth and sewed as tightly as possible to prevent skipper bugs getting to them. Treated in this manner meat will keep over two years as good as ever."—National Provisioner.

CANNED SALMON IN OVAL TINS.

Dr. Morris, representing The Federation Packing Co., Victoria, B.C., was in Toronto last week. This company has its factories at the mouth of the Fraser and Nasa rivers, and it makes a specialty of sockeye salmon. The Federation Packing Co. is the only packer of canned salmon in oval tins. Dr. Morris called upon the trade in company with Mr. W. H. Seyler.

The Brockville Produce Co., Limited, which was incorporated this summer, is a creditor to the extent of $2,800 of J. C. Warrington, the cheese dealer, whose assignment was noted some weeks ago.

Current Market Quotations for Proprietary Articles

Dec. 8, 1898.
Quotations for proprietary articles, brands, etc., are supplied by the manufacturers or agents, who alone are responsible for their accuracy. The editors do not supervise them. If a change is made, either an advance or decline, it is referred to in the market reports as a matter of news, whether manufacturers request it or not.

"He Who Hesitates is Lost."

As soon as you find your stock of EDWARDSBURG SILVER GLOSS STARCH running low be sure and order a fresh supply at once. One day without it might lose you a good customer. People who order this brand know enough to refuse all substitutes. They know nothing can be "just as good," so if they can't get it from you they will from your neighbor.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU

Reads every paper in Canada and clips therefrom all articles of a business or personal nature of interest to subscribers in this department.

Politicians can obtain from it everything the papers say about themselves on any subject in which they are interested. Business men learn of new openings for trade, pointers to sell goods, addresses of people likely to become buyers, tenders wanted, stocks for sale or wanted, reports of new industries or stores, etc.

TERMS—$5 per hundred clippings; $40 per thousand, payable in advance; but a yearly contract will be found the most satisfactory.

We have also lists of firms in every branch of trade in the Dominion, the professions, club members, society, etc., and we are prepared to address and mail circulars or letters to these at any time.

It's All Buckwheat !

“Why not”? perhaps you say, and, too, you add, “Buckwheat Flour is cheap enough anyway.” The miller who mixes an artificial essence of Buckwheat with his Flour gives you a Buckwheat Flour that deceives both you and your customer—quality has to suffer to enable the miller to make an extra profit; and quality counts! Tillson's Roller Process Buckwheat Flour is clean and white, and has the true Buckwheat flavor that Nature gives to the Buckwheat berry itself. It is pure Buckwheat Flour!

a new customer perhaps whose trade you're trying to get. Probably it's a woman who asks the question. Quite an important moment—for you. Are you going to take chances on pleasing her with quality?

Windsor Salt pays you a good profit—please remember that. Better still it is pure, dry, white—each separate crystal is a Salt Crystal and nothing more. She—the woman—skips the “cakeiness” and impurities of common salt because the moisture and the dirt are not there. We make it—we know

A suggestion is better than an argument—a suggestion will please where an argument will often create ill feeling and distrust.

No argument is needed to sell Lazenby's Goods, Coudou's Macaroni and Stephens' Pickles—their names are silent arguments themselves. That is what a name will do.

Lazenby's. A name familiar to England's Nobility for over 100 years—"E. Lazenby & Son."

Lazenby's Jelly Tablets are made from absolutely pure materials. The fruit, flower, wine and spice flavors are Nature's own. Thirteen different varieties—each one of the very highest quality. "Profitable to use—profitable to handle."

P. Codou's. Another name that stands for all that's good in Macaroni—P. Codou. With that name on the package no argument is needed to sell it. Made only from real Russian wheat. Delicate, tender Macaroni.

Macaroni.

Stephens'. Are you quite sure of the name when you buy Pickles in bulk? You may get them packed in something else besides Pure Malt Vinegar—unless you look for the name "Stephens." When you see that you get absolutely safe packing. The pickles are sound, crisp, piquant, always.

VOL. XII.

TORONTO AND MONTREAL, DECEMBER 16, 1898.

NO. 50

CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS OF THE TORONTO RETAIL GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

CONSTITUTION.

ARTICLE I.—NAME.

This association shall be called "The Toronto Retail Grocers' Association."

ARTICLE II.—OBJECT.

The object of the association shall be the promotion of the interests of the trade and the members thereof.

ARTICLE III.

Sec. 1. None but retail grocers will be admitted as members.

Sec. 2. The association may recognize any service rendered by electing the party or parties thereto honorary members, with or without voting power.

Sec. 3. Where honorary members have voting power they shall pay usual dues.

Sec. 4. Honorary members can only be elected after notice of one month on the association circular.

ARTICLE IV.—SUBSCRIPTION.

The annual subscription fee shall be $2.00, payable half-yearly, in advance.

ARTICLE V.—ADMISSION.

Any qualified person may become a member of this association by motion at any regular meeting, and the candidate's name is to be placed on the circular for the following month, when he shall be balloted for.

ARTICLE VI.—OFFICERS.

The officers of this association shall be president, vice-president, recording secretary, financial secretary, treasurer, inner guard, and also four directors, who, with the officers, will form the executive committee. There shall be three trustees of the trust fund elected annually. There shall be two auditors.

ARTICLE VII.—ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Sec. 1. The election of officers will be by nomination and ballot, and will take place at the first regular meeting in each year.

Sec. 2. Any office may be declared vacant by motion of the association, the occupant of which has been absent three consecutive regular meetings without giving a satisfactory reason.

Sec. 3. No member's name shall go before the association for election to office unless he has signified his intention to accept office if elected.

ARTICLE VIII.—QUORUMS.

Sec. 1.—Eleven members will form a quorum of the association.

Sec. 2.—Five members will form a quorum of the executive committee.

ARTICLE IX.

This association will exist so long as 20 members adhere to its constitution and by-laws and remain on its roll of membership, and such members may legally dispose of the funds of the association as they may see fit.

ARTICLE X.

No money shall be drawn from the trust fund without one month's notice of motion, also notice of same to appear on monthly circular.

ARTICLE XI.

Notice of one month must be given of any motion to annul or amend any article of this constitution, and such motion shall require a two-thirds majority of those present and voting.

BY-LAWS.

ARTICLE I.—DUTY OF PRESIDENT.

It will be the duty of the president to preside at all meetings of the association, except when wishing to speak on any question, to maintain order and decorum, to sign orders, which must also be countersigned by the secretary. He may call special meetings on his own authority, and on the written request of ten members of the association.

ARTICLE II.—DUTY OF RECORDING SECRETARY.

Sec. 1.—It will be the duty of the recording secretary to keep a correct record of the proceedings of each meeting, conduct the correspondence of the association, notify all members of special meetings, and perform such other duties as may be required of him by the association.

Sec. 2.—Vice-president shall perform all the duties of the president in his absence, and shall be chairman of the executive board.

ARTICLE III.—DUTY OF FINANCIAL SECRETARY.

The financial secretary shall keep a correct account between the association and its members, charge and collect all fees, and, at the close of each meeting, pay over to the treasurer all money he may have received.

ARTICLE IV.—DUTY OF TREASURER.

The treasurer will receive all money from the financial secretary and deposit the same within three days in some chartered bank in the name of the association and pay all orders drawn on him by the association.

ARTICLE V.—DUTY OF INSIDE GUARD.

The inside guard will take charge of the door and admit members of the association only, except by permission of the association.

ARTICLE VI.

The executive officers shall be: Immediate past president, president, vice-president, treasurer, and four members, who shall be elected at each annual meeting.

ARTICLE VII.—HOUR OF MEETING.

Sec. 1.—The hour for opening each regular meeting will be 8 p.m.

Sec. 2.—The regular meetings will be held on the second Monday in each month.

ARTICLE VIII.

The meeting shall be opened by the president taking the chair, when the order of business shall be as follows : 1, roll call ; 2, reading and adoption of minutes ; 3, business arising out of minutes ; 4, admission of new members ; 5, reading of correspondence ; 6, report of committees ; 7, motion, notice of to be given ; 8, unfinished business ; 9, new business ; 10, passing accounts ; 11, nomination and election ; 12, remarks good of association ; 13, paying dues ; 14, adjournment.

ARTICLE IX.

Any member rendering himself unworthy of being a member of this association, or compromising in a grave manner the honor and good name of the association, will be suspended or expelled as the majority of members at any regular meeting may decide, such member to be notified to appear and defend himself from the charge.

ARTICLE X.

Members wishing to withdraw from the association must give notice of their intention at least one month in advance, and will be responsible for all liabilities contracted until the date of said notice.

ARTICLE XI.

Parliamentary rules of order and procedure shall govern all our meetings, where not otherwise provided for in our constitution and by-laws.

ARTICLE XII.

The chairman shall appoint three scrutineers of the ballot for any election of the association.

ARTICLE XIII.

At the first monthly meeting after the general election of officers, the past officers shall install and instruct the incoming officers on the constitution and their duties in the association.

ARTICLE XIV.

Notice of each regular meeting, also each special meeting, shall be in circular form and sent to every member previous to the meeting. The circular shall contain a summary of the business to be transacted, namely : Notice of motion ; application for membership ; application for withdrawal ; any other special business to come before the meeting.

ARTICLE XV.

The financial year shall end at the December meeting.

ARTICLE XVI.

The auditors' report shall be presented at the first meeting of the year.

ARTICLE XVII.

All officers and standing committees shall report at the January meeting.

ARTICLE XVIII.—RULES OF DEBATE.

Sec. 1—No motion shall be open for discussion until moved and seconded, and stated to the association by the chairman.

Sec. 2—No member shall speak twice on the same subject without the permission of the chairman, unless in explanation, or the mover in reply.

ARTICLE XIX.

Any proposed expenditure of money of the association shall be passed on by the executive, and, if not considered advisable, shall be brought forward to next general meeting and reason given for refusal.

ARTICLE XX.

No smoking shall be allowed during the time that business is being transacted.

ARTICLE XXI.—AMENDING BY LAWS.

No alteration shall take place in these by-laws unless the said alteration be proposed and seconded at a regular meeting. A copy of the proposed alterations shall be inserted in the notice for the next ensuing regular meeting, when it shall require the consent of two-thirds of the members present to pass it, then such amendments shall become part of the by-laws.

About 1,000 barrels of oysters have been shipped from Tatamagouche Bay this season, and the industry is in its infancy only, having been started but a few years ago. A large number of areas were applied for this fall, and the seed oysters placed in position. If cultivated as well as those operated during the last few years, it will not be long until there will be 10,000 barrels shipped in a season.—Halifax Herald.

"THE GROCER" IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Moffat, Hutchins & Co., general importers, Cape Town, South Africa, write, under date of Nov. 9 : " We have just run across a copy of your publication, THE CANADIAN GROCER, and we will ask you to kindly put us on your subscription list, as we think it should prove of considerable value to us. We note, also, that you publish several other trade papers. Will you kindly give us information on them, as our Mr. Moffat, who is commercial agent for the Dominion in South Africa, would likely find them useful ?"

DEAD STOCK.

How much does dead stock add to your expense account? asks American Grocer. It is like interest, in that it works day and night, Sundays included. It ties up capital, and thus curtails purchasing power, besides robbing you of all chances to buy bargains, taking discounts, and keeping your credit at the top notch. If there is $50 worth of dead stock on your shelves, every month adds interest and insurance to the cost, to say nothing of loss through depreciation in quality and injury in appearance. It is better to get rid of unsalable goods at a loss and place the money where it can be turned over quickly and often than to let it lie in stock, because you trust that at some unknown period in the future you may sell the goods at a profit.

A SHIPMENT OF CLAMS.

THE regular meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association was held on Monday evening in St. George's Hall, Elm street. President Marmion occupied the chair. A fair attendance was present.

Chas. W. Down, 668 Queen street east, was received into membership by ballot.

Copies of the newly-printed constitution and by-laws of the association were distributed among the members present.

The secretary reported that his communication to Mayor Shaw regarding having the association represented on the board of the Industrial Exhibition, had not been answered.

This provoked some discussion, which concluded with a resolution condemning the mayor's negligence regarding the matter, and instructing the secretary to write him for an explanation.

Alfred Carlow, 45 Davenport road, and John P. Gardner, 225 Brunswick avenue, appeared on behalf of the Journeymen Bakers' Union, asking that the grocers should help the cause of union labor by patronizing master bakers who employed union men and paid union wages.

After the deputation had retired a short discussion ensued.

A resolution was finally moved by A. G. Booth, seconded by F. W. Johnson, and unanimously passed, "Resolved, that we, as an association, would recommend the grocers of the city to patronize union labor bake shops."

Ed. M. Trowern, secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association, addressed the meeting regarding the treatment that the Retail Merchants' Association and the Retail Grocers' Association had received with reference to their petition for higher licenses for peddlars, and regarding the elections of city aldermen for 1899.

The gist of Mr. Trowern's statement was that the committee that had been appointed by the council to deal with the matter had cowardly dodged the issue, and eventually laid over the matter for another year. He asked that the grocers join with the merchants' association in a meeting on Tuesday evening, the 26th inst., when the candidates for aldermen for 1899 had been nominated, when those to be supported by the associations would be chosen. The associations had gone to the council and had not received what they wanted. They would go farther now and appeal to the people for what they wanted.

On motion, the president, W. H. Marmion, the vice-president, F. W. Johnson, and the treasurer, W. J. Sykes, were appointed to represent the association at the joint meeting on Tuesday, the 26th inst. A large representation of the members will likely attend.

GROCERS FOR ALDERMEN.

It will be seen, from our report of The Toronto Retail Grocers' Association, that there is to be a determined effort on the part of the merchants of Toronto to elect aldermen this year who will understand the desires of the retailing portion of the city and will meet their wishes in matters generally.

A deputation, consisting of A. White, J. S. Bond, J. A. Johnston and A. G. Booth, waited on J. G. Gibson, asking him to enter the field.

Mr. Gibson's ambitions do not run in the direction of public honors, and he tried to treat the matter as a joke, but the deputation treated the matter so earnestly that he may yet be induced to make a run for the position of "city father."

An effort is also being made by a number of citizens to induce Robert Barron to offer himself for aldermanic honors.

TORONTO GROCERS MEET MAYOR SHAW.

JUST as the meeting of the Retail Grocers' Association on Monday evening had adjourned, but before the majority of the members had departed, Mayor Shaw, who had come to St. George's hall to attend a dance given by some Hebrew society, was buttonholed by one of the members and invited into the association rooms.

The request was acceded to, and some questions of interest to the grocery trade of Toronto were asked of, and answered by, His Worship.

In regard to the communication of the secretary re representation on the Industrial Exhibition board, the Mayor stated that he was confident that it had not reached his office, for it was one of his particular cares that all letters received by him should be answered the day they are received. He promised to deal with the matter promptly if the secretary would write him again.

He was then asked for his personal opinion concerning the probable cost of the improvements to the St. Lawrence Market. His Worship's reply was as follows: "Ald. Denison was, as you know, one of the commission appointed to inquire into the advisability of extending the market, and to prepare plans, specifications, etc., of suitable buildings. The commission estimated the cost of the plans they submitted at $150,000. Doubt was expressed whether the work could be carried out for that sum. I, myself, was one of those who thought the figure too small. Consequently, Mr. Sheard was appointed to report on the probable cost of the improvements according to the plans submitted. He reports that the cost is likely to be in the neighborhood of $387,000. Ald. Denison in reply to this report claims he can make contracts to cover the whole work within the $150,000. I am inclined to believe, however, that, according to the plans submitted, the cost is more likely to be in the neighborhood of Mr. Sheard's estimate than Ald. Denison's. "But," concluded he, "you may rest assured that not one cent will be spent until contracts covering all the work are in, and we know that the work can be done for $150,000."

There arrived at Victoria the other day, ex ss. Miowera 2,300 carcasses of Australian mutton.

A shipment of polished Patna rice has been passed into stock by The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have this week received another shipment of Comadra figs, in taps.

Lytle & Co. are experiencing a good trade in "Sterling" brand pickles; also in jams, jellies and mince meat.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. still have a few boxes of extra dessert cluster table raisins to offer.

T. Kinnear & Co. have received a shipment of shelled Grenoble walnuts; also a shipment of Marbot walnuts.

More Roquefort cheese to hand with Lucas, Steele & Bristol this week. What the firm handles is the best procurable.

The Wm. Ryan Co., Limited, are doing a large business in selected hams, breakfast bacon, and smoked backs, for the holiday trade.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have still left some 8-crown Eleme figs of fine quality, as well as 1-lb. glove boxes, which they are offering at a low figure.

Pure Mayette Grenoble walnuts, finest Tarragona almonds, and Manoa Brazils, are quoted at close prices by The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol's customers can rely upon prompt shipment of all orders. At this season of the year they recognise the necessity, and provide for same.

The "Diamond" baking powder, manufactured by W. H. Gillard & Co., is having a large sale. Some time ago this firm tried the experiment of reducing the price of this powder to the price of the ordinary article, and they found its increased sales fully repaid for the change.

The Dawson Commission Co., Limited, received a car of choice Californian navel oranges on Wednesday, and expect two cars of Valencias before the end of the week.

W. H. Gillard & Co. report the arrival of another shipment of Glasgow "Well" pipes, put up one dozen in a box, which are very handsome in appearance and rapid sellers.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, offer their "Rival" brand New Orleans molasses, and an exceptionally fine sample of pure sugar syrup, both in barrels and half-barrels, at close figures.

Three cars Valencia, three cars navel, four cars Mexican and one car Jamaica oranges and two cars of lemons are due at McWilliam & Everist's this week for the holiday trade.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. advise shippers to send in their poultry regularly, as there seems to be a tendency to hold stock back, which might result in an over-supply at Christmas time.

The holidays are the time the little folk look for candy. There is no purer or healthier confectionery on the market than Slade's "Butter-Scotch." C. E. Colson & Son, agents, Montreal.

Warren Bros. & Co. have taken into stock a shipment of "Gold Label" sardines in Mayonnaise dressing, which they are selling at a reasonable price. The package is unique, as far as tins of sardines go.

A car of Californian fruits, comprising "G. & S." and mountain prunes, 90-100s., 60-70s., 50-60s., and 40-50s., in 25-lb. and 50-lb. boxes; fancy silver prunes, and egg plums, are moving out freely with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

John Dewar & Sons always remember their patrons at this season of the year. Just now J. M. Douglas & Co., Board of Trade, Montreal, their Canadian agents, are distributing to buyers of this well-known whiskey neat souvenir decks of playing cards.

Is there a buyer of Otard Dupuy & Co.'s famous brandy who does not like a hand at whist? If not, he had better write at once to J. M. Douglas & Co., Board of Trade, Montreal, and secure one of the handsome decks of cards which the firm is giving to buyers of this well-known V.S.O.B." brandy.

DRESSED POULTRY WANTED.

The Simcoe Canning Company is wanting dressed chickens, turkeys, and ducks, for which it is prepared to pay the highest price in cash. Shipments are to be made to the Hamilton factory, York street. The company's advertisement will be found on page 25 this issue.

PORK-PACKING NOTES.

A Woodstock despatch says: "A pork-packing factory on a very large scale will soon be established in Woodstock. Perrin & Co., of Chicago, have been communicated with, and they estimate the cost of a factory, with a capacity of 2,000 hogs a week, at $40,000."

The Stratford Herald says that Mayor O'Donoghue, of that city, has received a cablegram from Mr. Whyte, who is now in Great Britain, which announces that he has made the required arrangements for the successful floating of his pork-factory scheme. A loan of $30,000 is asked from the city, to be paid back in thirty annual instalments of $1,000.

The Cornwall, Ont., Standard says the work of arranging the preliminaries of a pork-packing industry in that town, are in good hands, and are progressing favorably.

A significant fact noted during the last two weeks is that, notwithstanding the large addition to the packing capacity of the various factories in the Province, the receipts of dressed hogs on the Toronto market have been so large that a decline of 25 to 35c. has occurred in that time.

NORTHWEST TRAVELERS.

The members of the Northwest Commercial Travelers' Association intend having their annual entertainment this year at the Manitoba hotel on the 28th inst. It will take the form of a conversazione and a dance this year, and if it is up to the standard of entertainments generally prepared by the genial knights of the Northwest, it will be well worth attending.

WHOLESALE GROCERS OF THE UNITED STATES.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has received a comprehensive work of much value from The Wholesale Grocers' Association, of Columbus, Ohio. It is no less than a copy of the directory of the wholesale grocers of the United States, compiled by Orrin Thacker, secretary of that association. This work has reached its fifth edition and is corrected up to December 1, 1898. The price is $1.

VINEGAR FACTORY FOR HAMILTON

The new vinegar syndicate, which recently purchased all the leading vinegar factories in Ontario, is evidently not going to be free from competition.

In Hamilton, W. G. Lumsden, of Lumsden Bros., is forming a joint-stock company of grocers to manufacture vinegar in Hamilton, on what is said to be a large scale. It is understood the idea is meeting with a great deal of favor in the "Ambitious City."

TRADING STAMP COMPANY FINED.

AN interesting legal point has developed in the Province of Ontario in connection with trading stamps.

There is in the Ontario Statutes a law which gives to municipalities the power to regulate transient traders by the imposition of a tax not to exceed a certain sum.

This law, which is optional, has been adopted by a great many municipalities.

Later, some of the municipalities have come to the conclusion that the Dominion Trading Stamp Co. came under the provision of this law. At Brantford the other day the license fee was paid, but under protest. At Woodstock, however, the fee of $75 was not paid. Legal proceedings were instituted, with the result that a fine of $10 and costs was imposed.

The premise of the company is that it offers no goods for sale. It sells stamps and gives away goods. Therefore it does not come under the provisions of the law. Upon this ground it proposes to make an appeal to a higher court. And, as it has 14 branches in Ontario, it is quite natural that it should be desirous of evading the law if possible.

If, on appeal, it should be found that the law does not cover the case of the Trading Stamp Company, it should, at the next session of the Legislature, be made elastic enough to do so.

One thing is certain: The company sells the stamps in order that the retail grocers, hardware merchants and dry goods merchants may sell its goods.

In other words, the retail merchants who give trading stamps are the salesmen of the trading stamp concern.

Where the Trading Stamp Company differs from other merchants who handle similar lines of goods is in the method of selling them. That is all. But it should not exempt it from the law which operates against other classes of transient traders.

WILL THERE BE A DUTY ON TEA?

The question of a duty on tea is again being discussed. Opposition newspapers say the Government has decided to impose a duty, and are trying to make political capital out of the matter. The Government papers say nothing, because they do not know what is the mind of the Government on the subject, and, consequently, are afraid to say anything.

The fact of the matter is, no one knows the mind of the Government in regard to this particular matter. And those who profess to know are only guessers.

As a matter of fact, the probability of a duty has been canvassed from time to time during the past two or three years, but tea still remains on the free list. It does not, however, follow, that because this is so, it will remain so for even another year. There may be, or there may not be, a duty put upon tea. But whatever may be the intention of the Government in regard to the matter, the condition of the market is such that merchants can scarcely make a mistake in keeping their stocks of tea well assorted.

Among the advocates of a duty on tea are those who would levy it only on China and Japan teas, leaving British growths free. What the outcome of their efforts will be is, of course, also uncertain.

A lazy man is a stumbling block to his own advancement.

COMPETITORS HAVE RIGHTS.

DURING a speech delivered in Manchester a few weeks ago, the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain made this remark: "No doubt Germany is a most dangerous competitor, but I should be ashamed of my countrymen if we were to make that a cause for hostilities, and if we were not perfectly willing to meet, in keen but friendly rivalry, any competitor in the field."

There is a moral in that expression of opinion which can, without much effort, be extended to individuals.

Every man has a right to live, and, in order to live, he has a right to follow any avocation he chooses, as long as, in doing so, there is no transgression of the law.

When we try to elbow a competitor out of the race, we deny this right

The right of every man to follow any legal calling he chooses does not deny anyone else the right to compete with him. Fair competition none but a fool would denounce. It is the unfair competition, the competition which is impelled by jealousy, that is to be deplored.

The merchant should aim to make his business the best and most attractive in his neighborhood, and the clerk should strive to make himself the most proficient clerk in the store. But this does not warrant, metaphorically speaking, the one or the other throwing bricks at those who appear to be a little ahead in the competition.

He who would be swift should not train with a snail. And he who would be a good business man will need to be pushed by those who are faster than himself. He will never develop speed any other way. Instead, therefore, of cursing his competitor, he ought to bless him, even if he is a dangerous competitor.

GREEN TEA MARKET CLOSED.

A cable received in Toronto announces that the green tea market in China has closed for the season.

This means that there will be no more new teas of this character shipped from the market of production until the next season opens, which will, of course, not be until six months hence, while it will be still another two months before these teas could reach the Canadian market.

In the meantime the outlook is for a strong market.

THE PRICE OF RECIPROCITY.

WHILE the deliberations at Washington between the Canadian and the United States Commissioners are private, enough has leaked out to show that the representatives of the Dominion are disappointed with the offer our cousins are prepared to make in the matter of reciprocity.

It is to be hoped that the attempts which are being made to draw up a reciprocity treaty will not be abortive. Canada desires closer trade relations with the United States. She desires it chiefly in order that her lumber, coal and certain agricultural products may be exported to that country under less onerous tariff conditions than now obtain.

But, while these things are desired, there is no imperative necessity for them. Canada would live, and, what is more, thrive, even if the United States went the length of even prohibiting the importation of Canadian products. And the position of the Dominion in this respect is becoming more and more independent as the years roll by.

Ten years ago it would have been probably difficult to find a man in the Dominion who would acknowledge that the closing of the markets of the United States against the products of this country would be anything short of our ruin. But times have changed. Now it would be difficult to find a man who held any such faith.

There are a great many people in this country who prefer not to have a reciprocity treaty with the United States under any condition. But these are in the minority. The majority, while not much concerned in the matter, are in favor of a treaty. But the price paid for it must not be high. It must be fair; and any addition to that would be met with a storm of indignation. There are politicians who would probably be indignant under any circumstances. But we are not taking the politicians into account. We merely have in mind the commercial men of the country and all other men of common sense.

The commercial interests in Canada were never in a healthier condition than they are to-day, and the outlook for the development of the country was unquestionably never so bright. The concomitant of this is a measure of confidence such as has never been experienced before.

Time is on the side of Canada, and the people of this country realize it.

Canada may be likened unto a merchant who, because one of his two chief customers has decided to curtail his expenses, is compelled to redouble his efforts elsewhere in order that the volume of business may be maintained.

The McKinley tariff of 1890 was a direct notice to Canada that the United States did not propose to in future purchase from her more goods than was possible. A good deal of alarm was caused by this notice, and so was a great deal of enterprise, with the result that in the eight years since the inauguration of the tariff, that bears the name of the now President of the United States, the total foreign trade of the Dominion has increased by 43.50 per cent., and the export trade alone by about 65.60 per cent.

In 1890, the year the tariff went in force which was to deal an effective blow to Canada, the joint exports to Great Britain and the United States were $88,876,504.

For the fiscal year ending June 30 last, the value of the exports to Great Britain alone exceeded $100,000,000.

Instead of the blow killing it quickened. This is proved by the following table, which gives the exports of purely home products to Great Britain and the United States for the years 1890 and 1897:

| | 1890. | | 1897. | |
|---------------------------------|----------------|----------------|----------------|----------------|
| | Great Britain. | United States. | Great Britain. | United States. |
| The mine... | $ 630,815 | $ 3,963,257 | $ 354,769 | $10,533,581 |
| The fisher's... | 2,707,422 | 2,850,528 | 4,366,083 | 2,998,655 |
| The forest... | 14,098,865 | 10,247,640 | 14,059,585 | 15,435,759 |
| Animals and their products..... | 18,578,722 | 5,966,474 | 33,600,891 | 5,081,811 |
| Agricultural products..... | 3,661,828 | 7,519,253 | 13,507,342 | 2,419,814 |
| Manufactures..... | 1,816,147 | 2,667,282 | 3,617,128 | 3,213,677 |
| Miscellaneous..... | 5,352 | 76,773 | 28,056 | 33,760 |
| | $41,499,149 | $33,291,207 | $69,533,852 | $39,717,057 |

It will be seen from the above table that in the exports to Great Britain, from 1890 to 1897, there have been the following gains: The fisheries, 57.50 per cent.; animals and their products, 79.37 per cent.; agricultural products, 27 per cent.; manufactures, 99 per cent.

The increase in the exports to the United States of the products of the mine is, of course, due to the mining activity in British Columbia, the ores of that Province being largely sent to the smelters across the border for reduction. In lumber the gain was over five million dollars for the United States, while the exports to Great Britain remained practically stationary. But these figures are not the figures of 1898, which will undoubtedly show a large increase for Great Britain. But it will be some months hence before they will be issued, notwithstanding that the fiscal year closed on June 30 last. Therefore, we have to take what we can get.

If the terms on which the United States exacts reciprocity demand more than is fair, there should be no hesitation in refusing them.

Something like fifty commercial bodies in the United States have, during the past year, declared in favor of reciprocity. But, unfortunately, it is not the commercial interests that rule. It is the political. And where the politician is king, the business man does not appear to be a powerful factor.

Should the negotiations fail, Canada has no need for concern. Every year in our history will put us in a better position to make a bargain, and the better our position the less inclined will we be for reciprocal arrangements.

Energy is better than gold, and a high aim in life better than rich ancestors.

WILL RUN FOR ALDERMAN.

George Boxall, hardware dealer, Yonge street, Toronto, will enter the field this year as candidate for aldermanic honors in ward 3. Mr. Boxall's candidature will be supported by the Toronto Retail Merchants' Association, for the reason that he has proved himself to be a man who takes a general interest in that portion represented by the retail merchants. He has from its inception been a member and an active worker in the Retail Merchants' Association, and now holds the office of vice-president of that body.

Mr. Boxall is not without municipal experience, having for a number of years represented one of the wards on the public school board.

The business men of ward 3 should give him their support.

WAR OVER MOLASSES.

THE intrusion of a lot of outside speculators in the molasses market has created a deal of dissatisfaction in wholesale grocery circles. Grocers, while admitting that it is only human nature to take advantage of every opportunity to turn an honest dollar, contend that recent speculative dealing in Barbadoes molasses is calculated to disorder the market.

As our readers are well aware, this staple has been steadily advancing for over two months back, but, while the market is firm and the situation never more healthy, the fact that round lots have been bought up by grain dealers and others for purely speculative reasons introduces a foreign and uncertain element into the market, and is not conducive of stability in values.

One development arising out of the efforts of these outsiders to trespass on the country trade of Montreal grocery firms has been to keep jobbing prices stationary, in the face of a steady rise in the price governing the sale of round lots. That is to say, the regular grocery houses, being determined to keep their customers, are still selling single puncheons at 31 to 32c.; whereas, to move a round lot, would cost that money. In a word, they have agreed to make it interesting for the speculators, and, in the meantime, retailers and consumers, who thought their molasses was going to cost them more money, are reaping the benefit.

How long this fight will continue is another question. It depends largely on stocks in the hands of the regular grocery houses, and the outside speculators are banking a good deal on the generally-accepted fact that these are small and will not take long to exhaust, and that then their time will come. It will be interesting to see how matters turn out.

Sand will help a merchant, as well as an engine, to climb hills.

WHEN ORDERING CHRISTMAS FRUITS.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has been asked to suggest to country dealers that when sending in orders for Christmas fruits to state whether they desire them sent by freight or express.

Some dealers prefer having their goods sent by express; others prefer freight, but many do not state their preference, and the fruit jobbers have nothing to guide them in making their shipment.

Grenoble walnuts this season are smaller than usual, and in some cases the shell is dark-colored, but this does not affect the quality, which is up to the usual standard.

SUGAR ADVANCES AND DECLINES

The sugar market has exhibited very material irregularity since our last report. Last Saturday, as a result of the recent strong foreign markets, and the active demand from the New York Trust, refiners in Montreal advanced prices 5c. per 100 lb. on all grades.

On Monday, however, there was an abrupt decline in the price of raw in London, beet slumping 3 to 4d. to 9s. 10½d. for both present and next month's delivery.

As this was followed by an unsettled feeling in the New York market and a decline there, with refined giving indications of following suit, Montreal refiners wiped out Saturday's advance of 5c., and made a further cut of 5c. on it, entailing a total decline of 10c. per 100 lb. in all grades, granulated now being based at $4.45, and yellows at $3.70 to $4.20.

A BUSINESS MAN FOR THE HAMILTON MAYORALTY.

THE contest for the mayoralty chair in Hamilton, Ont., is between a business man and a lawyer. Mr. Tilden is the business candidate, and it is to be hoped the business men of the "Ambitious City" will rally round him and secure his election.

He is not appealing to the electors on any party grounds. His platform is business. And Mr. Tilden has a perfect right to make it such. He is actively connected with some of Hamilton's most important industries, chief among which are The Gurney-Tilden Co. and The Hamilton Blast Furnace Co., being president of the last-named concern.

The Hamilton Herald acknowledges that Mr. Tilden's address to the electors "is a business document from a man of business." But The Herald leans to Mr. Teetzel, the lawyer candidate. And, after expressing the opinion "that we need good business men to manage our municipal affairs," remarks: "But is it true that a lawyer must needs be a poor man of business, unskilled and without experience in business affairs? We think not. * * * Some of Hamilton's most successful business enterprises have been promoted and directed by lawyers."

No doubt, what The Herald says is, to some extent, true. But that paper appears to be carried away with the idea that every lawyer with common sense is a lawyer expert in business matters.

It acknowledges that business men are needed to manage municipal affairs, and then advances the theory that lawyers can fill the bill.

Carry out this theory to its logical conclusion and to what absurd lengths would it lead one. For instance, the business man who has learned a few points about law would be quite competent to perform the duties of a lawyer, or the man who had extracted a splinter or applied a mustard plaster to a sore chest would be justified in practising medicine.

Business men are business men. Lawyers are lawyers. And if you want a man to fill a business office it is a business man and not a lawyer that is needed.

The Mayor's office is a business office. Mr. Tilden is a business man. Mr. Teetzel is a lawyer.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Dec. 15, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE great bulk of the holiday trade has been done, and the activity in consequence is not as pronounced as it was. At the same time, however, a good deal of activity is in evidence around the various warehouses. Currants are still in active demand at steady prices. In Valencia raisins there is still only a small trade to be noted. Prunes are not this week receiving a great deal of attention. In Malaga raisins, trade does not, on the whole, seem to be as satisfactory as desired. Nuts are going out well and fresh supplies of Grenobles and Brazil nuts are arriving this week. Candied peels are in good demand, and a nice trade is being done in certain kinds of spices. Canned goods are naturally somewhat neglected. One of the features of trade is the improved demand which is developing for teas. Coffees are quiet. Sugars are 5c. per 100 lb. dearer.

CANNED GOODS.

With the Christmas goods receiving so much attention, canned goods are naturally rather neglected. There have been a few inquiries by large retail buyers during the week for canned corn, and 85c. was asked for round lots, but we hear of no transactions in this particular instance. The ruling figure for corn is 90 to 95c. per dozen. We hear of a round lot of peas being offered at 67½c. per dozen, delivered, with 65c. bid, but there was no transaction. In canned salmon the situation is much as before. Canned salmon is quiet and unchanged, with local stocks fairly large. There is little or nothing doing in canned fruits.

COFFEES.

Locally, there is nothing of interest to note, but the outside markets show improvement, there being more inquiry, with prices higher in absence of sellers.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Syrups are scarce, but there is not much demand. Nearly all the syrups coming forward are from the United States. New Orleans advices report an advance of 1 to 2c. per gallon in molasses.

SUGARS.

The European market ruled firm up to the beginning of the week, but Tuesday's cables noted a weaker feeling, with beet sugar 2¾ to 3d. per cwt. lower. The indication that the yield in Austria and France would be larger than expected appears to have been the cause of the weak tone in the market. In New York, the raw market is dull and nominal, with importers showing no anxiety to make sales. The refined market in New York is still unsettled, the different refineries continuing to shade prices.

Willett & Gray's Sugar Trade Journal, of December 8, in referring to the New York market, said: "The refined market attracts more attention, by reason of the refiners' peculiar relations to each other and their individual desire to secure their full share of trade during the present dull season of business. As anticipated last week, a general virtual decline of ¼c. per lb. was made in refined, openly and privately."

Total stocks of sugar in Europe and America last week were 1,539,623 tons, against 1,759,264 tons in the same week last year.

In Canada, a fair business is being done for the season, but the demand

See pages 29 and 30 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John,
and Winnipeg prices current.

has fallen off during the week. A feature of the local trade during the week is a slightly improved business in dark sugars. Prices were advanced 5c. per 100 lb. on Saturday.

NUTS.

Trade is active in nuts. Sales are chiefly in almonds at 13c. and walnuts at 12c. for Marbots, 13c. for Grenobles and 11c. for Bordeaux. There is quite a range in the price of Brazil nuts, on account of the variety in quality of the goods on the market. There are some Brazil nuts to be had at 11 to 12c. per lb., while for others 12½ to 14c. is the idea.

SPICES.

Wholesalers are experiencing a good demand for such seasonable lines as cloves, nutmegs, allspice and cinnamon.

RICE, ETC.

A fair average trade is being done in rice, and the same may be said with regard to tapioca. In sago trade is quiet.

TEAS.

Trade is, on the whole, in a satisfactory condition, but brokers and wholesalers are experiencing a better demand. The rumors in regard to the possibility of a duty being put upon tea may have something to do with the better demand; but, aside from the duty, the present condition of the market is favorable for buying, for not only are the primary markets above the parity of the prices ruling locally, but the outlook is for a strong market.

According to cable advices, the China green tea market has closed for the season, which means, of course, that no more of these teas will come forward from the market of production. China green teas are coming forward more freely, and better values are offering.

Low grade Indian teas are being well competed for in the foreign markets, and prices are firm. Locally, Indian teas are, at the moment, moving only slowly, but an improvement is looked for after the opening of the New Year.

There has been quite an improvement in the demand for Ceylon teas for importation, as well as for those on spot. Prices obtained lately on the local market have been disappointing, and shippers have found a difficulty in obtaining cost on good teas brought to this market. The cause of this was the forcing of teas on this market in advance of requirements. Japan teas are quiet and without feature.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—Wholesalers report that the demand for currants keeps active, and brokers are experiencing a little better business for importation. Prices are steady and unchanged.

VALENCIA RAISINS—There is not very much doing, for the simple reason that the retail trade is well supplied. More offers are being made by representatives of shipping-houses, but the prices asked are often above even what the wholesalers are getting for similar grades of fruit. The prices at which wholesalers are selling are still unsatisfactory, entailing as they do actual loss in some instances. A good business is being done in seeded raisins, at 8 to 8½c. in cartons, and 7 to 7½c. in bulk.

MALAGA RAISINS—Trade does not, on the whole, appear to be satisfactory this season, although some houses have pretty well reduced their stocks. One factor which does not help matters is the variety of the quality shown by fruit put up under similar grades. This, in turn, is causing a wide range in quotations. Our quotations in the prices current list are for first-class brands.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS—There is a good demand for Californian seeded raisins at 10½c. in carton boxes. Those seeded locally are quoted at 9½c. per lb.

PRUNES—There has been a little more business done in Californian prunes for importation. Prices are a little easier on the Coast. A fair business is also being done in Bosnia prunes for importation. Locally, business in prunes is just fair.

CANDIED PEELS—The demand is good. We quote: Lemon, 9½ to 12½c. per lb.; orange, 10½ to 13c.; citron, 15 to 18c.

DATES—Trade is brisk. Supplies, which have been light, were replenished this week. We quote: Hallowee, 6c.; Sairs, 5½c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The Christmas demand for oranges and lemons has opened up nicely. A great business is expected, and large stocks are being laid in by all houses. California navel oranges are the latest variety to arrive on the market. Some beautiful samples have been received by the jobbers. Valencias, Mexicans and Jamaicas are all 25c. cheaper than a week ago. Lemons are steady in price. Sweet potatoes are almost done. The movement of Malaga grapes is moderate. Stocks are plentiful. A decline of 25 to 50c. is noted. Spanish onions are moving quietly at 10c. less than a week ago. Apples are in steady demand, with prices firm. The Christmas movement of cranberries is moderate so far, but it is likely to be very large in a day or so. Prices are firm and unchanged.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The demand keeps brisk, causing an advance of 1c. for boiling stock and a firm feeling in all lines. Strictly fresh eggs are also in great demand, and small lots brought in by farmers bring as high as 24c. Held stock is steady at 15 to 16c., pickled at 14½ to 15½c. Cases bring all the way from 14½ to 16½c.

POTATOES—The market is steady and unchanged at 50 to 55c. for car lots, and 60 to 65c. for small lots on the market.

POULTRY—The great export demand for turkeys has caused a firm feeling for this kind of poultry, resulting in an advance of 1 to 1½c. this week. The price of geese has followed up ½c.; chickens and ducks are 5c. dearer.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—Though prices are steady and unaltered the feeling that a break must ensue seems deep-rooted, and buyers are cautious. No. 1 dried are quoted at 5 to 5¼c. at outside points. Jobbers quote at 5½ to 6c. The movement in evaporated is good at 8¼ to 8½c. outside, and 8½ to 9c. in a jobbing way.

BEANS—Hand-picked continue in good demand at $1 to $1.10. Common stock is steady at 70 to 80c.

VEGETABLES—Prices are unchanged. We quote: Cauliflower, 75 to $1 per doz.; celery, 50 to 75c. per doz.; lettuce, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; radishes, winter, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz; 60 to 85c.; parsley, 10 to 12½c. per doz. bunches; turnips, 30 to 40c. per bag; beets, 50 to 60c. per bag; parsnips, 50 to 60c. per bag; carrots, 50 to 75c. per bag; onions, Danvers, $1.25 to $1.50 per bag; butter squash, $2 to $2.50; pumpkins, $1 to $1.50; Hubbard squash, $2.50 to $3; red cabbage, 40 to 50c.; egg plant, 50 to 90c. per basket.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The demand for dairy butter is moderate, but sufficient to cause an advance of ½c. all round. Creamery is moving briskly, for export demand keeps the market well cleared up. We quote at outside points: Dairy tubs, 11½c.; prints, 11½ to 12½c.; large rolls, 13c.; creamery prints, 18½ to 19½c.; tubs and boxes, 18 to 18½c.

CHEESE—A decidedly firm feeling continues to manifest itself. Early makes continues firm at 9 to 9¼c.; late makes are quoted ½c. higher than last week, 10 to 10½c. now ruling.

PROVISIONS.

Receipts of dressed hogs continue large, causing a decline of 15 to 25c. There is a good steady demand for meats. Hams, backs and breakfast bacon are moving especially well.

FISH.

Haddies are ½ to 1c. dearer. Otherwise no change is noted. We quote as follows: Fresh salmon trout, 6½c.; fresh whitefish, 7½c.; steak trout, 7c. lb.; fresh perch, 3½c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.75 per bbl. and $3 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 55c. per bundle of five; split herring, $5

GRAIN—A decline of 3c. is noted for white wheat, 1½ to 2½c. for red wheat, 2c. for goose wheat on the street market. Coarser grains are unchanged. We quote: Wheat, white, 67 to 68c.; red, 67 to 68c.; goose, 66c.; peas, 65 to 67c.; oats, 30 to 31c.; barley, 49 to 51c.; rye, 50c. No. 1 hard Manitoba has declined 2c., and is now selling at 77 to 78c., Toronto freights.

FLOUR—A decline of 10c. in Ontario grades is noted. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4.15; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.90; Ontario patents, $3.80 to $3.90; straight roller, $3.05 to $3.15, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—No change is noted. We quote as follows: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.70 in bags and $3.70 to $3.90 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.75; pot barley, $3.75.

WOOL—The market is dull at 15c. for fleece and 10c. for unwashed.

SEEDS.

The usual quietness at this time of the year is now in evidence, and the movement is light. Prices are steady. We quote alsike at $2.50 to $4.50, with slightly more for strictly choice samples. Red clover is worth all the way from $3 to $4.50.

SALT

Prices are unaltered. The demand is excellent. We quote as follows: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 54c.

MARKET NOTES.

Ontario flour is 10c. cheaper.

Dressed hogs have declined 15 to 25c.

Refined sugar is 5c. per 100 lb. dearer.

Shipments of shelled walnuts are arriving this week.

The China green tea market, according to a cable to C. H. Anderson, has closed for the season.

Eggs have advanced 1c. Dairy butter is ½c. dearer. Turkeys are 1c. to 1½c. up; geese, ½c.; chickens and ducks, 5c. Cheese is ½c. dearer.

Valencia, Mexican and Jamaica oranges are 25c. cheaper than a week ago. Navels are in at $4 to $4.50. Malaga grapes are 25 to 50c. cheaper.

Rutherford, Marshall & Co. state that the export demand for poultry and butter has been so good of late that the market is in the healthiest state it has been for years, and prices are ruling high. They made one shipment of four tons of butter to the Lower Provinces on Saturday.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Dec. 15, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market does not furnish any special activity at present except in the matter of sorting trade in seasonable goods, such as dried fruits, nuts and spices. In the former, Valencia raisins have been somewhat unsettled, but all other fruits are unchanged. Nuts, generally, are steady; in fact, higher, and spices unchanged. Business in other departments is slight, with few features. Easiness in the west on canned tomatoes has not extended here, and though raw sugar has had a rather abrupt decline in London, the fact has not exerted any influence on the price of refined here, which is unchanged at the advance named by the local refiners last Saturday morning.

SUGAR.

The sugar market, locally, has continued firm, despite considerable fluctuation in London; in fact, refiners' prices here are 5c. higher than they were, and the somewhat abrupt decline in London has exerted little or no influence on them. Car lots of granulated are quoted at $4.55, and yellows at $3.80 to $4.30 per 100 lb., as to quality, at the factory. According to cables from London, raw was weak and decidedly lower; cane, dull at ¾d. decline; Java, 12s. 6d., and fair refining, 10s. 6d. Beet was weak, with present and next month quoted at 9s. 10½d. In New York, raw has been irregular; fair refining, 3 13-16c.; centrifugal, 96 test, 4 7-16c., and molasses sugar, 3 11-16c. Refined, in New York, is quiet, and about steady.

SYRUPS.

Canadian syrup in the wood, is quiet, but steady, at 1¾ to 2¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The firm situation of the molasses market is fully maintained, and the outlook was never more encouraging to holders of Barbadoes stock than it is at present. At the same time, the intrusion of a purely speculative element is calculated to disturb the legitimate channels of trade, so that, while wholesale dealers believe that the goods are worth more money, they prefer to keep their jobbing range unchanged to playing into the hands of the speculators and putting prices above where they should legitimately be.

DRIED FRUIT.

As a result of recent sales of large lots of Valencia raisins, prices on the fruit have been somewhat unsettled since last report, and values are lower all round than they were, though, for select brands there has been no material change in quotations.

California raisins are a light stock on this market, and, what business there is moving, is at firm prices.

Malaga table raisins meet a steady distributive demand for holiday wants, and values are unchanged.

The same remarks apply to sultanas.

There is a good jobbing inquiry for currants, and prices rule much as they were.

Prunes are steady for both European and Californian sorts, both for prompt and forward delivery.

There has been no change either in figs or dates.

NUTS.

Some small lots of new Grenoble walnuts have been received here this week, but the quality is hardly up to expectations, the great complaint being about their dark color. There has been some modification in quotations, as a result of these arrivals, but the outside price is still firmly held. Shelled walnuts have advanced 1 to 2c., and are firm at the rise. Other nuts are unchanged.

CANNED GOODS.

Business in canned goods has been very quiet, and values are steady all round for vegetables, especially corn, while tomatoes, despite low priced sales in the west, are held steady here, none being obtainable in a jobbing way under 90c., while some makes are held as high as $1.

SPICES.

There is a steady demand for these in a small jobbing way. Prices generally are unchanged.

TEA.

The market continues quiet, but very firm, medium and good medium Japan stock costing from 15 to 17c. In blacks, inquiry for Ceylons has been noticeable, and ¾c. advance has been obtained on the prices asked a month ago. Business in greens has been chiefly in Young Hysons, ranging from 12½ to 14c.

COFFEE.

The market continues quiet, while prices remain steady. The only lots of green bag stock moving have been a few Maracaibos in 25 bag lots at 9½ to 10c. Other sorts have been nominal.

GREEN FRUIT.

Business in green fruit has been fairly active despite the cold weather. Valencia oranges, under larger receipts, are somewhat lower than last week and the same can be said of Jamaica stock. Lemons are steady, also Malaga grapes, while cranberries are rather higher than they were.

APPLES.

There is a good movement in sound winter varieties, and values are firm as last quoted.

FISH.

Pickled fish meet a fair demand. We quote jobbing prices as follows: No. 1 Labrador herrings, $4.75 to $5 per bbl.; No. 1 N.S. do., $4.25 to $4.50; N.B. in half-bbbls., $2.25; No. 3 mackerel, $1.50; No. 1 green cod, $4.50 to $5; No. 2, $3.50; B.C. salmon, $13 per bbl. and $7 per ½-bbl.

Prepared fish are unchanged. We quote as follows: Pure boneless codfish, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; dressed or skinless codfish, 4¼c.; soft cured, 3¾c.; dried, $4 per 112 lb.; boneless fish, 3 to 3½c. Haddies, 6 to 7c.; kippered herrings, $1.35 to $1.50 per box; smoked herrings, 10 to 12c., and Yarmouth and bay bloomers, 90c. to $1.

Fresh fish are steady. We quote as follows: Haddock, 3½c.; Manitoba whitefish and dore, 6½c.; pike, 5½c., and B.C. salmon, 13½c. per lb.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was a good demand for small lots of eggs to day, and the market is fairly active and firm. We quote: No. 1 candled, 16c.; No. 2 do., 12½ to 13½c.; Montreal limed, 14½ to 15c.; western limed, 13 to 13½c., and culls, 9c. per doz.

POULTRY—There was an improved demand for poultry, and, as the supply was ample, buyers had no difficulty in filling their wants, and prices show no change. We quote: Turkeys, good to choice, 8 to 8½c.; scalded, 7 to 7½c.; chickens, good to choice, 6 to 8c.; fowls, 4 to 6c.; ducks, 7½ to 8c., and geese, 4 to 6c. per lb.

GAME—The market for partridge was active and firm, all the offerings meeting with a ready sale at 65 to 70c. for firsts, and at 50 to 55c. for seconds per brace.

BEANS—The demand for beans is limited, and prices rule about steady. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel; prime, 85 to 90c.

HONEY—Business in honey continues slow, and prices are nominal. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 7 to 7½c.; dark, 5½ to 6½c.; white extracted, 6 to 6½c., and dark, 4 to 5c.

POTATOES—A fair trade was done in potatoes at steady prices. Car lots of choice sold at 50 to 52c., and common to fair at 40 to 45c. per bag.

PROVISIONS

Trade in provisions was quiet, the demand being chiefly for small lots to fill actual wants, and, in consequence, the market was without any new feature of note. We quote: Canadian pork, in barrels, $11.50 to $16; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 7½ to 7¾c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to 5½c. per lb.; Hams, 10 to 12c. and bacon, 10 to 12c. per lb.

DRESSED HOGS.

There was a good demand for small lots of dressed hogs, and a more active trade was done at steady prices, sales being made at $5.60 to $5.75 for good to choice, and heavy at $5 to $5.25 per 100 lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

GRAIN—There was no material change in the situation of the grain market. The demand for all lines was limited, and business, on the whole, is quiet.

FLOUR—There continues to be a steady demand for flour from local and country buyers in small lots, and trade, on the whole, is fairly active for the season. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $4.00 to $4.25; straight rollers, $3.70 to $3.80; in bags, $1.75 to $1.85; Manitoba patents, $4.50; strong bakers', best, $4.15 to $4.25.

FEED—The demand for feed continues to be in excess of the supply, and, in consequence, the tone of the market is strong, and, in some cases, Manitoba bran is quoted as high as $15, and shorts at $16, and moultrie at $17 per ton, including bags. We quote:

Armada Tea Packer and Simplex Mixer

Said Mr. Minto, of Minto Bros., Wholesale Tea Merchants, Toronto, Ont:

"I will speak a good word for The Armada Tea Packer whenever I can. We are delighted with our machine—so simple and easy to handle."

For prices, write

A. H. Canning & Co.

TORONTO.

Manitoba bran, $14; shorts, $16, and moul-lie, $17 per ton, including bags.

MEAL—A fair business was done in meal, and the market is moderately active and steady at $3.60 per bbl., and at $1.75 per bag for rolled oats.

HAY—There was no change in the market for baled hay. The demand is slow, and trade continues at steady prices. We quote: No. 1, $6.50 to $7.50; No. 2, extra, $5 to $6; No. 2, clover mixture, $4.50 to $5, and clover, $4.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market steadily gathers strength, and those who predict 10c. cheese grow more confident each day. Values here are now held very firmly, and sellers are not disposed to urge sales until after the turn of the year. Nominally 9½c. was the idea for finest Ontario fall makes, and 9½ to 9¾c. for eastern.

Butter ruled steady, with values ranging from 20½c. for strictly finest late made creamery down to 19c. for goods grading under that. There is little doing in dairy stock.

The exports of cheese and butter for the week, via St. John, Portland and other ports were:

MONTREAL NOTES.

There has been a sharp decline both in raw, beet and cane sugars at London.

A few small lots of new Grenoble walnuts have arrived here, and are disappointing as to quality.

Shelled walnuts continue to advance, being from 1 to 2c. higher than last week, and firm at the rise.

Both Valencia and Jamaica oranges have declined slightly in this market, as a result of increased receipts.

The creditors of Daniel Burch, general merchant, of Ruton, met in Hamilton on Tuesday. Burch's liabilities were believed to average from $8,000 to $10,000. Recently he gave a chatel mortgage to his brother for $1,000 which the creditors now seek.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Dec. 13, 1898.

WHILE we are much pleased because of the large and increasing winter export business being done through our port, our importers are not a little disappointed, in fact, not a little indignant, at the rate the mail steamers are charging on goods from Liverpool to our own port. The more, as they compare the rates of this year with those of last, when they remember the rates charged by these same boats to Montreal in the summer; also, when they consider the proportion which through goods pay the steamers, as compared with the rates we are charged for the same distance. While, of course, we do expect to get as low a rate as the steamers' part of the through rate, we feel it is most unfair we should pay nearly double that amount. While the steamer people are saying pleasant things about us, they are showing their favor by discriminating against us in the matter of freight rates. Not only do they charge some 2s. 6d. more than the Beaver Line charged last year, but they do not allow anything for cartage and ferriage, which the Beaver Line allowed. Taking all together, the rates are about 4s. higher this year, on all heavy goods, than last year. We feel there should be some redress. The merchants are, wherever possible, bringing their freight by other than the mail boats. The rates from London are, also, about 4s. below those charged by the Liverpool mail steamers. In business, this has been an active week, for both the whole-sale and retail trade. The latter are very busy. There is little change. Cream of tartar and spices are rather firmer. Wholesale men are small buyers, from the present till after stocktaking. Flour is rather easier, but, in sugars, somewhat to the surprise of the trade, the week closed showing rather higher figures.

OIL—There continues to be some competition in burning oil, but there is less in the city than at some other points in these Lower Provinces. Prices of all grades of burning oil are quoted to city trade ¼c. below last week, some importers not in sympathy with the Standard Oil Company being inclined to cut prices. These importations are, however, small. In other grades trade is quiet. Cod oil, for which this is quite a receiving point, is light sale at this season.

SALT—Small quantities of salt from Liverpool, both for local and western points, continue to arrive, but the trade is of the nature of hand-to-mouth business, as sales are light at this season and supplies quickly procured. In Canadian some light arrivals are noted. Three grades, or rather the output of three manufacturers, are now on the market. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 40 to 45c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1 per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—Little can be said, other branches of business occupying the place of interest at this season. Local prices are still below what the condition of the outside markets warrants. Stocks are quite ample. In canned oysters, for which there is quite a demand here, prices are quoted rather higher, and market is firm.

... PRICES ALWAYS RIGHT ...

Owing to competition, sardines are rather lower, but other lines of canned fish tend higher. In lobsters, the high prices continue, but holders find it difficult to get a further advance, as the sale is affected by the increased cost.

GREEN FRUIT—Valencia oranges are arriving in good condition, though quality is, as yet but fair. The first shipment of large are to hand this week. In apples, prices are firmer, and holders not pushing sales. Good stock is showing a nice profit. Receipts are light, much lighter than usual at this season. Lemons show little change. A few Malagas are now offered. In grapes there is a firm feeling. The holiday season is making a good demand. The weather has been favorable to the handling of fruit. Malaga grapes to hand this season have been good. Sweet potatoes are about over, late shipments arriving in bad condition. Cranberries are firmer, Cape Cods being the only goods offered. Bananas have but a light sale.

DRIED FRUIT—This is a busy line. In raisins very low prices are quoted, some importers being satisfied with small profits. The chief competition is in Valencia layers. Dealers prefer not to carry this line over. Californian raisins firm, with ample stocks. Seeded are having an increased sale. In currants, stocks are light. Dealers find it impossible to keep up with the demand for cleaned. One dealer has cleaned upward of 75 barrels during the last two months. In prunes, Bosnia, French, and California are offered. The last-named are preferred. Prices tend higher. Dried apples are higher, but the demand is on western account. Receipts are not large. Evaporated apples are scarce. Dealers are much surprised at the firmness of the high prices. It means increased demand for prunes. Evaporated peaches and apricots are very high, particularly the latter. There is a light sale. Canadian onions are about all that are offered; prices are higher and stocks small. Nuts, except peanuts, are high, but there is the regular holiday demand.

SUGAR—It was somewhat a surprise to the dealers that prices were slightly advanced. Little is being done in foreign sugars. The refineries watch the situation very closely and meet the competition, but only just to the least possible extent, taking advantage of the fact that barrels are preferred to bags. There is a good trade doing.

MOLASSES—The big sale is over. Dealers are inclined to let stocks run out. A small cargo, rather under two hundred casks, arrived direct this week. It found a ready sale at good figures, but showed little advance. Stocks are light.

PRODUCE—Eggs are firmer, but, except for strictly fresh, little further advance is expected. Limes, where quality is good, have a better demand. Butter is also rather firmer. Some shipments of Ontario dairy butter, both rolls and tubs, are to hand this week. Quality good, and a fair price was obtained. Quality is necessary if quick sales are desired. Cheese shows an improved position, but for local consumption prices are still low.

FISH—Dealers begin to look for trade in frozen fish, but owing to fish being scarce, a large business is not expected. In dry cod prices are higher, with light stocks. Pollock is also quoted higher; receipts have not more than kept up with demand, but sales will be lighter now. Pickled herring is still high, and Grand Manan is about the only grade offered. Smoked herring is quiet; some small shipments have been made to Glasgow. Shad are quite plentiful, with but limited sale. Finnan haddies keep scarce, but prices show no change. In boneless fish sale is light. Kipper herring and bloaters are firm. We quote: Large cod, $3.60 to $3.70; medium, $3.55 to $3.60; pollock, $1.50 to $1.60; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.85 to $1.90 ½-bbl.; Canso, pickled, $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 5c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.; finnan haddies, 4 to 4½c.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c.; spring shad, $3.75 to $4 ½-bbl.; fall do., $4.75 to $5; ½-bbl.; alewives, $3 per bbl.; kippered herring, $1; bloaters, 40 to 60c.; Shelburne, $3.75 per bbl.; Grand Manan herring, $3.40 to $3.50 per bbl.; quoddy, $3.50 ½ bbl.

PROVISIONS—Pork and beef are somewhat quiet. The former are easier, but beef is quoted higher. Fair stocks are held. In lard there is a good sale. Prices tend rather easier, but there is little change.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Ontario flours seem easier, with millers more anxious to sell. There is a fair trade. Feed continues scarce and high, while oatmeal shows no change. Oats are quoted higher. Dealers are being quite largely supplied with meal bought at figures well below present prices. Cornmeal, while moving freely, shows no change in price. Beans are still easy in this market. Dealers look for rather lower figures. Barley and peas are still high. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.80 to $5; best Ontario, $4 to $4.25; medium, $3.75 to $3.95; oatmeal, $3.75 to $3.85; cornmeal, $2; middlings, $19 to $20; bran, $17 to $18; oats, 35 to 40c.; hand-picked beans, $1.10 to $1.20; prime, 95 to $1; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.60 to $3.75; hay, $7 to $8; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¾ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Wm. Rankine, retail grocer, is in financial difficulties.

North Shore fishermen are finding quite a demand for eels.

O. L. Price, of Parrsboro', shipped one ton of spruce gum to New York this week.

Over 2,000 boxes P. E. Island cheese were shipped to England this week via Halifax.

W. R. Miles, representing Peek Bros. & Winch, has gone home to London to spend the holidays.

J. J. Murray, representing Alex. W. Grant, passed through St. John this week on his way to Liverpool.

J. G. Crosby received the last direct consignment of Porto Rico molasses of the season this week, a small cargo of 124 casks.

The Fruit Growers' Association of Prince Edward Island are much pleased by the returns received from their first shipment of apples to Liverpool.

At the annual meeting of The St. John Board of Trade, the president, D. J. McLaughlin, was reelected, as was the vice-president, W. M. Jarvis.

Lumber business at all points is very light this year. Exports from Moncton for November are about $40,000 below that month last year, largely because of the decrease in that one line.

St. John imports for November were $270,793; exports, $237,656, two-thirds of which was lumber. The amount of rebate received by importers, because of the preferential rate, was $1,843.55.

CANADIAN CAVIARE IN DEMAND.

Another Canadian product has been exported to Great Britain, and been received with favor. A shipment of 1,500 lb. of caviare, the roe of fish from the great lakes, has been sent from Rat Portage to London, through the efforts of the Canadian Department of the Imperial Institute. It was sent in cold storage.

The demand for caviare throughout the United Kingdom is a large and rapidly-increasing one. The best product arriving on the market comes from Russia. The Canadian shipment is said to closely resemble it, and to be much superior to a large proportion of that arriving there.

As the article brings high prices, it is devoutly wished that the trade may assume large proportions.

"SALADA" IN A CLOCK TOWER.

The large clock space in the tower of the new city hall building, Toronto, is likely to be empty for some time. Knowing this, the Salada Tea Co. has written the Mayor offering to rent the space for advertising purposes. Mayor Shaw has notified the company that its proposition will be submitted to the Board of Control for consideration.

BYRRH

Appetising and Tonic Wine.

Sole Proprietors: VIOLET FRERES, THUIR, France.

BYRRH is a Wine universally admitted as possessing superior tonic qualities, and is also the BEST APPETISER KNOWN. It is made from exceptionally rich and old wines, well blended with bitter substances. It contains all the properties of the former, and is absolutely free from the corrosive influence of alcohol, which forms the basis of most of the so-called appetisers offered to the public.

BYRRH is to be taken by itself, and is recommended as an excellent, wholesome and most appetising wine.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 12, 1898.

THE market this week is singularly barren of news; prices are stationary. The wholesales' Christmas goods have been shipped, and, with the exception of some small assorting orders, the trade is confined to the ordinary consumptive demand.

Wheat is deadly dull. With the close of navigation, the drop in price was marked, and deliveries are small indeed. In fact, the decrease in deliveries has surprised even the grain men. There seems to be a general belief, on the part of the farmers, that prices will improve after the New Year. Grain men are very dubious about this, and views vary. But there is no doubt that every farmer who can hold his wheat is doing so. The price for No. 1 hard, on a standard rate of freight, is only 47c.

The supply of hogs is increasing, and the price has dropped slightly. Live hogs are quoted at $4.75, and dressed at $5.75. Cured meats are without change, but the feeling of the market is much easier.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Creamery butter is quiet, few purchases being made, as the dealers here seem to have a sufficient supply on hand for the trade. Dealers' price to retailers is 22 to 23c. per lb. Dairy butter is very slow, and the market is weaker. Price paid: 14 to 15c., with 16c. for some choice lots.

EGGS—Fresh gathered are scarce, indeed, at 18 to 19c.; cold storage, 17 to 18c.; pickled, 16 to 17c.

GREEN FRUIT—Market is steady, with no changes. California oranges, clean stock, are selling at $4.50 to $5; Mexicans, $4 to $4.50. Bananas are scarce, a few bunches arriving by express. Lemons, $4.50 to $5; Italian chestnuts, 15c. per lb.; apples, $3.75 to $4.50, according to variety.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—Market is firm and without change.

DRIED FRUITS—The sale of currants and raisins has not been so large as anticipated.

In canned goods, coffees, rice and sugar the market has remained stationary for the entire week.

WHITE BREAD OR BROWN BREAD.

A RECENT hospital report, by Drs. Lauder Brunten and Tunnicliffe, deals with the relative digestibility of white and brown bread. It is thus summarized in the British Medical Journal, November 5: "On the strength of certain experiments, which they describe in full, they feel justified in concluding that the higher nutritive value, which might, on purely chemical grounds, be ascribed to brown bread, cannot be maintained from the physiological side. With regard to fats and mineral constituents, on the other hand, distinctly less of the nutritive materials actually got into the blood in the case of brown than of white bread. White bread is, weight for weight, more nutritious than brown. It thus would appear that the preference given by operatives in large towns to white bread has, to a certain extent, a sound physiological basis. In the case of people with irritable intestines, white bread is to be preferred to brown. In the case of people with sluggish bowels, brown bread may be preferable to white, as it tends to maintain peristalsis and insures regular evacuation of the bowels. If the proportion of mineral ingredients—and especially of lime salts—in other articles of food or drink be insufficient, brown bread is preferable to white. It is possible that in the case of operatives living chiefly upon bread and tea, the preference for white bread which prevails may be responsible—in part, at least—for the early decay of the teeth. * * * Lastly, Drs. Brunton and Tunnicliffe are of opinion that if the dietary be insufficient in fat, or if the patient be unable to digest fat readily in other forms, brown bread may possibly be preferable to white. The authors rightly dwell on the absurdity of taking the mere chemical composition of a foodstuff as an index of its nutritive value. 'A stick of charcoal, the atmospheric air, a little water, and some sea salt, contain all the elements of a typical diet, and in ample quantity.' Hence, it is not always a question of what a foodstuff contains, but how it contains it."

TRADE CHAT.

CHATHAM, Ont., will soon vote on a by-law to guarantee the interest on $15,000 for the establishment of a cold storage plant.

R. M. Griffin, grocer, Hespeler, Ont., has sold out to Klager & Coleman.

Over 15,000 bbls. of apples have been shipped from Berwick, N.S., this season.

Fire did $600 damage to the grocery store of Wm. McEwen, Hull, Que., the other day.

The Kent Mills Co., Chatham, Ont., shipped two carloads of beans to Boston one day last week.

Cole & Judge, of Thamesford, Ont., shipped 3,000 turkeys for the Old Country the other day.

The Pabst Brewing Co. have bought a lot in Vancouver, where they intend erecting bottling works 100 by 30 feet in size.

Sixty-five carloads of turkeys, comprising over 80,000 birds, have been purchased within a month by one firm in Montreal.

About 1,500,000 salmon trout eggs and 2,000,000 whitefish eggs will be hatched out at the Government hatchery at Ottawa this year.

Price & Armes, grocers, Owen Sound, Ont., have moved into larger premises and intend to extend their business considerably this winter.

Bradford Bros., general merchants, Granby, Que., have dissolved, C. H. Bradford retiring. W. D. Bradford will continue in his own name.

The exports of grain from Montreal during the season just closed are reported to have been 20,000,000 bushels in excess of the exports of 1897.

The members of the South Finch, Ont., cheese and dairy board held a meeting on December 16 to consider the establishment of a cold storage warehouse at some point on the Ottawa and New York railway.

The creamery at Chatham, Ont., has begun operations. About 100 lb. of butter per day are manufactured. This amount will be increased until 2,000 lb. per day, the capacity of the plant, are manufactured.

C. E. Mason, representing The Storekeeper, the official organ of the Saginaw, Mich., Retail Merchants' Association, is doing Sarnia, Ont., and Port Huron, Mich., in the interests of the excursion that will be conducted by the grocers of Saginaw and other points to Sarnia next July.

The local output of butter from the creamery at Regina, N.W.T., in the past season was 25,447 lb. The Mounted Police were purchasers of 6,006 lb., and there were other sales in Regina, aggregating 2,599 lb. The balance, 16,842 lb., was shipped to the British Columbia markets.

A St. Catharines despatch says there is a proposal on foot to establish a big factory at Thorold for the manufacture of caustic soda and bleaching powder from salt brought from Goderich. The factory will cover about five acres of ground, and it is intended that not less than 100 tons of these goods will be turned out for export at a time.

The latest citizen who is said to have entered the mayoralty contest for 1899 is Mr. John C. Trebilcock, the well-known grocer. Talking to some friends on the market the other morning, Mr. Trebilcock announced his intention of running. Whether he is joking or not later developments will tell.—London News.

The assessment of $200,000 on personalty, owned by The T. Eaton Co., Limited, was confirmed on Tuesday by decision of Judge McDougall. The Eaton company had appealed against the assessment. They were ordered to show their books to the civic officials. The city objected that the information furnished by the company, upon that order, was not sufficient, and the court so held. The appeal was, therefore, dismissed.

AMONG TORONTO RETAILERS.

Circular Advertising.

Unquestionably, one of the most difficult problems of the retail grocer to-day is to find the best method of advertising one's business. In the country towns, or in a city of such size that one can cater to the trade of the whole place and the neighboring country, it is not likely a better medium will be found for some time to come than the local papers. But, in a city like Toronto or Montreal, in the majority of instances the grocers do not expect or want orders from all quarters of the city. Therefore, the dailies, while being of undoubted value, cover such a lot of ground that the average grocer does not hope to cover, that regular advertising in them would cost more than the returns would justify.

D. W. Clark, corner Nassau street and Bellevue avenue, has for some time followed a plan which he finds profitable, and which might be successfully carried out by many doing business on a residential rather than a business street in any of the larger cities. He has printed, at regular intervals, circulars giving a list of the special values he is offering, and giving any information concerning his store that he desires to have his customers know of. The circular issued last told of a special sale of coffee, when the regular prices would be reduced 5c. per lb. Mince meat, prunes, apples, flour, etc., were offered at special prices. Emphasis was laid on the fact that strictly new laid eggs, fresh oysters and haddies are received every day, and that Clark's store is noted for keeping in stock choice butter, ham, and bacon. The circular was similar in every respect to a live country merchant's advertisement in a local weekly. The circulars are distributed among customers and those who might be induced to become customers.

The advantages of this method of advertising are apparent. During the time I was in Mr. Clark's store, the other day, fully nine out of ten of the customers entering were children. Naturally, they would not have authority to buy anything they saw offered for special sale, but the circulars would inform the "powers that be" in the home of the "specials," and the children would be given instructions to buy certain goods that the circular suggested as worth getting.

In speaking of the value of circular advertising, Mr. Clark showed me a letter he received the other day, from a brother in Johannesburg, South Africa, who advised him to commence this very system, which is quite popular with the merchants of Johannesburg.

In conjunction with this method of advertising, Mr. Clark brings into service a characteristic of much value to the person possessing it. He seems to be thoroughly acquainted with the children who enter his store, and treats them as well as he would older customers. I have seen enough of store life to know how well this pays.

An Effective Christmas Window. I saw a simple window display the other evening that attracted a good deal of attention. The window was a long, narrow and well-lighted one. A stand, about three feet high at the front and running back about 30 inches in a slanting shape, was covered the full length with cranberries. The bright red effect thus created was relieved by two words "Christmas Goods," printed by imbedding apples in the cranberries.

THE RAMBLER.

WHO IS THE CHAMPION?

Quite a large proportion of the grocers of Toronto are inclined to be "sporty," so there is generally a good deal of interest taken in any game or competition among members of the trade.

Interest is now centered in a competition for the pedro championship of the city, now going on between a Bellevue avenue grocer and a traveler for a Yonge street house on one side, and a Yonge street grocer and a traveler for breakfast foods on the other.

At present victory seems to rest with the latter couple, but as the former pair are doughty warriors, the end has yet to be determined.

MEAT CURING SALT.

For this purpose we make a special quality of salt that is largely used by prominent Canadian packing-houses. Some of these firms are very particular---they have a large export business in choice bacon for the critical English market---yet they find our meat salt equal to the highest grades of imported salt at twice the price. We are anxious to ship a trial carload to any pork-packer who has not yet tried it.

COARSE SALT.

Our stocks of this at present are unusually good ---clean and dry, and ready for immediate shipment.

COLEMAN'S DAIRY SALT.

Your Own Christmas Dinner

You want it
"just right," of course, and your wife tries her best to make it so. Does she buy inferior quality of groceries at such a time as this? We think not! Would you, in her place?

And there are more Holidays coming, you know. Try and put your own self in the position of the woman who does the ordering for the family table—in Holiday time. Merry Christmas to you, and a good Christmas dinner, too!

Three Suggestions

Codou's Macaroni.

It doesn't "break up" when a woman is boiling it. It is white and tender, because made from Russian Wheat.

When buying it, it will pay you to see if the name "P. Codou" is stamped plainly on the package. "P. Codou" is the name.

Fry's Cocoa and Chocolates.

You know what the name "Fry" means in Cocoa and Chocolate (the "Diamond Sweet" Chocolate).

Let others know, too, and profit thereby yourself.

Absolutely pure Cocoa that dissolves very easily. Concentrated, hence economical to use in the house.

Moir-Wilson's Kippered Herrings.

The highest quality there is in choice, selected Herrings—perfect!

Packed at their Deeside preserved provision works at Aberdeen. Rich and delicate in flavor.

Their Herring in Tomato Sauce has obtained an international reputation as a breakfast delicacy.

Sold by leading wholesalers everywhere.

pound, and 30c. per pound. It is also made in other graduations of prices per pound, thus providing for all prices usually prevailing in meat markets and butcher stalls. The operation is purely automatic.

The article to be weighed is placed upon the scale, and the value is instantly shown in the graduated circle immediately opposite the required per pound. Dayton Spring Balance Scales are made in three different

DICK WICKETT'S CHRISTMAS.

By H. C. Ficklen.

IT was night. A great drab fog hung over the city, and that was what made the cold so intense. The snow had been shoveled from the sidewalks and was almost breast-high in the gutters. There was an ephemeral, dancing, iridescent nimbus around each of the electric lamps—a harbinger of more snow to-morrow.

A good many persons hoped it would snow to-morrow. It would be so jolly, they thought. But others checked them, and said: "Think of the poor; coal is way up yonder."

But, however, it was not yet the morrow. It was, as I have said, the night before—a cold, damp, mist-laden, snowbound, ideal night, for the time of year.

Oh, it was cold! Everybody said: "Jewhilikins, but ain't it cold!" "Great Scott! I'm nearly frozen!" or "It's colder than last Christmas eve—a long ways!"

But everybody was happy. Of course everybody was happy. People's faces were blithe and expectant, their step was quick and buoyant.

The truth was that every man in the passing crowd had in his mind an image of the cheerful and love-lit fireside at home—whither he was hastening. And nobody really minded the cold.

Cold? Foggy? Disagreeable? Why, it was a glorious night! All the people on the street said they liked it. It was just the sort of night they had read about in the stories in all the Christmas numbers of the papers.

Most of the stores had closed up, for it was quite half-past nine o'clock, and the shopping was about over.

Did I say all the stores were closed? I think not. Oh, no, most of them were, but the big department house of Skoop & Scrannell was still open. Yes, indeed! Old Skoop wanted it known that he was always willing to accommodate the public. He would have kept open all day Christmas if people were not such fools as to fritter away their time in merrymaking.

Skoop used to say that a store was a store, and ought never to be barred against anybody. He was almost sorry he didn't handle drugs and medicines too, so that he might require some of his men to be night clerks, and keep open on Sundays.

Yes, unquestionably, Skoop was a boor and a soulless old skinflint. If there was ever any milk of human kindness in him, he had long since gone dry.

He lived within himself, and it is not surprising that he was so narrow. He was cold and repellent.

I won't have it that Skoop was a bit less mean than any other similar character, fictitious or real, that was ever depicted by more celebrated authors or raconteurs, because Skoop made a specialty of being all that I tell you, and more.

I can't give you any adequate conception of him, but nobody shall outdo me in this particular line.

I repeat, Skoop was the dickens of a fellow. He was a curmudgeon, a niggard, a lickpenny, a vampire, a muckworm and a hunk.

And he was a hard master withal. So poor Dick Wickett—honest soul!—was thinking as he stood there that night behind the big counter and wondered if closing hour would ever come. So all the clerks thought. "How those fellows must hate him!" said everybody outside who knew the establishment. And they had good grounds for the observation, for Skoop was always suspecting, or bullying or humiliating them in some way. He delighted to hold a discharge over some straitened fellow; and whenever the house was forced into subscribing to a monument or exposition fund as an advertisement, Skoop always assessed his clerks roundly, so that they might feel that they were members of the firm and take an interest in its reputation.

But I was telling you about Dick Wickett. Of course he longed for closing hour. A man gets no consolation from haberdashery and a bargain counter when he is hungry, and neither Dick nor any one in the store but Old Skoop had had a mouthful of supper.

But that was not Dick's greatest disappointment. He had been stinting and saving a few quarters out of his scandalously meagre salary for months, in order, as he said, "to have a little something for Christmas." And to-night he had counted on getting off early—in time to take Jenny, his wife, and Susan—the eldest girl—there wasn't a finer accordion pleater in Brooklyn than Sue—and Mary and Jack and little Dick into the top gallery of a theatre.

But Skoop had conceived in his inner consciousness that the present season was an abnormally busy one, and, accordingly, in the matter of closing, he departed even from the former departures he had made. So when Dick screwed up his courage to a pitch that would have immortalized him on a battlefield, and asked Skoop's permission to go, his petition was not only refused with scorn and contumely, but also came near provoking his outraged employer to an assault.

And Dick's diminutive frame had shrunk up until it was almost unequal to holding his leal and cheery heart. He just hoped Jenny and the children would not take the matter too hard, and he was sorry he had mentioned his plan. A surprise was always the best course, especially if it was likely to be nipped in the bud before you could spring it on the beneficiary.

He had adopted such tactics a few nights before when he had gone out to the corner grocery, and, out of his holiday reserve fund, bought a box of raisins, at reduced rates because it was a "broken" box, and the other materials for a plum pudding, to be made by his mother's recipe, such as would afford the Wickett family an unwonted experience and make it enthusiastic for a whole year to come.

"Well," he now reflected thankfully, "the night before Christmas isn't the whole of it."

Once out of the store Dick flew home like an uncaged bird. All his vexations vanished before the thoughts of the day to come. He was not a vindictive fellow, and as he thought of Skoop and his loveless life he pitied the selfish old man.

How much happier he was than Skoop with all his money! Then he fell to thinking how different Skoop's Christmas would be from his own. How could Skoop help knowing that not a creature in the world cared for him? Awful to think of!

Dick tried the experiment of putting himself in Skoop's place. He realized his isolation and the reaction of his selfishness. Then, too, what of Skoop's prospects in the next world?

He had started this mental comparison of Skoop's state with his own to add to his content, but he now reproached himself for gloating over poor Skoop's relative wretchedness—and at this time of all others.

A great flood of Christmastide charity filled his heart, and, rapid as was his pace, he had done a deal of thinking, struggled with strong emotions, and was in the glow of a fixed determination, before he reached his door.

He burst in upon the crestfallen little company that were sitting up for him in his combination parlor, dining-room and chamber, with "A merry Christmas, my darlings!" After he had kissed them all around and had little Dick upon his knee, Mrs. Wickett said:

"I suppose that hateful old thing kept you on purpose, Dick, dear?"

"Jenny," said Mr. Wickett, with a look of gentle reproach, "is there an almanac in the house? Suppose you refer to it and see what day this is. There are the children, my dear, and I never saw them more attentive."

I don't know whether Dick Wickett had read Dickens or not, but that is what he said at any rate.

"Oh, Dick, you're a good man, and I know what you mean, but its good will to men we must have, and old Skoop isn't human," replied Mrs. Wickett.

"He has been kind to us, after all, Jenny," answered Dick.

"When," said she. "When you helped the truckman with the box of goods, and it fell on your leg and broke it, didn't he dock you for the time you lost?"

"Yes, but consider my dear, he might have discharged me. Oh, Jenny, I have been thinking of this blessed season as I come home—of how it is better to give than to receive—and of that poor old man whose meanness has perhaps crept upon him imperceptibly and made him miserable. It might soften him if some one would return love for his hate. It's a cross to do it, perhaps, but Christmas is a time for sacrifices and good deeds. I have thought it all over, and do you know what I want to do Jenny? May I be forgiven if I wrong my own, but I believe we shall all be happier for it. Jenny, I want to send our plum pudding over to Mr. Skoop with my best wishes."

I shall not detail the rejoinder, nor the scene that followed this noble utterance of Dick Wickett. I shall draw a veil over the brief misunderstanding and the tearful reconciliation.

Suffice it to say that the Wickett plum pudding—the whole of it, lest Mr. Skoop should argue that they merely sent what was left over—went into old Skoop's door before noon the next day, being carried there, with the right sort of note, by young Dick Wickett.

* * * * *

And Skoop. What of him? Well, there were strange goings on in Skoop's rooms, too, on Christmas Eve. The old sinner had expected to be bored by the holiday to the last degree.

Everybody would be happy, and that was enough to disgust Skoop ordinarily. He really did not know how he should get through with the day.

As he left the store that night, with this thought uppermost in his mind, he had picked up at haphazard two or three books published in a cheap paper "library," exposed for sale on his book counter.

It was an unusual thing for Skoop to do, for he had not wasted any time reading for years and years. But this holiday promised to be peculiarly oppressive to him, and he wanted something to pass the time, and this was a dernier resort with him.

As he sat shivering around his travesty of a Yule log, he picked up one of the books with an indifferent air to see what it was. It was a wonder he ever opened the cover. But he did. He read it far into the night. It was a wonder! For what do you suppose he had got hold of? Here is what the title page said: "A Christmas Carol. By Charles Dickens."

Of course it was the queerest coincidence that ever happened. But the strangest thing was that Skoop read with such intense interest.

At first he affected a lofty disdain for the book. And then all of a sudden the spell of the story came over him. His head fell on his breast, but he read on. Did he see the parallelism between Scrooge and himself, and between Bob Cratchit and Dick Wickett? Of course he did. Skoop had been a mean man, but, let me tell you, reader, he was just as smart as you.

Yes, he saw himself as others saw him, and he was frightened at his own loathsomeness. For the first time he saw that he was avaricious and contemptible—that he was grinding his employes and robbing them of their labor.

A great light broke over Skoop. Before he went to bed he knew that he was a changed man.

In the morning he was conscious of a slight revulsion of feeling. He would have liked to put himself under the pilotage of the Ghost of Christmas Present. He doubted if Dick Wickett would ever drink his health as Bob Cratchit did Mr. Scrooge's.

Then the pudding came.

* * * * *

There was a great surprise in store for honest Dick Wickett the morning after Christmas. Now don't clap your hands and say "I'm so glad, he deserved it."

Of course it is expected that people who start in to read a Christmas story will foresee all the ramifications of plot and sight the denouement miles away in the offing, and I give you credit, reader, for the average discernment and penetration. Still, premature applause is not complimentary to the applauder.

So no interruptions, please, at this critical juncture. Let me finish just as if you did not know all about it.

I said there was a surprise for Dick Wickett the morning after Christmas. Did he walk down to the store and find Old Skoop waiting at the door to raise his salary?

Not a bit of it. He was arrested before he got up.

Skoop had died suddenly Christmas night—so suddenly and mysteriously that an autopsy was held, and the cause of death was found to be arsenical poisoning.

The analysis of a half-eaten plum pudding revealed the presence of arsenic in large quantities, and said pudding was easily traced to Richard Wickett, who was promptly arraigned and committed on a charge of murder.

* * * * *

Of course, reader, you and I know that Dick Wickett was innocent. We may even know that this tragic occurrence was due solely to a grocer who kept "Rough on Rats" lying around loose in too close proximity to open boxes of raisins.

But, unfortunately, we who constitute the best and most knowing portion of the community take pains to keep our names off the jury lists, and, therefore, none of us served on the panel which tried Dick Wickett.

And—would you believe it?—that grocer, fearing to lose customers, or apprehending something even worse, if he admitted his criminal carelessness, swore that he sold Dick a box of "Rough on Rats."

And as to motive, why, the jury appears to have thought that any man in the employ of Old Skoop had ample motive for murder. At any rate, they convicted him, and—it was before the passage of the electrical execution law—he was sentenced to be hanged.

You will be glad to hear, however, that the grocer was finally appalled at the prospect of having innocent blood on his hands as the result of his perjury, and interested himself in Dick's behalf. He had a "pull" of some kind in his ward, and managed to induce the governor to commute the sentence to imprisonment for life.

Dick Wickett is now in Auburn State Prison. If ever you go there, look him up.

And as to Mrs. Wickett. Well, of course, as the maker of the pudding, she had been indicted along with her husband, but a neat and conclusive piece of evidence cleared her.

But, she had obtained so much notoriety from the case that, if only to support the family left dependent upon her, she went on the stage, and is now starring it out west somewhere as Lucrezia Borgia.

And as to Skoop. Well, I can't speak positively about him. We shall be obliged to give Skoop the benefit of the doubt.—The Quaker.

GOOD MANNERS.

SOME persons wield a sceptre before which others seem to bow in glad obedience. But whence do they obtain such magic power? What is the secret of that almost hypnotic influence over people which we would give anything to possess?

Courtesy is not always found in high places. Even royal courts furnish many examples of bad manners. At an entertainment given by the Prince and Princess of Wales, to which, of course, only the very cream of the cream of society was admitted, there was such pushing and struggling to see the Princess, who was then but lately married, that, as she passed through the reception rooms, a bust of the Princess Royal was thrown from its pedestal and damaged, and the pedestal upset; and the ladies, in their eagerness to see the Princess, actually stood upon it.

Mirabeau was one of the homeliest men in France. It was said that he had "the face of a tiger pitted by smallpox," but the charm of his manner was almost irresistible.

Madame de Stael was anything but beautiful, but she possessed that indefinable something before which mere conventional beauty cowers, commonplace and ashamed. Her hold upon the minds of men was wonderful. They were the creatures of her will, and she shaped careers as if she were omnipotent. Even the Emperor Napoleon feared her influence over his people so much that he destroyed her writings and banished her from France.—Pushing to the Front.

TOMATO PASTE.

A new edible, known as tomato paste, has been manufactured this fall by a South Jersey firm of canners, according to American Packer. It is made from the peelers' waste at the cannery. The waste is carried by a chain of buckets from the dump into a revolving cylinder of sieves. All the quintessence is here extracted and goes by gravitation into tanks of several hogsheads each, the seed, skin and hard green pieces going into the creek. The pulp rises to the top of the tanks and the juice is let out of plug holes. The pulp is put in manila bags and heavily weighted to press all the juice out that is possible. The pulp is next put into a trough and seasoned with salt and spiced water and put in barrels. To prepare it for market it is packed in different sized cans, the cans after being capped subjected to a hot-water bath to remove the acid and other foreign substance.

GOOD BOOKKEEPING AND POOR BOOKKEEPING.

The bookkeeping of a business is its historical record, writes Walton Day in an exchange. The record, to be of real value, must not only be correct in details, but must also be scientific in arrangement. The foundation upon which bookkeeping rests is the science of accounts. Scientific bookkeeping, therefore, is the only kind of bookkeeping which the progressive business man can tolerate. Bookkeeping, as an art, may be defined as the practical application of the principles of accounts to the records of business. Whatever methods embody the correct application of these principles, constitute good bookkeeping. On the other hand, those methods which neglect or violate the principles of accounts, serve to illustrate poor or inadequate bookkeeping.

THE CHRISTMAS TURKEY TRADE.

SINCE the days of the feudal barons, when, at Yuletide, a whole ox was roasted on the hearth, roast beef and plum pudding have been associated with Christmas in the English mind.

But the ox reigns not in the New World. When the Pilgrims settled in New England, they found in the wooded districts of Massachusetts, a large, wild bird, difficult to catch, but well worth catching, namely, the turkey. This bird, which grew in its wild state to even a greater size than it reaches in domestication, abounded in all the New England States, and the delicacy of its flesh was such that it soon on most special occasions took the central position on the festive board.

As the country became better settled it was found that the wild turkey was a native of the new world from Canada to South America, and at one time Benjamin Franklin advocated its adoption as the emblematic bird of the United States.

It was soon discovered that this, the largest of gallinaceous birds, was capable of domestication, and it was imported into Great Britain by Cabot, into Spain by early Spanish discoverers from Mexico, and is now to be found in almost every civilized section of the world.

The meat of the domesticated turkey is not as rich as that of the wild bird, but it has few, if any, superiors, among the birds or beasts at the disposal of general humanity.

For the Thanksgiving and Christmas dinner in Canada and the United States the turkey is supreme. In Great Britain it has constantly grown in favor, and the reign of the ox is not likely to extend many years into the new century.

For years, the farmers, or, rather, the farmers' wives, of Ontario, have raised a flock of turkeys. They demand little care, foraging for themselves, eating insects, grasshoppers, seeds, nuts, etc., nearly all season.

Previous to the McKinley Bill, Canada exported considerable quantities of poultry, principally turkeys, to the United States, $49,233 worth going there in the year ending June, 1890, the year previous to the passage of the McKinley Bill.

After the passage of that Bill, our total annual exportation of poultry was less than half that amount for some years. In 1895, our export of poultry was valued at $20,091. In the following year, the United States poultry-raisers were unable to supply their markets, and we sent over turkeys, etc., to the value of $67,482. We sent $5,451 worth to Great Britain in that year.

In 1897, the demand from Great Britain absorbed $43,279, and the United States took $65,488 of poultry from us. Last year, the exportation was heavier still; this year, the demand, especially from Great Britain, has been unprecedented. An idea of the growth of our export trade with Great Britain may be grasped from the fact that one steamer from St. John, N.B., the other day, took turkeys to the value of $50,000 to Liverpool, nearly $7,000 more than our total export to Great Britain two years ago.

The system of marketing turkeys varies considerably in different sections of Ontario, as the two following extracts will show:

Tuesday and Wednesday were Perth's poultry fair days. Only about 10 tons of poultry were purchased on Tuesday, the great majority of the farmers having sold to buyers before the fair. The annual turkey fair, through the instrumentality of Arthur Meighen & Bros., grew from a very small one, composed of half a dozen sellers, to hundreds at the present day. On Wednesday, about the same quantity of poultry was sold. The ruling price was 9c. for turkeys, with a few lots selling as high as 10c., and 6 to 7c. for geese. The poultry sold here is principally turkeys, which are brought in dressed by the farmers. Most of them are sold for Manitoba and British Columbia markets.—Perth Expositor.

Thursday last was a busy day in Walkerton, Whitehead's turkey delivery being mainly the cause. From early morning until noon farmers' teams, in quick succession, kept on arriving, until 130 farmers had delivered fowl to Mr Whitehead, the number of birds so delivered being 1,731. They were all live birds, and were intended for the British market, but will be killed either at Toronto or Montreal. One farmer's wife delivered 46 birds, all of her own raising. The average weight of the turkeys was a fraction over 11 lb. Mr. Whitehead loaded a car at Paisley on Tuesday of this week, and on Friday he will load another car at Elmwood.—Walkerton Telescope.

While it is pleasing to note the growth of our export trade, it is even with more pleasure that we note the fact that the consumption at home is growing.

The commission houses in Toronto report that there has been a healthy demand for turkeys and geese from the more poorly settled portions of the Province—from sections where, in past years, the settlers contented themselves with barrel pork, bacon and hams.

A MAP CALENDAR.

One of the most unique and useful calendars which has been issued, at least so far, this season is that which is now being circulated among the trade by The Eby, Blain Co., Limited. The main part of the calendar consists of a colored map of the world, showing, not only the different cities, towns, mountains, rivers, etc., but giving the distance of the different ocean routes between the different countries. On the margin of the map is given the area and population of every country in the world together with directions as to its location. The calendar is not only for the coming year of 1899, but also for the following year, but the map which the calendar contains will probably be kept for use as long as it is possible to preserve it.

The travelers of Boeckh Bros. & Company are all in the warehouse, getting their samples ready for next season's trade.

ORGANIZING AGAINST TRADING STAMPS.

OPPPOSITION to the trading stamp scheme is generating. In Woodstock a fine has been imposed under the Transient Traders' Act, and cases are pending in other towns.

But one of the most significant signs is the organized opposition of the merchants. It is the most pronounced at present in Great Britain and the United States, but it is coming into evidence in Canada.

Last week the merchants in Galt, Ont., held a meeting and decided to have nothing to do with the trading stamp company, and signed an agreement to that effect.

The merchants in other cities and towns in Canada should follow the example set by their Galt confreres.

The trading stamp principle is unbusinesslike, alluring merchants, as it does, into allowing themselves to become the salesmen of the trading stamp company's goods, and, furthermore, into supplying the money out of their profits for paying for them as well.

If only one merchant in each branch of trade in each town had a monopoly of the trading stamps, it may be possible that he might attract such a large trade that he would be the gainer thereby. But no one can have a monopoly as long as his competitors are prepared to follow his example. In Toronto, to-day, nearly every storekeeper gives trading stamps, street car tickets, or something else of the same character.

The result, therefore, is that each storekeeper is toward the other on exactly the same footing as he was before the advent of the trading stamp.

But, while the storekeepers are toward each other on the same footing, each is also doing business at a smaller percentage of profit. Merchants are realizing this, and several have been heard to express an opinion to the effect that they wished they could get out of the tangle into which they had permitted themselves to be weaved.

What, of course, is the merchant's loss is the trading stamp company's gain. In other words, the merchant pays the piper and others enjoy the music.

PAYMENT OF ACCOUNTS BEFORE THE NEW YEAR.

WITH the approach of the New Year, most people make good resolutions of some kind or other.

A good resolution for a retail merchant to make just now is that he will, as far as it is in his power, pay every account, whether it has reached maturity or not, on or before the New Year.

It will pay him to do so, for there is probably not a wholesaler or manufacturer who would not be willing to give a little extra discount on payments met before they are due.

Around the Christmas holiday season there is usually a good deal of ready money in circulation, and the merchant has, in consequence, a good many cash sales. And, in order that he may be placed in a still more favorable condition to liquidate his liabilities, he might make a special effort to induce his customers to liquidate theirs to him.

The matter is worth being taken, not only into serious consideration, but it is worth being acted upon, and that vigorously.

CHEESE STILL ADVANCING.

THE advance in cheese continues unabated, and now, instead of 10c. as an export basis, there are holders in Montreal so sanguine that they predict an 11c. market before the small stocks remaining in Canada are absorbed.

It is just possible that they may be too optimistic, but it seems reasonable to assume that prices are going higher.

At the rate at which cheese is going out, week by week, the 400,000 odd boxes remaining in Canada will soon be exhausted.

Since navigation closed, the shipments from Montreal have averaged 50,000 boxes per week, and, with this volume maintained, it should only take eight or nine weeks to move every cheese in Canada. That they will not be is almost certain, as many holders are reluctant sellers at present, and consider that they will make money by holding on.

Every mail advice encourages them in this stand, for they all repeat the fact that the home make in Great Britain is smaller than it was in 1896-97.

Accordingly, with exports from North America this season away behind those of the years named, the English make decreased, and prices fully 1c. per lb. below the level ruling, it does seem as though owners of cheese were justified in looking for further appreciation in values.

At present, 10c. is the best price that has been made over the tryer in Montreal, but over the cable the equivalent of a fraction more has possibly been realized.

The more a man gets outside himself the merrier will his Christmas be.

CANNED LOBSTER.

The lobster situation keeps strong. As far as can be learned, there are no stocks of first quality goods left in first hands, and there is only a small quantity, indeed, in second hands.

Of second quality, stocks in first hands are also limited. Some of these are being offered, but, as far as can be learned, are not attracting many buyers now that grocers every date they keep.

The price-septic is a martyr during Christmas, but he goes to the feast without being led, notwithstanding.

CANADIAN VINEGAR AND CANADIAN PICKLES.

IF the vinegar syndicate, with headquarters at Toronto, which was recently formed, will make a special effort to improve the quality of the vinegar it manufactures, it will have well warranted its existence.

By far the greater part of the vinegar made in this country is of poor quality, indeed, while a by no means insignificant part of it should not be allowed to go into consumption, being made from wood acetic acid.

In fact, we are reminded that one of the objects sought in forming the syndicate, as expressed by a member of it to THE CANADIAN GROCER, was to combat this particular evil. It is to be hoped that the syndicate will not only keep its word, but that its efforts will be crowned with success.

It is to be hoped it will, not only for the sake of the vinegar industry, but for the sake of the pickle industry as well.

There is no question about it: The poor quality of the pickles made in this country is due to the poor quality of the vinegar in which they are put up.

It cannot be due to the quality of the vegetables. The climate and soil in Canada are well adapted for producing the desired vegetables. This has been proved time and again. When put up in imported vinegar there is no pickle that can surpass the Canadian pickle.

But, when it comes to combining Canadian vegetables with Canadian vinegar the results are anything but satisfactory. The vegetables get into bad company, and it is contrary to nature for the good to bring up the quality of the bad.

THE CANADIAN GROCER cannot see why first-class vinegar should not be made in Canada. The fact that it is not, and that practically all the really first-class vinegar is now imported, and that in increasing quantities, is no proof that it cannot be. We have yet to believe that the cause is any other than the want of skill, or the lack of the strength of proof and two cents per gallon additional for each degree in excess thereof.

Now, that the different vinegar manufacturers have come in under one roof, there should be no difficulty in securing the desideratum, namely, a first-class, wholesome vinegar. If it cannot, the syndicate may as well close its doors, and leave the field to the imported article, or to home manufacturers of greater skill and enterprise.

CANNED TOMATO SITUATION.

A STRONGER feeling in regard to canned tomatoes has developed on the Toronto market during the last few days. What caused it, no one seems to definitely know. There has been some inquiry from Manitoba, but that appears to be scarcely the reason. But, whatever the cause, there is, undoubtedly, a firmer feeling.

The present condition of the market has confirmed what THE CANADIAN GROCER said a few weeks ago, namely, that the easier feeling then ruling was only of a temporary nature.

The present pack, fair and all as it is compared with other years, came upon a bare market. There is no question about that. And this fact alone would tend to steady the market.

Then, it must be remembered that, as long as prices remain normal, the consumption is large. And this year the prices at which the retailers bought was normal, and so is the price at which they have been, and are, selling. A good many tomatoes were retailed as low as 7c. per tin, and to-day they are selling freely at three tins for 25c. At these prices, from what can be gathered from the retailers, the consumption has, so far this season, been rather large. And as long as retailers can sell three tins for 25c. the consumption will be large, and particularly as the season when the demand is the most active has yet to come.

The question is: How long will the ruling retail price be where it is to-day? As retailers, as a rule, bought heavily when prices were low, they are likely to be able to sell at present prices for some time to come. When, however, it comes to their replenish-ing stocks, higher prices are almost certain to rule. And it is what the future promises, not so much what the present conditions are, that is imparting to the market its stronger tone. Then, there is the fact that some of the wholesalers are not any too well supplied.

Packers who have any tomatoes on hand are not quoting, and others who are holding 500 and 1,000 case lots are quite firm in their views, and are asking 5c. or more per dozen than they were a week ago. We know of one holder who refused 90c. per dozen for several hundred cases of a well-known brand.

BROOM CORN 50 PER CENT. DEARER.

A corner in broom corn is being manipulated by capitalists in the United States, and, as a result, the price of this product has been advanced 50 per cent.

From what THE CANADIAN GROCER can gather, however, it is not likely that there will be an immediate advance in the price of brooms in this country, the manufacturers here having fairly good stocks of the raw material.

One manufacturer, who got an inkling of what was going on, bought freely, and he has just taken into store 25 carloads.

Although there is not likely to be an immediate advance in the price of brooms, it would seem advisable for merchants to keep their stocks in this line well assorted.

DAIRY BUTTER DEARER.

As a general rule, the price of dairy butter keeps within 4, or, at the most, 5c. of creamery butter prices, but the excellent export demand for creamery this fall created such a firm feeling that advances of 2c. were noted for that make of butter, while dairy remained stationary.

The low prices of dairy naturally affected its consumption, and, within the last two weeks, the demand for dairy prints and rolls has been so good that an advance totaling about 1½ to 2c. has been noted.

TARRAGONA ALMONDS DEARER.

A cable received in Toronto on Tuesday announced still another advance in the price of Tarragona almonds in the primary market.

The advance is 5f. per 100 kilo, or equivalent to about ½c. per lb.

The tendency of the market has been upward for some time.

FIVE MONTHS OF GROCERY IMPORTS.

THE trade returns for November show a decided improvement in the importation of articles appertaining to the grocery trade, compared with the same period a year ago. In the table published below it will be noticed that there is an increase in every item during the November of this year compared with that of 1897.

The increase is almost as uniform when we compare the grocery imports for the first five months of the fiscal year with those of the same period in 1897. The table is as follows.

The increase of over $1,000,000 in the importation of sugar is one of the most striking features of the five-month period. The strong outlook of the sugar market evidently induced the Canadian refiners to keep themselves well supplied with raw, for the importation of refined sugars has been light.

Importations of sparkling wines, which include champagne, show the high percentage increase of about 221. When, a year or two ago, trade conditions were so unsatisfactory, it was the complaint of the wine merchants that their sales of champagne and other wines were falling off seriously; but, lately, their song has had another strain, and the trade returns show there has been good reason for it. There is an increase, also, it will be noted, in the importation of non sparkling wines, in spirits, and in ale, beer and porter. It is evident the people of Canada can better afford wines and liquors than they could a year ago. And for this we can all be thankful, although we may not all approve of this particular manner of their exhibiting it.

For the first four months of the fiscal year, it will be remembered, the imports under the classification "fruits and nuts, dried" were about $5,000 less than the same period of 1897. The increase of $12,250 for November has, however, given the present year a lead, so far, of nearly $9,000. The imports for the present month, also, promise to be large, particularly on account of the lateness of the arrival of most descriptions of nuts.

Pickles, it will be noticed, maintain their increase, and they are likely to, as long as the quality of Canadian continues at its present low standard.

The imports of free goods appertaining to the grocery trade during November and during the first five months of the fiscal year were as follows:

	November.		Five months ending November.
	1898.	1897.	1898.	1897.

It will be noticed that the increase in the importation of tea continues to be a feature of the free list. Up to September the importation of tea was less than last year for the same period, but the increase during October and November has been so material that, at the end of the five months, we find the value to be over $290,000 greater than in the same period in 1897.

DO NOT FORGET THE LITTLE ONES.

In the rush of business do not forget the little ones who come to buy goods at your store this Christmastide.

Give them a bright smile, hail them with a Christmas greeting, and, when they leave, drop into their hands a little confectionery or some little seasonable article.

Children appreciate these little things, and it pays the merchant to practise them. But it should not be done because it pays, but because it is in keeping with the peace and good will which is supposed to obtain at this above all other seasons.

He who gives because it pays, will not realize the fact that "it is more blessed to give than to receive."

MAKING SANTOS INTO CEYLON COFFEE.

When buying Ceylon coffee, dealers in Canada will do well to assure themselves that they are getting the real article.

It appears that within the last few months several thousand bags of small bean, fairly good blue Santos washed coffee, have been shipped from London, England, to Colombo, Ceylon, for, it is alleged, the purpose of being reburnished, and then shipped to Canada and the United States as Ceylon coffee.

The price of Ceylon coffee is from 20 to 25s. per cwt. above that of Mocha and East India growths, and it is probably this that has induced the shipment of Santos coffee to Colombo, there to be given the appearance of the Ceylon berry, and sent in casks to this continent.

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

Reputation is the corner stone of business building.

It is more profitable for a man to perform his duty than to neglect it.

Business without a conscience in it is like a boiler without a safety valve.

One must have a cheery nature in order to have good cheer at Christmas.

Contemplation propagates ideas, and energy puts them into operation.

He who despises his business, usually gets cold-shouldered by his business.

He who would get to the top of his business must first get to the bottom of it.

May your Christmas be merry, your business large, and your profits ample.

The idea is current just now that grocers have a raisin for every date they keep.

The dyspeptic is a martyr during Christmas, but he goes to the feast without being led, notwithstanding.

While the sceptic is hugging himself with the delusion that a packet tea specialty is no good on general principles—thousands of broad-minded people are proving daily that

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Dec. 22, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE wholesale trade this week is naturally experiencing a falling off in volume on account of the near approach of the holiday season. As a good many travelers are in, quite a number of letter orders are being received. At the same time, however, the various houses are being kept well employed on account of the number of small sorting-up orders which are being received. These small orders are, of course, largely for foreign dried fruits and nuts. The sugar market continues weak, and, while the outside prices are lower, there has been no further change locally. The demand is not at all bad, for this time of the year. A little more interest is being taken in canned goods, probably on account of the fact that several of the houses have been receiving inquiries during the week from the Northwest, and the result is a rather firmer feeling in tomatoes and corn. There is not much business, however, being done in these lines. A feature of the coffee market is an excited feeling outside in regard to Rio coffees, prices being considerably higher than a week ago. A fair trade is reported by wholesale houses in syrups and molasses. The feature in regard to the nut market is a further advance in the price of Tarragona almonds in the primary market. Peppers are advised a little easier. The tea trade is quiet, with prices ruling firm. French plums are cabled dearer. In pepper, a slight decline is announced from the London, Eng., market.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been some inquiry received by Toronto wholesale houses, during the week, for canned tomatoes and corn for shipment to Manitoba. No business, as far as can be ascertained, has resulted therefrom, the prices offered being below those asked by holders. Notwithstanding this, there is rather a better feeling in regard to the price, and 85 to 90c. is the idea as to quotations to retailers for tomatoes. Corn is as firm as ever, if not more so, and is held by wholesalers at from 90 to 95c. as a rule, although some houses claim to have transacted business at as high a figure as $1 per doz. In regard to other lines in canned goods, the market is practically without feature worthy of note.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Some of the refineries have still no syrups to offer. We hear of one that has some price bright, but no transactions between refineries and wholesalers in this line are reported. In consequence of the scarcity of dark and medium syrups of Canadian manufacture, a good deal of business is being done in bright syrups, ranging as high as 40c. per gallon in price. There would be a good demand for medium syrups if they could be obtained. New Orleans molasses, at from 25 to 30c., is selling well, and is, evidently, taking the place of medium syrups, which, as already noted, are scarce.

COFFEES.

There is a decidedly stronger feeling in the coffee market. In New York, the price of Rio coffee has advanced considerably. It appears that the Trust over there is buying all it can lay its hands on, and it is beginning to look as if the bulls had obtained control of the market. Early in the week, package coffee was advanced ½c. per lb.

See pages 27 and 28 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John,
and Winnipeg prices current.

in New York, and green coffee, on Monday, closed 10 to 15 points higher. A cable from Rio places the present Rio and Santos crops at 8,000,000 bags.

SUGARS.

The sugar market during the past week has continued in a weak condition, beet sugar showing further decline on the London, Eng., market. In New York, last week, refined declined ¼c. per lb., and on Monday there was a further decline of 1-16c. in a couple of grades of soft sugars. The cause of the weakness appears to be due to the fact that Mr. Licht, who had been estimating a shortage of 200,000 lb. in the beet sugar crop, has suddenly changed his estimate, now accounting that the crop will be larger than last year. On the Canadian market there has been no further changes in prices. The wholesalers are still quoting standard granulated at $4.63 per 100 lb., Toronto and Acadia at $4.58. The refiners report a fair demand for this time of the year, which, of course, is light. The wholesalers are, this week, sending out quite a little sugar notwithstanding the near approach of the holiday season. The total stocks of sugar in Europe and America were, last week, according to Willett & Gray, 1,864,347 tons, against 2,084,015 tons at the corresponding date last year.

NUTS.

The trade in nuts is naturally good, although the orders just now are largely of sorting-up character. The most interesting feature in regard to the market is a cable advice announcing an advance of 5f. per 100 kilo in Tarragona almonds. This is about equivalent to ½c. per lb.

SPICES.

There is the usual Christmas trade being done, but locally there is no particular feature to note. Advices from London, England, however, state that peppers are slightly easier.

TEAS.

There is naturally not much being done in teas on the local market when so much attention is being given to holiday trade. At the same time, however, for this time of the year, wholesalers are doing a fair trade. The outside markets continue firm. Agents of Japan teas are finding little or no demand at the moment, but the price rules strong. There has been some inquiry for China black teas of low grade, but there are none on spot, although some are on the way. There has also been a demand for China black tea in caddies, but the price is so high in the primary market that the people here are not willing to pay the figures asked. The difference in the price now and a year ago is from 1 ½ to 2c. per lb. A few lines of China green teas have changed hands during the week at firm prices. There is a good demand for the lower grades of these teas. There is an inquiry for flavoring China teas, but they are scarce. The condition of the local market, as far as Ceylon teas are concerned, is much the same as during the last few weeks, there being a fairly good demand for spot teas, while the price on the London market is too high to attract buyers.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—The demand on the local market continues good at unchanged prices, and, although, as far as can be learned, the primary market remains steady, there has been a slight reduction in prices in the New York market, owing to recent additions to stock and a light demand.

VALENCIA RAISINS—There are only a few small lots going out, and prices are in much the same condition as they have been during the last two weeks. Locally, seeded raisins are quoted from 8 to 8 ½c. in cartons and 7 to 7 ½c. in bulk; 9 to 9 ½c. is asked for Californian seeded raisins.

PRUNES—There is a fairly good business being done in prunes, and further shipments of French prunes have arrived within the last few days. A cable received in Toronto on Tuesday noted a considerable advance in the price of French plums, compared with the figure that was paid for those already on spot and those arriving. A cable received last week also noted an advancing tendency in the price of Bosnia prunes.

DATES—There is a good demand for dates, at the same price as we quoted last week, viz.; 6c. for Hallowee, and 5½c. for Sairs.

GREEN FRUITS.

The movement of all fruits, to satisfy the Christmas demand, has been large. The receipts of oranges on the market here have been much greater than in previous seasons, one house importing fully three times their usual orders. The demand has kept the market well cleared up, however, and a healthy feeling is manifest. Large Valencia, 420's, are $1 dearer. Mexicans, Navels and Jamaicas are 25c. cheaper. Lemons are in steady demand; prices unchanged. Choice bananas are scarce, but there is no lack of common or inferior qualities. The demand is good. The sale of Malaga grapes has been steady, but not as active as the jobbers looked for. Prices are firm, some varieties selling 50c. above our last quotation. There has been a brisk movement in cranberries, and prices keep steady. The local demand for apples is fairly brisk, but the chief movement is for export. The scarcity of apples in the United States has resulted in a good demand from that source, and sales are constantly being made for shipment to the south. One sale made to a Buffalo firm last week called for 5,000 bbls. The price is steady, the better grades being firm at $3.25 to $3.50. Sweet potatoes and late varieties of pears are about done.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There is no change in the situation. Prices are unchanged. The demand for strictly-fresh continues active, as high as 24c. being paid for farmers' small lots on the street market. Held keep steady at 15 to 16c., pickled at 14½ to 15½c. Cases bring all the way from 14½ to 16½c. f.o.b. point of shipment.

POTATOES—The market is slightly stronger, 55c. now ruling for car lots and 60 to 65c. for small lots on the market.

POULTRY—This is poultry week with the commission houses. The mild weather has kept retailers from stocking-up early in the week, and, as receipts have been large, a weak feeling is manifest in regard to geese and turkeys. A couple of days' cold weather would probably cause an advance of 1c. in turkeys and ½c. in geese—possibly more. Dealers who are delaying their purchases to Friday and Saturday may find that an advance will have taken place, notwithstanding the mild weather, but the stocks are so large that this is not likely. Ducks are in fair demand, and prices are 5c. higher than last week.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—The dried apple market continues, steady at unchanged prices. No. 1 dried are quoted at 5 to 5¼c. at outside points, and at 5½ to 6c. in a jobbing way, locally. Common stock is 1c. cheaper. The evaporated market is quiet, but prices are steady at 8¼ to 8½c. outside, and 8½ to 9c. in a jobbing way, locally.

BEANS—Hand-picked continue in good demand at $1 to $1.10. Common stock is steady at 70 to 80c.

VEGETABLES—Cauliflower is 25c. cheaper; parsnips are 10 to 15c. dearer. Otherwise there is no change. We quote: Cauliflower, 50 to 75c. per doz.; celery, 50 to 75c. per doz.; lettuce, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; radishes, winter, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz.; 60 to 85c.; parsley, 10 to 12½c. per doz. bunches; turnips, 30 to 40c. per bag; beets, 50 to 60c. per bag; parsnips, 60 to 75c. per bag; carrots, 50 to 75c. per bag; onions, Danvers, $1.25 to $1.50 per bag; butter squash, $2 to $2.50; pumpkins, $1 to $1.50; Hubbard squash, $2.50 to $3; red cabbage, 40 to 50c.; egg plant, 50 to 90c. per basket.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There has been quite an improvement in the demand for good dairy, prints and rolls, an advance of ½ to 1c. being noted. Creamery is steady, though receipts are increasing, and the export demand is not quite as good as noted the last few weeks. We quote at outside points:

CHEESE—The feeling is decidedly firm. Some factories have cleared out their stock of October and November make this week at from 9 ¾ to 10 c. Nearly all the season's make is now in the hands of jobbers. Early makes are firm at 9 to 9 ¾ c., and late makes at 10 to 10 ½ c. in a jobbing way.

PROVISIONS.

There is every indication of a big pack of provisions this year, as receipts of dressed hogs continue large. The demand for lard and meats for Christmas trade is active. Prices are easier, long clear bacon, breakfast bacon rolls, and compound in pails, all showing declines of ½ c. to 1 c. per lb.

FISH.

The frequency of fast days the last week or two has caused a good demand for fish, and fresh fish are ½ to 1 ½ c. per lb. higher. We quote: Fresh salmon trout, 7 ½ to 8 c.; fresh whitefish, 7 ½ c.; steak trout, 8 c. lb.; fresh perch, 4 c. per lb.; fresh herring, 4 c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.75 per bbl. and $3 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 55 c. per bundle of five; split herring, $6 per bbl. and $2.75 per half-bbl.; cod, in 1-lb. blocks, 6 ½ c. per lb.; boneless fish, 3 ¾ to 4 c. per lb.; quail-on-toast, 5 ½ c. per lb.; Gem of the Sea, 5 c. per lb. fresh-water herring, 60 c. per basket; ciscoes, 60 c. to $1.25; haddies, 6 to 8 c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 6 c. per lb.; oysters, $1.25 to $1.35 per gallon, or $6.25 per large pail. GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOOD.

at 67c. for white and red wheat at middle freight stations. The street market is very dull. Prices are unaltered. We quote: Wheat, white, 67 to 68c.; red, 67 to 68c.; goose, 66c.; peas, 65 to 67c.; oats, 30 to 31c.; barley, 49 to 51c.; rye, 50c. No. 1 hard Manitoba has advanced 1c., and is now selling at 78 to 79c., Toronto freights.

FLOUR—No change in price. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4.15; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.90; Ontario patents, $3.80 to $3.90; straight roller, $3.05 to $3.15, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Split peas and pot barley are 25c. dearer. No other change is noted. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.70 in bags and $3.70 to $3.90 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $4; pot barley, $4.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—The market is easy, though prices are quotably unchanged. We quote: No. 1, 8½c.; No. 2, 7½c.; No. 3, 6½c.; cured, 9c.

CALFSKINS—We quote nominally: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS—No shearlings are now offering. Sheepskins and lambskins are firm at 80c.

WOOL—The market is dull. Fleece is quoted at 15c. and unwashed at 10c.

SEEDS.

There is little doing. The foreign demand is over, and domestic trade has not yet opened, so buyers are cautious. The range in alsike values is large, from $2.50 to $4.50 being quoted, the latter figure only being paid for strictly choice lots. Red clover, also, shows a big range in value, from $3 to $4.25 being paid, the top price only for extra choice, large grain, rich purple seed.

SALT

Prices are unchanged. A good business is being done. We quote as follows: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 54c.

MARKET NOTES.

Red clover seed is 25c. cheaper.

Split peas and pot barley are 25c. dearer.

Tarragona almonds are cabled 5f. dearer.

Dairy prints and roll butter have advanced ½ to 1c. per lb.

Long clear bacon, breakfast bacon, rolls and compound in pails have declined ½ to 1c. per lb.

A cable to P. L. Mason & Co. states that French plums are much dearer in the primary market.

Valencia oranges, large 420's, have advanced $1. Navels, Jamaica and Mexicans are 25c. cheaper. Malaga grapes are 50c. higher.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Dec. 22, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE week has been a quiet one in general groceries, and aside from the sorting demand for certain seasonable lines, such as nuts, spices, and green fruit, the volume of business from second to third hands has been light, while it has been almost nil from first to second hands. No changes in value are noted from a week ago in any of the staples, but Valencia raisins are rather unsettled, and sugar has an easy tendency, at the decline last noted.

SUGAR.

Since the decline of 10c., specially reported last week, there has been no further development in sugar, and trade has ruled inactive. In London, cane sugar has ruled fairly steady since last report, Java being quoted at 12s., and fair refining at 10s. 6d. Prices on beet, however, have continued to decline, being 1 to 2¼d. lower than they were at last writing, and were cabled as barely steady on Tuesday at 9s. 8¼d. for December, and 9s. 9d. for January.

SYRUPS.

There is very little demand for syrups, but stocks are light and prices firmly held at 1½ to 2¼c. per lb. in the wood, as to quantity.

MOLASSES.

The market continues firm for Barbadoes molasses, but there has been little doing in a wholesale way since last report, a few 25-puncheon lots selling at 31c., which is the price wholesalers are asking for car lots. It will be seen, therefore, that it has not been an easy matter for the speculators to do any business, with the jobbers sticking persistently to the old range. Some Porto Rico stock has been offered at 28½c. in straight lots, and, with light stocks of Barbadoes, and the exceptionally high prices asked, commission men expect to do more business in it.

DRIED FRUIT.

The unsettled tendency in Valencia raisins noted last week has continued, but trading has been light, as sorting orders are smaller than they were, the retail trade having pretty well anticipated immediate wants. Western jobbers have been buyers in this market within the past eight days, but, despite the withdrawals on their account, the market is still liberally supplied. Off-stalk is obtainable at 3½c. for low grade, fine off-stalk 4c., and layers 5½ to 5¾c.

California raisins are quiet and unchanged as last quoted.

Malaga raisins moved moderately, and prices were unchanged. Jobbers' stocks here are pretty well assorted for all requirements.

Currants meet a fair inquiry in a jobbing way, while values continue steady and unchanged.

Prunes exhibit no change in any variety, values all round ruling steady, while demand has been well distributed over Californian, Bosnian and French sorts, according to quality and price.

Dates and figs remain precisely as last reported, a seasonable trade passing.

NUTS.

There has been a brisk jobbing trade in nuts during the week. Further small arrivals of Grenobles are reported, and they moved well at prices last quoted. New Marbots are not to be had here yet in any quantity. Shelled walnuts continue quite firm at the rise noted last week, and shelled almonds also are quite firm.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been no special activity in canned goods, but corn and tomatoes have both moved from jobbers' hands at firm prices, and the latter assert that they experience no difficulty in realizing steady prices on any sales now being made. This does not agree with reports of cheaper sales of tomatoes in the west, but jobbers here persist that there has been no shading in prices. Canned salmon and lobsters rule steady, and there has been little doing in canned fruits or meats.

SPICES.

There is a good inquiry in a distributive way for cloves, pepper and other seasonable spices, while values are steady.

COFFEE.

The coffee market continues quiet, but prices, while not quotably changed, exhibit a firm tendency, in sympathy with outside markets.

RICE.

In fair demand with values unchanged.

TEA.

The market has continued dull, on the whole, with few striking features. Should there be a tea duty, however, some observers of the situation predict that the market will witness some hustling for supplies, but this duty has been threatened before, and it is just possible that this year the threat may not have the effect it had in the past. Business in Japan has been transacted all the way from 15½ to 17c., and some third crop stock has sold as low as 12c., while dust is reported to have changed hands at $5\frac{1}{2}$ c. In blacks, Congous ranged all the way from $12\frac{1}{2}$ c. up to 17c., for fine stock, while in green tea Young Hyson sold at $14\frac{1}{2}$ c. and Pingsueys at $9\frac{1}{2}$ to 10c. The above prices were, of course, for straight lots between traders, as the purchase of ordinary jobbing parcels would necessitate an advance.

GREEN FRUIT.

A steady demand has been experienced for all green fruits during the week, orders both from the country and city retail trade coming in freely, and the movement promises to keep up right to Christmas eve. Lemons are in better demand, choice stock selling at $3.25 to $3.75, and fancy at $3 to $3.50. Oranges have been exceptionally active. Valencias are in good supply and selling well, 714's at $4 to $4.50, and ordinary 420's at $5.25 to $5.75. California navels meet a good demand at $4 to $4.50 per box, and ditto, budded, $3.25 to $3.50. Jamaicas are of first-class quality, and, naturally, well inquired for at $2.75 to $3 per box and $5.25 to $5.50 per barrel. Mexican oranges were also offered, for the first time, this week, but have not met a very favorable reception, the green color of the peel telling against them. They range from $2.75 to $3 per box. New Sedon oranges are expected this week, and are offered, to arrive, at $5 per box. A few small lots of Floridas, the first for some seasons, have been placed at $5.50. There is only a limited business in bananas at $2 to $2.50 per bunch. Cranberries are active and firm at $8 per barrel, while Spanish onions are steady at 75 to 80c. per crate. Fancy pine-apples have arrived and realize 75c. each.

APPLES.

The supply of apples on the market here is light, and quotations have a firmer tendency as a result of this, in fact, an advance is looked for shortly. Car lots are quoted at $2.50 to $3.50 per bbl., but, in a jobbing way, 25 to 50c. advance is asked on these prices.

FISH.

The scarcity of fresh frozen fish has been a leading feature of the week, but lately arrivals have been freer, while trade has been quite brisk, haddock and cod moving at $4\frac{1}{2}$ c.: salmon, 13c., and to arrive by freight, 9c.; whitefish and dore, $6\frac{1}{2}$ c.; pike, 4c.; tommy cods, \$1.50 to \$1.75 per bbl.; fresh herring, $2\frac{1}{4}$ c. per lb. and smelts 6c.

Pickled fish are fairly active and pickled herring about the only kind in good supply. We give quotations this week as follows: No. 1 herrings, \$4.25 to \$4.50 in barrels, and in half-barrels, \$2.12 $\frac{1}{2}$ to \$2.25;

No. 1 green cod, $6; do. large, $6.50; No. 1 hake, $4.25 to $4.50; B.C. salmon, $12.75 to $13, in full barrels, and $7 in half-barrels, and No. 2 mackerel, $18 per barrel.

Prepared fish ruled fairly active. Haddies are in light supply and firm at 7c., while bay bloomers are quoted at 80c. to \$1 per box, and smoked herring 10c. per box. Dried codfish are quiet at 4c., boneless $5\frac{1}{2}$ c., and dressed boneless cod \$4.12 $\frac{1}{2}$ per 100.

The market is oversupplied with shell oysters, there being fully 4,000 bbls. offering at from $2.75 to $6 per bbl., which is a wide range. The outside is for choice hand-picked, in good condition.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was a good demand for small lots of eggs to-day, and the market is moderately active and firm. We quote: No. 1 candled, 16c.; No. 2 do., $12\frac{1}{2}$ to $13\frac{1}{2}$ c.; Montreal limed, $14\frac{1}{2}$ to 15c.; western limed, 13 to $13\frac{1}{2}$ c., and culls, 9c. per doz.

POULTRY—There was a stronger feeling in the poultry market for turkeys to-day, and prices advanced $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. The demand was active, and principally for turkeys, of which supplies were not excessive, and all good to choice stock met with a ready sale. For other lines the feeling was firm, and a brisk trade will likely be done throughout the week, as buyers generally will lay in extra supplies for the Christmas demand. We quote: Turkeys, good to choice, 9 to 9½c.; scalded, 8 to 8½c.; chickens, good to choice, 6 to 8c.; fowls, 4 to 5c.; ducks, 7½ to 8c., and geese, 5½ to 6c. per lb.

GAME—There was a good demand for partridge and the market was firm, sales being made freely at 70 to 75c. for firsts, and at 55 to 60c. for seconds per brace.

BEANS—There was no change in beans, and business was quiet. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel; prime, 85 to 90c.

HONEY—The demand for honey is very limited, and the market rules dull. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 7 to 7½c.; dark, 5½ to 6½c.; white extracted, 6 to 6½c., and dark, 4 to 5c.

POTATOES—There was a good demand for good to choice potatoes, and, as the offerings of such are not large, prices have advanced to 52 to 55c. per bag in car lots.

ONIONS—Canadian red and yellow onions are offering at $1.75 to $2 per barrel.

PROVISIONS.

There was a slight improvement in the demand for smoked meats, and a fair trade was done, but other lines were quiet and prices all round steady. We quote as follows: Canadian pork, in barrels, $11.50 to $16; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 7½ to 7¾c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to 5½c. per lb.; Hams, 10 to 12c. and bacon, 10 to 12c. per lb.

DRESSED HOGS.

There was a good demand for dressed hogs, in small lots, and the market is fairly active and firmer at $5.60 to $5.75 for light weights, and at $5.25 to $5.40 for heavy per 100 lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

GRAIN—A fair amount of business was done in grain, and the market was moderately active and steady, with no change in prices to note. Manitoba No. 1 hard wheat, afloat Fort William, was quoted at 66c. December, and Ontario red at 67½ to 68c. west.

FLOUR—The demand for flour continues fair for the season, and the volume of business done is fully up to the average. The tone of the market is steady, and values show no change. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $3.75 to $4; straight rollers, $3.50 to $3.65; in bags, $1.65 to $1.75;

Manitoba patents, $4.25; strong bakers', $3.75 to $4.10.

FEED—There continues to be a good demand for bran, and prices are firmly held. We quote: Manitoba bran, $14.50 to $15; shorts, $16 and mouille, $17 per ton, including bags. Ontario white wheat bran, $14; shorts, $15 to $16 per ton in bulk.

MEAL—In meal a fair jobbing business continues to be done, and prices are unchanged at $3.50 per bbl., and at $1.70 per bag for rolled oats.

HAY—The market for baled hay continues quiet, the demand being only for small lots at about steady prices. We quote: No. 1, $6.50 to $7; No. 2, extra, $5 to $6; No. 2, clover mixture, $4.50 to $5, and clover, $4.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese remains quiet and firm, with holders quite content to wait until buyers pay what the former consider the goods worth. Nominally the range is 9¾ to 10c. on western, and 9¾ to 9½c. of eastern fall makes.

Butter ruled quiet and steady to-day, finest late made ranging from 20¼ to 20½c., and under grades from 19 to 20c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

There has been no further change in refined sugar here.

The first offerings of Florida oranges made on this market for some seasons came in this week.

Raw beet sugar in London is cabled 1d. to 2½d. lower than it was last week, and heavy at the decline.

Offerings of Mexican oranges have been made here, but the color of the peel has checked their sale to a great extent.

The stiff feeling on small stock of Barbadoes has led to the offer of some Porto Rico molasses, lately, in this market.

The unsettled feeling in regard to Valencia raisin values here has not been dissipated by some large purchases on Ontario account.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 19, 1898.

THE weather is extremely mild; in fact, on Saturday afternoon, there was a smart thaw. Ontario people arriving during the past week, well rolled up in fur caps and fur-lined coats, have been glad to take to Christie hats and spring overcoats. It is not likely the present good sleighing will be injured.

Trade is good. Wholesale houses have been busy throughout the week, filling sorting orders for Christmas trade. Fruit houses have experienced the advantage of a weekly train service of heated cars on both main and branch lines, and the shipments of fruit to all parts of the Province have been very heavy. The last business of wholesale houses will be the usual rush of small sorting orders for city trade, next week.

Retail houses report trade good, and that people are buying earlier and in larger quantities than last year. They also state that there is a markedly-increased demand for choicer groceries, and what are termed luxuries. Speaking of luxuries, the first shipment, for the season, of Canton preserved ginger has arrived. The sale here, at any time, is not very heavy, but will be reduced this year on account of excessive freight charges, which will make the price so high as to render it a luxury indeed. Small pots are worth $4.50 per case, while medium and large run from $4.75 to $5.25.

Owing to the low price of wheat, flour has slumped considerably: Patent, $1.95; bakers', $1.75; Algoma, $1.30; XXXX, $1.05. Trade is brisk, and, as the wheat market is a little stronger, millers hope to see prices increase very shortly.

CEREALS—Although Ogilvie's new mill has been running for the past 10 days, the local supply is not yet equal to the demand for rolled oats. The price quoted is $1.90 for 80's to retail dealers, and $1.60 for 80's in carload lots on track. Peas and barley are firm at $1.40 per sack. Beans are also firm, $1.45 being asked for small lots of choice hand-picked.

DRIED FRUITS—The raisin market is in good shape, the sales being large and steady. California muscatels are quoted from 5½ to 6½c., according to size; Denia Valencias, fine off-stalk, $1.60; fancy layers, $1.85; fancy Spanish table fruit, $2.50 to $3.50 per box. Sultanias are high for first-class stock, the present quotation being 15c. per lb., while inferior grades are bringing as high as 12½c. Currants show a good market. Fine Filliatras, in half cases, are quoted at 5¾c.

FIGS—In cooking figs the outside market has slumped, but, as this fruit cannot reach here for a month at least, Winnipeg dealers will get their price for most of the stock on hand. Table figs are practically out of sight, the price is so exorbitant.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—Apples are scarce and high, with no signs of a change, while dried apples are the same, only more so. Small lots of dried apples have arrived, but they are apparently last year's stock steamed, which renders them liable to sour in a short time. Evaporated apricots are so high in proportion to peaches and nectarines that their consumption, as predicted, is very light.

CANNED GOODS — Market shows no changes. It is not likely that corn will be cheaper, and the indications are that tomatoes will be no dearer. Present consumption of canned vegetables is light, owing to large supplies of fresh vegetables being still obtainable. It might be remarked in passing that fresh tomatoes, radishes, lettuce, cress and cucumbers have never been so cheap at this season before.

SUGAR—Market is easy. Present quotations are: Granulated, $5\frac{3}{4}$ c.; Paris lumps, $6\frac{1}{4}$ c.; bright yellow, $4\frac{1}{2}$ c.

NUTS—Fresh stocks of Valencia and Jordan almonds have arrived. Valencias are quoted at 30c. and Jordans at 40 to 45c. New Grenoble walnuts will not arrive until after the new year.

GREEN FRUIT—As already indicated, this has been an active market during the week. No new lines are in, and no change in price is recorded. The supply of oranges is increasing and the quality is very much improved.

BUTTER—Market is slow. Small quantities of dairy are arriving and price is weaker. Round lots, 14 to 15c., Winnipeg. Considerable Ontario creamery is passing through to supply the British Columbia market. This is said to cost $20\frac{1}{2}$ c. point of shipment.

CHEESE—No movement in this market; sales reported very light.

EGGS—Market small. Fresh gathered, 18 to 20c.; pickled, 16 to 17c.

CURED MEATS—Market easier. Both American and Ontario men have been in town looking for orders, but no large sales are reported at present.

HOGS—The local supply is somewhat improved, but is still short. $5\frac{3}{4}$ to 6c. was paid for dressed hogs and $4\frac{3}{4}$ to 5c. for live hogs.

THE PRICE AS LOWELL SAW IT.

Earth gets its price for what Earth gives us,
The beggar is taxed for a corner to die in,
The priest hath his fee who comes and shrives us,
We bargain for the graves we lie in;
At the devil's booth are all things sold,
Each ounce of dross costs its ounce of gold;
For a cap and bells our lives we pay,
Bubbles we buy with a whole soul's tasking.
'Tis Heaven alone that is given away,
'Tis only God may be had for the asking.
No price is set on the lavish summer,
June may be had by the poorest comer.
—The vision of Sir Launfal.

FROSTED WINDOWS.

A TRIMMER of wide experience, in talking to a representative of The Drygoodsman about the nuisance, said: "I have found that boring holes at the base of the window is not always successful, although I know that many rely on this scheme, and seem to think it infallible. In times of intense cold the least bit of moisture in the air will congeal on the glass, and these holes, although they keep the temperature near that on the outside, let in moisture from the street. I gave this a good test last winter. When the cold weather first came I kept the ventilation holes open and the windows had a bad case of frost, completely shutting off from view the goods on display. I was determined to let the public see what I had to show them, however, and so I scraped the windows clean, washing them with alcohol afterward. Then I closed the ventilation holes and allowed neither heat nor air to enter from the interior of the store, and I succeeded in keeping the windows almost entirely free from frost. The temperature between the outside and the windows was not over 10 degrees. It is quite a job to clean windows this way, but it was necessary in this instance."—The Drygoodsman.

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

December 22, 1898.

This list is corrected every Thursday, and the quotations herein given are for the cities of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, London, St. John, N.B., Halifax, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria. The prices are solicited for publication, and are of such quantities and qualities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices. All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Dec. 20, 1898.

THE grocers have found the demand keeping up well to Christmas, though the last week has seen chiefly sorting orders for light, seasonable goods, largely dried fruit. New Grenobles have arrived, the first of the season. There is considerable business being done in them. There has been during the past month a number of failures, chiefly among small retailers, but they have included some quite heavy losses for the wholesalers. It is a little out of season, as they usually try to get over the holiday season. The dissatisfaction over the freight rates charged by the boats continues. Not only do they not this season pay the ferriage and part cartage from the west side, as was done last year, but the steamers last year paid the wharfage charge of 1s. per ton, which they do not this year. So, beside the extra freight charge, the importers pay over 2s 6d. per ton more than if their goods were landed on the east side. It means our people will encourage other than the mail steamers, and even be driven to importing their goods via Boston or other outside points. The charges in no way effect the winter import business to upper Canadian cities, as Montreal and points west, as on through goods there is no wharfage or other charges, and through rates are very low. But the steamers are certainly not encouraging local business.

OIL—In burning oil, the prices continue as quoted last week, but there does not seem to be anything pointing to a reduction in price beyond the $\frac{1}{4}$ c. reported. The demand is chiefly from city retailers, who usually only buy from hand to mouth. In other lines there is no change. Paint oils, such as turpentine, etc., keep high. In lubricating business is very quiet, while for cod oil stocks held were bought at rather higher figures than at present quoted.

SALT—Arrivals by direct steamer continue light. Some factory-filled is to hand this week. Salt is carried very low, as the steamers need it. Prices show no change, and at present demand is light, fishermen not buying it all. The chief consumption is for meat packing. A little Canadian, for dairy purposes, continues to be received. In rock salt there is a light business. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 40 to 45c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1 per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—While not a busy line, there is a good steady sale. The market is a very firm one. Quite ample stocks are held. There would seem to be a good prospect for still higher prices, as local prices are low compared with anything packers are quoting. Salmon, while not a large stock, seem ample for all demands. There are very few lobster offered. In fish, such as bloaters, haddies, etc., prices are higher.

GREEN FRUIT—This continues quite a busy time, but very quiet times are expected after Christmas, when business will be largely confined to Valencia oranges and for city trade. Valencias are arriving in good order. Jamaicas are still quite freely sold; also Floridas, in boxes. In lemons, Messinas have the demand. There is, perhaps, no fruit that sells so freely at all seasons. Arrivals of apples have about ceased. The quantity brought here this year is much smaller than usual owing to export demand. Stocks held are not large, and prices for best stock is higher, and firmly held. Cranberries have but limited sale, and at this season prices are higher. Grapes have had a good, steady holiday sale; prices firm.

DRIED FRUIT—The large raisin demand so far has been for Valencia layers. Californians show a fair sale, but are not pushed like the others. Their turn will come later. The advance of Californian raisins west has not affected our market. In Malagas, there has been a good business, though prices were considerably above last year's figures. In currants, stocks are light, sale having been large. One thing the demand for cleaned fruit is doing for the consumer, is causing dealers to import a better grade of currants. In peels, stocks have also been well sold up, particularly lemon and orange. Prunes, chiefly Californians, have an improved demand; prospects point to higher figures. French and Bosnias both give good satisfaction, but supply here is small. The sale seems to tend toward the larger sizes. Owing to the higher prices, apricots and peaches have very light sale; little, if any, new fruit yet here, though some orders have gone forward. Dried apples rather higher. Local stocks are light. Evaporated apples are also higher, and scarce. In onions, prices very firm. Stock here is small. In nuts, new Grenobles are to hand this week.

SUGARS—Market works quite oddly. While outside reports seem to tend to lower values, refineries hold advance of last week, and talk firm, though, toward the close of the week, a rather easier tendency on the part of some was noticed. A fair trade is doing. Foreign are light supply and American sugars have not at all entered the market as was expected.

MOLASSES—The stock held is limited, though equal to demand. There is quite a little Porto Rico still here, and little will be brought here before the new year, as the chief wants for the winter have been met. Barbadoes is scarce. There is a demand for small packages. This, for some two or three years, has been met by importing New Orleans, but this season a right quality for this market costs too high; the poorer will not sell at all. The quantity of syrup handled here is light. It must be good, however. Prices firmer. The little that has come here has been American.

PRODUCE—Butter is in better shape, but, to get advanced price, it must be better than the general average. Eggs hold their prices and incline higher, but holiday demand is about over. Cheese, while still light business is being done, tends higher.

FISH—The right kinds are scarce. Prices in all lines are high. In pickled herring, Grand Manan is about the only grade offered. Quality is good, but supply is light. The particular inquiry is for finnan haddie, but the supply is not forthcoming. Smoked herring is low; kippered is about done for this season. A few No. 1 bloaters are offered. Frozen fish are beginning to move. Smelt are being quite freely shipped from northern points, chiefly to Boston and New York. We quote: Large cod, \$3.60 to \$3.65; medium, \$3.55 to \$3.60; pollock, \$1.50 to \$1.60; Grand Manan pickled herring, \$1.85 to \$1.90 $\frac{1}{2}$ -bbl.; Canso, pickled, \$5 per bbl.; boneless fish, $\frac{3}{4}$ to 5c.; cod, 7 to $7\frac{1}{2}$ c.; finnan haddies, 4 to $4\frac{1}{2}$ c.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c.; spring shad, \$3.75 to \$4 $\frac{1}{2}$ -bbl.; fall do., \$4.75 to \$5; $\frac{1}{2}$ -bbl.; alewives, \$3 per bbl.; kippered herring, \$1; bloaters, 40 to 60c.; Shelburne, \$3.75 per bbl.; Grand Manan herring, \$3.40 to \$3.50 per bbl.;

PROVISIONS—Barrelled pork has a fair steady demand, local packed being more in demand. Packers have had to drop off in the matter of prices. Beef is quiet; prices rather higher. Fresh beef was taken into the woods more freely than usual this season. Lard moves freely with rather easier tendency.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—While Ontario grades of flour continue to fall off in price, Manitoba show no change, but even higher figures have been mentioned. It is not thought this can hold, however. There is but a fair inquiry. In oatmeal, there is a wide range in price, but while oats are higher there seems a feeling here that the new year will see lower figures. There is a fair sale. The expected advance in cornmeal is here. It is but slight, but with the free demand the market is firm. Beans are dull. Buyers for some time have been largely supplied by local holders. Hay keeps low. Feed is high and scarce. A limited quantity of yellow eye beans would sell. Barley and peas high. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.70 to $4.75, best Ontario, $4. to $4.15; medium, $3.65 to $3.75; oatmeal, $3.75 to $3.85; cornmeal, $2.10; middlings, $1.9 to $2.0; bran, $1.7 to $1.8; oats, 35 to 40c.; hand-picked beans, $1.10 to $1.20; prime, 95 to $1; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.60 to $3.75; hay, $7 to $8; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7½ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

St. John grocers extend a hearty Merry Christmas to all.

The Bank of Montreal, it is said, intends opening a branch in Fredericton.

About one-third of the winter export business has been American product.

The new wheat mill of R. J. Matheson, Dartmouth, is now grinding western wheat.

Prince Edward Island fishermen are now competing with those of the New Brunswick north shore in frozen smelts.

One advantage of the late storm has been improved coastwise freights. It is an advantage dearly bought. Schooners are getting scarce.

The exhibition of 1899 is beginning to receive attention. The W. S. Loggie Co., Chatham, N.B., have already begun the export of frozen smelts.

THE GROCER regrets to report the death of Mr. W. H. Hatheway, whose illness was before referred to. Mr. Hatheway was the oldest of the city brokers.

Leonard Bros. are finding it difficult to meet the large demand they have for their choice finnan haddies, but are making every effort that none be disappointed.

The West India steamer, Taymouth Castle, this trip went direct to Halifax, making a special trip from there to Bermuda, with soldiers. She is due to arrive in St. John, on her return, about December 29.

It is said the Bank of Nova Scotia is about to open a branch in Boston and one in Winnipeg. It will then have 28 branches.

G. McAvity, G. G. Ruel, J. D. Chipman, Hon. F. W. Thompson and Joshua Peters intend applying for incorporation as The New Brunswick Cold Storage Company.

The city council and the board of trade have just issued a book entitled "St. John as a Canadian Winter Port." It is very handsomely gotten up, and is replete with illustrations and information. While the edition is limited, every western importer and exporter should endeavor to get a copy.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. received a shipment of "G. & S." Santa Clara prunes, all sizes, 25-lb. and 50-lb. boxes.

MARMALADE IN PAILS AND GLASS

Marmalade has been a rather scarce commodity on the market of late. Lucas, Steele & Bristol, Hamilton, have, however, just received shipment of Upton's in pails and in glass. The marmalade put up in glass is the same price as last season, namely, $1 per dozen. The trade is requested to send in its orders at once.

NERVES AND FOOD.

SIR HENRY THOMPSON, writing in The Nineteenth Century, makes the following remarks upon the altered diet which has become necessary, owing to the extraordinary changes affecting man in every rank of life, and his surroundings in all parts of the civilized world, which have taken place during the last sixty years.

"It is difficult—perhaps impossible—for the present generation to realize the contrast presented in respect of the demand now made on man's activity, especially that of his brain, during, say, the last thirty or petition was almost unknown; I need not attempt to describe what it is now. Such changes have naturally been the cause of permanent injury to many whose powers sufficed for the quiet time, but gave way in large and increasing number under the inevitable struggle which issues in 'the survival of the fittest.'

"The necessary result of this extreme demand for brain activity, since that organ is the sole source of energy on which all the functions of the body, including that of digestion, depend, is an insufficient supply for this important process. Under these circumstances nothing can be more important than to provide food of a kind and in a may be—a result far too frequently sought through the pernicious habit of obtaining temporary relief in a glass of wine or spirit."

COULDN'T BE RETURNED.

Six-year-old Tommie was sent by his eldest sister to the corner grocery to buy a pound of lump sugar. He played allies on the way to the store, and by the time he arrived there he had forgotten what kind of sugar he was sent for. So he took home some of the granulated article. His eldest sister sent him back to the store to get lump sugar. After the proprietor of the grocery forty years, with that which was required by the routine of life as it was in the 'thirties.' The wear and tear of existence has enormously increased, and the demand for rapid action and intense exertion by the nervous system, is certainly tenfold greater now, to make a moderate estimate, than it was then.

"A railway appeared in the first year of the decade named; the penny post and the electric telegraph not until its close; while the press, both daily and weekly, now gigantic, was then, by comparison, insignificant and diminutive. For the great majority, even of business men, life was tranquil and leisure plentiful, while com-form which will economize the work of the stomach. It must not be bulky; much of it may be advantageously soluble in form so as to be rapidly and easily assimilated, even predigested sometimes, and when solid not requiring much mastication. I have found nothing which fulfils these conditions so completely as the various concentrated extracts of meat which are now so extensively used.

"A teaspoonful of sound beef extract in a breakfast cup of hot water when the brain is fatigued and the stomach unfit for work is often the best antidote possible, reinvigorates the system, and prepares it for a light meal or for a little more work, as the case shop had made the change for the little lad, he engaged Tommie in conversation:

"Tommie," said he, "I understand there is a new member of your family."

"Yes, sir," replied the kid; "I've got a little brother."

"Well, how do you like that, hey?" inquired the groceryman.

"Don't like it at all," said Tommie; "rather have a little sister."

"Then why don't you change him, Tommie?"

"We would if we could, but I don't suppose we can. You see we have used him four days now!"—Washington Star.

TRADE CHAT.

EVIDENTLY the Canadian Government has decided to take stringent methods to put down the smuggling which, it is said, takes place at Windsor every year about Christmas time, and of which Windsor merchants have been complaining. The Customs officers, on Friday, received orders from the Canadian Government to inspect and collect duty on every parcel brought over just prior to and during the holiday. It was also intimated that two special officers would be sent to Windsor, within the next few days, to assist the local officers.

The St. Thomas, Ont., apple evaporating factory will be removed to Union, Ont.

The Prescott, Ont., elevator handled over 6,000,000 bushels of grain this season.

During November, 19,465 hogs were killed and dressed at the Ingersoll, Ont., factory.

George Adams, grocer, New Westminster, B.C., intends erecting a three-storey block in that city.

The Aylmer, Ont., Canning Co., took in 1,900 turkeys at their canning factory one day last week.

The Oshawa roller mills have been purchased by Mr. McLaren, of Renfrew, who has taken possession.

A Guelph merchant is seriously forcing the season. He advertises "choice new maple syrup, just arrived."

The steamer Tongariro, from St. John, N.B., took $50,000 worth of poultry, consigned to Liverpool, on her last trip.

W. A. Moore, Perth, Ont., has handled this season $100,000 worth of cheese for the farmers in the neighborhood of that town.

The Kent Mills Co., Chatham, Ont., shipped, one day last week, seven carloads of flour to Newfoundland and two to New Brunswick.

Since the Woodstock cheese board closed two factories have sold 290 and 380 boxes respectively at 10c., and another 480 boxes at from 9½ to 9 11-16c.

No less than 14 American commercial travelers were in the city the other day doing business. The Christmas trade, no doubt, is partly responsible for the influx.—London News.

The Rat Portage Miner advocates that the farmers near that town should start cultivating the hardier varieties of apples. The experiment has been tried, with success.

The Grocers' and Butchers' Association, of Port Huron, Mich., have adopted a resolution by which the members of the association are asked to refuse all applications for advertisements on programmes in the city.

At the annual meeting of the Shefford county, Que., Fruit Growers' Association, held at Granby, Que., G. C. Wilcocks was elected president; J. C. Barr, vice-president, and J. A. Tomkins, secretary-treasurer.

During the summer season, May to October, inclusive, 139,140 lb. of butter were made at the Winchelsea, Ont., creamery. The factory is still running and expects to continue during the winter, as it still has a large patronage.

During the past season 2,126,123 lb. of milk were received at the Norwood, Ont., cheese factory; 191,391 lb. of cheese were made, selling for $15,334, an average of a little more than 8c. per lb. The farmers realized 58½c. per cwt. net for their milk.

One day last week the Anderson cheese factory, in East Zorra, near Woodstock, Ont., caught fire, and about $3,500 worth of cheese, which was sold at the last board, and was in the curing-room awaiting inspection, and removal, was nearly all spoiled. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

During the season, 1,202,133 lb. of milk were delivered at the Omeme, Ont., factory; 112,070 lb. of cheese were made, selling at $8,956.54, an average of almost 8c. per lb. The net value of the milk to the patrons was 55.8c. per cwt. Over 56 tons of cheese were made, as compared with 46 tons last year.

A new clerk at a new grocery store in Laconia, N.H., relates an amusing incident: He uses an alarm clock, and the other morning when the alarm sounded, he picked it up and held it to his ear, saying "Hello!" This awakened him, and he found that he was not at the telephone, as he supposed. It was really an alarming incident.

R. J. Risk, who was six years with J. T. Wallace, grocer, of Brantford, has accepted a position as manager of the grocery department of E. J. Coles' Empire store. Mr. Risk was a prominent Christian Endeavor worker, and will, doubtless, prove quite an acquisition to the Young People's Christian societies of the town. From all reports Mr. Coles has also secured a valuable assistant. —Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

A Berwick, N.S., despatch states that there is not half enough accommodation for apple shippers at that point, and it is no uncommon sight to see four or five hundred barrels laying in the mud, while waiting to be transferred to the cars. The shaking up that the apples receive during their passage from the main street to the station is almost as bad as what they receive in their transit to the Old Country.

SUFFERING AND CRIPPLED CHILDREN.

CANADA has many worthy charitable institutions, but there are probably none that so much excite our sympathy as the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto.

It was founded, not with a view to aiding any sect or denomination; it was founded for the purpose of alleviating the sufferings and remedying the deformities of the wee bits of humanity many of whom would probably otherwise pass their existence tortured by pain or burdened with deformity.

The Hospital for Sick Children was established 22 years ago, but it is within the last decade that it has assumed anything like its present proportions. And it is every year becoming a more powerful agent for the alleviation of the condition of the maimed and sick little ones of the city and Province.

Up to September last, 633 children had been treated this year at the institution. Of these, 470 were from Toronto and 163 from outside places. Of these 633 patients, 515 have been discharged alive, of which number, 334, or 65 per cent., were cured; 141, or 37 per cent., improved; 40 or 8 per cent., unimproved. There were 24 deaths, and at the end of September there were still 94 little sufferers in the institution. Since its inception the hospital has been the means of helping 30,000 sick children. "Well done, good and faithful servant."

If there is one time more than another when our hearts should go out towards this institution, it is now, the Christmas festive season. But, while our sympathy is a good thing, it is of little use unless it induces us to do something practicable.

There are several ways in which our sympathy may find practicable expression. One is by lending financial aid to the institution. There is, at present, a mortgage of $50,000 on the building, which is naturally a drag upon the institution, but, by February next, $25,000 has to be paid on this mortgage, and an appeal is now being made by the Board of Trustees for this sum. Donations in the shape of toys, etc., are particularly welcome at this, the festive holiday season.

As the report of the institution, just issued, says: "Everyone can help in this grand work." And the smallest sum will be welcome.

One hundred dollars will keep a cot for a year, $1,000 will maintain a cot for 10 years, $2,000 will endow a cot forever, and $5,000 will dedicate a ward.

MATCHES AND THEIR HISTORY.

The announcement that Sir Isaac Holden, M.P., who died recently in London, Eng., was the inventor of the lucifer match may be correct, but there is strong evidence to the contrary, says an exchange. Phosphorous friction matches were made in Paris as long ago as 1816, and in 1827 they penitentiary at Hohenasperg, in Germany. He began manufacturing after he was released from prison, but was ruined by Viennese competition, and died a pauper. Up to 1862 the manufacturers of Austria and South Germany controlled the match business of the entire world.

The primitive method of kindling a fire was, no doubt, the use of friction. Two pieces of wood were rubbed together until the dust evolved by the operation ignited by the heat produced. This mode was still in vogue a few years ago on some of the smaller islands of the Pacific, which had not enjoyed the advantages of sufficient commerce with Europe or America to keep them supplied with more modern contrivances. The usual way of performing this operation is to press the sharpened end of a stick of hardwood against a piece of soft were manufactured in considerable quantities in England. They were introduced on a commercial scale in England 63 or 64 years ago, and appear to have been brought out almost simultaneously in several other cities in Europe. The name most prominently connected with the early stages of the invention is Preschel of Vienna, who in 1833 had a factory in operation, making, besides phosphorous matches, fusees and amadou (or German tinder) slips tipped with an igniting compound. At the same time, also, matches were made by Moldenhauer in Darmstadt.

There is good authority for the belief that the friction match was the product of the ingenuity of John Frederick Komerer, who, early in the century, was imprisoned in the wood, notched to receive the point, and twirl it rapidly back and forth between the palms of the hands. The small particles rubbed off are kindled after a while, and a little dry moss is added to increase the flame, until it is large enough to communicate to twigs and splinters. While this method answers well with the uncivilized people who employ it, it requires much habit and great strength, as shipwrecked mariners and "matchless" travelers have found to their sorrow.

In Terra del Fuego, at the extremity of South America, early travelers found the natives producing fire by rubbing briskly a piece of pyrites against a flinty stone and catching the sparks upon a dry, mossy substance, which was quickly inflamed.

Japan Tea In Canada.

Canadian imports of Japan Tea this year, up to October 18, show a marked increase with the corresponding period a year ago.

The total shipments to the Dominion for the first nine months of '97 amounted to about 7,500,000 compared with the same period in '98, when it was 9,009,000 pounds, showing the enormous increase of over 1,500,000 pounds.

This is only one of the many convincing arguments that the pure, rich and delicious teas of Japan are pulling ahead year after year, and that the tea drinkers of Canada are not slow to appreciate a good thing such as these teas.

Two-thirds of the tea consumed in Canada in 1898 came from JAPAN.

TORONTO AND MONTREAL, DECEMBER 30, 1898.

NO. 52

THE VILLAIN PURSUED.

PART I.

THE month was June. The clock in the lofty tower of St. James' Cathedral was striking the hour of midnight. Each stroke fell on the silence of the hour with a sickening dull thud.

That this clock knew what it was talking about was apparent by its deliberate and mechanical tone of voice, only obtained by a varied experience of twenty-four hours a day for six months, twice a year.

As a still further proof that it knew what it was talking about, it pointed, not only one, but both of its hands at the hour of twelve.

It was of the feminine gender, same as all other clocks. It painted its face to hide its age. This was foolish, because its figure showed age in every line, also the oldest inhabitant remembers passing and re-passing it for years on King street promenade, not only on Saturday afternoons, but every day of the year. Still, it was a good clock.

As the last stroke died away it brought back to the realities of life (which is composed of small potatoes, and few in a hill), a man and woman who were standing in the doorway of a handsome residence on Jarvis street.

Although not more than twenty-five years of age, the man looked thirty-five. Unhappiness, worry and trouble have left an imprint on his still handsome face. Ill-luck, that had been pursuing him for years, had at last overtaken him and he had to fly.

With a heavy sigh, that came direct from the internal regions of his anatomy, he said to his companion: "Jean, the hour has come when you and I must part, perhaps forever. For years I have looked forward with a longing desire, during my hard struggle against fate, when we could have a cosy home of our own, filled with fourteen or twenty bright-haired boys or girls—

My easy chair of softest plush;
My footstool of blue and gold;
And the fire burning low in a costly grate,
While I think of the days of old.

"But my happy dream is o'er. Before another hour is past, the detectives will be on my track, and I must go never to return. When I am gone try and think kindly of me; think lightly of my crime, because I loved you. I laid man's best gift at your Chicago feet, and you walked all over it. Notwithstanding all this my only thought will be of thee when among strangers in a strange land, thoughts of the many pounds of creams and the many dishes of cream you engulfed at my expense."

He stopped breathless, and looked entreatingly at her as if expecting a reply, but her face was as fixed as the one on the window blind of the school of art on Yonge street.

"Farewell," he said, "when I am gone you will long for a sight of my face, and may call my name, but it will be in vain, farewell."

With a tragic wave of his hand he departed and slammed the gate, the noise of which was so great that it awakened a policeman four blocks away, and he said some bad words relating to water privileges and mill dams in the Northwest.

Jean watched the retreating figure until it vanished from view, then, with a sigh of satisfaction, she murmured "poor brute."

PART II.

About an hour after the tragedy recorded above, the figure of a man was seen making his way along the Esplanade. From the suspicious way in which he dodged from shadow to shadow, it was evident he feared being discovered.

He glided along noiselessly till he reached the Corinthian Canoe Club, into which he disappeared, only to appear again in a few moments dragging a basswood canoe which he dropped into the water, making a loud splash that reechoed on the still air. Almost immediately a door on the boat house opposite flew open and two stalwart policemen stood in the bright moonlight.

The surprise of the escaping criminal at being thus confronted was great. Both parties stood staring at each other for several seconds, but at last the criminal recovered himself, and he quickly dropped into his canoe and commenced paddling as if for his life. The officers in a heavy row boat were soon after him, but he had a good quarter mile start. Not a breath of air was stirring, which made the surface of the bay like a sheet of glass. No other sign of life was on the bay save these two boats. No sound broke the death-like stillness except the creak of oarlocks and the quick splash of the paddle. One moment the rowboat seemed to be gaining, but the next the light canoe shot ahead. Both boats pointed to the Centre Island. The solitary canoeist was fast nearing the island, having gained a little on the boat. Summoning nearly all his remaining strength for a final dash he dug the frail blade into the still waters and the canoe shot forward as if fired from a cannon, and the shore was reached. After taking a hasty glance at his pursuers, he took hold of his faithful canoe, raised it to his shoulders and made across the island in the direction of the lake. He was nearly half-way across before the officers touched shore. Could he reach the lake in time he was safe. They had left the boat and were quickly gaining on him. His strength was quickly leaving him, a 100 yards more and he was safe. He could hear the short-winded policemen close behind him. They were gaining.

Just at this instant his foot catches a root, and he falls. He is up again. Fifty yards more and he is safe. Nearer and nearer. He has not time to look around. He almost feels their breath now—when—whizz-burr-burr-clap-bang-r-r-r-r-r-r—darn that alarm clock. Heavens, it was only a dream!

A SERVICEABLE CALENDAR.

The O'Keefe Brewery Co., of Toronto, Limited, have issued, for the use of their patrons, a practical calendar for 1899. Each month is printed on a separate sheet, the wording in bright red and the dates in a deep black, so that the day of the week or month can be easily read at a considerable distance. Grocers having liquor stores in connection will find this worth getting.

IMITATING COMPUTING SCALES.

The Computing Scale Co., Dayton, Ohio, have requested THE CANADIAN GROCER to publish the following statement: "We, the pioneer manufacturers of the computing scales, desire to announce that different concerns throughout the United States and Canada, are not only copying our designs of money-weight scales, but are actually manufacturing under our patents and forcing their goods on the market and into the hands of innocent purchasers. We believe it time to call a halt to such methods. Furthermore, it is our purpose to invoke the aid of the courts in the protection of our trade mark rights, as well as our patent rights, and for the protection of merchants, we advise that a thorough investigation be made before any orders are given to such concerns for their goods. Investigate their patents, or have some good attorney do it for you, and thus relieve yourself of the responsibility of paying us royalties on our patents. Buy where you know you won't be fooled."

MANUFACTURERS AND GROCERS.

One large manufacturer of food products made the remark the other day that he didn't care a rap for reaching the grocery trade. What he wanted was to get at the consumer. Perhaps, one of these days, the grocers will tell the manufacturers that they are a factor in the disposal of goods. The way some big makers of food products are ignoring the trade and advertising to consumers—at the same time selling all they can to department stores—indicates the necessity of manly independence on the part of the dealer. It isn't in any manufacturer to compel a grocer to sell goods he doesn't choose to introduce to his trade. A knowing look, a peculiar inflection of the voice, a hint, can damn the sale of any product in a community. This attempt to ignore the dealer—to force him to give up the sale of profit-making goods and substitute therefor much-advertised, non-profit-making goods—has gone far enough.—New England Grocer.

TORONTOST. LAWRENCE MARKET IMPROVEMENT.

A MEETING of the Retail Merchants' Association, Toronto, was held on Tuesday evening, in Shaftesbury Hall, at which the proposed market improvements were discussed, in addition to a number of other questions of interest in view of the coming municipal elections. W. B. Rogers, president of the association, opened the meeting with a brief resume of the work they have been doing, and was followed by E. M. Trowern, secretary, who spoke along similar lines.

Deputations were present from the St. Lawrence market improvement committee and the Retail Grocers' Association. The first of these to be heard was D. R. Donald, of the St. Lawrence market improvement committee, who compared that market with those of other cities, and urged that something should be done at once which would place Toronto on an equal footing with other cities, so far as a produce market was concerned. He favored the adoption of the by-law for the expenditure of $150,000 for this purpose.

W. H. Marmion, president of the Retail Grocers' Association, endorsed what Mr. Donald said.

J. W. Sykes and F. W. Johnson registered an objection against permitting peddlers to dispose of produce by traveling from door to door. S. Godbold, president of the Laundry Association, spoke on the necessity of having people in the city council who would represent the small dealers.

Rev. Elliott S. Rowe delivered a brief address, urging the necessity of supporting trustworthy men for municipal offices. He set forth the importance which Toronto occupied as a distributing point for the produce of Canada, emphasized the necessity of deepening the canals, improving the harbor, promoting the carrying trade on water and a good produce market, and concluded by advising them to elect men who would guard the interests of the city.

The aldermanic candidates were then called on. Ald. R. J. Score, candidate for aldermanic honors for ward 3, declared himself in favor of expending $150,000 in improving St. Lawrence market. He promised to represent them to the best of his judgment, if elected. Geo. Boxall, another candidate for ward 3, made similar promises. Alex. Stewart, who desires to represent ward 5 in the city council, took up the cry of doing away with peddlers. J. H. Sabine, another man from ward 5, waged war on corporations, and John B. Banks, ward 6, favored market improvement. Wm. Devers spoke in objection to the trading stamp scheme, and G. E. Gibbard gave a general talk on the requirements of the association. Wm. E. Raney addressed the meeting on the violations of the cardinal principles of taxation which were frequent in Toronto. He quoted The Street Railway Company's and Bell Telephone Company's cases as instances.

CANADIAN EGGS IN ENGLAND.

It will be of interest to all engaged in the egg trade to learn what great improvements have lately taken place, both in quality and magnitude, in the Canadian importation. In the week ended the 5th inst. a single Liverpool firm imported 8,517 cases, each containing 300 eggs, and all were promptly sold, the demand for the better brands considerably exceeding the supply. Great credit is due the Canadian shippers for the manner in which the eggs are now put up for the British market. The eggs are securely packed in paper in separate compartments. Although this process is more expensive in the first instance, the freedom from breakage and the avoidance of mustiness and other objectionable flavors which arise from straw or wood shavings, or sawdust packing, more than compensate. So long as we have to import eggs, it is only fair that our own most go ahead colony should be fully encouraged to send us the best they have, as against continental competitors.—Birmingham Daily Post.

CANADIAN VINEGAR.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER: In your last issue of THE GROCER there appears an article upon "Canadian Vinegar," which, we have no doubt, will tend considerably in encouraging the Canadian public to demand vinegar manufactured under Government supervision, and by a reliable house. We enclose you a clipping from The Consular Journal, published in the Old Country, giving an impartial criticism of our goods, the first Canadian vinegar ever shipped to the old land, and, as we are one of the firms interested in the new vinegar syndicate, we venture to assert that the article put up by them will equal in quality and flavor any produced by Old Country firms.

Kindly insert this in your valuable paper, both letter and clipping.

A. HAAZ & Co.

Kingston, Dec. 23, 1898.

The Consular Journal has the following: "The first consignment of vinegar which has ever been shipped from Canada has just arrived in the Clyde. It consists of 600 gallons, and is pronounced by the authorities to be as perfect in manufacture and condition as any produced by home firms. The arrival of this consignment marks a new development in trade between Canada and the Mother Country.

"Haaz & Co. shipped a sample in the spring (about 200 gallons), to Glasgow, at the firm's own risk, and this proved so satisfactory that it resulted in the large order, which was shipped at the end of August."

THE SEASON'S LOBSTER PACK.

The pack of canned lobsters shipped from Halifax this season amounts to 133,970 cases, or 10,000 cases less than that of last year. Lobsters brought higher prices than ever before, averaging about $10.50 per case of 48 cans. Two years ago, the shipments were 165,593 cases. During the past 23 years shipments have aggregated in value $23,890,000.

UNITED STATES SILVER IN CANADA.

A UNITED STATES contemporary, in complaining about the quantity of Canadian silver currency which is in circulation in that country, says: "Everyone has a right to demand American money, and if this demand were general in the United States, persons who bring Canadian money across the border would be obliged to visit the money changers at the frontier."

This silver currency question has attracted a great deal of interest in Canada, and especially during the last seven or eight years. During the most serious period of the recent depression in the United States, and the alarming depreciation there in the value of the silver dollar, silver currency from across the border became so unpopular in this country that for a time it practically ceased to circulate. During the last year or two, it has, however, again come a great deal into evidence, and a great deal of annoyance has been caused to those, who, after having generously taken it at par, have found that those to whom they paid it refused to take it except at a discount, while others would not it accept at all.

It has been contended that the character of the money in circulation helps or hinders the promotion of patriotism. That is, that money coin helps and foreign coin hinders this spirit. This is true; but probably to a limited extent, and scarcely sufficient to prevent the promulgation of the doctrine that money which will circulate in all countries at par is something that is to be desired, at any rate for convenience sake.

But silver money is not at present qualified, and for the simple reason that it is not stable enough. With gold, however, it is another matter.

Being, therefore, not qualified, it would be most convenient for United States silver money to circulate in Canada. It is not needed here. We have plenty of our own.

The trouble is: How is the practice of taking United States silver coinage to be discontinued?

If one merchant refused to take United States silver over his counter, he is not only afraid of offending a customer, but of losing one as well, for he knows there are competitors of his who would be only too willing to take what he refused.

The aid of Parliament might be invoked, and an Act passed preventing the circulation of foreign silver in Canada, but this, while it might be possible, might not be politic.

The most effective and the simplest way would be for merchants to refuse to accept United States silver over the counter. In order to do this effectively it would be, perhaps, necessary for the merchants in each village, town and city in the Dominion to enter into an agreement in regard to the matter. And, as this decision became known, the consuming public would become possessed of the same idea, which would materially lessen the difficulties of the merchant in this respect.

DO NOT CUT PRICES.

There is one thing merchants should resolve to do at the New Year, and that is not to cut prices.

The practice of cutting prices is induced by selfishness. The merchant who believes in living and let live does not cut prices. No one gains by it, and every merchant who participates in it suffers by it.

TAKE STOCK.

THE Old Year is dying, and when it goes out another year's business will have been concluded. And every merchant, no matter how small his business may be, should ascertain just where he stands at its close.

To know that he is able to meet all pending liabilities is not enough. Every merchant should know, at least once a year, where he actually stands, and this knowledge he can only possess after having carefully taken stock.

It does not do for a merchant to guess his position, any more than it is safe for a mariner to guess his latitude and longitude.

It requires time for a merchant to take an inventory of his stock, to count up his liabilities, and to value his assets. But it is well worth the time it demands. And he who will not take the time cannot as intelligently do his business as he otherwise would.

An inventory not only allows a merchant to ascertain the value of his stock, but it enables him to get a better idea as to its character, without knowing which he could not properly estimate his financial position.

In taking an inventory, care should be taken to place the proper value upon every article or line in stock. A merchant would be deluding himself if he estimated at its cost price any article which had proved to be unsalable or had been a long time on the shelves.

Every year that an article is in stock it depreciates in value, and, as it depreciates, its selling price should be marked down until it is eventually disposed of or is thrown into the rubbish heap or scrap pile.

Then, unless the business is a cash one, there are the book debts to be taken into account. Book debts, like stocks of merchandise, depreciate in value. And these, in the balance sheet, should be estimated, not at their face value, but at their presumed worth.

With these things done, the merchant is well on his way to ascertain his financial position.

A lazy man can no more hope to be successful in life than can a man with a chain and ball at his ankle hope to win a race in which his competitors have not this impediment.

CANADIAN-MADE VINEGAR.

IN another column is printed a letter from A. Haaz & Co., regarding the article on vinegar which appeared in the last issue of this journal. In the opinion of the company the article in question will, no doubt, "tend considerably in encouraging the Canadian public to demand vinegar manufactured under Government supervision."

THE CANADIAN GROCER hopes it will. The public require to be stirred up in this particular. But the manufacturers more so.

With a good many consumers one vinegar is as good as another. The manufacturer, however, knows different. But he does not use that knowledge always as he should. The fact that there is so much Canadian vinegar on the market which is positively injurious to the public health proves it.

Although there are a good many people who do not know one vinegar from another, yet there are a good many who do, and their number is increasing.

The result of this has not been favorable to Canadian vinegar, for, notwithstanding the high duty, the importation of vinegar into Canada is increasing. The following table shows this, also the amount of duty paid :

1897.	$10,333	$6,450 81
1896	13,199	6,592 51
1895	8 649	5,126 07
1894	10,027	6,514 11
1893	10,131	6,048 56
1892	10,171	6,747 00
1891	10,039	6,368 94
1890	9,642	5,821 36
	$79,191	$49 669 61

It will be noticed that the average duty paid, during the eight years given in the above table, was 62.68 per cent. of the total value of the goods imported, and yet the value of the goods imported in 1897 was over 7 per cent. in excess of that of 1890.

Here is an industry that is protected more than any other Canadian industry, and yet there is scarcely an industry in the country that has made such little headway.

In the latter quoted, Haaz & Co. venture to assert that the article put up by the new vinegar syndicate "will be equal in quality and flavor to any produced by Old Country firms."

It is to be hoped it will be so, but there will need to be a decided improvement in the quality of the average vinegar that is made in Canada to-day. But there is no reason why the revolution should not take place.

FIGHT STILL ON IN MOLASSES.

THE combat between the regular wholesale houses in Montreal, and the speculators who bought up Barbadoes molasses in the hope of a big rise, continues as keenly as ever.

This was shown quite plainly the other day, when the purchase of a round lot of 20 puncheons necessitated the payment of 32c., whereas car lots are still being quoted by the regular houses at 30c., and single puncheons 31 to 32c.

How long the fight will go on is difficult to say, but the fact seems to be generally admitted that stocks are steadily shrinking.

Advices from the city of Quebec, also a prominent centre of distribution, state that the stock of Barbadoes there is not sufficient to meet the consumptive demands of the market, and that applications to Montreal and the Maritime Provinces reveal the same state of affairs.

If these statements are correct, it would appear as though the speculators had only to quietly bide their time to command their own prices.

Further offers of Porto Rico stock, however, in Montreal is a cloud on the horizon, for the jobbers are just in the mood to push these goods, and, if the quality is only all right, its relative cheapness, as compared with the Barbadoes held on speculation, may commend itself to the consumers.

INCREASE IN EXPORTS OF TEAS FROM GREAT BRITAIN.

The exports of tea from the United Kingdom during the six months ending November 30 last were most satisfactory, particularly as far as British grown teas are concerned.

Of Indian tea, 4,012,626 lb. against 2,421,219 lb. in the corresponding six months of 1897 were exported; of Ceylon tea, 6,195,320 lb. against 5,238,792 lb.; and China tea, 7,799,283 lb. against 10,284,853.

The most striking feature in the above figures is the increase of over 65 per cent. in the exports of Indian tea. The increase in the exports of Ceylon tea was over 18 per cent., while in China tea there was a decrease of over 24 per cent. for the six months.

It is still more interesting to note that of all the countries which shared in the increase, British North America shows the highest percentage of gain, being no less than 152 in Indian teas, and 83 per cent. in Ceylon teas. The United States took less than in 1897.

More China teas were also exported to Canada from the United Kingdom during the six months.

SALARY AS A MEASURE OF DUTY.

THE man who does not do his best because he deems the salary he is paid does not warrant his doing so makes a mistake.

When a man enters the employ of another it is implied that he will do his duty, and one only performs his duty when he is doing his best.

The size of the salary should never be the gauge by which one measures out his duty.

It is not performing a duty to half do a thing any more than boring a hole is blasting a rock.

If a man is not prepared to do his best for a certain wage, his duty is not to accept the position. And, if he is filling a position for which he is inadequately paid, the right thing for him to do is to resign unless he has the patience to wait, still performing his duty, until he gets a better salary or better position elsewhere.

Worth will come to the top somehow and somewhere; and, even for his own sake, to say nothing of what he owes to his employer, this should impel a man, be he young, middle-aged or old, to do his best at all times and in all seasons.

If a struggling architect did not do his very best work when he was unknown and poorly paid, how in the world could he ever expect to become famous and secure good prices for his plans? Of course he could have no such expectations unless he happened to be a fool.

Every young man is the architect of his own fortune, and unless he follows definite and proper lines he cannot hope to build a good superstructure.

WHY BUTTER IS FIRM.

CANADIAN butter exporters are awaiting the arrival of the first heavy consignments of New Zealand and Australian butter in the British market with considerable anxiety. On the effect of these arrivals will depend to a great extent the future course of export values for Canadian butter.

At the moment opinions are divided, but the majority of exporters seem to agree that, with this unknown factor pending, a conservative policy should be followed. At the same time there are some facts worthy of notice, at present, which contrast rather strongly with the situation of affairs in Great Britain at this time last year.

It must be borne in mind that trade and industry of all kinds have been exceptionally good all over Great Britain this season, which was not so last year, and it is obvious that this must have an influence on the consumptive demand of such a staple as butter. Last year at this time, also, the great British engineers' strike threw many thousands out of work, and, besides, there was a large quantity of butter in cold store in Great Britain. Now the cold stores there are practically empty, and the imports of butter are short.

According to recent returns, the imports for the eleven months ending November 30, this season, were 500 tons less than for the same period last year, whereas, then, the imports were nearly 10,000 tons in excess of the year before. Altogether, therefore, those who do not look for any material break in butter values are not without substantial grounds on which to base their opinions.

It may be added that from week to week there have been operators in Montreal who predicted the break before the close of each, but, on the contrary, prices have not only ruled firm, but the demand has been sufficiently active to keep the market well cleaned up, despite the fact that the volume of receipts was greater than at the same time last year. In fact, the statistics clearly prove that Canadian farmers have been making more winter creamery this season than last.

For instance, since the close of navigation, the aggregate receipts at Montreal have been almost 30,000 packages, against 15,000 odd last year, or an increase of nearly 50 per cent. It speaks pretty forcibly for the steady nature of the demand, that, despite this greatly increased output, the accumulation at Montreal, since the close of navigation, has been light. It is not surprising, therefore, that holders at present are reluctant about conceding any decline from existing rates.

The current export basis at Montreal, for finest winter creamery, is 20¼c. with possibly a fraction more in some cases; and it is reported that the factories, both in Ontario and Quebec, besides running full time, are sold ahead to a considerable extent.

He who does not save his discounts is discounting one of the factors of success for the coming year's business.

DECLINE IN ORANGES.

THE prospects are that oranges will not be dear this winter. The receipts from all producing countries have been the most liberal the market has experienced. In Toronto, fully three times the usual quantity was received for the Christmas trade by one house.

This abundant supply seems general. In New York, 8,000 cases of Valencias were received up to one day last week, as compared with 3,400 cases in the same time last year, and Sicily and Naples varieties came in to the extent of 27,000 boxes, as compared with 10,000 boxes the year before. Californian fruit has been arriving on that market in unusual quantities, an average of 10 cars per day being received for some time.

During the past week Californian navels, Jamaicas and ordinary Valencias have declined 25 to 50c.

The prices now ruling are much below those quoted at this time during the last two years. Valencias are worth from $4 to $6 this year, as against $5.50 to $7.50 last year, and $4.50 to $6.25 the year before. Mexicans are selling at $2.50 to $3, while in both of the last two years the price was $3.40 to $4. Navels are quoted at $3.50 to $4 now. Last year they were selling at $4 to $4.50 at this time; the year before they were not quoted. Jamaicas have declined from $7 in 1896, and $7.50 in 1897, to $5.50 to $6 this year.

A Happy and Profitable New Year.

Half-hearted men are not half successful men.

Perseverance procures prosperity, and he is a wise man who employs it.

It is ambition that starts a man going, and it is will power that keeps him going.

Begin the New Year with new business methods if the old ones have become obsolete.

Good goods and honest dealing are the seeds from which the successful business is produced.

Do not get above your business if you would not have your business get from under you.

System to the business is what the governing ball is to the engine: it keeps things running smoothly.

The departing Year has been particularly good to Canada, and we shall think kindly of him no matter how gracious his successors may be.

A permanent business cannot be built upon bad business methods any more than a permanent home can be built upon an iceberg.

Clay only becomes bricks after it has been pressed and burned; and men only become successful merchants after they have been molded by discipline and heated by the fire of competition.

BROOMS UP.

In last week's issue of THE CANADIAN GROCER, it was pointed out that the broom corn in the United States had been cornered—that the price of this article had been advanced 50 per cent.

A press despatch from Chicago states that The Broom Manufacturers' Association has unanimously decided to advance the price of brooms 25c. per dozen. No change has yet been made in prices in Canada.

It seems that in addition to the corner on broom corn, the crop is fully 50 per cent. short, the low prices of the past having caused a decreased cultivation.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Dec. 29, 1898.
GROCERIES.

AS was, of course, to be expected, the volume of business during the week has been decidedly light. The wholesalers have been practically buying nothing, the stock-taking period now being upon them, while the retailers have only been wanting a few sorting up parcels of nuts, raisins and small holiday goods. It is the general opinion that the wholesale trade experienced the best Christmas that it has had for some years. The only complaint they had to make was in regard to the smallness in profits on Valencia raisins, the price of which has been cut a great deal, but, of course, they themselves are nearly altogether to blame for this. The sugar market seems to have taken a little steadier turn, although, shortly after we went to press last week, there was a further decline of 5c. per 100 lb. in the price of granulated sugar. The coffee market remains quiet and steady. Canned goods are, if anything, receiving less attention than they were a week ago, but the price is firm and unchanged. There is some inquiry for dark syrups, but they are not to be had. Teas are quiet and unchanged.

CANNED GOODS.

The firm feeling noted in canned tomatoes last week has been maintained, but there has been no further advance. The idea as to price is 85c. per dozen, with 90c. being asked for what are claimed to be first grade. Most of the houses which had dropped their price 5c. per dozen a few weeks ago are now again back at old figures as a rule. The ruling price for peas is 75c. upwards, and 90 to 95c. is the idea as to corn. There have been a few more inquiries this week from the Northwest, but there does not appear to have been any business done as yet. A thousand cases of tomatoes from first hands have been offering during the past week. The price wanted is 90c., but this, the wholesalers, at the moment, are not willing to pay, although they claim that this price will, eventually, be obtained. Canned salmon, and, in fact, all canned fish, is quiet. In the United States a firmer feeling has developed lately in the price of canned tomatoes.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is some inquiry from retailers for dark syrups, but there is a scarcity in this line, in fact, there are none to be had, except by importing from the United States, which the duty practically precludes. The molasses market keeps firm, and advices received in Toronto, this week, from New Orleans, report an advance of 2c. per gallon in prices in the primary market.

SUGARS.

Shortly after we went to press last week a reduction of 5c. per 100 lb. was made in the price of granulated sugar by the Montreal refineries, and the price for standard is now $4.58. Acadia sugars were not changed, and the granulated of this latter concern is also $4.58. Yellow sugars are without change. The cables early this week noted a slightly steadier market for beet sugar in Europe, while cane is quiet and unchanged. In New York, the cutting of prices by the Trust and the independent refineries is still kept up. Last week, refined declined 1-16 to 1/8c. per lb. In that city there was also a decline of 1-16c. per lb. in raw sugars. This week's advices report that both granulated and yellow are being shaded in price. Locally, business is almost at a standstill and there are no features to note beyond those already mentioned.

*See pages 31 and 32 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John,
and Winnipeg prices current.*

COFFEES.

The local market is quiet and unchanged. Advices from Brazil in the early part of the week showed that the market was slightly easier on account of larger receipts at Santos and Rio. Generally speaking, however, the coffee market is fairly steady.

NUTS.

A good trade was done during the Christmas week, but business now is simply confined to a few small sorting-up lots. Mail advices received this week confirm the cable advices published in THE GROCER a week or two ago in regard to the advance in Valencia almonds.

TEAS.

Agents of shipping firms report a few transactions in Indian and Ceylon teas on spot, but the wholesale houses are too busily employed taking stock and straightening up after the rush of the Christmas holiday trade to bother their heads about placing new orders, unless, of course, some attractive values are offered. The market appears to continue as firm as ever. Advices from London, England, under date of December 16, state that the sale of Indian tea was comparatively small, and that the indication was for a rather steadier market, with a slightly improved demand, and that invoices now arriving are beginning to show some autumnal flavor. In Indian and Ceylon teas, larger quantities were brought forward to the auction, but the teas met with a good demand, and were mostly sold without change in quotations, teas for price continuing in strong demand.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—Notwithstanding that the Christmas holiday trade was large, there are still a good many currants going out to the retail trade. The tone of the currant market abroad continues strong. The Greeks are counting upon the treaty with Russia being successfully negotiated, while they have some faith that the United States will reduce the present high tariff on currants. This is helping them to keep their views up as to the price of this commodity.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Agents of shipping-houses report that they have had some inquiries for fine off-stalk during the past week, but these inquiries do not appear to have so far lead to any business. From what can be gathered, one or two houses are rather low in fine off-stalk, but, as a rule, stocks are by no means small in this grade, or in any other grade of Valencia raisins. Prices are being cut, and the quotations we give are for the better grades of fruit. California seedless raisins, in 1-lb. carton boxes, are quoted at 10½ to 11c., while raisins of the same growth, cleaned and put up in carton boxes in Toronto, are quoted at 1c. per lb. lower.

PRUNES—The demand for prunes has not yet set in, but there is, for this time of the year, a fair trade being done. Mail advices received this week confirm the advance in French plums, already cabled and noted in these columns.

DATES—Trade in this line has been good up to within the last few days, and prices rule at 6c. for Halowee dates and at 5½c. for Sairs.

FIGS—Stocks of figs are pretty well cleaned up, although not much else could have been expected on account of the small quantities which were brought on this season. For natural and tapnet figs the trade look for a good business later in the season.

GREEN FRUITS.

The Christmas season was entirely satisfactory. A good business generally was done. Receipts of oranges are large, and as the crop in nearly all the primary markets is large prices are somewhat easier, Californian navels and Mexicans are 50c. cheaper; Jamaicas have declined 25c. Sorrentos and Japanese tangarines are due on the market this week. The Sorrentos are quoted at $2.25 for boxes containing 160 to 300. Tangarines are worth $2 to $2.25. Messinas are on the market at $2 to $2.25. The demand for lemons is fair. Malagas are done for the season. Messinas are unchanged in value. Bananas, apples, Malaga grapes, etc., are quiet this week, and prices are unchanged. Valencia onions in 160-lb. cases are on the market, and are selling at $2.75 to $3.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The situation is unchanged. The demand for all grades, except strictly fresh, is moderate, but steady. Guaranteed fresh eggs have sold as high as 35c. per dozen, retail, this week. This price is exceptional, of course, but goes to show how strong is the demand at all times for new-laid stock. Held eggs continue firm at 15 to 16c., pickled at 14½ to 15½c. Cases bring all the way from 14½ to 16½c. f.o.b. point of shipment.

POTATOES—There is a good healthy tone observable, with prices unchanged at 55c. for car lots and 60 to 65c. for small lots on the market.

POULTRY—The receipts of poultry to meet the Christmas trade were greater than was the demand. As there was enough bright, fresh-killed stock to fill orders, all stock arriving frozen or in poor condition was neglected. Prices are easier this week.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—There is no change in the situation. Dried apples are steady at 5 to 5½c. at outside points, and at 5½ to 6c. in a jobbing way for No. 1 stock. Common stock is 1c. lower. Evaporated apples are in steady demand at 8¼ to 8½c. outside, and 8½ to 9c. in a jobbing way locally.

BEANS—There is a good movement of hand-picked at $1 to $1.10. Common stock is steady at 70 to 80c.

VEGETABLES—There is no change to note. We quote as follows: Cauliflower, 50 to 75c. per doz.; celery, 50 to 75c. per doz.; lettuce, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; radishes, winter, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz; 60 to 85c.; parsley, 10 to 12½c. per doz. bunches; turnips, 30 to 40c. per bag; beets, 50 to 60c. per bag; parsnips, 60 to 75c. per bag; carrots, 50 to 75c. per bag; onions, Danvers, $1.25 to $1.50 per bag; butter squash, $2 to $2.50; pumpkins, $1 to $1.50; Hubbard squash, $2.50 to $3; red cabbage, 40 to 50c.; egg plant, 50 to 90c. per basket.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The market is in a healthy condition. Though the movement is quiet, prices are firm and unchanged. We quote at outside points: Dairy tubs, 12½c.; prints, 13 to 14c.; large rolls, 13 to 13½c.; creamery prints, 18½ to 19½c.; tubs and boxes, 18½c.

CHEESE—There is little business being transacted this week. Prices are steady at 9 to 9¾c. for early makes, and 10 to 10½c. in a jobbing way.

PROVISIONS.

Receipts of hogs continue large. As a large proportion of the hogs marketed are too big and fat for the export trade, they are being packed for home consumption, and, as the demand for this class of hog is limited, the prices have fallen 10 to 12½c. per cwt. Meats are firm at unchanged prices. Lard in pails is ¼c. dearer.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Wheat advanced 2c. this week, and white and red are now quoted at 69c. at middle freight stations. The street market is quiet. Wheat is 3 to 4c. dearer. oats and rye are 1 to 2c. dearer. Barley and peas 1 to 2c. cheaper. We quote: Wheat, white, 70 to 72c.; red, 70 to 71c.; goose, 69 to 70c.; peas, 58 to 65c.; oats, 31 to 32c.; barley, 48 to 50c.; rye, 52c. No. 1 hard Manitoba has advanced 1 to 2c., and is now quoted at 80 to 82c., Toronto freights.

FLOUR—Ontario grades are 10c. dearer. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4.15; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.90; Ontario patents, $3.90 to $4; straight roller, $3.15 to $3.25, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS — Standard oatmeal and rolled oats have advanced 20c. We quote as follows: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.90 in bags and $3.90 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $4; pot barley, $4.

FISH.

The receipts of fresh-water fish are moderate and prices are steady. Salt-water fish are now selling fairly well. It is expected that all varieties of the latter will be higher in value than usual. Labrador herring is 25c. dearer in half-bbls. this week. Boneless fish and cod is now worth about ½c. more than our last quotation. We quote as follows: Fresh salmon trout, 7½ to 8c.; fresh whitefish, 7½c.; steak trout, 8c. lb.; fresh perch, 4c. per lb.; fresh herring, 4c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.75 per bbl. and $3.25 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 55c. per bundle of five; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 per half-bbl.; cod, in 1-lb. blocks, 6½ to 7c. per lb.; boneless fish, 4 to 4½c. per lb.; boneless fish in 1-lb. blocks, 5½ to 6c.; fresh-water herring, 60c. per basket; ciscoes, 60c. to $1.25; haddies, 6 to 8c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 6c. per lb.; oysters, $1.25 to $1.35 per gallon, or $6.25 per large pail.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—The market is firmer. Cow hides are steady at present quotations, but steer hides are worth ½c. more than the figures noted. We quote: No. 1, 8½c.; No. 2, 7½c.; No. 3, 6½c.; cured, 9c.

CALFSKINS—We quote nominally: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS—No change. Sheepskins and lambskins are firm at 80c.

WOOL—The market is dull. Fleece is quoted at 15c. and unwashed at 10c.

SEEDS.

There is little doing. The remarks of last week thoroughly cover the situation this week. The range in alsike values is large, from $2.50 to $4.50 being quoted, the latter figure only being paid for strictly choice lots. Red clover, also, shows a big range in value, from $3 to $4.25 being paid, the top price only for extra choice, large grain, rich purple seed.

SALT

There is no change. A good business is reported. We quote as follows: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 54c.

MARKET NOTES.

Dressed hogs are 10 to 12½c. cheaper.

Turkeys are ½ to 1½c. cheaper this week.

Valencia onions, in 160 lb. cases, are on the market at $2.75 to $3.

Labrador herring, in half-bbls., are 25c. dearer. Boneless fish and cod have advanced ½ to 1c.

Tangarine, Sorrento and Messina oranges are on the market. They all sell at $2 to $2.25 per case. Ordinary Valencia and Californian navels are 50c. cheaper this week. Jamaicas have declined 5c.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Dec. 29, 1898.

GROCERIES

WITH a very short week, the volume of business in general groceries has not been conspicuous by its magnitude, but is confined chiefly to a small sorting trade in seasonable goods, particularly nuts, spices, and green fruits. The most notable development of the week has been another decline of 5c. at the local refineries for granulated sugar, but yellows are unaltered. Teas are firm as to value, and retailers have been showing more disposition to purchase this staple lately. There is some irregularity in the values governing business in Barbadoes molasses, but the tone is very firm, and people are wondering how long the light is going to last on this staple between the speculators and the regular wholesale houses.

SUGAR.

Further weakness has developed in the local sugar market since our last report, and refineries, on Friday last, decided to reduce the price on granulated 5c. per 100 lb., it now being quoted at $4.40, while yellows are unchanged at $3.70 to $4.20, as to quality, at the factory. Business since the decline has not been of very extensive volume, owing to the fact of the three holidays, but, during the past day or so, quite a few orders have been noted for granulated. There has been nothing since last report in the intelligence from abroad.

SYRUPS.

Canadian syrup in the wood continues steady at 1¾ to 2¼c. per lb., with demand not striking for its activity or extent.

MOLASSES.

Molasses continues firm, under light supplies, but prices, for reasons already noted, viz., the competition between the regular wholesalers and the speculators, are somewhat irregular. For instance, to buy a round lot of Barbadoes, 32c. would have to be paid, whereas carload lots are still selling from jobbers' hands at 30c. Offers of Porto Rico continue to be made at 28½ to 29c.

DRIED FRUIT.

Valencia raisins continue much the same as last reported, and there has been no particular activity in them lately. Prices are nominally unchanged.

Californian raisins are without new feature, and values are firmly held.

Malaga table raisins have been moving, to some extent, in a small sorting way, and prices are firmly held on the whole.

Currants meet a fair local inquiry at unchanged prices.

Prunes are in fair request, and all sorts are steady, with a firm undertone; in fact, an advance is asked to lay down fresh supplies either of European or Californian sorts.

Dates and figs are unaltered, and moving in a quiet, seasonable way.

NUTS.

There is naturally a good movement in nuts just now, but solely in a sorting way. Shelled almonds and walnuts are the firmest in the matter of values, though not quotably changed.

CANNED GOODS.

Business in canned goods has been light, and no particular change is reported. Vegetables rule steady here and the same can be said of salmon.

SPICES.

Demand for spices has continued fairly active and values generally are steady.

COFFEE.

The coffee market has exhibited a firmer tendency outside, but there has been so little doing on spot, in a wholesale way, that the actual effect cannot be ascertained as yet.

TEA.

The market continues quiet, and the talk of the duty noted last week has created a somewhat unsettled feeling. Duty or no duty, however, holders say that buyers cannot expect to procure Japans below present values, but are quite likely to have to pay an advance. Very little business has been reported during the week from second hands, though jobbers note a brisk inquiry from retailers, both for prompt and future delivery. They argue from this that stocks are light. This inquiry is chiefly for medium Japans, but other sorts are not entirely neglected, as Ceylons, Congous and Pingsueys have all been asked for, though to a more moderate extent.

GREEN FRUIT.

Business in green fruit has been exceptionally brisk during the past week, both for local and country account. There has been a big rush in oranges, but supplies have been plentiful and prices do not show much change. Lemons have been in good demand at $2.25 to $3 per box, while cranberries have been brisk at $7 to $9 per bbl. Malaga grapes are commanding good sales at $4.50 to $7 per keg. Pineapples are selling well at 25 to 35c. each. Bananas have had an improved sale at $2.25 to $2.75 per bunch. Grape fruit is selling at $5.50 to $6 per box.

APPLES.

The apple market has ruled firm at $2.50 to $4 per bbl., as to quality and variety.

FISH.

Fresh frozen fish continue scarce and firm. We quote: Haddock and cod moving at 4½c.; salmon, 13c., and to arrive by freight, 9c.; whitefish and dore, 6½c.; pike, 4c.; tommy cods, $1.50 to $1.75 per bbl.; fresh herring, 2¼c. per lb. and smelts 6c.

Pickled fish continue as last reported. We give quotations this week as follows: No. 1 herrings, $4.25 to $4.50 in barrels, and in half-barrels, $2.12½ to $2.25; No. 1 green cod, $6; do. large, $6.50; No. 1 hake, $4.25 to $4.50; B.C. salmon, $12.75 to $13, in full barrels, and $7 in half-barrels, and No. 2 mackerel, $18 per barrel.

Prepared fish are steady. We quote: Haddies firm at 7c.; bay bloomers at 80c. to $1 per box, and smoked herring 10c. per box. Dried codfish, 4c.; boneless, 5½c., and dressed boneless cod, $4.12½c. per 100.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was a good demand for eggs, and the market was active. The tone is firm at unchanged prices. We quote: No. 1 candled, 16c.; No. 2 do., 12½ to 13½c.; Montreal limed, 14½ to 15c.; western limed, 13 to 13½c., and culls, 9c. per doz.

POULTRY—Trade in poultry was active, there being a good demand for most lines,

BEE BRAND CEYLON TEA

IN PACKAGES.

Read this carefully ; it is the unsolicited testimony of the great "American Journal of Health," of New York. It speaks for itself :

THE RATIONAL USE OF TEA.

By A. R. Gray, M.D.

IN the case of any food article which is classed as a necessity, its purity becomes of paramount importance. Tea must now be classed among necessities, for it is futile to call it a luxury in face of the fact that everybody uses it, and that it is within the reach of all. An article of such universal use cannot be displaced by individual prejudice, nor is there anything to be gained by keeping up a discussion as to the so-called injurious effects of tea, or the advisability of discontinuing its use. Notwithstanding that the medical profession have recognized, in the properly regulated use of tea, a beneficial agency in the dietary, there continues to be a certain amount of opposition to it. This opposition, of course, comes from uninformed persons who are unqualified to judge on such a question, and who, as usually occurs in such cases, are as obstinate as they are ignorant.

The hygienic press desires that this question should be properly understood by the public. If you abuse any one of the good things of life, you will suffer in proportion. Absolutely pure tea, temperately indulged in, is one of the blessings of life, and is an adjunct to the other valuable agencies which make for the preservation of health. But let there be no mistake about the quality of the tea you use. The hygienist will sanction the use of only such teas as have satisfied his requirements in regard to unexceptionable purity and excellence. A brand which has fully satisfied those requirements is Bee

Brand of tea, offered by L. Chaput, Fils & Cie., of Montreal, Canada. This tea, upon our examination into the claims put forth for it, proved beyond dispute that it deserves the extensive patronage it already enjoys. Its popularity, however, would have weighed not one iota with The American Journal of Health had not we procured for ourselves practical demonstration of its superlative quality.

We grant our endorsement to the Bee Brand of tea because it has shown that it possesses strength and aromatic flavor, as well as a delicacy which appeals to the most ultra-refined palate, and a remarkable uniformity of high-grade quality. Inferior teas are deficient in such distinctive qualities from many causes, among which may be briefly mentioned the want of careful manufacture of the leaves, their careless original selection, or the evident fact that they were gathered from a confessedly poor crop.

The high grade teas, of which Bee Brand is an example, are valuable in the dietary because they impart tone to the stomach, beneficially affect the digestive organs, under various conditions, tend to stimulate appetite, and afford a beverage which, while having the virtues of a stimulant, does not react upon the system, but rather serves as a nervine. When these important qualities are found in a particular brand of tea, it is entitled to endorsement and recommendation. We consequently endorse Bee Brand of tea as eminently a brand of this high character.—American Journal of Health.

and prices show no change. We quote: Turkeys, good to choice, 9 to 9½c.; scalded, 8 to 8½c.; chickens, good to choice, 6 to 8c.; fowls, 4 to 5c.; ducks, 7½ to 8c., and geese, 5½ to 6c. per lb.

GAME—The market for partridge was firm, and all offerings met with a ready sale at 75c. for firsts, and at 55 to 60c. for seconds per brace.

BEANS—Business in beans was quiet at unchanged prices. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel; prime, 85 to 90c.

HONEY—The market for honey was dull and prices nominal. We quote as follows: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 7 to 7½c.; dark, 5½ to 6½c.; white extracted, 6 to 6½c., and dark, 4 to 5c.

POTATOES—In potatoes the feeling is very firm, and all good stock meets with a ready sale at 55c. per bag in car lots.

DRESSED HOGS AND PROVISIONS.

There was no new feature in the provision market. The demand was slow and trade quiet. We quote: Canadian pork, in barrels, $11.50 to $16; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 7½ to 7¾c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to 5½c. per lb.; Hams, 10 to 12c. and bacon, 10 to 12c. per lb.

A fair trade was done in dressed hogs, and prices ruled firm at $5.65 to $5.75 for light weights, and at $5.50 for heavy, per 100 lb., in a jobbing way.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

GRAIN—The grain market was somewhat of a holiday character, but the undertone was firm in sympathy with foreign and American advices. Manitoba No. 1 hard wheat was firmer at 66c. December and 70c. May delivery afloat Fort William. Ontario red wheat west was offered at 68½ to 69c. In coarse grains, a round lot of peas sold west at 66c. and oats at 28¼c.

FLOUR—The flour market was quieter, and, as buyers generally have ample supplies on hand, little activity is anticipated until after the holidays. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $3.75 to $4; straight rollers, $3.50 to $3.65; in bags, $1.65 to $1.75; Manitoba patents, $4.25; strong bakers', $3.75 to $4.10.

FEED—The tone of the feed market was firm, but trade was rather quiet. We quote: Manitoba bran, $14.50 to $15; shorts, $16 and mouille, $17 per ton, including bags. Ontario white wheat bran, $15.50 to $16; shorts, $17 per ton in bulk.

MEAL—There was no change in the meal market, rolled oats selling at $3.50 per bbl., and at $1.70 per bag.

HAY—In baled hay trade continues quiet, and prices are unchanged. We quote: No. 1, $6.50 to $7; No. 2, extra, $5 to $6;

No. 2, clover mixture, $4.50 to $5, and clover, $4.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Butter remains dull, but fairly steady to-day, and values on finest late made creamery are held at 20¼c. for anything really up to the mark. Comparing the receipts with those of the same time last year, the volume of production this fall is sensibly increased. For instance, from the close of navigation until last Saturday, the aggregate receipts were 20,870 packages, compared with 11,488 for the same time last year, an increase this season of 9,382 packages.

CHEESE—Cheese continues to advance, sales being reported at 10¼c., and, though they could not be verified, it is reasonably certain that no sellers would now accept less for any strictly fancy Ontario makes, and we quote 10½ to 10¾c. to cover ideas on both Easterns and Westerns. The cable has advanced 6d. to 1s., and now stands at 49s. for both white and colored. This is six shillings higher than it was this time last year.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., Dec. 27, 1898.

A GOOD holiday business is the general report. While rather too mild, the weather was, on the whole, favorable. The "going," because of some little snow was the best for years. Our market was particularly well supplied. While good prices were obtained, colder weather would have been appreciated by the shippers of poultry. The new elevator at the winter port is now working. There is now elevator capacity for 1,000,000 bushels of grain. The first of the Manchester boats arrived last week. She took away a full cargo, among which was 100,000 bushels corn, 60,000 bushels oats, 14,000 boxes cheese, 3,000 bags starch, etc. In markets there was no particular changes, business in a wholesale way being quiet. Cream of tartar is higher. Spices continue firm. Brooms, which it was thought would advance sometime ago, are again firmer. The changing of the regulation in reference to lobsters, going back to the old 9-inch standard from the 10½-inches, means very much to the advantage of the packers, at least for the present, though the ultimate effect is very much in doubt.

OIL—Dealers are at a loss to know why those who control the values of burning oil make advances and declines of such small amounts as has of late been the rule. The late decline of ¼c. seemed to be without any particular reason, at least any which showed on the surface. It does not seem to be of any benefit to anyone, but means unsettled values and extra work. These changes do not even always indicate the trend of the market. Demand is now light. In all the other branches there is limited business. Paint oil keeps high. Lead oil is low.

SALT—Liverpool coarse salt, which is the staple here, is in light demand at this season. Stocks are light, but small quantities are received weekly. There is some light sale for Liverpool factory filled, but at this season the chief demand for fine salt is for creameries, and they use Canadian. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 40 to 45c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to CANNED GOODS—There is a fair business doing, but prices are still lower in this market than west. This is particularly true of corn. In lobsters there is a reported easier feeling, but there is no change here. A steady sale is reported. Salmon, while showing no large business, move quite freely at quite high prices, but could not be replaced to sell at present figures. In fruits, there is but light business. Peaches tend higher. Kipperred herrings and haddies are firm at the advanced prices. Blueberries, which are usually somewhat of a drug, are scarce, and there is some demand, but the local market would not take any very large quantities.

GREEN FRUIT—Business kept very active right up to Christmas, but is now very quiet. Valencia oranges show the largest business ; prices rather easier. As far as the retailer goes, he seems to make more when prices are high. Stock is now coming good. For best trade Jamaicas and Floridas are used. Lemons hold a good price ; there is fair sale. Apples are not a large stock ; full prices are asked, holders making a good profit. Grapes (Malaga) are light stock, and best quality are higher ; sale not large. A few bananas are still imported.

DRIED FRUIT—Business is quiet. Dates had quite a free sale after the new arrived and up to Christmas. These, like other goods, are finding a ready sale in packages, many dealers here packing their own. Prunes are quite freely offered. Prices for best goods are firm, and inclining higher. Evaporated peaches and apricots have little sale here as yet. The latter are very high and peaches are expected to advance. Dried apples are scarce here, but there is little local demand ; prices firmer. Evaporated are a light stock, dealers holding back from paying the prices asked by packers. Figs are now a light sale. Dealers found they had ample stocks at the high figures. Raisins are quiet with fair stocks held. Currants are quiet and stocks light. Onions tend higher.

SUGAR—Prices are somewhat easier, but buyers are backward, looking for still lower figures. Sale will be light for some time, except there should be some strong upward tendency.

MOLASSES—Some small packages would find a ready sale here, if not too high and good. Prices all round are very firm, while stocks are light. Wholesale dealers are not anxious. Demand is likely to be quiet for some time. Syrups are also light sale.

PRODUCE—Eggs are dependent upon quality. Fresh laid are very high, and best quality case eggs command good figures ; but even price is not always a guarantee of quality. In butter, rather better prices rule, and some good dairy butter was received during the week. In creamery, sale is light, and even prints move slowly. Cheese is firmer, and local prices are rather higher, but still below outside figures, and further local advance is looked for.

FISH—There is but fair business. There were quite large receipts of dry fish during the week, there being some 800 quintal. Prices hold firm, particularly pollock, which are rather higher. In pickled fish, the big sale is over. Stocks are light, and prices show no change. Grand Manan are the only kind of which any quantity is held ; quality is good. Smoked herring are light stock and light demand ; price keeps low. There is quite a free sale for bloaters. Finnan haddies are still scarce. All fresh fish is scarce except smelt, which has been a large catch. They are chiefly shipped to New York direct from the north shore. Fair prices have ruled, though the soft weather has been against best results. We quote : Large cod, $3.60 to $3.65 ; medium, $3.55 to $3.60 ; pollock, $1.70 to $1.80 ; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.85 to $1.90 ½-bbl. ; Canso, pickled, $5 per bbl. ; boneless fish, 3½ to 5c. ; cod, 7 to 7½c. ; finnan haddies, 4 to 4½c. ; smoked herring, 6 to 7c.; spring shad, $3.75 to $4 ½-bbl.; fall do., $4.75 to $5; ½-bbl.; alewives, $3 per bbl.; kippered herring, $1; bloaters, 40 to 60c.; Shelburne, $3.75 per bbl.; Grand Manan herring, $3.40 to $3.50 per bbl.; quoddy, $3.50 ½ bbl.; frozen smelt, 5 to 6c.

PROVISIONS—Pork has a fair sale at somewhat easier figures. In beef, business is light, but prices firmer. Lard seems easier, with packets showing quite a range in price.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Values seem firmer, but local dealers are slow to believe this and are light buyers. Millers in flour and oatmeal show quite a range in prices. Oats are firmer. In feed, supply is still difficult to get. Cornmeal, while higher, is still low. Market is a very firm one. Beans are quiet. There is little change in price. Barley is firm at the higher figures. Hay moves slowly, even at the very low prices. There is some inquiry for yellow eye beans. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.70 to $5, best Ontario, $4 to $4.15; medium, $3.65 to $3.75; oatmeal, $3.75 to $3.85; cornmeal, $2.10; middlings, $1.9 to $2.0; bran, $1.7 to $1.8; oats, 35 to 40c.; hand-picked beans, $1.10 to $1.20; prime, 95 to $1; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.60 to $3.75; hay, $7 to $8; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¼ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

A happy and prosperous year is the wish extended to all by the New Brunswick grocers.

Smelt business at Richibucto has already this season reached large proportions. One buyer alone has paid out $10,000.

It is with deep regret THE GROCER reports the death of Mr. A. L. Goodwin, the large wholesale fruit merchant of St. John. We extend heartfelt sympathy to his family and friends.

THE GROCER regrets to report the death of Thomas McAlpine, well-known throughout these eastern provinces and the West Indies, because of his connection with directories covering those points.

The sending out of calendars and other holiday remembrances by the grocery trade grows from year to year. That issued by Merritt Bros. & Co. has an added interest because of the view on it of King street in 1840.

Halifax, years ago, supplied Brazil with a large part of the fish imported, but lost the trade to Newfoundland. Efforts are being made to regain this business. A vessel is now being loaded for there. Her cargo of fish is valued at $20,000.

One of the outcomes of an active board of trade at Kentville, N.S., is Merchants' Day. This year it was a great success, the merchants contributing toward the running of special trains. It meant a big boom in Christmas trade.

Large quantities of turkeys have gone to the American markets at this season, some four tons being sent from Carleton county to Bangor, Maine, by one man. The excessive American duty of 5c. per lb. very much interferes with the business, however.

Quite a little money has come into St. John during the past year, through gold mining stock. The most successful mine was the Gold King, stock in which was quite largely bought at 10 to 25c., and now changes hands at over $2. Some of our large wholesale grocers are interested. Stock holders got a nice Christmas box over the usual 1 per cent. a month they have been getting in the shape of an extra ½ per cent. in the December dividends.

A BROOKLYN GROCER'S RULES.

A Brooklyn grocer has the following introduction to his price list:

"In conducting a large business successfully it is necessary to adopt certain rules, and customers will greatly facilitate matters by conforming with the following regulations: First, after ordering fruits and vegetables, step over to the first counter and complete your order. Second, in all cases of error and exchange bring back your bill and have same rectified at office. Third, in case of shortage, you will retain the memorandum accompanying your bill until you receive the articles short on order, which invariably follow in a few hours. Fourth, all dogs brought into the store must be under the control of owners. Fifth, any incivility on the part of the employes should be reported immediately at the office, and will be immediately investigated. Sixth, when an order is wanted earlier than by our regular delivery, mention the same to the clerk when giving order, and it will be despatched at once. Seventh, when ordering coffee state whether whole, ground or pulverized is wanted, as ground is always sent unless otherwise specified. Eighth, as we do not charge for jugs please see that they are returned to drivers."

SYSTEM IN ADVERTISING.

A LACK of system, of a definite plan or aim, is one of the mistakes into which many new advertisers fall. They become enthusiastic, dash off an advertisement, set aside an appropriation, and start in. If at this juncture they were asked to define just what they were attempting, they would be surprised to discover how little they knew of their ultimate aim. Naturally, advertising so conducted fails of its purpose, and the experimenter is added to the army of those who know that advertising doesn't pay. Every advertiser should have a definite aim in view, and a definite plan; this plan he should not modify, except in details, until its worthlessness has been made apparent. Otherwise, he will be at the mercy of every plausible suggestion that crosses his path. Such suggestions he should not discard without consideration, but he ought not to adopt them in lieu of his own plans unless he is firmly convinced that they are far superior. While an open mind, responsive to the ideas of others, is as requisite to advertising success as it is in other fields, the advertiser should not allow himself to be wafted, featherlike, by every suggestion that is broached. Consider it for what it is worth, and if it isn't worth anything, consign it to deserved oblivion. The ideas that are worth anything are few and far between.—Fame.

PROMPT PAYMENT.

G. B. PULIFER.

IN these days of small profits and close competition it is surprising to note the apparent lack of regard shown by the average retailer for the payment of his obligations as they mature.

It is not unreasonable to presume that the majority of the retail merchants have a thorough understanding as to the terms upon which they make their purchases, and yet, with that knowledge they fail to adopt some simple and systematic method by which they would know each day what payments they would have to make. They seem to prefer to depend upon their general knowledge of what they owe and what is or will be due. A small yearly diary or tickler could be obtained at a trifling expense, and when bills are checked in as ready for payment they could be entered upon the proper date for discounting or for payment at maturity.

Notes or other items, such as taxes, interest, rents, etc., could also be entered therein. By this method, a merchant would always have before him his maturing obligations, and could make his calculations accordingly. Many jobbers and manufacturers would do well, also, to inaugurate and keep up such a system. The disregard of maturing bills and notes payable is not confined altogether to the retailers. There is, perhaps, some excuse in this respect for the retailer, on account of his lack of help and personal devotion to the other details of his business, and because, in many instances, he is bookkeeper, collector, manager, and everything else; but, for such neglect on the part of a jobber and manufacturer with the necessary help at their command, there is no excuse whatever.

Merchants have their own ideas as to how they wish to pay their bills, but they have no right to say when they shall pay them. The terms of sale govern that feature of business.

Very few houses take an arbitrary stand and refuse extension to a worthy customer, when asked for in a proper manner, but the idea is rapidly growing in the business world that the customer who persistently steals extra time and ignores the creditors' rights is entitled to no great consideration. The retailer who permits his bills to go unpaid and who fails to arrange in a business-like manner for the extra time wanted is "standing in his own light" and is helping to compile a record of experience against himself that will work him more injury, from a credit standpoint, than by any other course of action short of downright dishonesty.

Be just and punctual, be considerate and frank, and be systematic regarding details. Always remember that your creditors are your friends and will more than reciprocate honest, frank and businesslike treatment from you in all matters of daily business life.

THE TRADING STAMP BUSINESS IN VERMONT.

THE trading stamp business, which was instituted in this State some time ago, after the promoters of the scheme had been driven out of several other States, has terminated, and the men who have been drawing on the merchants for a fat and easy living are compelled once more to move on. It is one of the mysteries of the nineteenth century that the American people will insist on being humbugged. Anyone with a reasonable amount of sense and a fair faculty for figuring, could see that someone had to pay for the "prizes," and when it was proven an acknowledged fact that the consumer must, in the end, settle the bills, the question is: Why did the purchasers barter for such truck? Now that these preying plunderers have had their death-knell sounded by the Legislature, and knowing that they have only a short time in which to feed on the purse of the gullible purchasers, they are more anxious to make their exit than they are to give the people what the latter think belongs to them. Up in Barre, the managers of the trading stamp store pulled stakes last week, and got as far as the depot with their goods, when they were brought to a halt by the sheriff, who attached them in behalf of several patrons of the concern who held stamp books. Burlington people had a similar experience, as did other places. The fact that these men would leave these cities without paying their patrons their just obligations is fresh evidence that they were after money and thwarted in their plans by the Legislature that they would not hesitate to resort to a method that may be said to fairly well mirror their integrity. It is to the credit of Montpelier that she has not harbored these schemes within her borders. Itinerant peddlers and sellers of quack medicines and nostrums of various sorts, with the trading stamp gang, come under the same head and they are a cankerous curse to any community. Like leeches, they are always taking but never returning, and their persistency only tends to intensify the gullibility of their subjects, at the purse strings of whom they nag with an ever increasing boldness. The Legislature of 1898 should be held in grateful remembrance by a long-suffering public for this one deed—the wiping out of the stamp business—if for nothing more.—Montpelier Daily Journal.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

THE Dawson Commission Co., Limited, expect a car of fancy Californian navels and a mixed car of Messina lemons and Sorrento oranges.

Clemes Bros. have received a shipment of "U" Sphinx prunes.

Another lot of butter-scotch is to hand with Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

The Dawson Commission Co., Limited, received a car of sea herring this week.

McWilliam & Everist received their first car of Japanese Tangeline oranges this week.

T. Kinnear & Co. have taken into stock a shipment of marmalade in 1-lb. glass bottles.

Sairs dates, excellent quality, are offered at close prices by The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

A shipment of an extra choice selection of green Rio coffee has arrived for Warren Bros. & Co.

Heaton's mixed pickles, imperial pints, have been passed into stock by The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

Clemes Bros. received this week 1,000 tapnets of figs. They have already handled 3,000 tapnets this season.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, are clearing the balance of their importation of Malaga raisins at special prices.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol's travelers start out next week with the best assorted stock of teas to offer they have ever had.

T. Kinnear & Co. have received a shipment of new pack boneless chicken, duck and turkey. These goods have been scarce lately.

The prices 40 50 and 50 60 prunes are being offered at by Lucas, Steele & Bristol's men are certainly interesting; latter can be retailed 3 lb. for 25c.

"Our sales of 'Kolona' Ceylon tea for 1898 show a gratifying increase over last year, and we are determined to maintain the same ascendancy during 1899 by making it more than ever to the interests of the trade generally to handle the line," say The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

J. Laird has started a new grocery store in Freelon. He opened out about a week before Christmas, and secured a good share of the holiday trade.

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

December 29, 1898.

This list is corrected every Thursday, and the quotations herein given are for the cities of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, London, St. John, N.B., Halifax, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria. The prices are solicited for publication, and are of such quantities and qualities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices. All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

TRADE CHAT.

UNDER the style of Perrault & Labreche, Joseph A. Perrault and Wilbrod Labreche will henceforth carry on business as vinegar dealers in Montreal.

An Ottawa despatch states that the merchants of that city report the Christmas trade the best yet recorded.

The merchants of Victoria and Vancouver have received within two weeks orders for about $60,000 for the Skagway and White Pass Railway Co.

Mr. Gowdey, butcher, Kingston, offers to commence a pork-packing factory in that city if he is given a bonus. He has been promised capital for the business by A. McCormack.

J. H. Plunkett and Albert Daum have leased the store in Listowel lately vacated by M. McD. Fleming, and will open out a new stock of groceries, provisions, etc., about the first of the new year. Both gentlemen are well known in Listowel.

The corn mill in Wolfville has been closed down for a month owing to lack of corn, the bulk of which is obtained in the United States. It seems strange that the farmers of the most fertile district in Nova Scotia are unable to supply the small quantity of corn required in a single mill.—Halifax Chronicle.

There are 1,123 cheese factories in Ontario. About 75 per cent. of these are east of Toronto. The following counties have the greatest numbers: Hastings, 96; Frontenac, 72; Leeds, 65; Prescott, 63; Dundas, 55; Carleton, 53; Glengarry, 48; Oxford, 45; Russell, 44; Lanark, 43; Stormont, 43; Northumberland, 43; Grenville, 40; Middlesex, 39. There are also 234 butter factories in the Province.

The Ontario Pork-Packing and Provision Co., Limited, with headquarters at Morrisburg, Ont., is applying for incorporation. The company will be capitalized at $100,000, in 10,000 shares of $10 each. Besides pork-packing, the manufacture of general meat produce will be engaged in, if the promoters, who are responsible and energetic men, succeed in carrying their scheme to a successful issue.

MANITOBA BUTTER SLANDERED.

A report has been circulated throughout this country to the effect that Manitoba butter sent to the Klondyke last year proved a failure through improper packing. Dairy Superintendent Macdonald states that this report, which is calculated to injure the trade of Manitoba creameries, is false. A careful investigation made by himself shows that not a pound of Manitoba creamery butter went to Klondyke. No Manitoba butter was packed, as the report states, in unsealed tins, but in tins sealed and with seams coated with shellac. There was $150,000 worth of butter used in the Klondyke last year, very little of which came from Canada.—Free Press, Winnipeg.

FRANK M. SLOAN'S BIRTHDAY.

Frank M. Sloan, buyer for John Sloan & Co., wholesale grocers, Toronto, came of age on Thursday last, and the traveling and office staff took advantage of the occasion by presenting him with a handsome present. The presentation was made by J. R. Hayden, on behalf of the two staffs, while short speeches were made by

A. H. Dawson, Charles Parsons, Adam Macdonald, T. Hill, Walter Berwick and John Burns. The recipient of the kindness of his fellow employees, while a young man, has already had several years' experience in the wholesale trade. After serving some years in different positions in the warehouse he became city traveler, and within the last few months has been taken into the warehouse again as buyer.

Frank, as his friends call him, is as popular among the trade as among his fellow employees.

DEATH OF W. L. HUTCHINSON.

All that was mortal of the late W. L. Hutchinson, of The Weston Trading Co.,

Weston, Ont., was laid away on Monday last. Deceased, who had been ill for some time, died of consumption, leaving a wife and three children.

Deceased was most popular among the trade, and much sorrow is expressed at his demise. "He was a whole-souled, nice fellow," mournfully said a Toronto wholesaler.

SALMON PACK OF 1898.

According to the statistics accumulated by The American Grocer, the salmon pack of 1898 was estimated as follows: Columbia River—Spring, 383,530; fall, 115,000 cases. Sacramento River—Spring, 13,900; fall, 13,250. Rogue River—Spring, 8,906; fall, 1,549; Oregon rivers—Fall, 76,000 cases. Puget Sound—Spring, 272,400; fall, 152,600. Alaska, 960,365. British Columbia, 486,500, divided as follows; 205,000, Fraser River; 236,300, Northern rivers, and 42,200 cohoes. The total pack of salmon for 1898 is estimated at 2,484,000 cases, against 3,121,117 for the same period last year.

Mr. J. J. Roberts, the Winnipeg representative of THE CANADIAN GROCER, has been elected a school trustee in Winnipeg by a large majority over the other candidates. We extend him our hearty congratulations.

The department stores are gradually introducing moving staircases in their stores, for the convenience of the public. Judging from recent developments they will soon want to build private jails. The big Louvre store in Paris, and a London house of the same character, have put in a moving staircase, and in the latter store about 3,000 persons an hour can be carried to the upper floors.—Merchant's Review.

MODEST STORE STORIES.

A N exchange has the following: "A number of men were sitting close to the hot stove in the Mercantile company's store one night last week listening to Jake Fink tell how to build fireproof cellars, when the question of strong winds came up. One of the crowd said that he thought Crow's Nest lake was the windiest spot he ever saw. Another, who had spent some time in 'bleeding Kansas,' told of the wind blowing the grain off the ears of corn in that State. Just then a chap who had said nothing, but listened quietly, asked: 'Say, have any of you fellows ever been to Macleod? Talk about wind! Well, you can get it there. I spent a week there once, and couldn't leave town till I paid a tailor $1.25 for sewing on every button on my clothes. Blow? Why, you never saw anything like it. Bob Evans had a sign painted on the west side of his hotel. Next evening it had disappeared. The wind had blown the paint right off the boards. Last fall they had a very severe wind storm that blew all the barbs off the wire fence around the barracks. It is impossible to wear whiskers, unless you remain indoors all the time. The ladies use railroad spikes for weights at the bottom of their skirts, and no man with false teeth dares to open his mouth while going from town to the station. A pet dog belonging to Editor Wood, of The Gazette, was blown up against the water tank about 10 o'clock in the morning. It was impossible to reach him and he remained until sundown, when the wind died out and he dropped to the ground. It is a common thing for the hair to be blown off the cattle until they look like a herd of large Mexican dogs. These statements are facts, and if anyone doubts them, ask Barnhardt. Well, good night, gentlemen,' and the man from Macleod disappeared through the front door into the cold, cheerless street. There was silence until Jake Fink recovered his breath and murmured in a weak voice, 'Let's visit the cellar.' Another second and every chair was empty."

BAD AS WITCHCRAFT DELUSION.

New England is cursed with a trading-stamp craze, as obstinate in its way as the witchcraft delusion. But the crisis is past, sober sense is returning, and the grocers there may be happy yet, you bet! A symptom of the severity of the disease is the heartiness of the epithets that are applied to the stamps by members of the association in discussing the wane of the evil. The Biddeford (Me.) Board of Trade has denounced the stamps as detrimental to business men. —Merchants' Review.

AMONG TORONTO RETAILERS.

Christmas Trade.

"Christmas comes but once a year, and when it comes it brings good cheer"—to the enterprising retailer. All Christmas seasons do not bring the same quantity of satisfaction to every individual merchant, nor do any two merchants experience the same amount of pleasure in any season. Christmas is one of the milestones in the year which emphasizes the fact that the pleasures of life do not depend entirely upon success in office, factory, shop or store; it is the day when home and friends come into one's life so completely that the worries and struggles of business are lost sight of, or, at least, forced into the background. Yet, the season, as a whole, is one in which the native energy and enterprise of a merchant brings to him its reward—lots of good trade. The past season has, on the whole, been a satisfactory one to the grocery trade in Toronto. In all sections the volume of business has been even greater than last season, which was away beyond that of previous years. Money has been more abundant in most sections than usual, and, as a consequence, collections have been easier. The demand has been for as high, and, in some cases, for a higher class of goods than usual. Early in the season the demand for canned goods, and for raisins, currants, peels, spices, etc., was excellent. The mild weather at the beginning of last week demoralized the poultry market considerably, and prices were unsteady, with a tendency downwards, leaving the retailer's profits at a small figure, and causing buyers to hold back until the last couple of days, many waiting till Christmas Eve, in hopes of a material reduction. This did not materialize, however, a slight advance resulting instead. The poultry trade, on the whole, was satisfactory. The demand for candies, oranges, lemons, nuts, etc., was, as usual, very light till the day preceding the holiday, but on that day it was as brisk as ever.

The grocers throughout the city made special preparations for doing a big trade, and spent much time and trouble in arranging their windows and stores to attract customers and increase their trade.

Some of the most striking displays in the city were the simplest in the manner of their arrangement and in the variety, or rather lack of variety, of goods displayed. I refer to the displays of poultry made by some of the grocers and butchers. The most effective of these, in my opinion, was in a corner store, in front of which was a large, high verandah. Across the entire window front, and from post to post of the verandah, turkeys, chickens, ducks and geese were suspended. There were many more birds displayed here than the average dealer risks buying; but a similar, though not quite as effective a display can be made by attaching two or three rows of turkeys and geese in front of the window. The best method of hanging them is to have a strong wooden or iron bar run from across the window front. From movable hooks attached to this bar the poultry are suspended by a cord around the legs. There is an objection to this display in that it draws all the attention of the passer-by to poultry, to the exclusion of fruit, candies, nuts, etc. In answer to this, it is argued that the majority of housekeepers are more easily persuaded to buy poultry than fruit, in another than their regular store.

In Michie's branch store on Spadina avenue, a notable window was made of canned goods. The cans were arranged to form the walls of a prison like the noted "Tolbooth Gaol" in Edinburgh. The windows were made of sheet gelatine, the ceiling of light brown wrapping paper, the tiling being marked with chalk. The picture was made more realistic by placing some dolls dressed in "kilts" in various parts of the grounds in front of the prison.

Somers Bros., King street west, had a unique Christmas window. The central feature of the display was a pillar of canned goods, about eighteen inches in diameter, reaching from the floor of the window to its ceiling. About two feet or thirty inches from the floor this pillar was surrounded by a display of fancy fruit juices, non-alcoholic wines, sauces, catsups, pickles, etc. From the pillar to each corner of the window a row of canned goods divided the remaining floor space into divisions in which dates, figs, nuts, candies, raisins, etc., were effectively shown.

A College street grocer had a simple, yet striking, display. A platform was made to fit the window. At the front it was only a few inches above the floor, but in steps of three inches or so deep and high it rose, till at the back it was three feet high. On the bottom steps apples, oranges and lemons were arranged. Above these, grapes, candies, peels, essences, etc., filled the steps. At the back, the top of the platform was devoted to a display of pickles, catsups, and cheese in packages.

Kelly Bros., Queen street east, had, possibly, the most unique display of the kind in the city. The feature of their window was a Christmas cake, fully five feet in height. The bright white and colored icing on a cake of this size could not fail to attract attention. This attention was directed to the goods on display by having the floor of the window covered with nuts, etc. Bowls were also filled with nuts, raisins, currants, etc., and in all these, price tickets told everyone who stopped to look of the quality and price of the goods sold by Kelly Bros. The Christmas tree used was willow, and was secured by Kelly Bros. from a caterer, who had used it previously at a table display, so the expense to the Messrs. Kelly was light.

A style of window display which was quite popular this year is a platform, or stand, slanting from a foot or so high at the front to about three feet at the back. On this stand the seasonable goods were arranged with more or less skill. A fine window can be made in this way by using evergreens, rich white and blue tissue paper, etc., throughout the display. A. White, College street, made use of these colors of tissue paper to form a Union Jack. The groundwork was made of raisins and currants, the crosses of the tissue paper. The result was very pretty.

D. Bell, Yonge street, had a display which a good many grocers might effectively use. It was a Christmas tree window. The whole of the window (except the floor, which was covered with oranges, apples and lemons), was covered with evergreens. A Christmas tree was stood up in the centre, and on it Christmas novelties, fruits, etc., were hung.

In speaking to merchants regarding window dressing for Christmas, I have been struck with the fact that those who take much time and trouble in decorating their windows find it a profitable investment; those who let their windows remain, like their shops, in a happy-go-lucky, ordinary state, say that it is not "worth the trouble." Who is right?

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 26, 1898.

WINNIPEG is Christmas mad, and no one will come down to such prosaic things as general markets. Every house called on to-day said trade has been first rate, but there is nothing to tell. Price don't change at this time of year. Of course, from the week before Christmas and for six weeks after, wholesale houses in the west do not look for any special rush. Produce houses, of course, are busy. In this line the demand this year has been greater than ever. One house has sold 100,000 lb. of turkeys alone, not to speak of chickens, ducks and geese, for all of which there has been a heavy demand.

Fruit, too, was in great demand last week, and wholesale fruit houses report the biggest trade for years. The Rublee Fruit Co. were practically cleared out by 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, and were anxiously looking for fresh shipments from the south. The heated cars left last Monday for country points, and the wholesale men thought they were all fixed up for the city trade, but the demand was much heavier than anticipated. Among the Christmas novelties was a shipment of Catawba grapes, which sold at $5.50 per crate of 15 baskets, 3 lb. to the basket.

The Northern Pacific Railway inaugurated its new Belmont extension by a free excursion to Winnipeg. Two trains of 10 coaches each arrived at 5 o'clock Friday evening, bringing 1,500 people. They had all night in town, and the return train did not leave until 4 p.m. on Saturday. If anybody in the east has doubts about the future of farming in Manitoba, they would all have been dispelled by a sight of that crowd of well-dressed people eager to shop. Many hundreds of dollars passed into the hands of Winnipeg merchants, as a result of this excursion.

Wheat trade is quiet, with nothing new to report, and no likelihood of any change until after the New Year comes in.

The decoration of the city market is always a special feature of the Winnipeg Christmas, each stall-owner vying with the other in the elaborate style of decoration and the quality and size of the carcasses shown. Kobold & Co. had in their stall the following carcasses, raised on their own ranch: Steer, 4 years old, 2,550 lb.; steer, 3 years old, 2,100 lb.; heifer, 3 years old, 1,900 lb.; heifer, 2 years old, 1,600 lb. P. Gallagher & Sons show a steer, 3 years old, 2,025 lb., and a heifer, 2 years old, 2,000 lb. Entering from the east end, the market looked like a long avenue of gaily-decorated evergreens, the sides being formed by closely-hung carcasses of beef, pork, mutton, lamb and veal, flanked by great pyramids of turkeys, geese and poultry, festooned with flowers and sausages. Bright mottoes were everywhere. A particularly tempting lamb had pinned on his back, "The Good Die Young," while "Manitoba Nuggets" drew attention to a particularly fat side of beef, and "Died for his Country" graced the stomach of a 690-lb. porker.

All this is not a market, but it is the only news that can be gathered. Really the only point bearing on markets is the fact that, anticipating a possible duty on tea, houses here have made some unusually extensive purchases, especially in Ceylon and Indian teas.

The sugar market is very wobbly at present. One day up 1-16c., and then down again.

Dried apples have reached the startling figure of 7½ to 8½c. per lb., and are therefore out of market here, as no one will look at them at that price. Apricots have climbed another cent, and are now quoted at 16½c. for choice stock. Scarcely any are moving at this price.

There has been an unusual demand for nuts this season, the reason why does not appear. Shipments were late in arriving, and for a time was difficulty in filling orders. Full lines are now to hand.

Haddies are scarce and many orders are unfilled. The early shipments were all heated and had to be carted out to the nuisance ground, and the pack being short, on account of storms, Winnipeg market is thinly supplied.

Canned salmon is high, and likely to be more so, as stocks are light here and will be soon exhausted. Purchases cannot be repeated at former figures, and the price must advance.

FINE ASSORTMENT OF TEAS.

L. Chaput, Fils & Cie., Montreal, have near at hand, ex. str. Indraléma, due at New York shortly, and in store, some choice lines of tea. There are 4,341 packages of all grades of Japans, sundried, basket and pan fired, also siftings and nibs from the best houses in Japan. The lot also includes 600 half chests of early Japan siftings. There are also 125 forty-pound boxes, and 462 thirty-pound boxes, all branded in separate lots of 25, and matted singly. These should be handy packages for jobbers. In Young Hysons and Gunpowders, they offer 757 packages: Pingsuey, Moyune points, first Pea leaf and Pin head. In blocks, 1,410 packages; chests, half-chests, and boxes, and 6,508 India, Ceylon, China, Formosa, Oolong and scented orange Pekoe, go toward making the firm's assortment of tea complete in every respect. In India and Ceylons, Chaput, Fils & Cie. have always selected their supplies from the best gardens, such as Pulcherra, Amrail, and Bloomfield, the latter the famous Darjeeling growth in India, and Gallaheria, Bombra and the favorite Fetteresso from Ceylon. More complete particulars respecting this firm's extensive line of teas are given in our advertising columns.

DEVOTION IS APPRECIATED.

A young man who devotes himself heart and soul to his employer's interest will soon find that his devotion is appreciated, for, even if his employer should fail to reward it, some one else will surely observe it, and the way to promotion will soon open before him. There are vacant places in the higher walks of every business and profession for the young men who follow this course.—C. A. Pillsbury.

To merchants who have sold Cow Brand Baking Soda it is not necessary to say a word—you know the goods and where to re-order. To others we say: The COW BRAND has no equal. The package looks well on your shelf, and sells to afford a good profit.

We make our goods known by mailing the Cow Brand Cook Book to every house-keeper whose post office address we can get.

If your wholesale grocer has not called your attention to this Soda, send us your address and we will send you sample of SODA and advertising matter.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU

Reads every paper in Canada and clips therefrom all articles of a business or personal nature of interest to subscribers in this department.

Politicians can obtain from it everything the papers say about themselves on any subject in which they are interested. Business men learn of new openings for trade, pointers to sell goods, addresses of people likely to become buyers, tenders wanted, stocks for sale or wanted, reports of new industries or stores, etc.

TERMS—$5 per hundred clippings; $40 per thousand, payable in advance; but a yearly contract will be found the most satisfactory.

We have also lists of firms in every branch of trade in the Dominion, the professions, club members, society, etc., and we are prepared to address and mail circulars or letters to these at any time.
